Nor will the effects of the exceptionally large number of children born in the 'forties be confined to the immediate future. "By the late 'fifties these babies born during the past ten years will be coming of working age. They will follow a period of relatively small increase in the working force. During the war the annual increments were augmented by reflecting the high birth rates of the 'twenties. Now, after a lapse of a period of ten years the influx of young workers will be on a scale what smaller scale since births in the years 1931-1939 were about 6 per cent fewer than in 1921-1929. If immigration is sustained, however, this will not mean a actual contraction in the numbers of new entrants into the labour force in the late 'fifties there will be a sharp upturn in the numbers of native-born young people entering the labour market since the births from 1940 to 1945 were nearly a third greater in number than they were in the preceding nine years."

The Review refutes the question of how much the birth rate may decline from its present high level. "With wartime and postwar levels of both marriages and births have to some degree at least represented a making-up of past deficiences and a borrowing from the future. Wartime prosperity enabled marriages to take place that had been postponed during the lean thirties. After demobilization, economic conditions were still favourable, the returning men had veterans' benefits and it therefore seems entirely likely that the high marriage rate was partly due to the advancing of marriages that would normally have taken place somewhat later. The wartime and postwar increase in births consisted largely of first and second births following the extraordinarily large number of marriages.

"On the whole", says the Review there are cogent reasons for expecting a considerable decline in births." In 1945 the birth rate began to fall off and the continued downtrend in marriage last year indicates a further drop in births this year. How long the drop will continue and how extensive it will be, depends upon a number of factors including the level of economic activity. Most of all it depends on whether the long-term trend low and small families, evident in Canada as in other western countries, is continued or reversed.

Careless Farming Destroys Soil

Arranging A Buffet Meal

Summer asked the other day how to arrange the table for a buffet supper.

Here are some suggestions which can be adopted to a luncheon, dinner or supper.

The thoughtful hostess will also see that there are plenty of small tables available for the comfort of her guests.

There are three points to keep in mind for a buffet meal:

1 When planning the arrangement of your table, consider balance and convenience of serving. Try to separate large dishes such as platters of turkey, assorted salads, and so on, with smaller dishes containing relishes and lighter things.

2 Keep one course on one side of the table. Allow one side for the main course the other for the dessert course. This helps traffic congestion as guests pass around.

3 Have plates, silver and napkins in logical positions. See that large dinner plates are situated on the right of the main hot dish, which should occupy the end of the table opposite coffee service. Be sure that napkins are near large plates, so each guest can help himself to a plate and carry the napkin under it.

Scheme Is Unique In Architecture

Engineers in Britain have just completed the first stage of a unique architectural feat in the heart of London. According to the United Kingdom Information Office, a building of great historic interest is being lowered intact to a depth of twenty feet on Whitehall Above it will then be built 270,000 square feet of Government offices. They will occupy part of the site on which King Henry VIII's Whitehall Palace originally stood. It is a section of this Palace which is being lovingly preserved and lowered. The object is to preserve intact the crypt, dating back to the sixteenth century, known as the King's wine cellar

Relatively modern buildings have been moved badly in the United States, but this is probably the first time that a structure so valuable and of such antiquity has been dealt with in this way. Experts consider that it is also the first occasion on which a structure has been moved both horizontally and vertically.

Emperors as well as emperesses of the Byzantines wore earrings.

South African Zoo First In World To Have White Rhinos

PRETORIA, South Africa. — The National Zoological Gardens here is the first in the world to preserve a pair of white rhinos It is also the reshuntion of a cherished ambition of the director of the gardens, Dr. R. Bigalke, to obtain a mate for the Zoo's young white rhino, Eshuna.

Named after her home, the bush around the Umfolosi River, in the Hluhluwe Game Reserve of Zululand, the year-old bull, Fulosi, was captured after he had spent a week-long vigil over the body of his mother, gored to death by his father.

He kept hyenas, jackals and vultures at bay, and never wandered further than 10 yards from the carcass, even when hunger forced him to browse on the green grass and shrubs close by.

After a struggle lasting several hours a game ranger managed to issue Fulosi who had become enraged by repeated whitewind charges.

Fulosi was taken to Nongoma, where he quickly mastered the door of bull-kraal which had to be barricaded with heavy logs and the back of a motor lorry.

J. Grobler, Eshuna's keeper, was rushed from Pretoria to care for Fulosi.

He found a way in—through the roof and the famished rhinoceros accepted bottles of cows' milk offered by his keeper. Grobler kept up this feeding throughout the night and by until his charge had consumed four gallons of milk, the day's ration.

Fulosi and Eshuna are housed in adjoining quarters, separated by iron bars. So far they have established little more than a nodding acquaintance.

MARCH OF PROSPERITY

By Joseph Lister Rutledge

Despite the fact that quite a few people are arguing against the system under which we operate, it continues to function rather amazingly well. Our export figures for 1948 reached the highest total ever achieved in peacetime, a total of $3,976,-000,000. We are selling more to the United States than we used to do. That is probably the most important factor, as we do and must bring most of our imports from that source and the necessity of balancing that trade is probably the most important among our economic problems. The increase of 43 per cent, over 1947 in exports to the United States has been a substantial factor in easing our monetary problems.

There is one phase of our export situation that might well cause us some heart searching. Consider the items: $466 millions for forest products, of which newsprint accounted for $383 millions. Wheat exports totalled $343 millions, aluminum and its products $103 millions, fish $83 millions, copper $79 millions, nickel $74 millions and nickel $74 millions. The one fact that might well keep us out all on from these figures that most of our exports represent only the barest first work effort. We are sending basic commodities for which we manufacture no goods of them selves and us, and in the process of such marketing to them add but quadruple values and to provide an enormous amount of work for artisans and craftsmen that are not our own.

If anyone wants to criticize, there is a place for attentions to be found. Canada is every year exporting vast quantities of raw materials, and most of the employment that springs from the fabrications, and most of the accrued values that result from manufacture are in the hands of people elsewhere Why is that? Are we less able, less aggressive, less constructive than the more mixed population across the line? Few Canadians would be ready to admit that.

There is no single cause perhaps That would be an oversimplify a problem. But we know this. You don't encourage initiative and daring You don't encourage men to make extra profits by the taxation policy adopted by the removal of incentives. You can rail up taxes, of course, and invest their money elsewhere. But remember also when they do, the jobs go with them.

Accessories Important To Spring Outfit

ACCESSORIES are an outstanding part in the round table of fashion this spring.

Whether you are going to buy a completely new outfit, or want to be up with last spring's costume, your accessories, a new pair of gloves, a pair of scarlet pins used a new way; a pretty bracelet; mean the difference between the fashions this season and last.

Sleeves this spring run from short to non-existent.

Many coats have "convertible" sleeves which can be rolled up, slit cuff, which, turned back, bares the forearm; turned down, it forms a regular full length sleeve

Many coats have either short length sleeves, or sleeves that can be pushed up to show the elbow. Bonus coats have only a shoulder cape for sleeves. Most daytime and after five dresses have either the briefest cap sleeves or no sleeves at all.

Let colored accessories make a high fashion continues out of your good, year-round suit or dress. Try for navy. Avocado is a new warm olive green shade which combines effectively with many other colors. Hats and shoes to match are also available in this color.

The casual glove is of more importance than ever, not only because breeds are increasingly important, but because the simple, casual, "go everywhere" dress or suit is gaining popularity. Typical of the gloves designed for casual wear is Nisha's hand crocheted lace and leather palm glove This glove can be lifted completely out of the casual class by fastening a pretty scatterpin on the back.

Many other gloves have been designed to fit particularly into a season in which accessories reign supreme. These gloves range from the smallest of shorties to the elegant long, long evening glove

A formal gesture of Egyptian hospitality is the serving of a small cup of coffee.

There's a big investment behind the gas for every car

Finding oil and bringing it to you—in the kind of products you need, and at low prices—is a big job and takes a lot of money. Behind that dependable supply are thousands of Canadians engaged in finding, producing, transporting, refining and marketing—working with tools that cost hundreds of millions. But the investment in those tools is your guarantee of adequate supply and minimum price.

FIRST, the oil must be found. This means expensive equipment and the risking of money in patient search. A single deep test drilling rig is worth half a million dollars and one unsuccessful well in the Alberta foothills has cost more than a million. Then when oil fields are found, they must be developed; just to drill and equip one well in the Leduc field costs about $100,000.

SECOND, crude oil must be transported to a refinery. Tank cars, pipe lines and ocean and lake tankers are the vehicles. A large pipe line may cost $100,000 a mile; Imperial's largest tanker, just put into service, cost more than $5 millions.

THIRD, the crude oil must be refined into hundreds of useful products. Large and complex refining units are the workman's equipment here. To meet your increasing needs for more and better products Imperial since the war has added refining capacity to process an extra 31,000 barrels per day. The cost was more than $30 millions.

FOURTH, the products must be marketed—this means they must be made available to you when and where you need them. The tools of the marketer are such things as service stations, truck fleets, coastal ships, barges, oil drums and tanks. This equipment, too, adds up to millions.

Canadians are using twice as much oil as in 1939. To help meet your increasing needs Imperial has sought and found new fields, built tanker, barge and pipe lines, erected new refinery units, installed new marketing equipment. It costs more than twice as much to do these things as before the war.

The money we needed to do these things came from borrowing, from the sale of investments and from earnings put back into the business after paying dividends.

This money is helping to provide the tools to bring you all the oil you need—at the lowest possible price.

Bringing you oil is a big job—and a costly one.

If you're interested in facts . . .

The price of a gallon of gasoline today is about the same as the price of a gallon of distilled water

For years before the war the wholesale price of gasoline dropped almost steadily and although it has been raised by the government since the war began it has not increased nearly as much as other commodities.

Since 1939 the general wholesale price index has more than doubled but the petroleum products price index has advanced by less than two-thirds

On its 1948 operations Imperial earned a profit equivalent to less than one cent a gallon for each gallon of products sold.

Could it do with a good coat of paint and a general "tie up"?

Perhaps here we are apt to notice signs of neglect in another chap's house and overlook the same things in our own. It's a costly tendency, too. For one bit of disrepair soon leads to another. Wood deteriorates when the paint wears off. A broken pane undermines the whole frame.

It pays to make your repairs promptly.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

CARILLON :-: There Is No Word Alone

By Louis Arthur Cunningham

LITTLE Mrs Westmeyer was happy as she and Bernard, her husband, had never got the children they wanted; life Bernard was a musician and had been always very busy. There were around their prosperous bungalow many things she did not like. To the rear of it a great steel structure, an apartment building, was crawling shockingly towards the sky and, dwarfed to the size of pets, crushed about its skeleton. All day long the staccato hammering of the riveters jarred upon her. But at five o'clock they always stopped for a while and there was quiet. Then, next door, there was a poor and shabby home. She did not know the people who lived there. Vaguely she believed there was a woman and a son, maybe several, children. Also a big, grimy-faced man who came home in grimmy overalls at night. Several times she had seen him and shuddered when she put herself in the place of the woman who would have to live, receive his kiss of greeting and give him his food.

But those intruding thoughts did not penetrate her armor of happiness this day. She looked indifferently upon the ragged, vari-colored cloth of red underwear denim shirts and nondescript of children's dresses . . . that flew like flags of distress from the sagging pulley-line in the lot next door. She failed to react to the picture of a smutty-nosed little boy hoeing his heels out on the back step until a barefoot woman came and dragged him angrily inside.

Mrs. Westmeyer pitied that woman, not because she wore a dirty house-dress week in and week out, and her stockings were falling down to her sloppy shoes, not because she had smelly children forever goading her and squeezing the sweetness out of her; not because her life was full of care . . . but because she did not have a man like Bernard.

The Westmeyers had been married for seven years. Bernard was a thin, gypsy-like man. His hair was black and wavy, his eyes always bright from the eager way he lived life. Bernard never tired of life. Best of all, he never grew weary of making love to the little, dolly woman whose easy, negative personality had been molded in the fire of his dominance and had drawn heal from his soul aglow. Daria . . . Bernard made music of her name and loved it . . . had never doubted that he would succeed. In the long years when he had few pupils, when his violin income was twelve dollars, received full playing the piano at a cheap theatre, she had never doubted life anything but a wonderful adventure. And now Bernard was a great organist at the big new church of St. Joachim. Today, for the first time he would let his carillon-ist play the sweet-toned chimes, the bells in the new tower.

So Doria Westmeyer was happy. What other woman could be so happy." Her husband was a lover. Had he not written a little poem that was something like a soul-poem only to her? He was going to play that bird. A message of love to Doria.

This bird in a little world of their own, the mansion and his wife. The plan of the bells was one of their pervasive treasured secrets. Only a man like Bernard could think of such a delightful bit of love-making. Doria was graciously proud. The whole city would hear the blessing of the new carillon of St. Joachim's, but to her alone the bells would speak.

Just a few minutes now. It was time for the many riveting machines to cease their pounding. She looked resentfully out of her kitchen door, done up to the steel tower. Why did they not stop? Oh, yes, it was not quite five. Such hard, hateful things as steel buildings and thunderous machinery and clanging sledges had no business to be, thought Doria. There was nothing beautiful or romantic or warm about them. They had no part in her happiness.

It was five o'clock when she opened her window. There beside it, was a fitting place for her to sit and listen to Bernard's song of love.

The noise of the riveters grew fainter, sputtered out with a final hesitating tapping, like scattered volleys of musketry. Then the bells began. Dulcet silvery light as magic drenched the lot, the sagging pulley-line in the lot next door. She failed to react to the picture of a smutty-nosed little boy hoeing his heels out on the back step until a barefoot woman came and dragged him angrily inside.

Mrs. Westmeyer pitied that woman, not because she wore a dirty house-dress week in and week out, and her stockings were falling down to her sloppy shoes, not because she had smelly children forever goading her and squeezing the sweetness out of her; not because her life was full of care . . . but because she did not have a man like Bernard.

The Westmeyers had been married for seven years. Bernard was a thin, gypsy-like man. His hair was black and wavy, his eyes always bright from the eager way he lived life. Bernard never tired of life. Best of all, he never grew weary of making love to the little, dolly woman whose easy, negative personality had been molded in the fire of his dominance and had drawn heal from his soul aglow. Daria . . . Bernard made music of her name and loved it . . . had never doubted that he would succeed. In the long years when he had few pupils, when his violin income was twelve dollars, received full playing the piano at a cheap theatre, she had never doubted life anything but a wonderful adventure. And now Bernard was a great organist at the big new church of St. Joachim. Today, for the first time he would let his carillon-ist play the sweet-toned chimes, the bells in the new tower.

So Doria Westmeyer was happy. What other woman could be so happy." Her husband was a lover. Had he not written a little poem that was something like a soul-poem only to her? He was going to play that bird. A message of love to Doria.

This bird in a little world of their own, the mansion and his wife. The plan of the bells was one of their pervasive treasured secrets. Only a man like Bernard could think of such a delightful bit of love-making. Doria was graciously proud. The whole city would hear the blessing of the new carillon of St. Joachim's, but to her alone the bells would speak.

Just a few minutes now. It was time for the many riveting machines to cease their pounding. She looked resentfully out of her kitchen door, done up to the steel tower. Why did they not stop? Oh, yes, it was not quite five. Such hard, hateful things as steel buildings and thunderous machinery and clanging sledges had no business to be, thought Doria. There was nothing beautiful or romantic or warm about them. They had no part in her happiness.

It was five o'clock when she opened her window. There beside it, was a fitting place for her to sit and listen to Bernard's song of love.

She could see Bernard up there in the belfry striking the keys, a scale at a time. Her thinking of her self-battered lovers heart crushed as the song he had written for her ended sadly. A clear she saw Bernard as a wistful shape . . .

Tap-tap-tap-tap-tap-tap . . . Up in the steel cage Bernard had begun again. Doria stood up angrily. The servants fool! An ass braying here while a great song . . . But there was rhythm in the hammering, strange, yet musical. Doria looked at rose in her hand. On the velvety back of one of the four petals a drop of moisture. Dew? Tears? Perfume? The next moment she was at the steel cage and looking upward.

Doria knew that she was no world shaker.

Farmers Income Hits Record During 1948

OTTAWA — Canadian farmers hit the jackpot in 1948. Their net income in that year, the Bureau of Statistics reports totalled $1,652,315,000, the highest record since the publication of comparable figures began in 1933.

The 1947 total was $1,234,940,000 and in 1946 it was $1,041,395,000.

Farm cash income from the sale of farm products also hit an all-time high at $2,149,965,000 last year against $1,962,274,000 in 1947. The value of home-consumed farm produce also increased.

Farm operating expenses continued their upward climb. From $764,372,000 in 1947, they increased to $1,063,536,000. The most significant increase occurred in livestock feeds which rose by approximately $45,000,000.

With the exception of British Columbia, all of the 1948 provincial net incomes were larger than in 1947, while compared with 1946 net increases were lower in Nova Scotia and British Columbia. Greatest absolute gain or net income last year as compared with 1947 occurred in Saskatchewan.

In western provinces, the 1948 net income follows: Manitoba $19,000,000 ($11,600,000 in 1947); Saskatchewan $380,000,000 ($220,000,000); Alberta $297,600,000 ($206,000,000); British Columbia $41,000,000 ($55,000,000).

QUATERCENTENARY COMMEMORATION

(By Rev. W. Brooks)

The period June 5th to 12th this year will be observed by Anglican churches throughout the world to commemorate the 400th anniversary of the Book of Common Prayer. And through the kindness of the Editor we are proceeding for readers a brief survey of the history and development of the Book for their information and better understanding.

The gaps in this history can be filled by the reader after knowledge in a reading of Church History by such authors as, Dr. Wand, Mgr. Lebonne, M. Dennehy, M.P. Maitland, while the development of worship is given fuller outline by Lowther Clarke, Gregory Dix, Hines Hague and others.

Through records preserved in Scripture, writings of the Early Fathers, and others of more recent times, it is possible to trace the development of Liturgy and Worship even through the centuries. We find accompanying the expansion of Christianity, a need for a system compatible with early Christian practice. Thus then, so today, in missionary areas, explanation was needed, and form needed. Hence the rise of well defined forms of worship at a very early period. The earliest showing revival of Psalms, singing of hymns, and most important, an outline of the service of Holy Communion.

The early history follows a thrilling path in the development of Western civilization as he enters a period in which greater attention was given to the writing of events. We see first a great unity, then there is a split between East and West, and finally a further division in the latter. Sometimes we view it as a matter concerning authority, or as one of organization, interpreted at other times the issue becomes involved, and rising nationalism, individual aims, or pure discontent is seen as the cause of change. There finally came to emerge the new Church we term the Reformation. All former accepted standards were subject to scrutiny, many were found wanting, the age of inquiry resulted in the basis of what we all too often take for granted today, namely, the freedom we enjoy in thought, speech action, etc., dearly bought, and necessitating continual vigilance to maintain.

Within the Church in the West at this period two great needs were required, uniformity, and the use of the native tongue in print and speech in services. There existed the practice of using Latin, as established by a great part of the faithful, and hardly likely to be so by many who could neither read nor write. The language had been universal from the time of the Roman Empire that age had passed, and the rise nationalism with the growth use of native languages was evident. While the conduct of services a variety of books were used together with a variety of interpretations within different dioceses. Time to enumerate a few, for Holy Communion was needed a Breviary, the choir used the Processional.

A comprehensive Service Book was urgently needed in the mother tongue this was supplied by the Book of Common Prayer in 1549, which was encouraged by the introduction of a translation of the Bible into English together with other changes that will be outlined.

NOTED EDUCATIONIST VISITS KILLAM DIVISION

(By J. W. Chalmers)

A recent meeting of the Education Club, held at Alliance on 13th May last, featured a talk on the Institute of Technology and Art in Calgary by Principal Jas. Fowler. Mr. Fowler proved to be a fluent and absorbing speaker as he discussed the courses offered at the Institute, something of its history, its admission requirements, and openings for its graduates. Mr. Fowler's address climaxed two strenuous days that started with a talk to all the students of the Central High School, followed by individual conferences with numerous boys in the industrial arts classes and an informal tea with the Sedgewick teachers. He also addressed a well-attended public meeting held at Forestburg and spoke to the high school students there.

The May session of the Education Club was the last regular meeting of the Club for the present school term. The thirty-odd teachers present endorsed its continuance in the fall, and also a proposal that at least occasionally outside speakers be asked to attend. The September meeting will be held at the Central High School at Sedgewick, probably on September 9th.

CALF CLUB SALE JUNE 6TH

The Killam and Sedgewick Calf Clubs will hold their joint Achievement Day and Calf Sale at Sedgewick on June 6th. Judging will start at 11 a.m. and the Sale at 2 P.M.

BOARD OF TRADE NOTES

The Sedgewick Community Council is to raffle a 1949 Hillman Minx Car funds going to the Community Memorial Centre. Following the line of many other districts where considerable funds have been raised for very worthy projects, your Council has purchased this Hillman Sedan, the winner of which will be proclaimed at the end of a three day Carnival to be held on October 12, 13 and 14.

Mr. Nick Melnychuk has been put in complete charge of ticket sales and will accompany the car to the various sport events this summer. Support this worthy cause. Buy a ticket! Buy a few of them Your town cannot go for donations in line with plans always continued to under you. You owe me to cash or no time. Let's all get together and put this project

WEDDING

CARMICHAEL — SCHMITZ

Pink and White roses decorated the United Church, Sedgewick Friday, May 20th when Rev. M. M. MacLean solemnized the marriage of Phyllis Schmutz to Joseph Carmichael both of Sedgewick. The bride is the elder daughter of Mr and Mrs Louis Schmutz and the groom is the younger son of Mr Peter Carmichael of Hardisty.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a wedding gown of white satin with train, a net veil embroidered in white and a floor length veil of English net falling from a sweetheart headdress. She carried a bouquet of pink and white roses. Her only jewelry was our rings, a gift of the groom. Miss Lois Schmutz was maid of honor and wore a sky blue taffeta gown with white lace ribbon trim shoes and corsage of roses Bridesmaid was Mary Carmichael who chose a pale yellow taffeta dress with white lace ribbon-length gloves and corsage of red roses. The bridesmaid was carried by her two young brothers Royce and Wayne, who were dressed in white junior tuxedos with black jackets and buttonhole flowers Mr Bernard Lindeman of Edmonton was best man while Nick Melnychuk and Lawrence Schmutz ushered the guests in pews marked with white bows and pink roses. Mrs. Wilson played the wedding music, and during the signing of the register Mrs. Clara Mae Bridgett rendered two selections, 'I'll Walk Beside You'

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents Mrs. Schmutz received in a gray dress, pink hat and corsage of pink roses. The bride's grandmother was dressed in a black silk with white corsage. The table was laid with a hand embroidered cloth centred with a three tier wedding cake. Rev. MacLean proposed the toast to the bride and groom; B. Lindeman proposed a toast to the bridesmaids, to which Mr. Schmutz replied.

After a short honeymoon the new wed couple will reside in Edmonton. For travelling the bride chose a navy gabardine dress, grey hat, and black accessories topped by a beautiful three colored top-coat and corsage of pink roses.

DEAIRSTO — FRASER

Earl Burnaby B.C. United church was the scene of a pretty wedding on Monday May 16th when the Rev Cheshire officiated at the ceremony which united Phyllis Carmen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs G.B. Fraser of New Westminster B.C., and Frederick Wendell (Fitch), son of Mr & Mrs. F.P. Beairsto of Sedgewick, in the bonds of holy matrimony.

For her wedding, the bride chose a dusky pink gabardine suit, with a white off-the-face hat and white shoes. Bridesmaid was Mary Fraser, sister of the bride, and best man was H. G. M. Colbeck, brother-in-law of the groom. Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. F.P. Beairsto, Mr. C. P. Calvin all of Sedgewick; Mrs. C. Hathaway of Paxton, Col., and Mr. E. T. Matchett of Summerland B.C.

The I O O F met at the home of the Regent, Mrs. James Cherrington with a good attendance. The meeting opened with O Canada and unfurling the flag by Mrs E. Bruder. The regular business was dealt with.

Donations to the Cancer Fund may still green to Mrs. Hale. The guest speaker was Miss E. Armstrong our District House Economist. Her topic was, Good Grooming and the Art of Being Well Dressed. Miss Curran, Home Economist of Vermilion, gave a talk on the subjects she teaches

Lunch was served by Mesdames Lachey and Hale assisted by hostess

WEDDING

Pink and White roses decorated the United Church, Sedgewick Friday, May 20th when Rev M. M. MacLean solemnized the marriage of Phyllis Schmutz to Joseph Carmichael both of Sedgewick. The bride is the elder daughter of Mr and Mrs Louis Schmutz and the groom is the younger son of Mr Peter Carmichael of Hardisty.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a wedding gown of white satin with train, a net veil embroidered in white and a floor length veil of English net falling from a sweetheart headdress. She carried a bouquet of pink and white roses. Her only jewelry was our rings, a gift of the groom. Miss Lois Schmutz was maid of honor and wore a sky blue taffeta gown with white lace ribbon trim shoes and corsage of roses Bridesmaid was Mary Carmichael who chose a pale yellow taffeta dress with white lace ribbon-length gloves and corsage of red roses. The bridesmaid was carried by her two young brothers Royce and Wayne, who were dressed in white junior tuxedos with black jackets and buttonhole flowers Mr Bernard Lindeman of Edmonton was best man while Nick Melnychuk and Lawrence Schmutz ushered the guests in pews marked with white bows and pink roses. Mrs. Wilson played the wedding music, and during the signing of the register Mrs. Clara Mae Bridgett rendered two selections, 'I'll Walk Beside You'

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents Mrs. Schmutz received in a gray dress, pink hat and corsage of pink roses. The bride's grandmother was dressed in a black silk with white corsage. The table was laid with a hand embroidered cloth centred with a three tier wedding cake. Rev. MacLean proposed the toast to the bride and groom; B. Lindeman proposed a toast to the bridesmaids, to which Mr. Schmutz replied.

After a short honeymoon the new wed couple will reside in Edmonton. For travelling the bride chose a navy gabardine dress, grey hat, and black accessories topped by a beautiful three colored top-coat and corsage of pink roses.

WOULD BOOST LEGION STAND

To strengthen the representations which the Canadian Legion is making to the Government in an attempt to have benefits of the War Veterans Allowance Act given to former members of the imperial forces, who are not now covered by the Act, a list on all imperial veterans or widows of veterans who might be affected is being compiled. The Provincial Command has therefore requested such persons in this area to complete the required forms at the local branch as contact Prov. Command, Calgary.

The Legion emphasize that completion of the form will not automatically entitle a veteran to consideration for the war veteran's allowance.

Persons for whom the Legion are seeking the benefits of the Act are those members of the Imperial Forces who served in a theatre of actual war and did not have Canadian domicile prior to their enlistment, but have now been resident in Canada for a period of 20 years or more. They believe that they are nearer their objective than ever before, and an estimated number of persons who would be eligible for allowances if this restriction was removed, is required.

Mr and Mrs. Barney Matthews were in Edmonton on Tuesday to attend Convocation Services, when their son Frank received his degree of Bachelor of Science in Chemical Engineering. Frank is at present employed at the imperial Oil Refinery at Calgary.

Mr. and Mrs. Danny Dunlop from Wynyard, Sask. were back in town last week renewing acquaintances.

The Members of the Ladies Auxiliary wish to thank all those who so generously contributed to their Canvas drive, when they so ably held their tag day on May 11th. The ladies spent a very busy day, beginning early in the morning. Their splendid effort showed a return of $161.87.

Mrs. Mills fr to back in town visiting with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Hill and Teddy left Sunday for Calgary beginning series of holiday visits.

The Ladies Auxiliary played host on Friday night to the members of the Canadian Legion at a social in the hall. About 50 were present and the evening was spent in games, dancing and singsong. A lovely luncheon was served, during which Mrs. French and Mrs. W. Pedlar were presented with Presidential pins by Mr. Perkins.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C[illegible] spent a few days in Edmonton last week.

Red Mattoon went to Red Deer on Sunday to attend a Bankers meeting.

Kilkim and Hardisty meet on Stettler ground every when the baseball game played at the Lake on Sunday again ended in a tie. You're holding your own anyway boys.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Kelly and Pete of Hines Creek are back in town visiting old friends.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Jo-Saville, the United Church Ladi[illegible] And held a tea in gratitude to the [illegible] who had helped them with their [illegible] functions. A short p[illegible] was held during which Ivy Dingwall sang "The Rose Of Tralee" with Mrs. Provel McPherson at the piano. Mrs. Gavin Saville played a piano solo. Miss Moray McRae sang "I Walk Right Down" accompanied by Mrs. J. Saville, and Mrs Cathies gave a very lovely reading. A delightful tea was served with Mrs. M Donald and Mrs. Bromgwell pouring and [illegible] prettily covered with a cloth of [illegible] have centred with a bouquet of roses.

Canadian Culture

IN ANY NEW COUNTRY emphasis is naturally placed on the establishing of industries, the building of highways and railroads and developing the natural resources. The cultural side of a nation's life grows more slowly than the industrial and economic structure, and its development cannot be rushed so can the building of roads, bridges and factories. Canada is still a young nation as compared to the countries of Europe and Asia but although there has always been interest in music, art, science and letters here many people have been impatient to see the cultural side of our life develop more rapidly.

* * * * *

Shows Thoughts Of The People

The culture of any country bears the marks of the character of its people, and shows the influence of its geographical position, its climate and the nature and thoughts of its citizens.

Recently the Dominion Government set up a commission to investigate the development of arts, letters and letters in Canada, and to suggest ways in which they could be encouraged to advance further along national lines. The Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, Chancellor of the University of Toronto, who is well known throughout Canada for his interest in the advancement of culture, is the chairman. Associated with him in addition to two representatives from Quebec, are Dr. Norman Mackenzie, president of the University of British Columbia and Dr. Hilda Neatby, professor of history at Saskatchewan University.

Inquire Into Many Subjects

In connection with the formation of this commission, the people will become better acquainted with the character of Canadian culture and that ways may be found to encourage advancement in the fields of science, arts and literature. Some of the subjects into which the commission is making inquiries include the National Art Gallery, the National War Museum, the methods through which research in agriculture and public health is made by various government agencies, the [illegible] Canada, regard to radio and television broadcasting and many [illegible] matters. It is believed that the appointment of this commission will be a very valuable and a very timely one, and without doubt be instrumental in encouraging the advancement of culture in Canada along national lines.

Underground Cistern

[illegible] on an underground cistern, we recommend the [illegible] with a domed top such as [illegible] the accompanying drawing. [illegible] cistern will hold about 600 [illegible] water, about 2,000 gallons. [illegible] cistern rather than above it, because [illegible] one foot is much more [illegible] about 8 feet deep.

To make such a [illegible] usually an outside [illegible] spots the excavation [illegible] as near as possible [illegible] only being used. It is [illegible] to being dripped [illegible] the [illegible] over the edge of the [illegible] is desirable to [illegible] fencing [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Lougheed Facts

The Girls Club held a quilting bee at the hotel and will give it a new name with the assistance of some of the members, at the home of Mrs. H. Hope last Friday afternoon.

Rev Gig L. Moss, Presbyter of the Canadian Nazarene College will be here with a musical group for all day Sunday June 5th. — Miss Cora Walker of Calgary, returned Missionary, will represent the Missionary cause at Lougheed on June 19th. More detailed announcement later.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Harding were in Edmonton last week where they attended the graduation of their son and daughter. On Tuesday Vivian graduated from her three year training course at the University hospital and the following day John graduated from the University, having completed his B. Sc. in honors physics. Needless to say the Hardings spent a busy week with the double celebration. Our hearty congratulations go to both John and Vivian.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Durrant of Mirror spent a weeks visit with their daughter Mrs. Dave Thomas and family.

Mr. and Mrs. M M Pedersen, Ernie and Ed visited at the Holmes dance at Galahad last Sunday.

Mrs H. McCracken spent Monday of last week visiting with Mrs. Enstly Bender at Sedgewick.

The A. Gleens and G. Riddocks spent last Sunday touring the country side and visited all the Eastern villages down to the border.

Glad to see Mr. A. Benner home from the hospital and open as usual for business in the dell house Home Repair Shop. It's really the cutest little place in our Village.

The two Arts are at it again. This time they're repairing the exterior paint job.

Miss Lillie Matheson of Prevost spent a couple days visiting with her brother Art and family.

Last Sunday found the softball fans headed for Kinsella for an after noon of ball games Teams present were Valley, Metropolitan, The find Pasters, Kinsella, Valley Girls find Kinsella Girls. The Valley boys were the winners for men, while the local girls were defeated by Kinsella.

Lola and Joyce Lien of Cameron spent last week end visiting relatives in the district.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Thomas and Mrs. Thomas Sr. motored over to Paradise Valley last Sunday. The latter spent a week visiting there.

We had a nice little frost on Tuesday of last week which nipped the gardens and everything else in general, but as far as sign of rain. Rain all around us we hear but all we had was a very light sprinkle which was not enough to settle the dust.

Mrs. A McCoy underwent an operation at the Royal Alex recently We wish her a speedy recovery and hope it won't be long until we see her home again much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Birchill were Camrose visitors last Thursday and also spent a short visit with I. Lien P. D. McDonald was in charge of the Cafe during their absence

Noticed cards and sand being hauled to the lot by the telephone office and was later informed that the Lougsine had purchased the two lots for their hot. Plans are ready for building and construction will commence as soon as possible. A new building will fill the vacancy and greatly improve the looks of the street.

Due to certain circumstances, the National Films which are shown bi-weekly five weeks, failed to arrive last week. This caused some disappointment, mostly to the small fry

Mr and Mrs G Iverson and Allan and Mrs. Alsgard of Ghosty, Sask., and Myrtle Ledrickson of N Battleford dropped in at the Matheson for a short visit last Sunday night.

One of our local ladies was quite worried last week when she returned from shopping and could not find her wallet. After inquiring at all stores, post office and every other place she finally returned home, weary at her long search, and told hubby her sad story. He listened quite attentively and asked her where all she had been. She told him and then thought of the wrangle where she had recently gotten some wood. She found it there. The moral of course is that husbands should never allow wife to do the chores. It may cost you a fortune sometime

The Saturday night dances Restarting May 28th and will be open next by the baseball club Music by the House orchestra and a good time is in store for all

The Lougheed public school was visited by the inspector last week, naturally all kids and teachers on their best behavior

The Wildcats obtained their uniforms in time for the 24th, and do they ever look orange in them — pre white wet pail trimming The new look really adds something

Mrs. F Preller and Mrs. Pat Carlton were in the city last week

Camrose visitors last Saturday included Mr and Mrs H Starbuckes and Mr Whitehead and Mr and Mrs Matheson.

The junior baseball team won the beam again here last Friday when they defeated the Killam Novice team by a score of 11 to1. This is their third league win. Good going

Quite a number of the Masons attended a meeting at Irma Thursday evening of last week

Mrs. A Peterson is a patient in Edmonton hospital We all wish her a speedy recovery

Mrs H Barte and Sandra spent few days in the city

The community extends its sympathy to Mrs C. Rowland in her recent bereavement.

E. Mader had the misfortune to sprain his ankle one day last week

The Valley dance last Friday night was well attended and enjoyed

Victoria Vart of Killam was the week end guest in town

A carload of kids attended the Coldstream barn dance last Friday and report a very good time

PARDON our pointing... with pride.

But it's an event when the number of bank workers passes the 40,000 mark — as it did last year. That's 65% more than before the war.

More deposit accounts: now over seven million.

More funds: customers' deposits now reach nearly seven billion dollars. More services: to farmers; to personal and small-business borrowers; to war pensioners; to people receiving Family Allowances.

It's an event, too, because of the kind of men and women who have joined our ranks. Eager to get ahead, they are finding in banking an interesting job, a challenging career. They can tell you how important privacy in banking is to the Canadian way of doing things.

DO YOU KNOW about TRAVEL RATION REGULATIONS?

It saves time and trouble when you familiarize yourself with the regulations respecting travel to the United States before you set out on your trip. Here are the facts:

1. The allowances for pleasure travel during the current ration period of November 19th, 1948, to November 19th, 1949, is $180 U.S. per person ($100 in the case of children under 11 years old).
2. A Form H permit, obtainable at any bank, is required to take out of Canada amounts exceeding $10 U.S. or $25 U.S. and Canadian funds.
3. Special allowances are granted for strictly business travel where your application is certified by your employer.
4. Applications for larger amounts of U.S. funds for travel for health or educational purposes may be made on special forms obtainable at your bank.

OBITUARY

ROBERT AMOS ADAMS

On May 19th, Mr. Robert Amos Adams of Cadomin Alberta passed away at the age of 65. He was born in Elmvale, Ont. in 1887 and came West in 1913, where he worked in the Morris district and later in Lougheed, from where he left for the mining district of Edson and Cadomin. He leaves to mourn his loss, five sisters, Mrs. C. Rowland of Longreed, Mrs. J. Morrison of Edmonton Mrs. M. Jamieson of Brampton Ont., Mrs. W. S Manning of Elmvale, Ont. and Mrs. Charles Smith of Orchard, Cal.; three brothers, George and Joseph of Elmvale and Fred of Cleveland, Ohio. Funeral services were held on May 21st in the Foster and McGarvey funeral chapel, with Rev. Graham officiating. Burial took place in Beechmount cemetery.

The numerous beautiful floral tributes bespoke the regard in which the deceased was held.

JUDY AND RENT

The sad death occurred on Wednesday, May 25th, of Judy Ann, infant mascot and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmanuel Reist, in the Killam hospital after a short illness. A graveside service was held at Sedgewick cemetery on Saturday, May 28th, with Rev. M. M. MacLean officiating.

Floral tributes were from: Dad and Mother; Both Grandparents; Mrs. Curtis and family; Kenneth Reist; Lindsay Guild, Stroma.

Funeral arrangements were in the hands of Fee and Sons, Killam.

SEDGEWICK W. M. S.

The Sedgewick WMS met at the home of Mrs. H. Smith for the May meeting. Mrs. Gosnell, assisted by Mrs. MacLean and Mrs. Smith, conducted the Worship Service. The Treasurer's report showed the sum of $14.80 received at the Easter Offering. A total of 30 calls were reported made to the sick and shut-ins. Plans were made for the Camrose district WMS rally to be held in the Sedgewick United Church on Wednesday afternoon, June 22nd. After the business meeting, the hostess served a delicious lunch. An interesting program featuring Canada was presented by Mrs. MacLean, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Gascoyne. The President closed the meeting with the Benedictine. The June meeting will be held at home of Mrs. Gosnell, on June 29th. Visitors welcome.

CENTRAL HIGH STUDENTS TO DISPLAY CRAFTSMANSHIP

In connection with the graduation ceremonies at Central High on 27th day of this week, several classes are holding Achievement Day. Home Economics classes will exhibit their fully dressed of examples of their needle craft, including such items as blouses, shirts, pyjamas, dresses, slips and fancy work, and a fancy layette completed as a class project for the Junior Red Cross. In the Industrial Arts shop will be all kinds of articles of wood such as furniture, book ends, ironing boards, magazine racks, craftsole boards. Students of metal work will have samples of their skill in both sheet metal and machine shop practice. Bunsen, rodine and other articles will represent the work in chemistry. The Hobby Club, which operates in connection with the course in Vocation and Guidance, will also have a display of handiwork done in the non-technical classes of the school.

New Equipment On Display

Since Visitor's Day, held last December, delivery has been made of work additional equipment in both Home Economics laboratory and the Industrial Arts shop. This equipment includes a power lathe and power jig-saw in the shop as well as many new hand tools. In the Home Economics will be found a new refrigerator two sewing machines, sanitary storage disposal unit, new cutting tables and other items.

All Visitors Welcome

Friends of the school, as well as parents of the students are cordially invited to visit these displays from 2 to 4 o'clock in the afternoon and from 7.30 to 9.30 in the evening

YOUNG PEOPLE'S GROUP CONDUCTS SERVICE

Services in Knox United Church Killam, on Sunday were conducted by members of the Killam Young People's Group. The minister Rev. Mr. Whaley was unable to be present, the special music consisted of a violin solo, 'Spirit of God', by Ron Grant; duet, 'The Way He Loves' by Doris Bond and Jean Roberts, and quartet, 'Now The Day Is Over, Dorothea, Jean Roberts, Roy and Ralph Bowers. Announcements were made by Violet Kew, while Doris Bowers read the Scripture lesson and Geo Bowers read the prayer. Ushers were Doug Farmer and Lloyd Eastish. The sermon, 'Why Young People Should Be Christians' was very ably handled by Phil MacLachlan.

This venture by the young people was greatly appreciated by all who were privileged to hear them. There is considerable talent among the young people and they should be encouraged to display it. It is hoped that this will not be the last time they may have such an opportunity.

CALF CLUB SALE JUNE 6TH

The Killam and Sedgewick Calf Clubs will hold their joint Achievement Day and Calf Sale at Sedgewick on June 6th. Judging will start at 11 a.m. and the Sale at 1 P.M.

Lunches will be served.

GOOD RESPONSE TO FIRE DRILL STAGED BY HARDISTY

Considerable interest by a number of citizens was shown in a practice fire drill held at Hardisty on Thursday evening of last week. The drill was staged to give the citizenry the opportunity to become accustomed to the new fire-fighting equipment recently installed by the Town.

The result of the drill proved highly satisfactory ad it was found that the new equipment lived up to expectations.

HAY LAKE

Beekeepers would be well advised to examine their hives to see how the food supply is. Several hives have robbed the bees of their nature reserves of food. Those bees are well supplied with food at this time either in the form of sugar syrup or partly filled combs of last year's honey. A poor field at the end of the season will be the result Bulletins and literature on the management and care of bees may be obtained from the Secretary of the Sedgewick District Beekeepers Assn., Mr. C. Hamilton, or your District Agriculturist.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to sincerely thank all those who sent me get-well cards and flowers and in any other way made my stay in hospital much more pleasant

Mrs. G. A. McCoy, Lougheed.

VILLAGE OF LOUGHEED

NOTICE OF PREPARATION OF ASSESSMENT ROLL FOR 1949.

Notice is hereby given that the assessment roll of Village of Lougheed for the year 1949 has been prepared and is now open for inspection at the office of the Secretary Treasurer of the Village from ten o'clock in the forenoon until four o'clock in the afternoon on every day not a public holiday except Wednesday and on that day from ten o'clock in the forenoon until twelve o'clock noon and that any ratepayer who desires to object to the assessment of him self or any other person must within twenty days after the date of this notice lodge a complaint in writing with the Secretary Treasurer of the Village.

Dated at Lougheed this 24th day of May 1949.

Sydney Dewhan
Secretary Treasurer

PERSONAL STUFF

— By A. W. S. —

A week or two ago one of our volunteer fire drill held at Hardisty on Thursday evening of last week. The drill was staged to give the citizenry the opportunity to become accustomed to the new fire-fighting equipment recently installed by the Town.

The result of the drill proved highly satisfactory ad it was found that the new equipment lived up to expectations.

Funny though, because that isn't what I started out to say at all. What I had in mind was the fact that the Community Press is read in every town and district between Dayson and Rearyth I could prove the above statement to any doubting Thomas but just for now I will take one ad ago for an example it R? Alright, have a look at the picture below. The guy's reading the Community Press I can prove that too

First of most of you will recognize the concealed, middled and interesting features of one Luther Rowe, Lougheed, more intimately known to the office of the Secretary Treasurer of the Village from ten o'clock to the forenoon until four o'clock in the afternoon on every day not a public holiday except Wednesday and on that day from ten o'clock in the forenoon until twelve o'clock noon and that any ratepayer who desires to object to the assessment of him self or any other person must within twenty days after the date of this notice lodge a complaint in writing with the Secretary Treasurer of the Village.

Dated at Lougheed this 24th day of May 1949.

Sydney Dewhan
Secretary Treasurer

Now along to a different theme although I am going to continue to speak about the Community Press All is not well in my shop. Last week my big Platen Press went to the hummer I was stuck with paper to print and no press All it would have been a black picture except for my good friend and fellow Editor Randy Matthews of who I printed my paper on his press and received an invitation to come back again next week if I were still in trouble Randy has a nice plant down to Alliance and a good business, all of which he has built up in a very few years. While I was there Randy showed me the most recent copy of the "Guardian Gatchel", a weekly paper printed in Edmonton. In it I noticed ads from everywhere in Alberta I scanned every page, and not one display ad for that Village In the Alliance Enterprise for the same week were several large ads from Gatchel. There is no doubt in my mind as to the answer. People are going to do business with a man from whom they stand a reasonable chance of getting some of their hard earned money back. When it goes to Edmonton, brother it's gone.

TENDERS WANTED

Tenders are requested for the excavating and pouring of 22 or 24 cement basements and the chimney for the Killam Arena, all materials supplied Plans may be inspected at the Killam Post office, Fee's Hardware or the Beaver Lumber Co at Killam. Tenders to be submitted by 12 o'clock noon on Friday, June 24th, 1949. The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

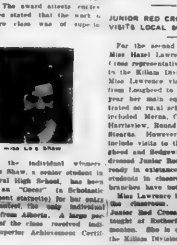
17-2c E. F. FEE, Secretary
Killam and District Board of Trade

LOCAL TEACHER AND PUPIL RECEIVING PLAUDITS ON WIN IN COMMERCIAL CONTEST

Mr John Tuoop, instructor of the book keeping class of the Killam Intermediate Central High High School was notified recently by the Gregg Publishing Company of New York City that the class has been awarded 1st certificate position in an International Book keeping contest conducted by the Gregg Publishing Company. World Masters.

An impressive Superior Achievement Certificate, issued by the Business Education World, will be on display in the commercial room.

Mr Tuoop's students competed with more than 17,000 students in schools throughout the United States Canada, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, Cuba and the Virgin Islands The award was made on the basis of the percentage of the class membership that took part, as well as on consistent excellence of the solutions submitted. The award already received authorities stated that the work of the entire class was of superior quality.



Miss Lois Shaw

Among the individual winners Miss Lois Shaw, a senior student in the Central High School, has been awarded an "Honor" (in Superior Achievement statistic) for her entry in the contest. The only individual winner from Alberta. A large percentage of the class received individual Superior Achievement Certificates

JUNIOR RED CROSS ORGANIZER VISITS LOCAL SCHOOLS

For the second successive year Miss Hazel Lawrence Junior Red Cross representative has paid a visit to the Killam Division Last year Miss Lawrence visited town advertising Lougheed in Savialand but this year her main sports were concentrated on rural schools Those visited included Mersa, Lambridge Harmer Hartview, Round Head Creek, and Stocata. Hartview, she managed to include visits to the schools at Lougheed and Sedgewick, where she addressed Junior Red Cross groups already in existance, and spoke to students in classrooms where J.R.C. branches have not been established.

Miss Lawrence is quite at home in the classroom, having passed the Junior Red Cross, Miss Lawrence taught at Rutherford School in the Edmonton district in addition to work in the Killam Division, as she taught in Groveland and Caledonia Schools

With the Hardisty, Killam and Sedgewick Beef Feeding Clubs joining forces the Calves will hold one of the biggest Calf Club Achievement Days and Sales to be held this year Judging starts at 11 a m. and the Sale at 2 00 p.m. Ladies Aid will be serving lunch A welcome is extended to everyone

DORMITORY NEWS

We were honored on Wednesday by a most interesting talk from Mrs Lawrence, representing the Junior Red cross in Edmonton

The Dorm was a most deserted place Tuesday while we all spent the day at Lougheed. In fact a few characters believe in returning the next day in time for breakfast also

Thursday afternoon we saw the annual Cadet inspection at which there was a good turnout. Seven awards were won by the boys. Congratulations

Britain's Dollar Drive

TRADE BETWEEN GREAT BRITAIN AND CANADA is one of the many matters which have been considered as a result of the war. The reasons why Britain has of late found it necessary to curtail expenditures in countries outside of the sterling area are well known, but in spite of the inevitable liquidation of British assets abroad during the war, and other circumstances which have brought about the present situation, the fact remains that as long as the United Kingdom cannot buy from Canada a great many of our agricultural products and numerous other items in short with the object of the sterling area economic structure in two serious [illegible]

Irrigation Projects In Alberta Are Proving Practical And Profitable

THE earliest record of irrigation in Alberta dates back to 1879 when a small ditch was built south of the present city of Calgary. For the past 15 years small irrigation works were built by ranchers, mainly for the irrigation of hay meadows. With the passing of the Irrigation Act by parliament in 1894, the benefits to be derived from irrigation in the Prairie provinces were brought to the attention of the public throughout Canada.

The passing of this Act marked the beginning of a definite policy for the development of irrigation in Southern Alberta. During the past 50 years this development has progressed from small individual or co-operative enterprises put out and corporation projects, to the present development under the Provincial Irrigation Plan. The results obtained in these irrigation districts have clearly demonstrated that the good and dynamic conditions of Southern Alberta are really waiting for the production of livestock the growing of forage crops, sugar beets, peas and other vegetables registered good and profits. Intensive mixed farming has replaced the growing of wheat on irrigated areas and agriculture has been established on dry-land. Since the completion of the Canadian Pacific railway in 1883 many districts in Southern Alberta have been settled by people who had practical and profitable farming experience in the North. Further and proposed irrigation projects are in progress and planned areas formerly subjected to devastating droughts.

Communities of prosperous farmers now live on the enjoyment of greater social and educational advantages resulting from economic independence. But these irrigation areas cover only a small part of the stretch of dry land which is potentially fertile. Irrigation farms are located at Taber and Raymond, where sugar beet crops are grown successfully. Lethbridge district, where an experimental irrigation farm is located; Brooks-Strathmore; Cardston; Bassano and Vauxhall districts are where wheat and vegetable farming is extensively grown by irrigation. The projects now operating have proved conclusively that irrigation of the dry land in Southern Alberta is both practical and profitable. Further and proposed irrigation projects are in progress and planned

RECIPES

BASIC RECIPE FOR WHITE BREAD
Quick Method

2 cups scalded milk or potato water, half and half
4 teaspoons salt
1 tablespoon sugar
2 tablespoons shortening
1 cake compressed yeast
½ cup lukewarm water
6 to 7 cups sifted bread flour

Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Place milk, salt, sugar and shortening in a large mixing bowl, cool and when lukewarm add softened yeast and 3 cups flour and beat thoroughly.

Gradually stir in remaining flour, adding just enough to make dough that can be handled easily; turn out on floured board and knead till smooth and elastic, adding flour as necessary.

Place dough in greased bowl and brush with melted shortening, cover and let rise in warm place till double in bulk 11 to 1½ hours. Turn out, shape into loaves, and let rise 1½ hours.

Bake in hot oven (375 deg. F.) for 20 minutes; then reduce heat to (350 deg. F.) and bake 40 to 50 minutes longer.

Makes 3 loaves.

Variations

Graham or Whole Wheat or Rye: Substitute one-third whole wheat and two-thirds flour, or half and half if desired. Blend the two flours together well before starting to make your bread. Two tablespoons of molasses may be added to the batter if desired.

Raisin or Fruit Bread: Add 1 to 1½ cups mixed fruit or raisins, folding in fruit when half the flour has been added.

$10,000,000 Worth Of Lumber To Be Purchased

VANCOUVER — More than $10-000,000 worth of lumber will be purchased in the Pacific Northwest by the United Kingdom in the near future.

Procurement of 125,000,000 board feet of lumber has been authorized by the Economic Co-operation Administration, it was announced in Seattle, by Nathan Newcombe, chief of the lumber branch of ECA.

BC's share of the total will depend upon her ability to meet Washington and Oregon competition, it was indicated by Mr. Newcombe. He said bids would be accepted soon and the lumber will be transported immediately.

New Industries May Follow Building Of Aluminum Plant

VANCOUVER — McNeely Dubose, vice-president of the Aluminum Company of Canada, said in an interview a large steel plant and other new industries may follow establishment of an aluminum plant on the west coast.

The official said his company is prepared to go ahead with plans for the huge aluminum plant if present surveys are favorable.

"If and when we start the plant" he said, "we hope to see a steel industry located, also a pulp and paper plant, and a company for making fertilizers."

He estimated the entire project including a townsite and other developments will cost more than $500,000,000. The townsite would support a population of 50,000, he said

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS MAY 24TH LOUGHEED SPORTS

The 24th has come and gone once again and in all it was a very good day. The crowd this year was larger than for many years We saw many former Loughedites from far and near, home again, so many in fact we can't list them all here.

The baseball games got underway around 10 a.m. The first game was between Lougheed and Hardisty, the home town team winning by a score of 7-4. The next game was between Alliance and Sedgewick, the former winning by a large score Sweetburn and Killam then took the field and the spectators witnessed a very close game with Sweetburn winning At Alliance and Forestburg then played with the latter again winning. The final game was between Forestburg and Lougheed, with Forestburg taking the honors for the day

Six teams were entered in open softball. Valley defeated the Red Busters. Metropolitan defeated the Dormitory Boys. Killam's was not over Strome. In the semi-finals Killam beth beat Valley and then beat out the Metropolitan in the final game.

Six teams also entered in ladies' softball. Killam beat Kinsella; Hardisty then lost to Killam, and in the final game Killam took the measure of Valley

An intermediate softball game was played between Sunnight School and Lougheed the former winning.

A shower in the evening found all ball games in a close contest the last was expected, but everyone was so happy to see the rain that there was no complaints. Indeed, of the little shower the whole day was perfect

Two booths on the grounds supplied refreshments for all one being operated by the local ladies and the other by Ken Newman Syd was on hand with his loud speaker system to keep everyone informed of the happenings of the day and keep that lively music on the air

Races of all kinds provided lots of fun for the youngsters, and the day closed with a grand dance at night which attracted a huge crowd.

DIVISIONAL CADET CORPS EXHIBIT PROWESS

(By J. W. Chalmers)

Annual inspections at Cadet Corps at Alliance and Sedgewick last week provided fine opportunities for the boys concerned to exhibit the skills that they have been acquiring during the past several months. Both of these corps are affiliated with the Calgary Tanks, but whereas the Sedgewick corps has a history reaching back almost thirty years, that at Alliance is only a few months old. Both corps are especially fortunate in their instructors. The boys at Alliance have as their leaders, R J Flain and Jack McLeod, both young veterans of World War 2. Chief Instructor at Sedgewick is Capt C W H. McGee, assisted by Lt. L. Desire to, who have had experience in the two recent wars respectively. Sponsorship of the Alliance Corps is provided by the Canadian Legion at that point, while the Killam School Division provides this service for the cadets at Central High School

Inspecting officers at both Alliance and Sedgewick were Lieut F J Swan, P P C L I, and Sgt T. Hedley, R C A, who have paid several previous visits to Sedgewick and were instrumental in assisting in the organization of the Alliance corps

Cadet corps training includes many topics that have civilian as well as military aspects In addition to foot and rifle drill, here gun and grenade training and other service subjects the cadets study a thorough course in First Aid and quantity for St. John Ambulance Assn awards in addition to cadet badges, good riflemen can earn trophies presented by the Legion of Canada Rifle Assn. and the Lord Strathcona Trust. Probably more important than the awards, however, is the competence that a boy acquires when he learns to respect a rifle, loaded or not, and how to handle it.

Signals training, both by radio and by land-line, is an important part of a cadet's training. Proficiency in the learning of the Morse code is encouraged by awards of $10 to $20 when a cadet qualifies at six, twelve or eighteen words per minute Sports form an important part of the cadet training program, with emphasis by winter on ski training and in summer on swimming.

Cadet training is not necessarily finished at the end of the school year. Cadets are able to go to a troop camp, this year to be held at Vernon, B.C. Transportation to and from camp, board and lodging as well as uniforms are provided without cost to the cadets. It is expected that both Sedgewick and Alliance corps will be well represented at Vernon this year.

A Farm Storage Tank Doesn't "Cost" IT PAYS!

A farm storage tank permits you to buy and store enough fuel at cost time to be sure of having a supply on hand when you need it. No costly delays when tractors stand idle, waiting for fuel to be delivered.

It helps to keep fuel clean and avoid clogging of fuel lines and carburetors with grit, dust or water. The tank can be mounted with enough slant to cause any impurities to settle away from the outlet.

It saves time in reducing tractors and trucks, if the tank is mounted overhead. Gravity flow is quicker than pumping or pouring. It prevents the spillage of the pump-and-pail method . . . and the storage of the "last gallon" that is often left in the bottom of each barrel.

A farm storage tank pays in added safety, because it can be located well away from house, barn or sheds.

Tanks come in three sizes. The price is reasonable. See your Imperial Oil Agent.

CAMROSE WEDDING OF INTEREST TO KILLAM PEOPLE

Hydrangeas and ferns decorated the Camrose Pupils' Church on one afternoon recently when Marie Pearl, the only daughter of Rev and Mrs. G.L. Stobbart, became the bride of Mr. Raymond Erickson of Camrose. Mr. Stobbart officiated at the daughter's wedding.

Given in marriage by her mother, Mr. Frederick Stobbart, the bride wore a gown of white satin, styled with a full flared skirt and bodice made with a shirred front panel, sweetheart neckline, and lily-point sleeves. Her floor-length veil was caught to a coronet and she carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations. Her only jewelry was a gold locket, a gift of the groom.

Miss Marion Wallace of Killam attended as maid of honor, and Miss Mildred Phair of Edmonton was the bridesmaid They were gowned alike in pink and blue sheer Little Lucille Anderson, niece of the groom, was flower girl Mr Paul Olson was best man, and Mr. Ernest Erickson was groomsman. Ring-bearer was Master Gordon Stobbart.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Stobbart wore a grey suit and straw hat with black accessories Her corsage was of Talisman roses Mrs Erickson, groom's mother was in navy, with matching accessories, and corsage of red roses

A reception in the guests took place later in the church social room The bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake flanked by white tapers. After a short honey moon, the couple will go into Camrose work — Edmonton Journal.

SEEDTIME and HARVEST

Shop Farm Wants

The stress of world food shortages has recently focussed attention on the enormous food losses resulting from preventable waste Some farm of waste, in varying degree, can be found on every farm in Western Canada A few of the more common forms are mentioned here

Farm Accidents Accidents on the farm, which often result from careless power and land management, cause a type of waste that shows up agricultural dividends. A little more thought and care applied to the chute tasks about the farm, can mean a great saving in the manhours of work accomplished

Crop Losses Smut diseases, weeds, and insect pests cause field crop losses that exceed 200 million dollars annually Widespread seed treatment with approved fungicides would almost completely eliminate smut losses Chemical weed killers such as 2,4-D, and the new insecticides such as chlordane and toxaphene, supplied with good tillage practices, offer new hope in the reduction of weed and insect losses

Livestock Losses Balanced feeding rations, better pasture, and more soil fertility practices, coupled with careful culling, can easily eliminate losses caused by unhealthy animals and poor feeding practices

Harvest losses Much good work on the various millions of dollars each year in wasted feed, reduced labor cost in production and damaged land can be continued through DDT, Lorne powder, and other weed-killing hormone sprays. Millions of these losses are very largely preventable through improved farming practices The Line Elevators Farm Service will continue to aid in the dissemination of information needed to fill the gap between agricultural findings and farm practice, so waste can be eliminated.

YOUR SECURITY and YOUR STABILITY ARE AT STAKE!

You Can Defeat Your Biggest Tax Problem . . .

That is the 8% sales tax. The one the budget missed. The one that hits you hardest. This quotation

" . . . This tax costs the Canadian taxpayers 30 cents for every dollar of processed material" from a Liberal member of Parliament shows what the government is doing to keep taxes high . . . despite the "Strikery" taxes in the budget.

So that you may have a sure, adequate income, the Progressive Conservative Party will

- Reduce sales taxes.
- Provide deductions to farmers for members of family who contribute to revenue.
- Reduce income tax rates and increase exemptions.
- End the administrative persecution of farmers by tax collectors.

For your protection the Progressive Conservative Party will take these steps:

PRICES

—Permanent floor price legislation based on these principles:

- A definite formula in the Farm Prices Support Act for arriving at floor prices.
- The formula will allow for variations in production and demand for individual products.
- Floor prices will be announced well in advance of production period.
- The floor price formula will be arrived at in consultation with representatives of producers.

EXPORT MARKETS

Restoration of the Canadian Wheat Board to serve its original purpose as a Marketing Agency for wheat producers . . . and its extension to include the handling of coarse grains.

Inclusion of representatives of farmer's organizations on all Boards dealing with farm matters.

Aggressive and immediate action to recapture lost markets; the development of new markets; to achieve security of export markets through foresighted negotiations.

Dominion marketing legislation based on the principle of democratic producer control.

PRODUCTION

Reclamation and conservation of existing soil resources; development of new producing lands through irrigation; greater accessibility to domestic markets by improved transportation facilities.

Future May Have Greater Role For Welland Canal System

LAKE ERIE—ONTARIO—The U. S. coal steamer eight locks 326 boats freighters 327 feet to upper channel.

BIG DITCH—Welland ship canal, which cost $130,000,000 to build, carries vessels around Niagara.

By M. D. CRAWFORD
Central Press Correspondent

Ships plying the Great Lakes this season will use the Welland Ship Canal just 120 years after the first Welland Canal was completed to short the roaring cataract and rapids of Niagara Falls and carry ships between Lake Erie and Lake Ontario.

Twelve decades of North American development have been expected because determined members of the old Welland Canal Company raised money and completed one of the greatest engineering feats of their time in the days of sail.

First Welland Canal was built by Niagara peninsula fruit - orchard farmers to carry their produce to market, and it handled their products over a 2,000-mile inland waterway between the head of the Great Lakes and the Atlantic ocean.

The present Welland Ship canal, which took Canadians 17 years to build, has now been used for 18 years. Ceremonies were held on Aug. 6, 1932, to open it for traffic.

The first Welland canal, opened was opened in 1829. Its completion marked one of the great pioneering feats of history. The Hon. Hon. Bolton of Youngstown, O., and the Annand Jane of York, Upper Canada (now Toronto), were the first two vessels to pass through the first Welland canal.

Shortly after the War of 1812, the canal-building fever spread in both Canada and the United States. Historians do not know who first suggested the Welland canal. Col. Robert Nichol in 1816 introduced a bill in the Upper Canada parliament to provide funds for surveying possible water routes between Lake Erie and Lake Ontario.

This bill failed to pass, and William Hamilton Merritt founded the Welland Canal company. This joint stock company was composed of Niagara area citizens who raised money and built the first Welland canal themselves. Construction started near the end of 1824 when the company had subscribed only $150,000, much of it in the United States.

A cairn unveiled at Allanburg, Ontario, on Nov. 30, 1924, marks the spot where the first and was turned 100 years earlier by George Keefer, then president of the Welland Canal company.

Forty wooden locks, each 110 feet long and 22 feet wide, with water eight feet deep on their sills, enabled the small ships of that day to ply between the two lakes.

The Erie canal had been completed in 1825. Canadians the same year had completed a canal to surmount the Lachine rapids near Montreal.

Not long afterwards, Canadians built the $1,000,000 Rideau canal between Kingston and Ottawa to provide a military route in the event of future conflict with the United States.

The second Welland canal, built by the government of Upper Canada, consisted of 27 cut stone locks, each 100 feet long, 26½ feet wide, and with nine feet of water. Its last section opened to ship traffic in 1850.

The third Welland canal resulted from a Canadian canal commission's recommendation in 1871 that locks be 270 feet long, 45 feet wide, and accommodate 14 feet of water. Its 26 locks were constructed of cut stone, and the canal opened in 1887. These locks still are relics of fine stone masonry.

The fourth, or Welland Ship canal, became necessary because navigation and the size of lake ships both increased. By 1925 ships 623 feet long, 70 feet wide, and with a draft of 20 feet were operating on the Great Lakes. These shipments had increased tremendously.

The Welland Ship canal route departs from the other three across the peninsula. It has eight locks. Three are each 859 feet long, 80 feet wide, and have 20 feet of water at their sills. The eighth lock, Humberstone, measures 1,380 feet and is the longest lock in the world.

This canal, which raises and lowers ships about 327 feet between the two lakes, is 25 miles long and runs nearly straight north-south across the peninsula.

The Welland canal is no small ditch. It is 310 feet wide at the waterline, and its channel bottom is 200 feet wide. More than 62,000,000 cubic yards of rock and earth were excavated during its construction. Numerous railroad and highway bridges cross the canal, but these are quickly lifted by machinery for the passage of ships.

Numerous trees planted along the Welland Ship canal provide protection against crosn winds. They also help prevent erosion and provide scenic beauty.

Closed four months by ice, the Welland Ship canal normally opens in early April and operates until mid-December. In the 1947 season, 8,918 vessels carried 11,898,827 tons of freight through the canal.

Two-Year Bike Ride Is Still Going Strong

EDMONTON—Robert Scott McArthur is the man to see if you want an expedition that is brave and full of steel.

The small 22-year-old Scot stepped off his bicycle in Vancouver one day in 1947 and will collect a nickel when he returns but that was all he had for some time yet. Now Scotia has come to love the life on the open road.

Asked when he expected to hit Vancouver again, he replied, "Well, we may run out of money one day or may go back to the States for a few years."

Born in Scotland, Scottie came to Canada while still a "wee bairn" and, apparently, gained a strong desire to be other than where he happens to be at any given time. So he began going elsewhere in 1947 and has been pedalling around North America ever since.

To visit all the places he has been on his travels would take time and space but he has ranged down to Montreal and has pretty well covered western Canada and the United States.

Only three mishaps have marred his adventures during the two-year trip. Once he got some teeth knocked out when he hit a car in London, Ont., from both feet early in the morning just out of Moose Jaw and he went into a Montreal hospital when a chill threatened to bring on pneumonia.

Scottie doesn't rely on charity for his trip. He works a few days here and there when he has to but earns enough for his horse-like appetite.

Helpful Hints

Never put by down your drain boiler when it mixes with grease and hot water you get soap

If you are over 5'7" be careful not to have your hair cut too short as it tends to make you look a bit too small for your height.

If you don't want curtains at your bathroom window, use a shower curtain instead. Then you can place a row of potted plants on a glass shelf above the window.

perhaps not the something one thought about in youth, but something else a quarter of years of experience of life, probably far greater because of it.

Opportunity

Worst of all crimes against one's self is to lament and wring one's hands over "lack of opportunity". Opportunity offers itself every day, according to your ability, your will for action, your power of vision, your knowledge, and your initiative.

Initiative is one of the values business men admire most highly. They must adapt themselves to changing times, changing ideas and changing needs. The success of their business depends on environment that will provide them with opportunity to give expression to their energy and ability, and young men who can devise new things and new ways to meet the opportunity.

People who never venture out into the open are knew no more than half of life. Youth today should not be satisfied with merely a segment of life, no matter how much security it produces, when by a little effort and enterprise they can trace the complete circle.

Youth naturally has the enterprising quality as a virtue in itself even without achievement to mark its success. As James Ramsay Ullman says in "Kingdom of Adventure: Everest": "That men will some day reach the summit of the world seems little. That they should want to reach it and try to reach it means everything."

George Fins Envoy

There is a line in Sir Walter Scott's "Lady of the Lake" which could be displayed with advantage on every business man's office, in every workshop, and in every young man's den. It reads: "The will to do, the soul to dare." . . .

Whatever else young people do on their graduation, let them sow seeds of oaks, not of Virginia creepers. The creepers will grow faster, just as some jobs pay more for less work, but look what the patience of the growing acorn brings forth as an end result.

WHEN YOU ARE ON YOUR OWN

At this time when graduations are taking place, and plans of the future are being talked over by young men and women going into the business world the following a part of the recent "Monthly Letter" issued by the Royal Bank of Canada is timely and thought provoking:

GRADUATING from school and university this spring are youths who will be Canada's statesmen, business executives, union leaders, and master craftsmen. Others will be her doctors, surgeons, lawyers, engineers and research wizards. Thousands will become clergymen and teachers. Some will represent Canada to the world in their music, art and writing.

Nobody now living knows who they are, or how their development will come about. When their formal education ends, they are on their own, and who gets where and how soon is up to them. But one thing is certain: there are places of honour and usefulness to be filled, and some of these years graduates are going to fill them.

Events are shaping now, this very month, bringing into being new professions and new careers. There is no need for young men and young women to go looking for none wonderland. There are enthralling jobs to be done, exciting solutions to be found, on this side of the Looking Glass and at this end of the Rabbit Hole. If you'll only put their minds and bend their backs to the job.

The Monthly Letter is dedicated to young people in search of a future. Their Broad Commencement is a point of departure. They have reached maturity in the eyes of their families and friends. They are thinking on, and mind justify the faith of their parents. From here on it is their own ability, energy, initiative and enterprise that count.

Those are things that count particularly in a young country like Canada. Enterprise and initiative must be a loving part of a developing country—enterprise to find new resources or new uses for known resources, and initiative to develop the opportunities into activities.

Canada is not a static system. Compare the living standard of today with that of two generations ago, and it becomes evident that in even the humblest home today the comforts of life far exceed anything even dreamed of then. Who brought it about? Men and women who had less education, fewer open doors to life activities, and a smaller store of general knowledge, than any graduate of 1949.

People Count Most

Some persons are given to talking about the precarious nature of Canada's economy. They say we are too dependent upon foreign markets, too close to the nation and too far away from that, too much divided geographically by mountains and lakes, and too-precisely by languages and creeds.

These people miss the point; they are timid and misguided people looking for things to blame rather than for people to achieve things. Prosperity truly depends upon our ability to sell in competitive markets, and that in turn depends upon inventiveness and enterprise, which in their turn are in the hands of people, not upon conditions. Consequently the future of Canada turns. And those people, in terms of the next fifty years, are this year's school and university graduates.

We said Canada's economy is not static. Why, in 1948 alone there was capital investment in this country to the amount of $5,000,000,000. This went into new buildings, machinery and equipment. There will be upwards of 150 new industries from abroad established in Canada in 1949. Every dollar of investment means more opportunity for young people. Every dollar of investment is backed by the judgment of safety now that it is justified by Canada's prospects.

Don't just think of big things like automobiles, airplanes, electric power and telephones. Try to count all the little things which are big businesses today: fountain pens, type-writer ribbons, mimeograph films, stereotypewriter, gramophone needles . . . thousands of ever-pocket size things that were thought up by young men and women of imagination, put into production by young men and women of daring, and have given employment to hundreds of thousands of persons.

The little things are still important, but look also at television, air conditioning, rivulan aviation, electronics, food freezing, and atomic energy. These furnish a fertile field to the imagination and initiative of eager young brains of today. As someone has said, The greatest undeveloped territory in the world lies under your hat

Ghost Assistant

Who are going to win and hold the key positions in new industries ten, twenty or thirty years from now? We would say the young people who are now completing their formal education, who approach life on their own with ambition, energy and enterprise.

Douglas Jerrold, who wrote the inimitable Mrs. Caudle's Curtain Lectures for "Punch", put an amusing face on ambition. "Without ambition people, the world would never get up," he wrote. "They are busybodies who are about early in the morning, hammering, sawing, and rattling the fire-irons, and remaining it generally impossible for the rest of the house to remain in bed."

That is, more or less, what Canada needs of her young men and women. Ambition in what makes people dissatisfied with their present level and eager to climb to a higher level, and, moreover, supplies the energy. Lord Mood, to make the effort. It isn't the kind of desire shown by Bottom, the star comedian in "A Midsummer Night's Dream", who wanted to play Pyramus, Thisbe and the lion—he wanted to be the whole show. The finest kind of ambition is concentrated, and is directed to something worthy.

There are two warnings to be noted. The first is that ambition means more than mere rung of succession than mere, and no real effort and work to back up the desire. The second was given by Sir Walter Scott in "Kenilworth". Queen Elizabeth gave Robert Dudley a ring, with which he wrote on a window-pane: "Fain would I climb, but that I fear to fall." The Queen completed the couplet by writing with her diamond: "If thy mind fail thee, do not climb at all."

Setting Your Objective

What do you want? What do you want to be?

These are vital questions. Unless you can answer them specifically you are not going to get anywhere. Unless you can answer them specifically you can say only some "oomph" in your voice: "I am going to get ahead" (or "I am going to be rich" and I am going to be the kind of person you greatly wish to be" . . . Unless you can lay the answers in the line there will be few persons of importance interested in you, and you have nothing in which to be interested.

Your objective must be specific, concrete and definite. It needs to be just in some special field, having in mind a particular achievement in that field. Then you are doing yourself justice by not alone adding to the welfare of mankind; if you are content to take a job because the work will not be too hard and the salary will be sufficient to allow you to entertain an occasional "date". If you start out that way you will still be in search of a job at fifty.

Having an objective is no mere willingness to receive. It is something purposeful and creative, backed by energy. There must be something immediate about it, but this nearby objective should be merely a step toward an ultimate goal as far away that you can see it only vaguely. Otherwise you will bounce around from job to job until at 35 you suddenly wake up to the fact that you have only ten more years in which to make good.

For those who will take the time to ponder it, here is a thought-provoking piece of advice from Henry Ford: "Make your program so long and so hard that the people who criticize you will always be sure that you are talking about something very trivial in comparison with what you are really trying to do."

Seeking Advancement

Right now is the time to determine that you will never give in to inertia. Just as soon as you are content to sit complacently satisfied with a modest success, then you graduated with your diploma. People who have many excuses for settling down, ceasing to study, and "getting fun out of life". Let us look at some of these.

I am too young. Alas! the irreversible march of years will soon mend this excuse. It is well to have in mind that when a man may leave anything he wants to up to the time when his mentality decays, the peak of learning capacity is before 25. The wise youth will take advantage of his great at learning ability.

I have no time. Use of time consists in a choice between this and that, and the choice is free to everyone. One man who realized his need for study and self-improvement, but whose expenditure of time was pegged in two newspapers he added twenty minutes a day to his life for studious reading; five hours a week; 13 days of solid hours each saved in a year to help him succeed.

It is too dull. Learning may be dull stuff if taken haphazardly. Politics, travel, philosophy may not be in your line of interest, but there are a thousand other subjects in the world, and somewhere there is one that will lead along your line of interest toward success in your chosen field.

It has become discouraged. This is a feeling common to all of us, and something that must be overcome by the sheer will-power. Often, there is nothing definite one can point to as a cause. Discouragement can be like the Great Bogy in "Peer Gynt". The mold, invisible, limp monster that held him prisoner, something so hopeless to fight against.

Graduates of other years may say I am too old. This is a fallacy that holds back many an able man. So may have taken a wrong turning—a job that seems to lead off for life year's graduates—and he may sincerely have reached one of those dead ends. But thousands of historical cases show that never is one too old to do something worth while;

The Senior ball team and a couple of faithful rooters journeyed up to Stroome last Friday for another of the league games, and again won by the score of 23 to 5. We're really proud of the kids as they sure know their stuff on baseball. So far they have won all their games. Keep it up.

Birthday congrats this week go to Mrs. A Skoberg who has passed another milestone May 27th). To help her celebrate the occasion a number of friends dropped in and all spent a very pleasant afternoon enjoying the general goodly and the lunch.

Noticed a few high school students wandering sleepily around the street last Wed. morning. You guessed it. They missed the bus (accidentally).

Mr. Rogers was a member of the which had a few days last week.

Glad to see Mrs. Mc Gregor once again from the Royal Alex hospital.

Archie Landine and wife of Jasper spent a few days visiting Archie's mother, Mrs. Curtis, his sister Mrs. G. Cromer and friends in the district.

The Fred Draper family of Calc Lake were down for the 24th and spent a couple of days with the C. Beckmire's and others.

Chas. Beckmire was a patient in Killam hospital for a few days last week, and then went to the General in Edmonton where he underwent an operation last Saturday morning. We all wish him speedy recovery.

The McLeod family of Chauvin spent the 24th in Lougheed.

The L. Lies family of Camrose and Art Wilson of Wetaskiwin motored down for the 24th.

Gordon Kirkham and his friend both of Calgary, were in town for the sports. Gordie resumed his position with the local Wildcats during the day's baseball activities.

"Cordon Weir spent a few days amongst the city lights last week and took in the circus.

The Shannon family were also Edmonton visitors last week. Races?

A special Missionary Service will be held on Friday June 10th at 8:00 p.m. in the Nazarene Church. Miss Cora Walker of Calmsy, returned Missionary from South America, is the special guest speaker.

Fred Walling of Hoetler made a surprise visit to his sister, Mrs. A. Lawley one evening last week.

Rev Rodney Rae busily engaged in adding the finishing touches of paint to his grandmother's home. Looks very nice too Rodney.

The W. I. Girls Club members have again been busy this past week completing their quilt and doing other club work. Their quilt is really a masterpiece and we're proud to know our local girls are capable of doing such fine work.

We had a real downpour here last Wednesday night, of both rain and hailstones, which lasted for about a half hour. Did a lot of good which it lasted and gave the plants a new outlook on life.

C. Carson, who was a patient in the Hardisty hospital, is now in the University hospital at Edmonton to receive treatment. We hope it won't be too long before he is feeling better and back home again.

Little Vonnie Walmsley celebrated her third birthday last week. We wish her many happy returns of the day and many more birthdays.

Art Busby, your Press Editor, was a caller in town last Friday on his regular weekly visit.

Rev. Reagan of Viking was a caller in town last Saturday.

The community was shocked last Saturday to hear of the sudden death of Mrs. J. V. Grey, who passed away in the Killam hospital after having been injured when their truck overturned last Friday night. The Greys are well known old-timers here.

Rev. Guy L. Nese of the Canadian Nazarene College, Red Deer, who was to have been the guest speaker at the Nazarene Church on June 5th, will be visiting on Sunday June 12th, and will have the college quartette to assist him in the services.

SEDGEWICK ACTIONS

Mr and Mrs. Art Falls spent several days the past week visiting with relatives in Edmonton.

Alberta Is Named After Daughter Of Queen Victoria

By Historic Innes in the Edmonton Journal)

The interesting name of Alberta is one of the most common names of Alberta and Canada from Prince Edward Island on the east to Lake Louise Charlotte Islands and the city of Victoria on the west. Our own province was named after a Royal princess who lived in Canada and loved it too, by her own testimony [illegible] when she was some ex- [illegible] ...ne of the West was a booming real importance and the building of a railway to the Pacific Coast was of great public interest in planning.

Mr. Higginbotham, to whom the letter was addressed, was a well known [illegible] Together with [illegible] ...ment in this city he [illegible] ...ng impressed by the ...t of the [illegible] ...ment.

Therefore Alberta was given first consideration of the four territories which the province were then divided. In 1905 two of the names Alberta and Saskatchewan were names given to the provinces which were formed by the latter's subdivision.

While the name Alberta was not thought suitable for a territorial province to be, its appropriateness of the famous and lovely Lake Louise is unquestionable.

Thus the Princess Louise Caroline Alberta has her name enshrined deeply on the map of this province. Who can deny that she deserved the honor when it is realized that, at a comparatively early date, she had enjoyed the greatness of this land?

RESIGNS FROM CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL STAFF .....

Mr. Charles Morin

Mr. Charles Morin, Killam, has resigned his position with the Killam School Division Central High staff. Mr. Morin has been in the Division since it was formed and has been at Central High for 5 years. He will be the Instructor of Music at the composite high school and Supervisor of Music for the Red Deers School Division. The Times will miss Mr. Morin, but wish him every success in his new position.

WEDDING

MORGAN — DERESUIK

A double ring ceremony was performed in the Roman Catholic Church, Killam, when Florence Alice, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. Deresuik became the bride of Eugene Morgan, son of Mr. C. M. Morgan of Killam. Traditional white satin was chosen by the bride, who was given in marriage by her father. Styled with a draped neckline and fitted bodice and full length pearl buttons, with bustle-bowed back. A beaded coronet held the bride's three quarter length veil, and she carried a colonial bouquet of pink and red roses. Her only jewelry was a pearl pendant, gift of the groom. Bridesmaids were Simone Darcee Bennett and Doreen Omelchuk, who were gowned in pale peach and pale pink.

Best man were Ernie Bertsch and Eddie Simon. Ushers were Eddie Kuebler and Martin Moser. Musical selections were given by Jack Jarosh and Dirk Kisser.

A reception followed for the entertwo at the bride's home. To receive, Mrs. Deresuik wore a pale grey dress with brown accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Bridal toast was proposed by Fr. McCarthy, and replied to by the groom.

After a honeymoon to Banff and Washington, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan will reside at Killam. For travelling the bride chose a pale pink gabardine suit with a corsage of orchids and brown and white accessories.

OBITUARY

The Lougheed district was saddened on Wednesday, June 1st to learn of the death of Jessie McKerracher Broadfoot, beloved wife of Robert Broadfoot. Mrs. Broadfoot was born in Port of Montrose, Stirlingshire Scotland on the 22nd of May, 1885, and had then attained the ripe age of ninety. She was possibly the oldest resident of the district. She was married to the late Robert Broadfoot on the 1st of December 1885 and settled with him on a farm at Lochmaben, Dumfriesshire. Answering the call of wider horizons with her husband and sons, she crossed the seas and came to Canada in 1911 and located in Alberta, taking up a farm in the Lougheed district, where she resided until her death.

The deceased is survived by two sons—John who resides on the home farm eight miles south of Lougheed and Robert, an inspector of the Bank of India in London, England; and a daughter Jeannie, widow of the late J. Coburn of Lochmaben, who was killed in the first great war. Also surviving are three grandchildren and one great grand children.

Mrs. Broadfoot was a lady of the old school, whose members are rapidly disappearing in our time. Of a strong type of character with an unassuming beauty to whatsoever was true and lovely and of good report. She took a keen interest in all that went on about her and her hands were seldom idle. Many are the kindhood pairs of socks she fashioned and donated to the Red Cross. A note she was wrought with pain yet one never heard her complain, and when the end came she faced it all with courage and christian resignation.

Funeral services were held from St. Ondrews' United Church in Lougheed on Friday, June 3rd with the Rev. McLean officiating, and interment was made in Lougheed cemetery. Pall bearers were, J. Barry Walter Holtum, Billy MacLaren, C. Kinross, John Anderson and Tom Scott. F. B. Kitchen, Director.

SCHOOL OFFICIALS ATTEND REFRESHER COURSE

Chairman J. W. Bateman, Alliance and Secretary Miss Roberts, Killam, last week attended the Refresher Course in School Administration held at the University. Annual meeting of the Divisional Secretaries' Assn. was held in connection with the course. Topics discussed covered a wide range of school administrative problems, such as school grants, debentures, conveyance schedules, the correspondence School Branch, acquisition of school sites. Building programs, collective bargaining, co-operative purchasing etc. A paper on Public Relations was delivered by the divisional superintendent, Mr. J. W. Chalmers.

DIVISIONAL SCHOOLS DEVELOP GUIDANCE PROGRAM

(By J. W. Chalmers)

During the past two years the Supt. and Teachers of the Killam School Division have been gradually developing a program of pupil guidance that in many cases will operate from before the student starts to school and will terminate only when he graduates from grade 12, or even later. Most schools now have one or more visitors' days when children who are to begin the following September attend school one day or a few or so at a time. These visits are for the purpose of making the child feel at home in a new environment, letting him get to know his future teacher and classmates, and giving him a opportunity to learn the type of behavior that will be expected of him when he starts to school. Some Alberta City also provide an opportunity for parents of new beginners to meet the teacher and discuss any problems which the parents may have.

Since beginners may now enter school almost a month in September, young as five years eight months, provided there is accomodation so the child is mature enough to profit from instruction, many schools are now giving those pre-beginners pre-chological tests to learn their mental maturity. These tests are actual performance instruments, and are used by trained teachers rele ar highly reliable information on the child's mental growth.

Students in rural school schools especially may expect to write three or four mental Ludging exams during the course of their school career. The test for pre-beginners is very cleverly contrived for children who can neither read nor write but who are able to draw lines on paper or copy figures. Another test is the Reader, Vare or the Beaver Lumber, Co Killam. Tenders to be submitted b 12 o'clock noon on Friday, June 10th 1949. The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted

Wealth In Minerals

A BRIGHT FUTURE FOR Canada's mining industry as predicted by all those who are familiar with that subject. At present mining is one of our most important industries and Canada stands high among other countries in the production of metals. At a recent convention of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy it was reported that the total value of the principal of our mines in 1945 was $484,000,000. This was a record figure, but it was said to be partly due to the fact that prices are now at high levels. However there were also industrious of increases in the volume of production, and it was announced that Canada holds first position in the production of nickel, platinum and asbestos, second in gold and zinc, third in silver and copper and fourth in lead.

Important To Entire Nation

Considering that Canada is a young country and that many of our natural resources are just beginning to be developed, it is clear why there is so much confidence in the future of the mining industry. In addition to those products which have already been mentioned there are the Western oil fields which give promise of making Canada one of the world's richest sources of petroleum. There are also the great iron ore deposits on Labrador which have yet to be developed and which are expected to produce a large part of the world's supply of that metal. Added to these are many areas as yet to be opened up, but believed to be rich in minerals of various kinds.

* * * *

Will Someday Bring Wealth

While all these resources are primarily of importance to the mining industry, the wealth which it is anticipated that they will someday bring into the country will affect our entire economy. Mr. Lawrence Myers, hard American Ambassador to Canada pointed out in a recent address that Alberta oil might permanently solve Canada's foreign exchange problem. Many millions of dollars which have been spent for American oil could be used to buy other products which we cannot purchase now. The rich resources of Alberta already have been developed and the promise of perhaps even greater ones still to be discovered are important to the future of Canada. Through them new employment will be created, tax revenues will be increased and foreign trade will benefit. Canadians will follow with interest the progress of this great industry and no doubt its effect on the national economy will increase steadily.

B.C. Farmer Recovers Money Lost Last Year

SALMON ARM — Thrill of a lifetime still . . .

While during a hay field, A. F. Long of nearby Mount Ida found $600 he had lost last year. The roll of bills was intact, with only the 100 on the outside weathered.

The bonus made Mr. Long's happiness complete by replacing the $600 he had left with a crimp in his purse.

Flier Battles Cat in Mid-Air

TULSA, Okla. — William B. Young, Dallas, S.D., flying student, locked his muscles after a mid-air battle with a panic-stricken cat.

Young reported he was flying at 2,500 feet on a practice flight when the cat crashed from a screen in the cockpit and jumped onto his leg.

He petted it for a while. Then, he said the animal "went completely crazy, biting and clawing at his face."

Jack Gentry, flight chief at the aeronautics school said Young then "did the only thing possible."

Grabbing the terrified cat with one hand and fixing the plane with the other, he managed to open the cockpit ceiling and throw the animal out.

Young a hands were bitten nearly to the bone in several places Gentry said, and he was badly scratched about the face.

FARMER LOSES MULE TEETHING TO CORRECT ITS BAD HABIT

CHESTER, S.C. — Farmer R. M. Massey's mule had the bad habit of leaning against a new fence.

Massey ran a wire from an electric plant to the fence to shock Mr. Mule only mending his ways. But the animal was standing in a puddle of water when he touched the fence.

Now Massey is looking for another mule.

Student, bright: "Trying to get any of it away from him."

Predicts We'll Watch Fires Sitting At Home

REGINA — It won't be long before the progress of a large-scale fire in Vancouver will be watched by people in Edmonton while flames still are blazing, Ralph Foster of Ottawa, executive officer of the National Film Board, predicted.

He told members of the Associated Canadian Film Marshall in convention here that before long as quickly as it occurs we can see television will bring pictures of fires into Canadian homes. This would be a means of conserving the time and money shortage and waste of life and property through fire.

BELIEVED TO BE ALBERTA'S OLDEST RESIDENT, 109

WETASKIWIN, Alta. — Jim Wetaskiwin, Alta., is still enjoying his pipe of tobacco despite his 109 years. Believed to be Alberta's oldest resident, he celebrated his birthday recently.

Native of Atlanta, Georgia, he served in the army of the South during the United States civil war and later worked in a Michigan lumber camp. He homesteaded in Northern Ontario and finally moved to Calgary about 1900. He has been living at Wetaskiwin for several years.

POTATO BLIGHT

As has been stated at R. B. Hurst, of the Canadian Department of Agriculture, late potato blight in Canada on the oldest potato blight. It attacks the wild forms in South America, the native home of the potato. Doubtless it has been a factor since potatoes were introduced into Europe in the sixteenth century. Early records show that in 1846 it was prevalent in France and Germany, while in 1916, it was particularly severe in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. In 1845, the historical outbreak took place in Western Pennsylvania and the United States in Ireland where potatoes were extensively grown the resulting failure of the crop caused a famine and it was from then that the disease became known as "Irish Potato Blight."

Formerly, farmers at tentatives, in combination with a fungicide, were usually used, either as dusts or sprays, for the control of the beetle and the disease, but of recent years fungicides containing DDT have been widely adopted.

Average U.S. Family Income $4,531 Yearly

NEW YORK — The average American family in 1946 earned $222 more after taxes than in 1947, Business Management Magazine reported.

The survey listed average per family income in 1946 was $4,531 compared with $4,309 in 1947, and average retail sales per family as $3,131 against $2,955 the previous year.

WIND, DUST AND WHEAT

As I hashed the car out of the yard I hashed anxiously at my coat sleeve. The way it was tootering in the wind, I expected I'd come home to find it shorn through the dining room window. But I had to go to town. And what could I do to cheer the cool shod if I stayed? What can anyone do to anchor anything when the spring "blow" comes?

We're having another "normal year" in Saskatchewan. And everybody is trying to laugh it off.

Arrived in town, I found nearly all the farmers there, to get away from the sight of their fields in the air, no doubt. And as soon after another appeared the hilarity grew. Everyone knew why he was there!

"Were you in the field,"

"Yah! All morning!"

And then they'd all rock with laughter. You'd think the blow was the best joke that ever happened. "Well, how do you like this?" "Just like home!"

"You're looking pretty cheerful you must like this wind." I said to a neighbor. "Say, you don't get a wind like this every day," he replied with mock pride.

One man had been up on his windmill all morning. "Trying to get above it?" some one joked. "No, trying to fix it," he joked back.

And all the time the wind raged and the prairie spewed its dust into the air. You couldn't see through the black curtain of dust from the summer fallow. Even the roads were "blowing", for the sand sorted in brown shreds like wavy soil that, leaving the trash full of holes like my hopes.

My neighbor asked me, "Could some of my people rode out with you?" They came on the train unexpectable and I can't take all the luggage and them."

So we stowed his guests in my car. One of these explained they were in the country for a month to put in a crop.

"Then there's going to be a crop this year, eh?"

"Oh, we hope. I guess that's what you have to do in this country. You just gotta hope."

Hope for the unexpectable!

I reached home. The wind had subsided to a mere whisper. I looked at the prairie lying deceitfully calm. I thought: Oh, you're beautiful, only right now you look like the cat that swallowed the canary!"

But my coat sleeve was still intact. And the chokecherry by the gate gave comfort to me. It was covered with budding leaves. So delightfully unexpectable! Prairie Born

Good Roads Association To Meet In Alberta

TORONTO — The decision of the Canadian Good Roads Association to hold their 38th annual convention at Lake Louise, Alberta, on Sept. 12, 13 and 14 next, has proved to be strongly popular among highway engineers and government representatives in the eastern provinces. Already a surprisingly large number of reservations have been made for the chateau Lake Louise, which will be the headquarters of this dominion-wide gathering.

At least nine of the ten provinces will be officially represented by ministers of highways or public works and engineers.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta, Hon. George Campbell Hoyes is expected to officially open the convention on the morning of Monday, Sept. 12, and the Hon. D. M. MacMillan, minister of public works for Alberta will welcome the delegates. At the annual dinner on the Wednesday evening, Hon. E. C. Manning, premier of Alberta, will be the guest of honor and speaker.

Top-ranking Canadian highway engineers and prominent road-building authorities from the United States will also be present. They will cover not only construction and maintenance of modern highways but also such matters as soil research, road grading, bridges and aerial surveys for right-of-way locations.

Lougheed Facts

A large crowd attended the softball tournament at Valley last Wednesday. Eight teams participated in the games. The first, between the fast Hunters and Metropolitan resulted in a win for the latter. Kinsella then defeated Irma, after which Valley won out over Lougheed. The girls game resulted in Kinsella defeating Valley. The final game between Valley and Metropolitan resulted in a win for the latter. All games were close and kept the spectators in suspense till the last ball was thrown. Refreshments were served by the ladies. A dance followed with Johnny Horne's band providing music.

Mrs J. Black, Tom and William Cushnon were recent visitors with their mother a Calgary. Little Gail Walmsley returned home with Mrs Black and is spending a holiday at her grandparents.

H. G. Marshall of Calgary spent a few days last week visiting the F. Phillips. Mr. Marshall is an old time friend of the Phillips and it had been 16 years since they had renewed acquaintances. A lasting friendship is a wonderful thing.

Mr. and Mrs P. Bax, Norman and Rodney motored to Edmonton last week. Norman remained in the city for a couple weeks visiting and attending a Young Farmer's convention Rodney will soon be leaving the old home town and will fly to Fort Nelson where he will be employed as a carpenter. He ought to do O K for himself too. At least he'll have lots of lumber to build with up there and if he ever runs short he can always chop down the north pole Good luck Rodney. We'll miss you around.

Looking for a Saturday night full of fun? If course you are. Well then come to Lougheed for the dance. Good music is supplied by Allan—Masters, so bring your Saturday night date here where your fun is guaranteed.

Bob Barker had his glasses broken and an eye injured one day last week when a car jack fell and hit his glasses while he was working on a truck. He was taken to Hardisty hospital for medical care.

Mr and Mrs Bert Whitehead attended the wedding of Bert's sister at Hazlenden on June 1st.

One of our local truckers and the owner of that swanky new transport, Jim Love, returned from a trip up to Dawson Creek where he had taken a truck load of oil.

We had two junior ball games the past week. The Sunday game was between South Killam and Lougheed with the home team winning 17-6. On Tuesday night the Sedgewick team was here and defeated the kids by a score of 8 to 6. This was their first loss of the season. So we've had a very good turnout to the games and we hope it will continue. We also noticed the Wilderness warming up Sunday, and if they don't get into action quick the Juniors will be playing circles around them.

Don and Bob Albrecht of the Dawn were guests last week end at the L. home.

The Lutheran ladies aid met at the Boehm home last Friday with a good turn out of members and also of guests. After the meeting a very delicious lunch was served.

The Girls' Club held the final meeting for the term at the home of Mrs. G. W. Probst. The girls decided to send the quilt with Joyce Lenhardt and Eleanor Olson to the convention at Olds. We then will end it to the Junior Red Cross at Calgary After the meeting a committee from the W. I. gave contests, poems and readings. Prizes were given to contest winners. Lunch was served.

Quite a number of the young fry celebrated their birthdays during the past week. A few of them include Pearl Johnson, Brent Lawley, Mary Ice Holman, Marie Matheson and Gail Walmsley. We must not forget our milkman, Herb, who also passed another milestone Our congrats go to all of you.

J. Black and R. Hepworth attended the ball game at Lloydminster for a few days last week and took up several loads of people. A portion of Mr. Black's was the reserve champion and sold for $460. Hepworth's two-year-old took third prize in the show and sold for $425.

Here, to Mr and Mrs A M G is a of Edmonton on May 26th, a son.

Mary Tipler, who is employed at Edmonton spent over for a day for a visit with the Tipler family, on her way home to Hayter.

A number of the Lougheed folks attended the graduation exercises at Sedgewick last Friday. This year there were two Lougheed students who graduated, Orwen Clouston and Reed Both have now completed their high school education in Central. We'd like to take this opportunity to congratulate all the local lads and the other members of the class at this important occasion and wish them the best of luck

Mrs A Iseger and Mrs J. Hamme were in Edmonton last Saturday and visited Mr. Beckstrom who is in hospital there.

Hallina is in the air the grass is green and so is Deahome house boy yes that the two Gees are have given it a new paint job. Looks nice too

LOUIS ST. LAURENT, Prime Ministor of Canada

At the polls on June 27 the voter must ask himself, ahead of anything else, who should be head of the government.

In Louis St. Laurent, Canada has found a great national leader.

That he had high abilities of the mind was proved by his career in law. That he had wisdom in cabinet, unique gifts in parliamentary debate and a quick grasp of large affairs became clear as soon as he entered the Government. In international affairs, as one of the original advocates of the Atlantic Pact, he made himself a world figure who spoke out as no Canadian before him, in the councils of the nations.

He also revealed an understanding of ordinary people, because he is one of them.

This warm and essentially simple human being is the real St. Laurent, the product of the small town, of humble beginnings, hard work, a big family and the friendliness of country neighbors.

In blood, language and instinct he combines the qualities of two great races.

To the voter it is equally important that St. Laurent is the leader of a truly national party, with proved strength from coast to coast, the only party which can hope to form a stable government after the election. His character, his ability and his achievements have made him the leader of all the Canadian people.

Hardisty Happenings

eW are very glad to see Mrs. Bean up and around again after her quite lengthy bspell. Mane O'Reirdon returned to Camrose last week end, having spent the last few weeks here while her mother was indisposed.

Taking a beating from Killam is getting to be a habit these days with the girls football team. We motored to Killam Thursday night and again lost to them 5 to 1. Better luck next time kids. We'll beat them yet if we keep rich on trying.

Several Hardistyites motored to Rimmer on Sunday where the "High way 12" team met the Manville girls in the first game, battery Patsy Hassall, Vivian Kostyanek. Manville won 7 to 2 but in the second game, batteries Muriel Stark and Vivian Kostmard, the tables were turned and our girls won 7 to 2. Muriel pitched a three hit game.

Hardisty is on the air! And will be on the map again after the big Stampede. Listen for us daily from 4 to 4:15 p.m. on your radio and don't forget the date June 17-18.

The Johnny Walkers moved into their new home over the week end. It is the newly finished Draper home across from the United Church.

Mr and Mrs William Girds from Asherton spent the week end with Mr and Mrs Fred Olson.

Mr and Mrs McKinnel returned at the week end from their prolonged holiday. Hope you enjoyed it folks.

Mr. Charles Rogers who was been quite ill in the Hardisty hospital, is now convalescing treatments in the city. Our best wishes go to him.

Mrs. Lavina Armstrong of Calgary is visiting a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Olson.

Mrs Lena Hoople is now employed at the Crystal Cafe, replacing Miss [illegible] who was working there.

Mr and Mrs Barney Matthews were city visitors over Friday.

Missionary Tuesday this week is headed Kitty Matthews, Eddie Matthews, Billie Kitchen, Geo Hamlet, Jimmy Morrison and Red Mattson.

The Hardisty Fish and Game Assn is holding a meeting in the basement of the United Church on Thursday June 9th at 8 p.m. All members and prospective members are cordially invited to attend.

DERAILED AT CURVE.—Locomotive and tender with diesel unit of transcontinental Ottawa limited train No. 1 remain at precipitous angle, caught by tracks about 40 yards from Ottawa station, when 10 cars of train left rails on curve. Engineer and fireman escaped injury when they jumped from cab before train left rails. Fifty-five persons aboard train were shaken up, but none seriously injured. Rail traffic was delayed for several hours while wrecking crews were summoned and cars were lifted back on rails. INS photo.

PLENTY OF MILK AND FAT.—Three Jerseys, Hi-Dee Bessie, Agassiz Hurley Mae and Agassiz Dot Posch, owned by Fairy Acres Farm, Agassiz, B.C., by a sire at Ottawa made 19,450 lbs. milk and 774 lbs. fat in 365 days.

"MAMA, I WANNA BEAT A DRUM."—Small Wattie Rae is the personification of the old saying that some years have a month headed the month of a month prodigy who began to beat time to the drums overhead as the mail was sorted aboard the Canadian Pacific transcontinental train during a stop at Chapleau, Ont. The smiling, grinning drummer turns out to be Lorne Rae. The band consists of Leonard St. George Ansell, Jean Ansell, Mrs. Ansell and Mrs. Rae. The afternoon brought some sunshine and wonderful calm. David has every reason for the dirtiness. INS photo.

SCHOOL OPENS FROM BREAK-UP TO FREEZE-UP.—Deserted here at Mrs. Eliot (C.) Fairy School stands in the opening days of the fall as do the children who gather from break-up to freeze-up. Mother nature is at the controls. There were only pals and about 20 in the room during the first afternoon of a hot opening day 22nd season. From now on the students will wrestle with the three Rs in earnest but the weather gets them. Dora Yvonne Grindell rings the school bell. INS photo.

FIDDLE-HEADS.—The young sprouts of fiddle-head fern will be eaten like asparagus.

LOST SIX DAYS IN WILDS.—Bill Grant of Vancouver, B.C., and Sheila Cain of Canadian Arts, adventurers of a plane crash site wandered six days in the Canadian Rockies before being found safe and well on Canadian territory. The wreckage (plane) of Pacific Western Airlines plane was found on Washington state. Grant pancaked the plane on the snow-covered slope in a blinding snowstorm on a flight from Alberta to Vancouver. Both escaped injury when the plane hit the ground. The injured quickly wrote the search was conducted from the air by Canadian and American pilots. Airmen who finally spotted the plane, braved countless dangers. In all 11 aircraft flew more than 25,000 miles. About 200 RCAF officers took part in the search. Top row, left to right, Grant and Cain. Bottom—One of those rescuers who participated shown in the search—a Canadian Army officer. INS photo.

SUPPOSE you had to cart cash around to pay your bills. Pretty risky business. Hard on shoe leather, too

You don't do it that way, of course. Like everybody else with a bank account — there are seven million of them — you simply get out your pen, write cheques and leave all the bookkeeping to your bank. That's the modern way . . . easy, simple, safe.

Handling and recording your chequing transactions is an important job. Your bank must do it right — or a competing bank will. You'll see to that!

Suppose there were no competition . . . Could you expect the same efficiency, courtesy, eagerness to earn your goodwill?

Lougheed Facts

A large crowd attended the softball tournament at Valley last Wednesday. Eight teams participated in the games. The first, between the Red Busters and Metropolitan resulted in a win for the latter. Kinsella then headed home, after which Valley won over Lougheed. The girls' game resulted in Kinsella defeating Valley. The final game between Valley and Metropolitan resulted in a win for the latter. All games were close and kept the spectators in suspense till the last ball was thrown. Refreshments were served by the ladies. A dance followed with Johnny Herom's band providing music.

Mrs J Black, Tom and William Cookson received visitors from their mother's Langley recently. Mrs Hardisty returned home with Mrs Black after spending a holiday at her grandparents farm

Lt-Col. Marshall of Calgary spent a few days last week visiting the F. Peakes. Mr Marshall is an old time friend of the Peakes and it had been 15 years since they had renewed acquaintance. A lasting friendship is a wonderful thing.

Mr and Mrs F. Sax, Norman and Rodney motored to Edmonton last week. Norman remained in the city for a couple weeks where he is attending a Young Farmer's run on Sam Bedey will soon be hoeing the seed home town and will fly to Fort Nelson where he will be employed as a carpenter He omits to do O K for himself too. At least he'll have lots of lumber to build with up there and if he ever runs short he can always shop down the north pole. Good luck Rodney We'll miss you around.

Looking for a Saturday night ball of fun? Of course you are. Well then come to Lougheed for the dance. Good music is supplied by Allan's orchestra, so bring your Saturday night date here where your fun is guaranteed.

Bob Barker had his glasses broken and an eye injured one day last week when a car jack "fell" and hit his glasses while he was working on a truck. He was taken to Hardisty hospital for medical care.

Mr and Mrs Bert Whitehead attended the wedding of Bert's sister at Hughenden on June 1st.

One of our local truckers and the owner of that swanky new transport, Jim Love, returned from a trip up to Dawson Creek where he had taken a truck load of oil.

We had two junior ball games the past week. The Sunday game was between South Killam and Lougheed with the home team winning 17-6. On Tuesday night the Sedgewick town was here and defeated the kids by a score of 8 to 6. This was their first loss of the season. So far we've had very good turnout to the games and we hope it will continue. We also noticed the Wildcats warming up on Sunday, and if they show the same action quick the juniors will be playing circles around them

Don and Bob Allwright of the Dorm have gained last week end at the L. Barthel home.

The Lutheran ladies aid met at the Sorbian home last Friday with a good turn out of members and many guests. After the meeting a very delicious lunch was served.

The Girls' Club held the final meet for the term at the home of Mrs G. W. Probst. The girls decided to send the quilt with Joyce Dunbar and Eleanor Olson to the convention at Olds. We then will send it to the Junior Red Cross at Calgary After the meeting a committee from the W I gave contests, poems and readings Prizes were given to contest winners Lunch was served

Quite a number of the young fry celebrated their birthdays during the past week. A few of them include Pearl Johnson, Brent Lawley, Homer Holland, Marie Matheson and Gail Walmsley. We must not forget our milkman, Herb, who also passed another milestone (no cowpats on us all of you.

J Black and R Hepworth attended the ball game at Llayminster on Sunday. The latter had to look up several head of stock. A yearling of Mr. Black's won the reserve championship and sold for $150. Hepworth's two-year-old took third prize in the show and sold for $125.

Born, to Mr and Mrs A M Gale a son at Edmonton on May 24th a son.

Mary Tipler, who is employed at Vilna, stopped over for a day for a visit with the White-hood family, on her way home to Hayter

A number of the Lougheed folks attended the graduation exercises at Sedgewick last Friday. This year there were two Lougheed students who graduated, Owen Chesshire and Merle Reed. Both boys have completed their high school education at Central. We'd like to take this opportunity to congratulate our two local lads and the other members of the class on this important occasion and we hitherto the best of luck

Mrs. A. Dragoo and Mrs C. Bourne were in Edmonton last Saturday and visited Mr. Bechtaloe who is in hospital there.

Spring is in the air, the grass is green and so is Iwaluma house top now that the two lawyers have given it a new paint job. Looks nice too.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank all those who extended sympathy and helped in any way during my recent bereavement TMr. J. Gray.

LOUGHEED LADIES AID

Owing to upheaval weather and, 12 ladies attended the meeting of the Ladies Aid at home of Mrs Black

The financial report showed a substantial gain from the proceeds of the booth on May 21th. Many thanks to all who assisted Mrs. Olsen, who was WMS delegate, gave an interesting report of the work done by this society. She stated that WMS Rally Day would be in Sedgewick June 27

After the regular business a pleasant hour was spent over the tea cups and delicious lunch. Next meeting in Sept. at home of Mrs Morlaan

Canada's great Leader

LOUIS ST LAURENT, Prime Minister of Canada

At the polls on June 27 the voter must ask himself, ahead of anything else, who should be head of the government.

In Louis St. Laurent, Canada has found a great national leader.

That he had high abilities of the mind was proved by his career in law. That he had wisdom in cabinet, unique gifts in parliamentary debate and a quick grasp of large affairs became clear as soon as he entered the Government. In international affairs, as one of the original advocates of the Atlantic Pact, he made himself a world figure who spoke out as no Canadian before him, in the councils of the nations.

He also revealed an understanding of ordinary people, because he is one of them.

This warm and essentially simple human being is the real St. Laurent, the product of the small town, of humble beginnings, hard work, a big family and the friendliness of country neighbors.

In blood, language and instinct he combines the qualities of two great races.

To the voter it is equally important that St. Laurent is the leader of a truly national party, with proved strength from coast to coast, the only party which can hope to form a stable government after the election. His character, his ability and his achievements have made him the leader of all the Canadian people.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

"ADORATION" ::

Froggin's Absence Caused Whom Nobody's Been Frogging.

By ANNA E. WILSON

SHOOTING BADE felt his heart leap. He had tried to get over to Rosa Belle's home without being seen by Frogging Pete. As he slid around the corner of Uncle Bed's house, he could still see Frogging Pete sitting on the porch across the way with his reins turned up, his horn severals just licking his shanks and his eyes closed in a level that look in a kiss of shrubbery.

When he reached the back, he could still hear the mouth organ and knew that Pete hadn't moved. He tried a couple of bows from his bare arm Funny about love, same they along and same they didn't. Look at the way they crawled all over him and Uncle Bed while anyone else ...

Shooting Bade reached the far corner, where he could see Rosa Belle's porch. Miss Ellen Brown was doing the washing but on the porch was Rosa Belle with her head all wavy and shiny. All that separated him from Rosa Belle was a vacant lot, but the lot was in full view from the members' Shooting Bade crouched low so as not to draw Pete's eyes.

He reached the porch and spoke softly. Miss Ellen Brown Belle's voice was ball-like but she didn't move, nor did the bound dog at her feet. Shooting Bade's heart he took the sound of the mouth organ had stopped Frogging Pete was climbing up the other side of the steps. She sat forward and looked over the other. Rosa Belle could act like that for hours until one of them got up next week away.

Shooting Bade sat whistling through his teeth and Pete Look out his mouth organ and played. Shooting Bade fixed his eyes on a kimono in the sand. He thought of himself and Rosa Belle going out along the path woods back of Uncle Bed's.

Finally he said to Pete, "You going frogging over to Black Swamp?"

Pete removed the harmonica from his lips. "Frogging's always good when nobody's been frogging."

Shooting Bade trembled softly. "Funny about frogging. It's awful easy to disturb frogs. Fellow's better to go frogging all by himself. Catch more that way."

Pete finished a bar. "Fellow needs company frogging. Much legs in that swamp where a fellow could slip without anyone finding even his bobbles. Shooting rabbits is different."

Pete blew a line of "Burnese". "Might rain," he conceded coldly. "There's no hurry about frogging."

Despair gripped Shooting Bade. Rosa Belle's eyes looked at him soft and sugary. He drew a long breath. Pete emitted a doleful note and started playing "Going Nowhere".

Shooting Bade was licked. He might as well go over to the house and let them have at him. Rosa Belle would again, hell-bike and how.

Frogging Pete put away his mouth organ. He was sure he'd won. He began playing on a forked frogging stick. Shooting Bade held his breath. He almost, he could hear a faint buzzing above his head. He reached out and snatched the sound in his fist. With his empty hand he slip pocket and let the giant fly at the lizard. It missed. He picked up another and beat forward, his eyes on the lizard. He retreated now from his closed fist, just touching Pete's knee.

Frogging Pete yelled. Shooting Bade's rear was soft with sympathy. "Nothing's any good for you since you got mud—there's a good patch down by the spruces."

Frogging Pete was gone. Rosa Belle got up and followed Shooting Bade, who picked up his gun in passing. They started down the hot road and Bade's heart reached the bend when they were brought up short by Black Mane's voice. Shooting Bade's heart beat fearfully lest she call them back but the mother voice only said, "Don't let no rabbits catch you nagging."

Black Mane laughed richly as girl, boy and dog disappeared round the bend.

Safety Director Urges Care With Boats

REGINA. — Following Saskatchewan's first boating fatality of 1949 Bevan Lawson, provincial boating and water safety director, has issued a warning against carelessness in handling boats and canoes

He warning is an appeal to avoid overloading boats or standing up in them. Shorts warnings should be heeded and no boat should be launched in rough weather

Any person who cannot swim should never go out in a boat at all Canadian Red Cross water safety clothes or boots while on the water Should the boat capsize, said Mr Lawson, passengers should remain with it and hang on The wooden craft, he reminded, is buoyant and will float

After a year's work the beavers were ready to build in a house in water 15 feet deep Before that all the land was as parched as the first photo indicates

Curiosity Got The Best Of This Bear

FLIN FLON Man — The maxim "curiosity killed the cat", apparently is applicable to bears too. Curiosity about a stove pipe led to the death of a bear in this district of northern Manitoba.

Simon Nadeau of Cormorant lake, 10 miles southeast of here, was walking through the woods recently when he saw a bear standing on its hind legs and waving at him. Not to be outdone, he waved back.

Alaska was once called Russian America.

Canada Heading For Record In Tourist Trade

OTTAWA — Canada is heading toward a record tourist season. That production was made by the Dominion Travel Bureau as officials started to add up travel data from the United States and elsewhere.

Inquiries are about 36.7 per cent higher than last year.

The figures show

In the period January-April 1949, persons interested in vacationing in Canada have used 137,702 inquiries, compared with about 130,000 for the same period a year ago.

In April letters from the U S arrived at the rate of 2,300 a day. The peak was last April 19 when the bureau opened 2,957 letters

"If that keeps up," said a bureau official "then Canada can expect more than the 25,000,000 visitors we had in 1947 . . . last year and more than the $282,000,000 spent by tourists

In addition, it will mean that dollar-short Canada will get a little extra boost since most of the travel money is expected to come from the United States.

There's one hitch. Canadians spend more dollars vacationing in the U S. under present foreign-exchange control regulations each person is allowed $150 yearly.

As an indication, the Bureau of Statistics reported that although highway traffic between Canada and the U S. dropped off in April as compared with March, the increase was due to greater volume of Canadian traffic returning from the U S.

These Nuts Will Be Handy For Picnic

TORONTO — The phrase "good enough to eat" soon may be supplied literally to women's bonnets.

The Ontario Bakers' Association, in convention here, introduced the new chapeaux — and they can all be eaten as well as worn.

One hat featured a pull-hoe blooming with roses and violets of candied icing, with pink-eyed marshmallow bunnies on top. One bonnet even sampled a spoon—perched on the hat's brim.

Exchange Of Ideas

ALTHOUGH TWO PROBLEMS are very rarely identical it is often helpful for those engaged in similar undertakings to exchange information and ideas regarding their work. Progress in many fields is accelerated in this way and it is always regrettable when wars or other barriers between nations prevent the free interchange of facts concerning new developments. In farming we have many problems which Canadian agricultural scientists are trying to solve, and in this as in many other matters, it is always interesting to learn what is being done in other countries and whether we are making greater or less progress than those who have similar difficulties to overcome.

Could Company Farm Problems Of Benefit To Both Nations

Recently Dr. E. S. Archibald, director of federal experimental farms, returned from New Zealand where he learned the approach of scientists there to some of the problems which Canadian agriculturists are also studying. Dr. Archibald visited the native country of wealthy as a member of the Canadian delegation to the Pacific Science Congress and during his journey he had the opportunity of observing the methods being used in New Zealand research and extension, a matter which is now of great concern to all countries in which these are extensive farming operations. He also visited experimental stations throughout the country and had the opportunity of comparing them with those in Canada.

* * * *

In referring to his journey and to what he had seen in New Zealand, Dr. Archibald reported that that country has many favorable climatic conditions, good soil, and possibilities for the production of an increasing grazing for their cattle with consequent greater returns in butter fat per acre for their cows. Cattle. He also said it was clear that research and experiment will make an immense contribution to Canada's agricultural prosperity through the improvement of the cattle and sheep-raising land areas. Sheep should be kept in mind by the Canadian who visited New Zealand will be of value here and it is probable that they, in time, will become a major contribution of export trade to Canada. Another matter, exchange of ideas and problems concerned to both countries, about prime of great mutual benefit.

First Field Day At Mission

The host holsteins of Mission and District farmers taught light of the F. G. Vernon farm, Mission, B.C. Standing in front of the herd sire, Sir Mandel and Pontiac Colony Bessie. The field day of June 19 at Mission, B.C., set a high mark for the local Field Day. The county holstein group is one of the local Public Relations and Publicity clubs.

Search For Oil In Manitoba Stepped Up

WINNIPEG —Increased activity in the intensive search for oil and gas in Manitoba was reported by officials of the provincial department of mines and resources when they confirmed that seismographic surveys of the area south and west of Brandon have begun.

The surveys are being made by the Brandon Exploration company, a subsidiary of Standard Oil of California. The whole hunt for oil-bearing formations believed to be lying under the farm lands in the extreme southwest corner of the province, will involve an outlay this year of between $150,000 and $160,000, officials said.

Other activity includes:

A test well drilled near Lyleton, Man., by Imperial Oil from north of the United States border, is down to the 2,700 foot level. It is being sunk by the Souris Valley Oil company, an independent concern which is understood to have financial backing from Imperial Oil.

Rio Bravo, a subsidiary of Superior Oil company of California, a large independent is also interested in the operations near Lyleton according to information received by the provincial government.

Drilling is also being carried on in the Birdtail district by the Triangle Canpaw Oil company, a Manitoba company.

Report Reveals 3,306,000 Acres Of Timberland Destroyed In 1948

By Careless Campers

(By The Canadian Press)

WHILE Canadians planned their summer vacation, the Resources department held up a stark landscape of scenes the careless camper and sportsman left behind last year. Canadians, the department said in a report of 1948 forest fires, had a major hand in the destruction of 3,306,000 acres of their own timberland —an area more than 1½ times the size of Prince Edward Island.

Cost attributable to forest fires quality, stream-flow regulation, wild life, or recreational and tourist values, none of which can be reliably appraised in terms of dollars.

Of the 3,306 fires which burned an acreage increase of 76 per cent. The average for the last 10 years, 18 per cent, were caused by lightning.

The other 82 per cent of 1948 forest fires were man-made and preventable.

Two per cent were caused by deliberate incendiarism. About 95 per cent, were caused by railways and settlers.

The sportsman who didn't make sure his cigarette was out and the camper or tourist who didn't douse his camp fire started the other 60 per cent.

BIG U.S. FLYING BOAT TAKES LOAD OF 300

SAN FRANCISCO — The United States navy's big flying boat Marlin at Barin landed a record load of 301 passengers plus seven crew members, on a flight to San Diego.

It had never carried more than 200 passengers before.

The takeoff was uneventful. Mattresses on the floor were provided for men unable to find seats.

Woman Pilot Sticks To Job Of Stenographer

EDMONTON — One of Canada's few women pilots qualified to "fly anything with propellers" is going to keep right on with her stenographic job at the Edmonton post office.

Recently licensed as a transport pilot, Margaret Littlewood knows there are many "boy pilots" looking for jobs these days for her to want to crash the field.

But it's a personal satisfaction which I dreamed about 10 years ago when I first started to fly," she says. "I didn't know what a transport pilot looked like then, but I knew it was the highest rating a pilot can get. And I wanted it."

Margaret, who flew "for the fun of it" at the Edmonton flying club where she took the instruction that qualified her, says she's happily adjusted in her position of ace stenographer to Postmaster A. W. Gregory.

Having flown since 1939, the lean aviator has logged more than 1,000 hours since she first left the ground at a Toronto airport. Born in Ottawa, she has been at Trenton, Ont., where she received her instructor's rating and has trained many other persons to fly tamer planes than the multi-engine craft she now takes up.

She shrugs off the curiosity of people saying: "It's no novelty any more that a woman can fly a plane."

INJURED CHILD, SIX, KNEW SHE WAS DYING

CHICAGO Poised between a 100-pound flower bed and a toppled from a window ledge at her home, six-year-old Patricia Flavores cried to rescuers, "don't touch me, I'm dying." An hour and a half later she died in a Park Ridge hospital.

May Curtail Prospecting In N.W. Territories

OTTAWA. — Summer survey and prospecting work in the North West Territories may have to be curtailed as result of epidemics in the area this winter, according to Dr. P. E. Moore, director of Indian health services.

"We want to discourage unnecessary travel to the north during the winter in case these epidemics may be spread," Moore said. "We won't stop them as the work is essential from going there, but we don't want tourists."

He said he was worried, particularly about the polio outbreak at Chesterfield Inlet. Cases still were reported, he said, and since the disease was of a particularly virulent type, there was a danger that a traveller might spread it to the more populated district to the south.

The quarantine was still in force for Chesterfield Inlet and the surrounding district, he added, and a second quarantine would probably be necessary for at least six months.

The inducem outbreak that caused 15 deaths among Eskimos at Chesterfield Inlet has spread to the northern islands and to Coppermine, Moore said. However, the disease seemed now to be under control.

Cow And Calf Were United

WACO This is the story of the bawling calf, the cow thief and the cow pony.

Not as long ago Farmer Roy Long bought a cow. The cow had a calf. They were contented in a green pasture.

Roy went to a cattle auction sale. A cow was run into the ring. He liked the looks of the cow. It reminded him of the little calf's mother at home. So he bought the cow.

When Roy arrived home he heard the little calf bawling.

But turn-it the new cow loose in the pasture. The cow ran to the calf. The calf ran to the cow.

The made Roy suspicious.

You sir, it was the little calf's mother which had been stolen from the auction and taken to the auction ring. Roy, unknowingly had bought her back.

Where does the cow thief come in?

He will just as soon as the sheriff can lay hands on him.

T.B. Comes From Infection

CHICAGO — Tuberculosis in children of tuberculous parents comes from infection after birth and not from inherited weakness The Journal of the American Medical Association said.

The Journal said scientific knowledge denies the common belief that children of tuberculous parents inherit exceptionally to the disease and that they have no inherited immunity to it.

The Journal said that children with a tubercular parent are more likely to contract the disease than other children if they stay in contact with the infected parent, however.

The entire problem requires careful sets one of addiction with tuberculosis, which usually occurs after birth" The Journal said

THIS WHERE THE FISH CAUGHT THE MAN

PORT PIERCE, Fla. — A fish caught a man. The man got away.

O. G. Hill hooked a big jewfish while angling from a bridge. The fish pulled hard on the line then let up for a moment. But it was a fishy trick, for he came back with a mighty jerk.

Hill went over the rail into the water. He clung to a part of the bridge structure until other fishermen helped him to safety.

The fish also got away.

Hardisty Happenings

Mr. Gerry Bricker of Edmonton has been in town visiting the Herb Brickers for a few days.

The Hardisty Ladies Fastball team went to Irma for the Sports Day June 8th, winning their first two games against Kinsella and Wainwright and losing to Manville in the finals. Congrats girls, coming out second best is a good days work in any league.

Rena Bennefield is home for a few days renewing acquaintances.

Bud Mattison was an Edmonton visitor on Monday last, bringing home another new Kaiser, which he didn't keep long. The Mattisons are the new proud owners.

Miss Annie Lidberg was home visiting over the week end.

Mrs. Gordon of Amisk was guest of the Mattesse Mawdsley family for her grandson, little Dan Wright of Hughenden who is in hospital with bad burns. We are glad to report that Donald is doing nicely.

Mr. Ralph Hamilton from the Provincial Health office was in town on his official visit to Provost Tuesday, accompanied by Sisters Joyce Johnson and Mabel Perkins. All reported a very enjoyable evening.

Congrats go to Mr and Mrs Oscar Lotzen of Amisk, and Mr and Mrs Oakley Clarke on the birth of sons, both born on June 7th.

Mrs. H. McCracken, Mrs. Richard McCracken, Mrs Pederson and Mrs. Denham all of Longbend were guests on Thursday at the Perkins home.

Messrs Lawrence Rykhard and C. Baker motored to Calgary last week to attend Masonic Grand Lodge.

Hardisty Lake was, as usual, the scene of a lot of activity on Sunday, with hundreds picnicking, swimming and taking in the three ball games. The juniors played first, winning over Sedgewick; the ydets lost out to Killam, and the Seniors took the Sedgwick boys. An interesting part of the junior game was when they played their young pennant Lewy Hendricks, who, being on the short side, came out on the ball end, bats, walked twice and scoring each time. He's little, but oh my

Nest With Two Eggs Of Whooping Cranes Found In Texas

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. — Two eggs and the nest of two endangered whooping cranes have been found by the Arkansas National Wildlife Refuge

A. Elliot Koerler refuge manager, said it was the first nest ever made by whooping cranes in captivity, and the first ever discovered in the United States since 1936.

He said only 32 whooping cranes are known to be living.

If the eggs are hatched successfully the Arkansas refuge may be the habitat for a revival of this great bird which is now nearing extinction," he said.

The two captive cranes on the refuge near here were wounded in the wings by hunters' guns and caused fly. Three others — not in captivity—are spending this year on the lower end of the refuge.

They did not accompany the 33 other cranes who rose late in April to fly to their normal nesting grounds somewhere in a Canadian Prairie province

Whooping cranes were once quite common in the eastern and midwestern states, but were hunted relentlessly. They are North America's tallest bird—standing 4½ feet high, with a wingspread of 7½ feet in flight.

The Arkansas National Wildlife Refuge on the Texas coast is almost virgin wilderness of swamps, open pasture, and heavy growths of blackjack. It has been the annual winter grounds of the surviving remnants of the whooping crane's once great hosts

Three attempts have been made in recent years to teach the cranes to their nesting grounds in Canada, but each attempt has failed.

Man's Bald Head Saves His Life

AVONDALE, Ark. — Frank P. Attaway's bald head saved his life Attaway, 62, Phoenix blacksmith, was struck from a train on which he was taking some race horses to Portland, Ore.

Ann Hannah, spotted his unconscious figure across the tracks when his bald head reflected the headlights of her car

Hammond Police Chief Leo Shepard and Patrolman Harry Ren then dragged him out of the way as another train bore down on him.

It was such a close shave, Shepard thought the train had run over Attaway's legs.

"We were afraid to look," he said "I guess I was lucky." Attaway said when he regained consciousness.

: STAMP CORNER :

By LEMUEL INGHAM (C.N.A.)

Lourenco has issued a commemorative stamp to mark a century since the first postage stamp was issued. Egypt has issued a stamp for its 1938 agricultural and industrial exhibition (centre). France has released a stamp for the 75th anniversary of the Postage Stamp," featuring Cadmus, postmaster-general in 1789 (top right). Switzerland has issued a new 1949 airmail stamp (lower left), and Yugoslavia has issued a set to its reconstruction (lower right).

Belgium has issued a set of three stamps marking the centenary of the first postage stamp. A hand stamper postmark with the value and signature of the postmaster, William Penny. The commemorative stamp carries a reproduction of the first stamp issued the Penny stamp, on the two-centime value, and an inset of King George VI. The original of these stamps appeared as one penny black on bluish paper in 1840, a hand stamp with the date in the middle and the words Hamilton, Bermuda. A new postage rate appeared in 1865. Both stamps are catalogued at $2.50.

In 1865 Bermuda began issuing regular British colonial stamps, featuring portrait of Queen Victoria. This design, with modifications, was used until 1902, when a feature of a crest dry-dock appeared on Bermuda's stamps. Other stamp designs appeared on designs from 1910 to 1919. King George V made his postal appearance on the 1917 value stamps of 1917. In 1920 a set appeared to mark 300 years of representative institutions on the islands, and in 1921 a set was issued for the opening of the local representative institutions. In the silver jubilee of the reign of King George V the standard British colonial stamps appeared.

The local postal stamps were issued in 1936 showing various views of the islands and sailing boats. Some of the stamps had insets of King George V. In 1937 the British colonial design was issued for the coronation of King George and Queen Elizabeth and in 1938 a set of pictorials with inset of King George VI was issued. This is the set which is still currently in use.

In 1946 the British colonial design Peace issue was printed for Bermuda.

New issues . . . Costa Rica announced a set to its national agricultural fair and another set to the revolution of 1948. . . . South Africa is issuing 1½ pence stamps to mark a century since settlement of the province. . . . Italy issues a set to the Venetian art show on the 50th anniversary of the first show. . . . Japan has issued a stamp to an exhibition at Nagasaki . . . Liberia is issuing a set of six stamps, each printed in six colors, with a different predominant color for each value. The stamps, four postage and two airmail, feature Liberia's industries. Most French colonies will issue airmail stamps for the 75th anniversary of the Universal Postal Union . . . Ethiopia is to issue five stamps to commemorate liberation of the country from Italian occupation . . . France is to issue a set of airmail stamps featuring views of cities . . . Iceland is to issue a memorial sheet for its first philatelic exhibition to be held early in May in Tel Aviv . . . Norway is to issue a set to author Alex L. Kielland, born 100 years ago. . . . Australia is to release a stamp to poet Henry Lawson, born in 1867. . . . Bulgaria has issued a set to workers. . . . Salvador and Switzerland will each issue sets of stamps for the 75th anniversary of the Universal Postal Union. . . . Switzerland will also issue a set to a centenary of the Swiss federal postal system.

Albania is issuing a set to mark the fifth anniversary of its present government. . . . B. Visconi in the West Indies has issued new values in dollars and cents currency. . . . Bolivia is issuing a set to its agricultural plan to change arid areas to grassland and cattle raising. . . . Iran is to issue a set to its parliament

Ed Note—If you have any old Canadian, Newfoundland or British North American stamps for sale or will change write to our Advertising director, Mr. Prail Kuhn, 130 Wellington St. W., Toronto 1, Ont., who is an amateur collector. Please enclose self-addressed stamped envelope for reply.

Seasonable Costume Combines Black And White

The seasonable one-piece at left combines black and white print with a black wool jacket, left. The dress has elbow-length sleeves and buttons down the front to low-placed pleats. The jacket is flared down each side and cuffed with the print. The rear a stripped dress in the lining and in vestee are an all-purpose dress designed in green and white shirting. A new and interesting note has been added in the huge patch pockets. Another seasonable costume is seen at right. The dress has a bolero cross in navy and white printed crepe. Note the cap-sleeves and small, finely pleated collar of navy taffeta matching the small. Central Press Canadian.

Decoratively SPEAKING

(By Francis Jessop)

Too soon very few "dens" in today's homes. Maybe it's because homes are smaller. Or because anyone with an extra square foot has three bedrooms under and a brother-in-law camped on it. Or because people now read nothing but pocket editions murder mysteries which they can dispose of via the ash can as soon as they find out "who dunnit". What-ever it is, the dear old den—once the quiet cop-corner of the house—seems to have passed and been forgotten like Whiffenpoofs.

There are still a few people, though, who have the dignity of a book-lined room. Like the lady who writes,

"I have 435 books, many of them quite valuable, which I have had to keep packed away in boxes for the past eight years, due to lack of space. Now we have moved into a house with a small room (8' x 12') facing off the dining room, which I want to make into a sort of den. Do you think, in so small a space, it will be necessary to have built-in bookshelves? There will have to be a lot of shelves and though I haven't priced them yet, I'm afraid it would be a pretty expensive proposition

"I would also like to know what you think about a colour scheme for this room. Our dining room has turquoise wallpaper and wine-coloured curtains. Since the den will be separated from it by a glass door do you think I should carry on with this scheme?"

No, it isn't necessary to match the colour scheme in your den to that in your dining room. Since the two rooms adjoin, there should not, of course, be a clash of colour. But, in your case, I think a wise plan would be to take the wine-coloured accessories in your dining room as the main colour theme in your den. The atmosphere of such a room should be rich and warm—a feeling that is fostered wonderfully by a lush, deep colour like wine. For wallpaper, why not choose something with a warm, beige background and large pattern in wine with minor touches of turquoise? This would link up the two rooms nicely without sacrificing the warmth you'll want in your den. For window draperies, I would suggest beige monk's cloth—and though you haven't mentioned furniture, your best effect will be achieved with dark polished wood and slip covers or upholstery predominantly wine and beige

As to storage space for your books if you earn your new house, I think built-in book shelves would be well worth the price. Personally, I feel they're more attractive than bookcases. This is, of course, largely a matter of opinion. However, if your house is rented, I wouldn't even think of the built-in shelves. After all, you'll need about 56 ft. of shelf space—and if you line one of your 8 ft. walls and one of your 12 ft. walls with four-shelf cases you'll have space to spare.

Not Harmful To Honeybees

Ars sprays containing DDT for control of insect pests in fruit, seed, and vegetable growing areas, injurious to honeybees? Beekeepers in these areas sometimes ask this question.

According to officials at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, the answer is—No. And the officials have experimented constantly since DDT became more generally used as an insecticide some few years ago.

They say that highly concentrated quantities of the chemical to spray fully open apple blossoms while the bees were at work. The force of the spray material even drove the bees away temporarily, but they returned before it was dry and started collecting nectar again.

The dead bees which had worked the sprayed blossoms were subjected to chemical analysis for the presence of DDT. In only one sample was DDT found in sufficient quantity to be even suspected as the cause of death. And at no time was the death rate of adult bees, or of brood, any higher than that which occurred in a check apiary.

The result of this quite drastic experiment—normally apple trees are not sprayed during the period of open bloom—proves beyond doubt, officials say, that under normal field conditions, DDT is not harmful to honeybees

Marching Back To Saskatchewan

The march back in the matter of population appears to be definitely established in Saskatchewan. From a low point in the 17-year period, 1931 to 1948, which was established in 1946 at 833,000 by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics estimate for 1948 is 854,000. This is an increase in two years of 21,000. The population is 67,785 below the high point of 1931, when the total was 921,785.

The 1946 census in respect to Saskatchewan indicates that during the war years there was a very definite trend from the farm to the urban communities, particularly to the larger cities.- Moose Jaw Times-Herald

On The Side —By— E. V. Durling

Say, young fellow, have you a letter from a feminine friend handy? If the loops in her handwriting are long, it reveals she is generous. If they are short, the girl is a little on the cold side. If her penmanship runs to the pen, she is intensely affectionate. If her handwriting slants backward, that's not good. She is not a preferred companion for a moonlight stroll. If the line of her handwriting slants upward, that's fine. She is confident self-optimistic and will make a helpful wife. If her handwriting slants downward, that's bad. She will run out of her time singing the blues and complaining of her lot and be a very depressing matrimonial mate. That's what the psychographologist will claim. A psychographologist is a double threat—a psychiatrist and a handwriting expert.

SO THEY SAY!

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 22) women have highly magnetic eyes which they employ to use as an unusual hypnotic fashion to influence the male of the species. Liberty-loving bachelors should be on guard when in the company of a Scorpio girl—or they may be hypnotized right into the parson's matrimony. Cancer (June 21-July 22) husband's usually put their wives on a pedestal. They like to have married as soon as they find out their spouse is only human after all they are disappointed. An Aries (March 21-April 20) man strongly reveals her husband's offering any suggestions whatsoever regarding the bringing up of their children. She wants a baby to be a baby and that department. Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) women insist that they marry with the heart and not with the head. Nevertheless, it is a fact that a Libra woman rarely marries a man who is not already a success, or has very evident prospects of success. Libra females never fail to love with fathers. Or so say the stargazers.

WIGS

The number of men wearing wigs continues to increase very rapidly. The best type of wig now defies detection. There is a New Yorker who has two wigs. They are alike. One is a new wig in fairly long. On the other it is short, giving the impression he has just had a haircut.

OVER THERE

The British are undoubtedly the world's greatest gamblers. They will bet on anything. The British bookies are always ready to accommodate them. These bookies even have a regular price list on unusual events. If you want to wager on whether it is a boy or girl. Forty to one it won't be government official said it was practically impossible for a blindfolded man feat challenged the government official's claim. A test was arranged. The British bookies made the Oxfordian a short-priced favorite. Their price was one to three he would distinguish between butter and oleomargarine. He did. Not so long ago bookies were discovered operating at a British preparatory school track meet. Police were called. They arrested the bookies. A bystander expressed himself as being disappointed at the action. He said: "These bookies were offering 20 to 1 against my son in the 220-yard dash. He will win it easily. Certainly wish I had a few bob bet on him."

BURIAL BOXES ON VANCOUVER BEACHES

By F. M. CAMPLIN

Central Press Canadian

VANCOUVER — In the blue sky of a July afternoon a plane soared over pigeon cover Tsusaitta lake skimming in the sunshine like a huge mechanical bird as it moved its way northward. A group of Indians hoeing fields at the water's edge turned questioning eyes to one of their number being taught to learn who was in the plane but old Matthew was not in the mood to satisfy their curiosity.

Finished go over," was all he grunted. His companions knew from experience as well as in the fatalistic statement of his wrinkled old face that no information would be forthcoming.

All Matthew a Bella Coola Indian had been years, changes in the ways of his tribesmen in the course of his half century. That Victoria, Vancouver and Prince Rupert have grown from mere villages to cities of 100,000 souls, spanning $22,000,000 bridges, dredging the current river and so drafting a new frontage of far-sweeping land, the high standard of living and doctor's care now seen with tears around the white settlers' sense of which are all true, disappointing.

The house of ancient burial was known particularly unfavorable. Beach the today place on the graves of the dead, tombstones so to speak, of a unique type. The dead is protected by iron railings known in the same way by building modern ways they spare no expense in the way of iron railings for and other necessities in order to do honor to the departed by erecting suitable memorials. The tombstones now used are shipped in crates from some other large place. After the stone has been removed the crates are then placed over the grave and the stones erected on top of them. The wooden boxes among these Indians had to be since the dead were simply wrapped in blankets and placed in the trees or on other boxes. Some of these boxes were hollowed out from logs, others were built of boards.

Many Treasures Too

In the old Indian cemetery at Hazelton there are numbers of carved graves, covered by attractive little buildings like miniature houses, constructed artistically with doors and windows and decorated with carvings and paintings. In these buildings were placed the most valued belongings of the deceased. The most imposing house was large and roomy, possibly furnished. In it were food dishes for the after death, bottles, dishes all matter of clothing, piles of new shawls and blankets, mother, hoe, pots and pans and a large framed picture of the deceased. In the case of the death of a chief or other important person, the body lay in state for a short time in the house before the grave. Buildings covering children's graves held pathetic little treasures, a tiny basket, a few strings of colored beads or a doll or other such toys. Flowers and vines of such kinds as were likely to place inside the wooden boxes were planted by the mourners.

Handy Tools

Many examples of British Columbia's early pioneer days are now gone, but there are still to be found in the province many old tools and implements which bring back memories of the days when they were used. Among these are the old-fashioned hand-made tools of wood and note utensils and dairy with age. Many of the treasures are still treasured as keep sakes. During the winter the little houses are used by squirrels and chipmunks who sleep there through the cold weather.

Tree burial was common in this province and was practised by the Haida, Kwakiutl and Nootka Indians. The body was enclosed in a cedar chest, on the front of which was painted the crest of the deceased. The chest was placed in the top of a tall tree and was securely fastened there with a cedar rope. The lower branches of the tree were then lopped off so that the mortuary box would remain undisturbed. During wild storms on the coast these boxes would sometimes become loosened from their tree tops and would float to Vancouver, washing up on one or other of the beaches. An old-time mortuary box of a chief was found by the writer who found a skull which had journeyed to the city in this way; she carried the gruesome object home where it was given a place of honor in the museum collection. At about the same time her brother when hunting off Kitsilano beach on Vancouver island found a skull floating near him found it to contain a human skeleton.

Tree burial was varied by placing the coffin in a crevice in rocks or by enclosing it in a cave. In the Narrows at Quadra Island there is a deep cave which was used for this purpose at one time and was said to contain many skeletons of Indians. Another custom was to place the burial box on the stump of a tree just above the ground.

Art Epitets Legends

The proud Haidas of the west coast were far ahead of neighboring tribes in native arts and crafts and were past masters in totemic art depicting legends of their people going back as far as the Great Flood. In Stanley park, Vancouver, there is a pole called by the Haidas "A Grave Father." The pole is 25 feet high and at the top there is a cavity hollowed out. Five feet deep and three feet in diameter. This pole was erected in 1876 at Skidgate on the Queen Charlotte Islands to be the tomb of Chief Sawdays. The chief's sister was responsible for setting up the memorial. The cost of carving and raising the pole is shown at its base, where the account tells of 200 blankets, 40 canoes, 30 Hudson Bay blankets. At that time canoes were currency and were valued at $2 each, so the monument cost $500. There is no legend connected with this pole, the heraldic symbols simply depicting the crests of the Raven Clan. In the course of time other tribes adopted the practice of placing their totem signs on burial trees or poles.

Indians who today seek Christian burial for their dead still cling to tribal signs, so that it is not unusual soon to see a raven or other family crest placed on the arm of a cross standing on a grave.

In Thunderbird park at Victoria there are some fine examples of grave figures from Bella Coola. One carving represents a bear with a beaver on its head signifying that the deceased was a member of the (Bella Bear family and married into the Beaver clan. Another figure from Bella Coola depicts a Grizzly bear.

The Vancouver museum above the public library at Hastings and Main streets is particularly rich in scientific presentations of early man on that part of the North American continent and of the Indians of British Columbia. There may be seen two splendid pieces of work of anthropological and art value by the distinguished ethnologist, Miss Emily Carr Macdonald, B.A.I., depicting the early days of the province. Her work was contributed to intermingling of the tribes. Also in the museum is very fine work of the late Charles Marsden, standing value by Carl Robinson and Mrs. E. (Pauline) Carr-Harris, R.C.A.I., both internationally known anthropologists.

Handy Take-Down Ladder

By H. D. McCrae

IN THE tak—down ladder the rungs are fixed in the notched sections which go for the apple picker work—by the high levels, at all persons a good rest for the legs and enables one to use both hands in gathering the apples. The rungs being of 1¼ inch material also gives a much more comfortable footing to the worker than the round rungs used in most types of ladder.

The fact that the rise is only 8½ inches between the rungs up to 10 feet, gives a greater ease in descending with a container, eliminating the long step often required in many models, which also contributes to less tiring in lowering. Again it gives high levels.

The "sway" being operated independently of the ladder, saves knocking down fruit down in placing in position, as often happens with the ladder that is tipped ladder, and enables the operator to place the ladder in places impossible to reach with other styles. But yet enables him of a solid footing among farm implements which could not bear the weight of an extension ladder.

The "sway" and steps, I have found among the advantages of the take-down tripod ladder, of which I am the originator, and which I have tried out in my own orchard for the past two years with immense satisfaction. It has also saved me many apples that could not be reached with either extension, jack-knife or tripod ladder, and with fruit at the present price, that means money.

My ladder, though 21 feet in length, is so light that I can handle it easily placing the top in most difficult places among weak limbs, but yet without fear of wobbling or sidesliping. Even with immense standing on the third rung from the top and reaching for fruit.

The sole pieces may be of any desired material, and spread at bottom or top may be altered, also height, but I would still advise the closer spacing of rungs, at least above the 8-foot level. Of course the wider the spread at bottom the heavier the rungs must be to allow for length.

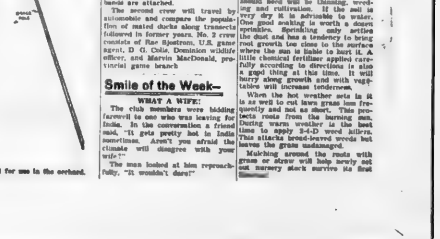

Diagram of the take-down ladder, convenient for use in the orchard.

Monoxide Carbon Can Be Detected

SAN FRANCISCO — The menace of deadly carbon monoxide gas which strikes without warning can be eliminated with a new chemical powder developed by the Canadian industrial department of defence.

A silver permanganate powder, coated on a suitable carrier will neutralize the odorless and colorless carbon monoxide. Dr. Morris Katz of Ottawa told the annual meeting of the American Chemical Society here.

Used in ventilating systems and gas masks, it will mean added safety in mines, tunnels, garages, aircraft and submarines, Dr Katz said

"Gastronomic" Map

Special Food Representing Provinces For Tourist Trade

(By Wallace Gillespie in Financial Post)

It cost U.S. visitors $60 million to feed themselves while visiting Canada last year, but this figure doesn't tell all. For, upon the manner in which the food end of the tourist business is handled, much of the entire $270 millions trade depends.

Canada's competitors for the tourist dollar are well aware that one way to the tourist's heart, no less than to a husband's, is through the stomach, and it has long been felt that this country is missing a good promotion bet here.

Something is being done about it now. At last, Canada is at work on a "gastronomic" map.

Initiative came from the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Canada which, for more than a year, has been hatching ideas to help the Federal Government's dollar-conservation program.

It approached master chefs of Canadian National Railways for recipes. Then it came to Chatelaine Institute, a food-testing institution operated by Chatelaine magazine (Maclean-Hunter), and, during the summer of 1947 had Chatelaine's home economists test them in modern kitchens. Result of the screening was a list of 10 recipes, each representing a Canadian province and each designed "to make our tourists hurry back for more and to give your own family a new feeling about the food of the country." Here they are, omitting of course the directions to the housewife

Newfoundland — Codfish with Salt Pork

Prince Edward Island — Clam Chowder Atlantic Style.

Nova Scotia Down East Pudding (using tart apples).

New Brunswick — Baked Bean Canadian Style.

Quebec—French Canadian Family Soup

Ontario—Blueberry Crisp Pudding (tourists go after the wild berries in Northern Ontario).

Manitoba — Popovers (using hard wheat flour).

Saskatchewan — Baked Macaroni and Cheese (made from Prairie-grown Durum wheat).

Alberta Beefsteak Pie.

British Columbia — Lime Gelatine Fluff.

To lay the dishes before the tourist, hence here the Junior Chamber plans to get the recipes (and some advice on the preparation) into the hands of the general public.

Fifty English and 17 French radio stations will feature Mrs. Kate Aitken and Miss Jeanne Benoit respectively, in a series of 30 weekly quarter-hour broadcasts under the title "Food for Thought". They will discuss the preparation and serving of economical, dollar-conservation programs.

Supporting the series will be booklets with a distinctive Canadian background. Already the series will be of interest to housewives everywhere, it is particularly designed for the assistance of small restaurant operations, tourist resort proprietors, and others catering to the appetites of American visitors. Letters are being sent to such people suggesting they join.

As a result of the Canadian Restaurant Association's endorsation of the Jaycee program, it is believed a number of members of eating establishments will be offering the selected dishes to their patrons.

Paper place mats to be supplied to the participating restaurants will give tourists and others a chance to take the recipes away with them. Each place mat will be devoted to a single provincial dish, and restaurant owners may secure a supply at cost of their wish

Later, the Junior Chamber will distribute the recipes in booklet form.

Migratory Bird Population Survey Is Under Way

REGINA — The third annual re-operative survey of the North American migratory bird population is again under way and will extend throughout the next five months, a government bureau of publications release announced.

Conducted in co-operation with the Canadian and United States wildlife services and the provincial game branch, the survey is under the direct supervision of Cecil Williams, of Washington, chief prime purpose is to gather information which will be of assistance to wildlife management officers in establishing season dates and bag limits throughout America.

Two crews will be used in the survey—one travelling by air and the other by car. The survey routes are transects are laid out directly in the settled areas of the province, where the majority of ducks nest.

Members of the aerial survey crew are John Lynch and Floyd Thompson, of the U.S. and are of wildlife service

The aerial crew will use a small boat powered by an aircraft engine and propeller. This boat can skim over shallow marshes enabling the men to bend ducks into wire traps where they will be held until the bands are attached.

The second crew will travel by automobile and compare the population of mated ducks along transects followed in former years. No. 2 crew consists of Rae Bjostrum, U.S. game agent, D. G. Cook, Canadian wildlife officer, and Marvin MacDonald, provincial game branch

Smile of the Week—

WHAT A WIFE:

The club members were bidding farewell to one who was leaving for India. In the conversation a friend said, "It gets pretty hot in India sometimes. Aren't you afraid the climate will disagree with your wife?"

The man looked at him reproachfully, "It wouldn't dare!"

GARDEN NOTES

Support

For tall plants or those pruned to form like bushiness, staking is advisable. Perennials, like delphinium, lupins and hollyhocks, are quite liable to break over in a high wind or during a heavy rain. Stake about an inch thick and wide and as tall as necessary will hold these flowers and also tomatoes. They need not be conspicuous. Use a few strong-growing plants and they can always be stained green or grey. Plants should be tied to them loosely with soft twine or raffia. For bushy things like peonies, hoops of wire or wood placed in the position before blooming will prove very satisfactory.

Good Equipment Helps

Good, sharp tools will save a lot of hard work. A dull spade or fork or hoe do the work efficiently. A few of the special tools, too, will "prove useful—things like Dutch hoes, hand cultivators and long-handled spud—ders to get out weeds. Under the general heading of labor-savers will be the wheelbarrow that we have 3-1-2 and some of the DDT insect sprays or dusts. These do the job with little effort if directions are followed carefully

Summer Time

Aside from some replanting, about the only thing to do in the garden should need will be thinning, weeding and cultivation. If the soil is very dry it is advisable to water. One good soaking is worth a dozen sprinkles. Sprinkling only settles the surface and has a tendency to bring root growth too close to the surface. The sun is liable to burn it. A little chemical fertilizer applied carefully according to directions is also a good thing at this time. It will hurry along growth and with vegetables will increase tenderness.

When the hot weather sets in it is as well to cut lawn grass less frequently and not as short. This protects roots from the burning sun. Getting warm weather is the best time to apply 2-4-D weed killers. This attacks broad-leaved weeds but leaves the grass undamaged.

Mulching around the roots with grass or straw will help newly set out nursery stock survive its first summer.

Is there Natural Gas for Export?

At present withdrawal rates there is now enough PROVEN reserves of natural gas to last Alberta 70 years. This does not include potential reserves. Allowing for INCREASED consumption and the certain increase in reserves, withdrawals over 50 years would be 11 trillion cubic feet. The Natural Gas Commission recognizes the possibility that existing reserves will be increased MANY TIMES OVER. Since then there have been many important new discoveries. Minimum estimates of potential reserves are at least 28 trillion cubic feet in the near future, enough to last, WITH EXPORT, 125 years.

DIVISIONAL BOARD HOLDS REGULAR AND SPECIAL MEETS

(By J. W. Chalmers)

A regular meeting of the board of Killam School Division was held on 6 June last with all trustees present. The inspector's report was received, the high school staff, and resignations were received from the following teachers: Miss Lorna Bryan, S.D. No. 2; Mr. C.W. Mertz, Central S. D.; Miss Enid Clarke, Firvale. Teacher training bursaries were approved for Irene Dyke, Daysland, and Rodney DeMan, Galahad.

The board decided to ask permission of the Minister of Education to move the Chicken School to Daysland, and the Prairie Park School to Killam, and directed the secretary to be received, to advertise for tenders advertise for tenders accordingly when permission is received.

The delegation from Meister interviewed the board relative to the Park views opened and the Meister High School and transfer the students to Daysland. Dr Swift, Deputy Minister of Education, was in attendance during this part of the meeting. No further action was taken by the board on this matter

During the day the board members and other officials were guests of the Divisional Dormitory for lunch Several of them visited the Home Economics laboratory at Central High later in the afternoon following the meeting.

The delegation from Meister interviewed the board relative to the Park views opened and the intention of the Meister High School and transfer the students to Daysland. Dr Swift, Deputy Minister of Education, was in attendance during this part of the meeting. No further action was taken by the board on this matter

Booths of creamery butter in nine Canadian cities on April 22nd, 1949, amounted to 8,364,000 pounds—over three times as high as last year.

Super Salesmanship!

During the war when goods were in short supply, little salesmanship was required to sell our agricultural products.

Yet, by selling under world prices, the Liberal government has cost the Canadian farmer an estimated two billion dollars!

At a time when they should have been looking to the future and making long-term contracts for our food products, the Liberal government were contracting with the United Kingdom, our best customer, for only one and two year periods.

What has been the Result ?

We have lost most of our markets! Britain has contracts with other countries, many of them behind the Iron Curtain, for periods up to ten years. Excluding the wheat contract, we have only three contracts in effect at the present time !

FOR THE FARMER'S PROTECTION

The Progressive Conservative Party Will:

- Restore the Canadian Wheat Board Act to its original purpose . . . a marketing agency for wheat producers
- Extend the Wheat Board's powers to include handling of coarse grains on a voluntary basis
- Take aggressive and immediate action to regain lost markets and develop new ones
- Include Representatives from all farmer's organizations on all Boards dealing with agricultural products
- Achieve security of export markets through foresighted negotiations
- Enact legislation based on the principle of democratic producer control.

GOOD AND BAD HAWKS — The majority of farmers say a good hawk is a dead hawk. This theory has been based on the behaviour of the larger, fast birds of the family, like the Goshawk, Cooper's Hawk and the Sharp-shinned Hawk. The good hawks, remember the bad ones because of their greater capacity, of these are on rabbits, rats, mice and insects, which in turn are the enemies of the farmer. The Marsh Hawk has good and bad habits; the Red-tailed Hawk balances the scale slightly on the good side, while the Broad-winged Hawk, Rough-legged Hawk and the Red-shouldered Hawk are almost entirely beneficial. "BIG, BLACK BEAR" SEEN BY BOYS—The black bear which treed Albert Taylor, seven, in Highland Creek bushland near Toronto, Ont., as he was on his way to school has disappeared as quickly as it came. A thorough search of the area brought no trace of the bear. Like the preacher in the song, Albert Taylor went up a tree when he saw the bear. "It was this big and all black," he reports. A school chum also saw the animal and footprints were found.—S.N.S. photo. 2831

THE ADVANTAGE OF OLDS—If ones keep the traditional Land of Evangeline alive, the Nova Scotian farmer that drives them is not too concerned with history. He has his own reasons for sticking to the plodding old animals. Nowadays a good pair of oxen can cost the farmer as much as he would have to pay for two teams of horses or a small tractor. Working pictures), fastening the feet so they can be fitted; shidding big timber to the stock pile, (lower picture), is another job which oxen do well.

WET BASEMENTS . . .

WET basements and water in the cellar in different depths is still a serious source of trouble in this country.

Water usually gets into the basement in one of the following two ways, either it soaks through the wall from the soil around the house during periods of heavy rain or in the spring of the year when the water table or water level in the soil rises to a point above the level of the cellar floor, or it comes through the cellar floor due to the fact that water in the soil stands at a higher level than the level of the cellar floor.

Water soaks through porous wall and comes through the mortar or cracks in the wall, running down the wall to the floor, it is often possible to avoid the trouble by digging a trench along the side of the house where the trouble occurs, clean the mortar and loose dirt thoroughly from the wall, then giving it a coat of concrete plaster and over this a coat of hot asphalt pitch, especially prepared for this purpose. In other cases it is possible to treat the trouble successfully by merely digging a trench along the side of the house and installing a tile drain in the bottom of the trench on a level lower than that of the cellar floor for best results, such a trench should be back filled with porous material, such as cinders or gravel so that any water accumulating along the side of the foundation will gravitate to the drain under the floor and connect the wall.

The accompanying drawing shows various kinds of treatment for wet basements. The farm tile drains laid along the edge of the footing at "A" are shown where they meet and are joined to the ogtet drain when it must be run to some open ditch or other low ground to serve as an outlet for any water that may be gathered by the drain.

If it never wise to build a basement in which the floor is on a level no low that it is not possible to secure an outlet for a gravity drain from the structure. Where houses are found in this condition, the only solution is to pump the water out and there are available today electric pumps which can be installed in pits or sumps, located in the low corner of the cellar, which will start pumping as soon as the water rises to a certain height in the sump, and which will stop when this accumulation has been removed. However, electric power is necessary for the operation of this type of pump.

A, concrete seal over junction of drain. B, grated sewer tile for underspout drain. C, asphalt waterproofing on foundation. D, crushed stone fill around drain.

Tools Of Progress

Keeping basements dry is far more readily and inexpensively handled while the house is being built than that of treatment has to be undertaken afterwards. Many contractors and home-builders have the idea that it is impossible to make a water-tight basement. As a matter of fact, however, it is very difficult for even the most careful contractor to guarantee a water-tight basement in a location where the water table at any time of the year rises to a point much above the level of the cellar floor. Such an accumulation of soil water develops a very heavy pressure against the cellar floor, which pressure in many cases is enough to crack the concrete of the floor through sheer upward pressure. This will readily be understood when we remember that where the water stands one foot higher in the soil than the level of the cellar floor, the pressure on the floor will amount to 62½ pounds per square foot, or over 3 tons on each floor area 10 feet square. Only heavy reinforcing with steel in a very heavy floor will enable a floor to withstand such pressure.

Then there is the difficulty of making a permanent water-tight joint between the edges of the floor and the surface of the foundation wall. Some kind of flexible joint is necessary in this joint, and various commercial materials are available for this purpose, nevertheless in time, water may begin to seep through and around such material, and the structure is no longer water-tight. The accompanying drawing shows, however, how such basement walls should be treated to insure best results of a permanent nature.

Over Forty Per Cent. Of Land Area In Manitoba Is Forested

IT is surprising to the average Prairie farmer to know that over forty per cent. of Manitoba's land area is forested. Of this area there is estimated to be 30,495 square miles of productive, and 62,512 square miles of unproductive forest.

Seven separate areas containing 4,091 square miles are set aside as publicly-owned forest reserves, and the greater part of the remaining forest lands are also owned by the Province.

The most common tree species in order of quantities are white and black spruce, aspen and balsam poplar, jack pine, tamarack, white birch, balsam fir and cedar. Bur oak white elm, green ash, basswood, red pine, Manitoba maple, cottonwood and black ash also occur. In addition, there are several species of large shrubs or small trees, including some fruit-growing species such as plums, cherries and Saskatoon.

Drug Cartells Whooping Cough

WASHINGTON — Government scientists are working on a new treatment for whooping cough which already has cured the disease in a few days among some patients.

The Public Health Service reports that experiments indicate that aureomycin, a relatively non-toxic antibiotic which can be given by mouth, may shorten the course of the disease and lessen its intensity.

Thus far 36 patients have been treated in their homes with "appreciable" beneficial results, it said. Or recovered completely within a few days when the drug was administered early in the course of the disease.

"To dunno mean tae say that he was drowned?" he inquired fearfully.

The other shook his head, albeit a little slowly and painfully.

"Na, na", he replied, "tied drunk and, but sadly clothed!"

Canadian Fashions To Fly To Paris

MONTREAL — One of the most interesting fashion shows in the history of Canadian fashion will take place early in July when an all-Canadian show leaves Canada to be presented in Paris at the World Congress being held at that time.

The invitation has been received by the Maryse de Rosemy de Sales of Montreal from the Club Francais Amerique, an organization for the promotion of good-will and friendship between all the Americas and Paris.

Though the members of a fashion show, the Chevalier Paris Fashions of the French Embassy and their wives will be introduced to the Parisian Woman: Her Way of Life.

The flight is being organized by Ben Common and Betty Hughes-Keers will be commentator and fashion co-ordinator.

Brides, Attention

If you're having three bridesmaids and they are posing a problem for the walk down the aisle, our solution is to lead off with one bridesmaid, followed by a pair of bridesmaids, then last, the maid of honor. An even better solution is my simple way of thinking, is to arrange the procession in single file fashion. Of course, a whole bevy of attendants calls for them moving down the aisle in pairs.

I turn my eyes to the roses
In clusters of each pretty shade,
The wonderful spring scent in the air
Where I smell their sweet perfume
The God who fashioned roses
Made each flower for to see,
Put the kindly thought in my neighbors' heart
When they sent roses to me.

Lougheed Facts

NOTICE

Residents of the Village of Lougheed are hereby advised that Tuesday, June 21st, has been declared a Civic Holiday, by the Council of the Village of Lougheed. Signed,
Syd Dunham (Sec.-Treas.)

Don't forget that June 21st, Farmer's Day has been declared a civic holiday in Lougheed by the Village Council. All business places will remain closed during the day.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Podkins from Hardisty and several of the local folks were Sunday guests at the H. Podkins home.

Mrs. I. Zarowski was a recent visitor with friends at Forestburg.

Stan Larsen, a former Alberta Pacific buyer of Lougheed, spent a short visit renewing acquaintances in town last Monday evening. Since leaving Lougheed he has farmed for a few years but is at the present time in the grain buying business again and is living at Ponoka.

The W. I. Girls Club members and their supervisors, Mrs. M. Hasbere and Mrs. H. Pope, held another work session last Wed. afternoon at the Dunham home. The girls worked steadily on their scrap book and hope to have it completed before too long. A light lunch was served by Mrs. Dunham which was enjoyed by all those present.

Tom Lees and Henry were Edmonton visitors last Monday.

Quite a few Lougheed folk attended the Hughenden Sports last Wed. The local Wildcats participated in the baseball tourney. Queen they weren't vicious enough insofar as the opposition team defeated them by a 6 to 4 score. Better luck next time.

Clare Rowland, Hunter White and Ray McCracken motored to Edmonton last Monday. Clare made a bit deal with the Optometrists.

Last Sunday was baseball day in everyone. In the afternoon the pa ment moved to Hardisty Lake for a league game which ended in a 1 to 1 tie. A very interesting game to see with both teams showing some good playing. In the evening the Sedgwick team came down for a friendly game with the Wildcats, in which the home team was victorious W. noticed a large crowd at the game Let's see more of those games in the future boys, as they are very much enjoyed by all the sport fans.

Marie Jack celebrated her birthday last Sunday, June 5th. Her friends and were Sunday guests at the L. Watts home in Killam, where a party was held for Marie.

Ella Jack of Innisfail spent the week end at her home here and was also present at the birthday party.

The Y. Lions are the proud owners of a new 1949 Dodge, and who wouldn't be proud to drift around in a snappy best like that.

Don't forget to get your finals and costumes ready for the big parade on the 21st, which will be the big night of another farmer's day There will be fun for young and old. The parade is really something no one wants to miss, so be there eh.

Bell Clarke of Daysland and Helen McCracken of Sunlight School spent the week end with Helen's parents, the Art McCrackens.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. R. Bell, at Crescent Spur B C, June 1, a son.

Mr. Hobson spent the week end with friends at Daysland.

The junior ball team motored to Killam last Friday evening for a ret game with Killam North. The boys were only able to play 2 innings when a heavy rain set in and the game was postponed to a later date.

John Elsberry has accepted a position with the Alberta Hotel at Red Deer. This is the same Company which employes R. Van Meer.

The dance Friday night was not as successful as expected as the weather conditions and dances held in other towns, but all who went report a very good time.

Quite a number from town and district went on a fishing expedition to St. Paul over the week end.

Don't know what luck they had but no doubt they'll have some tall fish stories to relate. It seems that the biggest fish always gets away.

Mr. and Mrs. A Matheson are spending a few days in Edmonton and Camrose. Mrs. Matheson is receiving medical treatment in Edmonton and we hope to see her come home without her cast this time.

Martin Rosenwarck and C. Gillis were in Calgary last week, both as delegates to the Masonic Lodge.

A dust storm struck town last Saturday afternoon just after the housewives finished the usual week end cleaning. A few drops of rain fell but hardly enough to settle the dust Oh well, cheer up folks we'll have a real down pour one day soon.

BANK CREDIT oils the driving gears of production, industry and commerce. It helps to produce the goods and provide the services and jobs which mark the Canadian way of life.

"Money in the bank" is the foundation of credit. You and some seven million other depositors have nearly seven billion dollars in the chartered banks.

To pay for work done, goods produced, bought and sold, Canadians issue — every month — upwards of six billion dollars in cheques.

Cashing these cheques, making loans, discounting notes — in many different ways your bank keeps money and credit moving through all the channels of trade and opportunity . . . like oil in the machinery.

This whole vast, private, competitive, efficient process is made possible by your "money in the bank" — and by the experience and skill and integrity of the men and women on Canadian bank staffs.

YOUR FUTURE . . . AND CANADA'S

Conditions have been good the last few years. More people are working than ever before — making more, spending more, saving more.

Isn't that what you want? After all, you have a family to think about . . . and you are planning for their future . . .

The Liberals are planning and working for your family's future too.

Family Allowances are increased. Already a billion dollars has been invested in Canada's children. Over a million and a quarter children, fed and housed — have a better chance for education and a real start in life — because of this Liberal measure. It has brought new security and well-being to countless Canadian homes.

In housing, too, the Liberals have taken the lead in providing Canadians with decent homes. More homes have been built in Canada, in relation to population, than in any nation. Already a million Canadians live in homes built since the war. The Liberal government is ready to help solve the low-rental housing problem and has offered its cooperation to provinces and municipalities.

Here, then is the Liberal health program. Already federal grants are helping the provinces to increase their health services. But the Liberals' aim is a nation-wide contributory health insurance plan which will end, for everyone, the tragedy of inadequate health care and the financial strain of lengthy illness.

To take employment. Liberal measures are helping to maintain employment in Canada at record levels, and at the same time unemployment insurance reserves have been built up. Liberal policies have encouraged enterprise and high production. Plants have expanded, new industries started up. New opportunities are being created every day.

Old Age Pensions and pensions for the blind have been steadily increased by the Liberal governments. But it isn't stopping there. Its aim is a nation-wide plan of contributory pensions which will help everyone to enjoy a comfortable, honourable old age — economically and as a right.

There are still years of the Liberal program of social betterment . . . a program to achieve a national standard of social security and insurance welfare which assures the greatest possible measure of social justice to all Canadians".

OUR COMPLETE SUMMER STORY—

THE LETTER TO LESTER ::

The Tragedy Of A Woman Who Took Back Her Own

By WALTER DESMOND BOOTH

MISS SARA WORTHY was very proud, and it must be admitted that she would live. She had been doing most of her life, but she had been fortunate in having her only sister, Alice, to minister to her. Alice had married, and had grown old together in the rambling house their father had left them 30 years before.

As Miss Alice sat by her sister's sofa she looked over the top of the tangled events of their lives. She shook up her mind that she would throw off a burden she had borne all these years. Not that it would matter now, but her conscience would at least rest easy

Miss Sara took a hand on her sister's arm. "Sara," she said softly.

Sara turned her head slowly and looked at her. "I hear you, Alice."

Are you sitting enough to listen to me?"

I'm quite strong now, Alice."

"I don't know how to start, and it isn't a very good time to bring up the subject at all, but I must get it off my longer Sara I have a confession Forty-nine years ago next month you were supposed to be married to Lester Hankin. But you two had a little spat—nothing to mind—but what was it all about? Oh, yes, it was whether or not you would live with his people or with ours. I don't know whether the quarrel was worth what you two put into it but he left in a rage, saying that you would never hear from him again until he heard the right word from you. Lester was awfully proud."

She paused in prostrations, then continued. "Three days later she wrote him a letter. I don't know what you wrote him—that you wanted to make up I suppose—I only know that "

Miss Sara raised her hand feebly. Miss Alice pushed on. "Not now, Sara. Let me finish. As I was saying, you wrote a letter to Lester. I can guess that you had swallowed your pride. I did walk down with you to mail it. Do you remember that you asked me to go, Sara?"

Sara tried again to say something. Again she clapped her, "No, wait, Sara, I'm not through." She began slowly again. "I saw you mail the letter, Sara. You did your part, but" — she lowered her voice—"you never did hear from him." The tragedy of a broken love hung heavy over the sick bed.

"Sara, I saw you mail your letter, sure—ever, too, that you had forgotten an address on the envelope. That many people do,

They'd never seen it, proof safety Any more to me or you.

If everyone could stand beside The bed of some close friend And hear the doctor say, "No hope" Before that fatal end,

And see him there unconscious, Never knowing what took place, The laws and rules of traffic

I am sure we'd soon embrace.

If everyone could meet The wife and children left behind And step into the darkened home Where once the youngest shined, And look upon "The Vacant Chair", Where daddy used to sit, I'm sure each reckless driver Would be forced to think a bit.

If everyone who takes the wheel Would step a little prayer, And feel responsibilities in the car Depending on his care, And make a vow and pledge himself To never take a chance, The Great Crusade for Safety Would suddenly advance.

(From the Safety Sheet, N.J. Motor Truck Association)

I said? I let you forget to address the envelope. You can understand now, can't you. Sara, why Lester never answered or called you?" She hovered her voice again to make the supreme confession. "You must certainly realize now, Sara, why I let you mail the letter unaddressed. I myself loved Lester, too. I couldn't stand by and see him marry you. He might have loved me. If it hadn't been for you. But I didn't have a chance after what happened. He wouldn't even come near the house—and finally left town."

She spoke passionately. "Sara, I loved him dearly! Will you forgive me for what I did, Sara?" She sobbed softly into her two hands.

Miss Sara had a thin hand on Miss Alice's knee. "Alice," she said tremulously, "listen carefully to what I must tell you. When you died you had nothing but the tiny income and this house. I knew that we could make them both last to the end of our days if we were careful. Alice, I didn't really love Lester—that is, not enough to marry him. And, Alice, if you had married him you would gone away, who would have stayed here with me? Alice, I, too, knew that the letter was not addressed." She turned her head away. "I planned to let you see the envelope. When you didn't call my attention to it, I knew, then, that you, too, loved Lester. If you had called my attention to it, I would have addressed it, but it would have amounted to almost the same thing. Forgive me, Alice, only a blank piece of paper in it." Her voice changed. "Alice, I couldn't let you go! Can you forgive me, dear Alice?" She turned her head and looked pleadingly.

Their eyes met for a long moment. Then her sister bent to kiss Sara Worthy's face to the farthest side of eternity and back there

Expect Record In Sugar Beets

WINNIPEG — With a normal weather year and an average yield, Manitoba will have a record sugar beet crop in 1949. The Manitoba Sugar Co. has 17,500 acres under contract—some 15a 50 per cent, over the 11,000 acres under contract in 1948.

In 1940, the first year the plant operated, contracts were made for planting 13,700 acres but the yield per acre was only 8.07 tons, lowest on record. This year, as in previous years, sugar beet production will be confined to an area within approximately 60 miles of Winnipeg.

DRIVE-IN THEATRES IN ALBERTA CITIES

EDMONTON — Four drive-in theatres, the first in Alberta, are planned for the province this year by Western Drive-in Theatres Ltd. One in Calgary and one in Edmonton. A third in Lethbridge will be ready for patrons by fall. Site for a second drive-in has been selected in Edmonton.

Manager of Edmonton's first, Norman McDonald, said it is hoped to keep the theatre open until November. Heaters will be provided for the cool fall months.

Soil Experts' Work May Be Tested

REGINA. — The careful work of soil experts to prevent recurrence of the dusty 30's may be tested this year.

Leading prairie agriculturists say that, although periods of drouth may recur, the destructive soil drifting of the 1930's that turned much of Saskatchewan into a wasteland is being controlled to a great extent by strip-farming and irrigation. The test may come in 1949, for Saskatchewan's farms need rain.

In the last decade the number of Saskatchewan farmers has dropped from 160 000 to 120,000. Many left in the "bad years".

Much of the land which in the 1930's became a rolling ocean of sand has been reclaimed Seventy-six community pastures since 1937 have been formed on 2,000,000 acres of land and nearly 1,500 000 acres have been covered with firmly-rooted crested wheat grass Strip farming also has become more extensive

The "grim times" include 1937 when Saskatchewan's farms produced the all-time low average of only 2 9 bushels of wheat to the acre; only 30,000,000 bushels of wheat were grown that year

In the bumper year of 1942 the return was 23 bushels to the acre — a total of 304 000 000 bushels

Bulldozing

It's tough going for this bulldozer in the granite around Manitou Lake, Mrs. Wm. Bolton, Calgary, Alta., sent this photo to show the difficulties between and husband encountered while building roads in the Manitou district.

May Recruit Women Again

OTTAWA — Defence Minister Brooke Claxton gave a brief and guarded indication that women might again be recruited into the Armed Forces

Claxton declined to comment in detail on the possibility of the wartime Canadian Women's Army Corps, the Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service, and the R.C.A.F. Women's Division being revived on a peacetime basis.

He said, however, that experts in his department were giving serious consideration to starting voluntary recruiting of women.

All three women's services were disbanded after the war.

It Happened To A Carpenter

STEWART, B.C.—It happened to a carpenter, of all people.

Wrecking a building at nearby Hyder, he sawed the plank he was standing on—between himself and the building.

Steward Lumber Co. superintendent Hyde tried to tell him about his mistake but he didn't hear them.

Plank and carpenter crashed 25 feet to the ground.

Fortunately, the man got up, shook himself and walked home.

Trapper Has Bear Visitor To Cabin

CRANBERRY PORTAGE, Man — Trapper Sam Clark told of a surprise which he received, when he returned to his main cabin, after trip over his trap line. Sam remarked that on hearing his cabin he heard quite a bit of commotion going on within. Advancing with caution, to a position where he could gain a view of the interior through the smashed window opening, he was startled to discover a big black bear, generally tearing things apart, with a view to obtaining some food. Sam reports that he immediately retired to a safe vantage, point, some small trees nearby. He then made bets of money, barging cans, and throwing rocks against the cabin, until the bear, possibly more scared than the hunter, dove through a rear window, carrying bits of window frame, all and screaming with it. Sam said he thought of firing at the bear but no bullet left in the rifle in his hands, and the bear was going in the right direction, away, he decided the better plan would be to leave things just as they were. "No", said the trapper, "the bear has not returned so far."

GARDENERS NOTE

Because of its high nitrogen content, dried blood from slaughter is used in gardens as valuable fertilizer.

RECIPES

CUSTARD CUPS

3 eggs slightly beaten
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
6 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
1 cup cream
Nutmeg

Combine slightly beaten eggs and egg yolks, sugar, salt, milk and cream and stir until sugar is dissolved. Pour in custard cups sprinkle with nutmeg and place cups in pan of hot water. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) until set, about 25 minutes. The custard will be cooked when mixture does not adhere to knife when inserted. Cool quickly by placing cups in cold water.

BAKED HALIBUT

6 thin slices fish
1 onion, sliced
6 pounds halibut steak
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
3 tablespoons flour
¼ cup fine dry bread crumbs

Cut fish for bacon slices in small pieces. Place in shallow baking dish, cover with onion slices. Arrange halibut steaks over top. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for about 40 minutes. Garnish with lemon wedges and parsley sprigs.

A Farm Storage Tank Doesn't "Cost" IT PAYS!

A farm storage tank permits you to buy and store enough fuel at one time to be sure of having a supply on hand when you need it. No costly delays when tractors need idle, waiting for fuel to be delivered.

It helps to keep fuel clean and avoid plugging of fuel lines and carburetors with grit, dust or water. The tank can be mounted with enough slant to cause any impurities to settle away from the outlet.

It saves time in re-fueling tractors and trucks, if the tank is mounted overhead. Gravity flow is quicker than pumping or pouring. It prevents the spillage of the pump-and-pail method . . . or the wastage of the "last gallon" that is often left in the bottom of each barrel.

A farm storage tank pays in added safety, because it can be located well away from house, barn or sheds.

Tanks come in three sizes. The price is reasonable. See your Imperial Oil Agent.

GEORGE DREW

Alderman, Mayor, Provincial Party Leader, Three Times PREMIER OF ONTARIO . . .

Then LEADER OF THE OPPOSITION in The House of Commons, Ottawa.

No other national leader can match this record of public service on ALL LEVELS OF GOVERNMENTAL ACTIVITY.

George Drew, more than any other Canadian knows the government—to remain DEMOCRATIC, —must remain in the hands of the people. As an alderman he concerned himself with the problems of his ward. As mayor, he worked for a better community. As provincial legislator, he worked in the interests of the people of his constituency. As Premier of Ontario he gave his native province the finest administration in its history . . . George Drew has succeeded as an administrator because he believes in TEAMWORK and CO-OPERATION on all levels of government

As PREMIER OF ONTARIO he held more cabinet meetings and with greater frequency than any government in Ontario's history. As leader of the official opposition at Ottawa, he brought new life and energy into the House of Commons, and a confused people saw the principle of Parliamentary Government.

PROGRESSIVE CONSERVATIVE CANDIDATES give wholehearted support to George Drew because they will be Members of Parliament in FACT as well as in NAME. No longer will members be forced to yield all power to bureaucratic cabinet ministers and centralizers and fail to give full representation TO THEIR CONSTITUENCIES . . . Compare the records of George Drew and YOUR PROGRESSIVE CONSERVATIVE candidate with those of other party leaders and candidates.

Your vote on June 27th for your PROGRESSIVE CONSERVATIVE CANDIDATE will mean that you will be represented in Parliament by a supporter of A PROGRESSIVE CONSERVATIVE GOVERNMENT under the leadership of George Drew.

World Crop Prospects

ALTHOUGH THE PAST FEW YEARS have seen very critical food shortages, grain crops in these countries which have been axis to produce have been good. World food authorities have looked forward to the time when land made useless by the war or by lack of labor or farm equipment, would be producing again and food supplies would be increased. However, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, in a recent review of the prospects of world wheat production for the present year, reported that the outlook is now less favorable than it was a year ago. While in the United States production is expected to be at least as great as it was in the past year, reports from other countries including Canada were less encouraging.

Higher Acreage In The States

Acreage in the United States is now higher than it was last year and it is anticipated that the crop will amount to at least as much as it did last year when it totalled 1,288,000,000 bushels. The outlook in Canada is less hopeful because of lack of moisture during the early part of the season in the Western provinces. Expected grasshopper infestations were also given as a reason for the less encouraging report. Improved conditions have been reported in Europe and Asia but it has not been expected that any large increase in production will become apparent until after the crops can be made for weather and other unfavorable factors as difficult the wheat could it is actually harvested. However, it does appear that at least this year will not see any increase in wheat production and present indications seem to point to a smaller harvest than in 1948.

Need For Rain In Many Areas

Within Europe and Canada the situation was not regarded as being favorable. In Australia and the Argentine unless unforeseen conditions interfered, it was expected that the yield would be as large as last year. There is also the report and throughout the world for rain and farmers, weather conditions for the crops can be made for weather and other unfavorable factors as difficult the wheat could it is actually harvested. However, it does appear that at least this year will not see any increase in wheat production and present indications seem to point to a smaller harvest than in 1948.

RT. HON. LOUIS S. ST LAURENT M. P. Prime Minister of Canada

The Liberal Party, the only Party which can form a stable government after the election on June 27th

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE CAMROSE CONSTITUENCY:

On May 18th, I accepted the nomination as the Liberal candidate for this constituency at a convention held in Innisfail. The time at my disposal for conducting the campaign is very limited and it is impossible for me to see all of you personally and ask for your support.

I accepted the nomination because I am convinced that the fact that we have experienced the greatest period of prosperity in Canadian history since 1935 is due to the policies and legislation enacted by the Liberal Government at Ottawa. I believe too that the prosperity of the towns and villages in this constituency depend almost entirely upon a prosperous agricultural industry.

I am definitely not a politician. I am a farmer, and I believe my constituency should be represented by a farmer who is fully aware of all the problems faced by those engaged in this most important industry.

You will recall prices received by farmers for their products from 1930 to 1935 when the Conservatives were in power. Until the Conservatives made possible the prosperity we have been enjoying since 1935, I am convinced that the real issue in addition to the one we will have a continuation of this prosperity under the Liberal Government or not. The Social Creditors cannot enter the picture. They can have no hope of forming a government and any Social Creditor elected cannot sit in the Councils of the Government and help determine its policies.

On this basis, I appeal to you to give me your active support in this campaign so that we may be represented by a member of the Government at Ottawa.

Yours, sincerely,

JOHN BRACKEN

DISCUSSES THE

Progressive Conservative Policy —ON— GRAIN MARKETING

John Bracken Speaks:

There are six important facts that must be taken into account in determining what is the best marketing policy. They are as follows:

The first point to keep in mind is that the Prairie Wheat Board had as it's foundation the principle of the marketing of Canadian grain in the best interest of the farmer.

The FIRST Wheat Board Act was passed in 1935. The first Wheat Board under the Act was in every respect a Co-operative Board functioning in the best interest of the farmer. It was not an agency of the Government. It was subject to Government direction as to prices.

The SECOND important point to remember is that in 1943, by an Act of Parliament the present Liberal Government made the Wheat Board an agency of the Government, not an agency of the Producer.

The Government then made the Wheat Board an agency, functioning not in the primary interest of the Producers, but rather one which had to carry out the Government's policy, even to selling the farmers' grain for less than the Wheat Board could have sold it.

The present Liberal Government thus provided that the Wheat Board was to become the agent of the Government instead of remaining as it had been — the agent of the grain producers.

The actual amendments incorporated into the provisions of the Wheat Board Act, in order to make this change, read as follows:

Section 4 (2) The Board is for all purposes an agent of His Majesty in the right of Canada and it's powers under this Act may be exercised by it only as an agency of His Majesty in the said right.

(3) The Board shall possess the following powers:

(j) To act as agents for or on behalf of any Minister or agent of His Majesty in the right of Canada in respect of any operations that it may be directed to carry out by the Governor in Council.

The effect of these provisions in practice was that the Wheat Board was changed from being an agency of the Wheat Producers charged with the responsibility for getting the best possible price, to an agency of the Government which could say to hell with it, and may still use it, to sell the farmers' grain at less than the market price. In other words, the Liberal Government, in fact usurped the original power of the Wheat Board which was instituted in the interests of the farmers, and in addition, used it to force the Board carry out certain Government policies which were not in the best interests of the farmers.

The THIRD fact to keep in mind is that the Government then proceeded to exercise it's new powers and to use the Wheat Board, not in the interest of the primary producers, but in the interest of the Government itself. The Government having interfered with the Board's policies in 1944 forced the Board to deliver 600 000 000 bushels of the farmers' wheat to the British Government, over a four-year period, at an average price of 87c a bushel less than the Board could get for the bulk of the wheat during those years. In other words, the Government, by this interference with the Wheat Board, lost to the farmers of Western Canada $400 000 000 in that one big gamble with the Government.

In addition to this, the Government also forced the Wheat Board to sell millions of bushels of wheat to millers for consumption in Canada at prices far below the prevailing prices. This meant further huge losses to Western Farmers.

The FOURTH point to remember is that in 1943 the Government passed an Act to force Western farmers who grown oats and barley to sell these products through the Wheat Board only. In other words, it denied to every farmer the right to sell oats and barley in any other way. This Act was to be proclaimed after the three Western Provinces passed complementary legislation. This has now been done and after August 1st the growers of oats and barley in Western Canada will be forced to sell their oats and barley through the Wheat Board only.

The FIFTH point to keep in mind is that in 1943 the organized farmers of Western Canada, speaking through the Canadian Federation of Agriculture at it's annual convention, urged that the Wheat Board be restored to it's original function — that of operating primarily in the interests of grain producers. This request was expressed in a resolution, which reads as follows:

"That such legislation as oats and barley be based upon the principles that the Wheat Board shall be an agency, operating primarily for the benefit and in the interests of grain producers."

The SIXTH fact to remember is that the above request of the organized farmers was not acted on by the Government. The Board therefore remained an agency of the Government and the Government of the day, to use. The effect of this is two-fold. 1st, the Government has the power to assemble legislation on the Hansard Floor, and in answer to a question in the House of Commons as to whether the Government intended to use the Board primarily in the interests of the producers, the Minister of Trade and Commerce, Mr. Howe, answered in the negative. This answer is to be found on Hansard page 1421, under date of March 14th, 1949, as follows:

"It is obvious that the Government of Canada cannot give any undertaking that it will become responsible for the marketing of every grain, solely in the interests of the producer, and without regard to the interests of the consumer of those products."

In fact, it's duty is beyond the stated principle of the Government to be responsible for the removal of the organized farmers by force (the Wheat Board restored to it's original function as a producers agency.

GRAIN MARKETING — POLICY FOR THE FUTURE

What, under all these circumstances, should be the marketing policy of the farmers of Western Canada for the days ahead? What, under these circumstances, are the policies in which I believe? What, under all these circumstances are the stated policies of the Party of which I am a member? They may be stated very briefly. And they ought to be understood by every person of grain in Western Canada.

Our FIRST policy is to continue the Canadian Wheat Board as a permanent institution for the marketing of the farmers' grain crops.

Under no circumstances would the Board be dishanded. Our Party brought it in this policy in the first place. Our Party has always favored it's continuance, and it believes in it more today than ever before.

Our SECOND policy is to continue the fight to force the Government to make the Wheat Board an agency which functions in the interest of the farmers, rather than a Government Agency which has sold, and may again sell, the farmers' grain at less than the Wheat Board can sell it.

Government interference with the Wheat Board is the greatest danger the farmer has to face. Complete emancipation of the Board from Government interference is essential if it is to survive in the future.

Our THIRD policy in grain marketing is to leave entirely to the producers themselves the right to determine in what manner their grain should be marketed. If the organized farmers, as a group, desire by a satisfactory majority, that coarse grains be continued under the Wheat Board, their wishes are to be respected and acceded to. If, after some experience with this plan, they desire to change it, they would have right to do so.

Likewise if the farmers desire to eliminate the futures market, it will be within their power to do so. In other words, the growers of grain in Western Canada may rest assured that the Progressive Conservative Party will not force upon them any system of marketing that the farmers themselves do not want or do not approve.

We believe in leaving it to those who produce the nation's food the right to determine every aspect of the manner in which it is marketed.

Three three principles are basic in our policy on grain marketing. These three principles I personally support. These three principles the majority of which I have no doubt a number of delegates from the organized farmers of Western Canada have requested. I leave of no better long-term policy for the producers of grain in Western Canada.

In closing these remarks, let me give to every farmer my personal assurance that these principles, which all grain growers will recognize as being in their interests, will continue to be our guide. They mark the most forward step ever taken in the emancipation of the farmer from undue interference in the marketing of his products.

These three policies leave the farmers, as a group, free from the domination of both Government and politicians who have sold, and may sell again, the farmers grain at less than it is worth. These policies remove the farmers from any undue domination by the Grain Trade, which many farmers feel has for too great a say as to how their grain should be marketed. These policies: Marketing without interference by Governments and Politicians, and without domination by the Grain Trade, should mark a long step forward in the farmers marketing program.

The policies I have outlined, I do not need to point out, are in complete agreement with the principles discussed and approved at our National Convention of last October.

I trust these three policies will meet with the widespread support they deserve from all grain growers, wherever they may live in Western Canada.

Sincerely,

JOHN BRACKEN.

New Wind Tunnel Hurls Air Stronger Than Hurricane

ROSEMOUNT, Minn. — A new wind tunnel here hurls a blast of air 10 times stronger than a hurricane scientists said. The blast is so powerful that any person caught in it might explode or disintegrate," according to Prof John D Ackerman of the University of Minnesota aeronautical engineering department.

Ackerman said air rushes through the tunnel at an actual speed of 2761 miles an hour.

A hurricane contains winds travelling at 100 to 200 miles an hour and some tornadoes have gusts as powerful as 500 miles an hour.

The wind speed is so great that the temperature in the tunnel sinks to 60 degrees Fahrenheit, so low that scientists feared it might be congealed from its gaseous state into a liquid.

He said German scientists had claimed that air turned to liquid in their high speed wind tunnels during the war but they were unable to announce accurately how fast the air was moving. The new tunnel here permits accurate measurement of speeds, he said.

The tunnel, which develops winds speeding seven times faster than wind, was one of four built by the school from scrap material at the warrane Gopher Ordnance Works here. Only a few weeks ago, Ackerman announced that another tunnel had been a beast of air four times faster than sound. The speed of sound, 760 miles per hour at sea level is only 332 m.p.h. inside the tunnel, Ackerman said.

Ackerman said that in one type of experiment the tunnel will be used to study the way rockets move in the thin atmosphere high above the earth.

Most experiments will be aimed at learning "the characteristics of the flow and behavior of air" at intense speeds.

He said the blast through the tunnel would have the same effect on model aircraft as though a full-sized plane were moving through normal atmosphere at 5,000 miles an hour.

The tunnel operates on a push-pull system. Pumps at one end push the air through the tube while suction pumps at the other end produce a vacuum for the blast to rush into.

Each blast lasts only eight to 10 seconds but high speed cameras record the wind's effects on models placed in the tunnel.

Actually, Ackerman said, the scientists don't know what would happen to the body of anyone caught in the blast.

That's not a matter for our concern," he said. "We don't know. I suppose it's conceivable that a body might explode or disintegrate."

Recent issues received include Israel's set to its part in the "second World War, Czech stamps for the Friendship between United States and France, (lower left), and for the city of Lille, (lower right), and Norway's stamp to the centenary of the birth of author Alexander Kielland, (lower centre).

Bechuanaland, Britain's protectorate which has given it the modern name, has come out with a pictorial set to commemorate the part the country played in the Second World War. The set shows a map of the country, and transportation scenes, reminding of the part that Iran played in supplying oil for equipment to the Allies and the routes built through the country on which allied supplies were shipped to Russia. A flag of Iran in natural colors is included in the set.

Iran has not been a prolific stamp issuing country. First stamps issued by name of Persia, appeared in 1870. Earliest the coat-of-arms, the sun and lion under the ruler of the country made his postal appearance on a set, and on numerous sets till 1898, when the successor appeared on the new series. Then followed many overprints, and a new portrait set in 1902. Five years later a new shah succeeded the throne, and was portrayed on a stamp set that year. Three years later he was succeeded by the Shah Ahmed, who was the last of his line to rule the country, and a number of sets with his portrait were issued.

In 1915 the first pictorial set appeared, showing ancient ruins. This set was again followed by many overprinted sets. In 1925 there was a revolution, and Riza Pahlavi overthrew the government of the shah. There were overprinted stamps to mark the event that year, and an overprinted commemorative set was issued the next year. Later that year Pahlavi had himself crowned as shah, and made his postal appearance on a set, the first of many, almost a new set a year. In 1935, to mark 29 years of his rule, a long pictorial set appeared portraying improvements made during his rule, including new industries, buildings, and transportation developments.

In 1935 the name of the country was changed to Iran, and stamps overprinted. Three years later a more portrait stamp of Pahlavi, and in 1939 a set in the wedding of his son. In 1941 Pahlavi had to resign and his son came to the throne as the present ruler. A long scene set appeared in 1942 to mark the event of the new shah.

New issues . . . Denmark is to issue a stamp to mark the centenary of its constitution . . . Ireland is to issue semi-postals with extra for Red Cross . . . Liechtenstein is to issue a commemorative set to one of its famous families . . . Panama also is issuing a set to mark 200th anniversary of the University of San Javier . . . HUNTINGDON, Mass. Don't develop a craving for luxuries if you want to live a long time, Sam-ual Gibbs advised as he celebrated his 94th birthday.

Gibbs credited his own longevity to the fact he never developed any habits, bad or otherwise.

"Used to have a cup of coffee every morning," he said. "Finded it was getting to be a habit so I cut it out.

"Used to like gaing to dances, too," said Gibbs, who neither drinks nor smokes. "Found that was getting to be a habit, so I stopped. Been a bachelor all these years and never regretted it."

Thirty-eight deaths from ring participants since Jan. 1, 1946, in North American cities were cited by Thomas Gorman in an article.

Gorman's article, entitled "Death in the Ring", charged that 50 per cent of active fighters are "punch drunk" to some degree.

Decoratively SPEAKING

(By Pamela James)

Dear Miss James:

We are moving our 15-year-old daughter into a room on the third floor of the house. The room is 15' x 17' with one standing wall. Since it has long been used as a general store room, it will have to be completely re-decorated and furnished.

As she is a lot of a tomboy, the ordinary feminine type room you usually see for young girls wouldn't be very suitable. But, at the same time I would like to at least make a start at getting her interested in girlish things. I would also like to get her interested in housework — and also to make the room as conducive to study as possible.

Could you give me some suggestions as to suitable furnishings, curtains, wallpaper and floor covering?

Mrs. R. L.

* * * * *

Dear Mrs. R. L.:

Smartness can be just as girlish as ultra-femininity. And it is this appeal for which you should advisedly strive in your daughter's room. Forget about rose wallpaper and ruffled curtains and the like, instead, to gay, homespun informality.

For the walls, a rough textured cream-paper in a smart, neutral beige would be highly appropriate. Or, if you preferred something more colorful, there are any number of sturdy plaids that would suit your purpose.

As to furnishings—since the room is to be a study as well as a bedroom, I would suggest that you play down the bedroom features. An informal study effect over the couch, or couches, can be ruffled with the plaid to add further interest and to provide space for oddments.

Couches, of course, could be banded with pillows covered in the plaid of the shirts. And no could a couple of easy chairs plainly covered in colors picked up from the plaid.

Window curtains could also be used.

If you here chosen a colorful plaid wallpaper, of course, all fabrics used in the room should be plain—in bright colors to blend with the colors in the wallpaper.

Instead of the usual dressing table and ruffled stool, cast an eye over some of the smart sectional furniture now available. A desk, bookcase, corner what-nots, etc., will give the room the air of cheerful informality you need.

For floor covering some scatter rugs in bright, sturdy colors would complete the air of informality.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

MERIT

It is not what he has, nor even what he does, which directly expresses the worth of a man, but what he is.—Amiel.

Man's chief merit consists in resisting the impulses of his nature.
—Samuel Johnson.

Good actions crown themselves with lasting praise.
Who deserves well, needs not another's praise.
—Robert Heath

Human merit or demerit will find its proper level. Eternity alone solves the problem of humanity, and that in God's own time.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Life is continually weighing us in very sensitive scales, and telling every one of us precisely what his real weight is to the last grain of dust.—James Russell Lowell.

Merit is never so conspicuous as when coupled with an obscure origin, just as the stars never appears so lustrous as when it emerges from a cloud.—Bovee.

TIMES WHEN FISH CAN BE SEASICK

Fish can be seasick or transient under certain conditions. The discovery of the fact will undoubtedly come as a surprise to most people, but, when we come to think it over, it need not be so astonishing. It is said, for example, that fish sent by mail must be in tanks filled to capacity, otherwise the "sloshing around" of the water induces symptoms akin to mal-de-mer in men.

BRAZILIAN LAKE

Lake Feia of Brazil is about 12 miles south of Campos. It covers an area of about 180 square miles, but is very shallow. It is connected by a canal with the Atlantic on the east.

Shepherds' Crooks

Encouragement is being given in parts of Scotland to a revival of the old crafts, and these centres will help towards producing truly Scottish articles.

One of the most ancient hobbies in the world, that of making shepherds' crooks, has never died, and workers in the Highlands and Islands are still expert at turning out attractive and well made crooks. In the dark evenings of winter, shepherds spend hours shaping, and preparing and paring specially selected pieces of rams to fit to suitable sticks. It is not easy to find trees or saplings that will make good crooks.

Most of the craftsmen prefer to have their own crooks with a natural bend for the handle, and they will go to the extent of twisting a young sapling into the desired shape and fixing it so that it grows thus.

The length of a crook may be varied to suit personal needs and taste, but five feet is a common size, for it has been found that this gives the shepherd a convenient grip for an animal at lambing time. A specially good crook, perhaps with designs cut on the handle, brings up to £20, and such sticks are even exported, though it is much more common to see hazel-handled canes "made in Scotland", everywhere.

THAT MYSTERY HOUSE

Passing through San Jose we noticed the well-famous "Winchester Mystery House" is still on exhibition. You are probably familiar with the story of this curious place. In 1884 Mrs. Sarah L. Winchester bought a 17-room mansion in San Jose. After the death of her husband and two children, she became interested in spiritualism. A medium told her that as long as she kept on building additions to her house she would never die. For 38 years, from 1885 to 1923, Mrs. Winchester kept a staff of construction workers busy building additions to her mansion. The English language is inadequate to describe the result. You have to see the place to appreciate it. It has 40 stairways, 2,000 doors and 10,000 windows. Nobody seems to know for certain how many rooms are in this fantastic structure. Mrs. Winchester spent $5,000,000 on the building. Consider what she would have had to spend at the present cost of construction.

AMERICAN BEAUTY

An asked what were the measurements of Lillian Russell in her heyday as a stage beauty, I regret to say we haven't Miss Russell's measurements in our files. However, I believe when she was being referred to as "The American Beauty", Lillian was about five feet, eight inches in height and weighed 165 pounds. What her waist measurement was I have no idea. However, I believe she had quite a struggle when donning the corset necessary to produce the effect of an hourglass figure. In those days it was the fashion for women to have exaggerated curves very popular with the male sex. As a matter of fact they still are, much more so than many women seem to realize.

SHOPPING

Note it is stated that on many days the business in major city shopping sections in the U.S.A. decreases considerably. This country should have some covered shopping sections. I was in such a section in Rome, Italy. In it were hundreds of shops. It also had the equivalent of sidewalk cafes. Even in cold and rainy days the sidewalk cafe enthusiasts could enjoy their favorite diversion. The largest undercover shopping section in the world is in Istanbul. This covers more than five miles of streets and has in its area over 36,000 shops.

SONG CONTEST

In New Zealand recently, they had a "talking Bird" contest. That I would like to have seen and heard. The favorite to win was a parrot with remarkable conversational ability. However, when it seemed certain this talkative bird would be named the winner he began swearing at the judges and was disqualified for using bad language. Do talking birds know what they are talking about? Or are they just sound imitators? It is repeatedly stated parrots have no brains and don't know what they are saying. Yet I have heard of a parrot belonging to a family living near a much travelled highway that would shout: "Keep off the road, you fool. Want to get killed?" every time the family dog ventured near the highway. I have also heard of a parrot, owned by a Pennsylvania family, which when his owners started out for a party or the movies would cry out: "Have a good time, folks." So it would seem some talking birds are capable of an association of ideas and do know what they are talking about. 2633

The Progressive Conservative Party's Declaration of Policy — Drafted and Approved by Canadians from every Province — Representing Every walk of Life

George Drew

Since Parliament dissolved a few weeks ago, Progressive Conservative Leader George Drew has visited all ten provinces. He and the Party he leads, as a result of that tour, are convinced of one thing:

It's Time for a Change!

The supreme issue in the election now in full swing in for all Canadians to decide between now and June 27th is what that change will be.

With this thought in mind the Progressive Conservative Party takes this opportunity of the dissolution of the House of Commons to issue a statement of policy. This is the hastily-drafted election manifesto, nor is it the opinion of one man. It expresses the unanimous conclusions of delegates from every province who met in Ottawa from September 30th to October 2nd last year.

The importance of many of our statements of policy has been greatly emphasized by the conduct of the government during the present session of parliament. They were prepared in the belief that they will serve the best interests of all the people of Canada. It is one statement of policy for the whole of Canada. The purpose of the undertaking we give to Canadians can be broken down under three headings: Opportunity, Security and Freedom.

OPPORTUNITY

The Progressive Conservative Party will assure opportunity for all our people by a bold and progressive national development program.

Canada stands on the threshold of her greatest period of development. A vigorous Progressive Conservative government with faith in the nation will bring into production the vast natural resources of our province in every part of Canada.

There is no part of Canada where there are not new opportunities of development. We will provide the necessary roads and means of transportation to open up these areas and assist them in the development of their industries.

The Progressive Conservative national development program will cover development of power, oil, coal and mineral resources and the transportation facilities for their full use.

We will:

(a) Establish a National Development Advisory Council to co-operate with the provinces.

(b) Establish a National Power Authority to co-ordinate with the provinces in the technical examination of potential power developments and in the actual development of electric power at costs.

(c) Undertake the commencement of a joint conservation, development and power project on the Saskatchewan River.

(d) Encourage the development of power in the Maritime Provinces from coal as well as other sources.

(e) Promote the development of the great iron ore resources of Canada and the establishment of steel industries to process these ores.

(f) Stimulate the development of petroleum and other mineral resources in co-operation with the provinces, by taxation and fiscal policies to encourage the investment of risk capital.

(g) Establish a national program of water conservation, soil conservation, flood control, irrigation and drainage schemes throughout Canada, for the rehabilitation of depleted farm land and the preservation of our soil.

(h) Establish a national program of reforestation.

(i) Take effective steps to secure an equitable co-operation with the provinces in enabling the Trans-Canada highway and feeder roads to get only greatly needed our transportation facilities, but also to help Canada's tourist industry.

(j) Remove the discrimination in freight rates between different areas.

(k) Use effectively with the general transportation system of Canada the Hudson Bay Railway, Northland Railway and Prince Rupert harbor.

(l) Take the necessary steps to co-operate with the government in the power and waterways project on the St. Lawrence River.

Expansion of Trade

The Progressive Conservative Party will adopt every practical means to expand our external trade with the U.S., and all other nations, especially as well:

(a) Promote and expand overseas trade through reciprocal trade agreements.

(b) Lessen the burden of tariffs and sales imposed by way of luxuries or otherwise.

(c) Remove the arbitrary powers now in the Foreign Exchange Control Act.

(d) Review the Canadian dollar within the limits permitted by the International Monetary Fund to meet our external trade.

(e) Open negotiations to make the dollar, and the pound convertible, to regain our markets in the sterling area.

Reduction of Taxes

Promising reform in our taxation system, the reduction of taxes made necessary to encourage initiative and increased hard work.

The Progressive Conservative Party will:

(a) Increase exemptions to an income of $2,000 for married people and $1,200 for single persons.

(b) Increase the exemption for dependent children by $200.

(c) Increase the personal rate of exemption.

(d) Allow deductions in farmers' tax returns on the farm by members of the family.

(e) End the possession or our people by the present unfair and unduly arbitrary powers.

(f) Permit the development of small businesses operated by the people by allowing reasonable exemption for money re-invested in the business, and for losses in its early years.

(g) provide for a graduated reduction of succession duties on estates upon the portion of the estate left to the surviving husband or wife.

(h) Abolish nuisance taxes and make substantial reductions in sales taxes on necessities of life.

SECURITY

Security of Employment

The Progressive Conservative Party will assure security of employment by the following Declaration of Policy:

(a) Co-operate with the provincial governments in measures to help employ the people.

(b) Co-operate with the provinces and municipalities in a national employment service.

(c) Encourage new types of productive development that the greatest possible number of jobs may be created.

(d) Co-operate with the provinces in the establishment of training schools for the purpose of re-training workers displaced by technological changes.

(e) Take the necessary steps to co-operate with the provinces in the power and waterways project on the St. Lawrence River.

Security for Old Age

The Progressive Conservative Party will adopt a national contributory social security program to expand our present inadequate old age pension system. It will:

(a) Provide for a universal contributory system of old age pensions.

(b) Provide for the payment of pensions to the needy blind.

(c) Provide for the payment of pensions to the needy disabled.

Decoratively SPEAKING

(By Francis James)

Dear Miss James:

I noticed in one of your columns some time ago that you mentioned a method of wallpaper for a floor covering. Would you tell me how this is done. Also do you think it would be practical for a playroom that will be used by the children aged six to eight?

Mrs K M

Dear Mrs K. M.

I've no room with a floor cover big enough for wallpaper to be practical so any other floor in the house. The type which you mention I think is remarkably lasting and quite attractive. I know some people do this with linoleum, but to me, they are not correct. Long ago, I remember, party for about a year, lasting from the I should think this would be quite suitable for a playroom where children will be. I should think it would be very durable.

Mrs K. M.

Dear Miss James:

I wonder if you can help me. I have a problem which I think many others have also met with. I am a young married woman with a husband who has remarkably lasting qualities. I wish to keep him that way, if possible, but I know some people do not think much of husbands who are too lasting, so I am coming to you for help. Can you suggest any way in which I can keep my husband lasting? I am very fond of him, and I should be very sorry to lose him, but I would like to keep him lasting for some time yet. Any suggestions you can make will be very much appreciated.

Mrs R. M.

Dear Mrs. R. M.

I wouldn't say that the qualities you mention are to be encouraged in husbands. I know some people do think them admirable characteristics in husbands, but I am afraid I am not one of them. I should suggest that you encourage your husband to be more energetic and active. Perhaps a change of scene would help. Why not take him for a trip to Europe? That would be very lasting, I should think.

Dear Miss James:

Are there any outlines for making a room look smaller? I have a regular love affair with a certain thing that seems to matter what I do

Mrs R. M.

Dear Mrs. R.:

I am afraid I am not quite sure what you mean by outlines for making a room look smaller. I have always understood that the object was to make a room look larger. Perhaps you mean you wish to make it look smaller.

Hardisty Happenings

Mrs A Walmsley entertained a num visiting with their daughter few of the Hardisty ladies at a tea last Thursday week.

Mrs A. Redmon and Mrs. R C. Morgan and Linda Lee were Sedgewick visitors last week.

Mr and Mrs M Stuart, Mrs A Redmon, Mrs Morgan and Mrs Preece attended an Eastern Star Chapter meeting at Sheriff recently.

Mr and Mrs T V Weeks of Calgary arrived Sunday to spend a few days with her daughter and family, Mrs J. A Keegan.

Mrs. McLaughlin of Edmonton, spent the week end with her mother Clarence Hoefs home

Rod Matteson was a city visitor last week, bringing back another new Kaiser car

Barney Matthews, still undergoing treatment in the Colonel Mewburn Hospital in Edmonton, was down for the week end, visiting and taking in the big two-day Stampede.

Mr and Mrs Bill Lashalls and family of Bonnie spent the week end visiting Mr and Mrs J Matteson and family.

Mrs Fairfield visited Meadowlake Monday to attend the funeral of her aunt Mrs Cowan

The Memorial Building drum that who to have been announced at the Stampede dance on Saturday night, has been postponed until a later date as the drum is not yet ready. Preparing for the Stampede we'd like to see more of our boys in town and wear it constantly though we don't know whether he wears it in bed or not.

STAMPEDE

Sounding Lake, trophy by Joe Matteson and T. Matteson.

The All Round Trophy, presented by Hardisty Motors, was won by Cliff Vandergrift of Turner Valley. Special added attractions were held including a troupe from the Martin School of Dancing. The Midway was put on by Gaylord Shows and bands were run on the grounds by the Legion and the Home and School Association. Baseball and football games were held each evening followed by the dances on the open air floor. The trophies were presented at the Saturday night dance by Secretary Tom Dickson and President Pete Gienna and a lot of cattle was donated by the Saville Ranch, H. Goodrich and J. Akkerdise

The management of the Associa tion wishes to thank all who so very willingly gave so much of their time and work toward making this rodeo a great success.

P S Though Pete Gienna and son's quote contain yet who all were responsible for his being provided with the Stetson Hat at the beginning of the show by Mr. Cliff Saville he appreciates very much and wears it constantly though we don't know whether he wears it in bed or not.

CONCRETE LINING . . .

WHILE many people who are fortunate enough to have a good spring as a source of water on farms, realize a good job of confining those springs there are many cases where the job is more or less spoiled by improper installation of the walls or lining of the spring. We are showing herewith a cross-section showing the lining of a spring

Even though a spring may have a strong enough to run a small stream of water over the ground surface in its natural state, it is always advisable to excavate as deeply as possible up to perhaps 5 or 6 feet in order to provide a reservoir for the water and also sufficient depth to cover the pipeline deeply enough to make it safe from frost. They should also be an overflow drain to take away water and carry it off to an outlet in a ditch or other low ground where it will not be a nuisance. The flash should usually enter the spring

Since water frequently enters such an excavation from the side rather than from the bottom, the lower part of the lining should be of dry stone wall so that there is no hindrance to the entrance of water. From a level of about 2½ or 3 feet from the surface of the ground forms may be made and a concrete lining put in. This will be watertight and will stop surface water from entering the spring box. To prevent frost from screened pebbles. To make sure that the concrete will not be cracking, it is wise to put in some steel reinforcing. Three or four horizontal rods ¼ of an inch in diameter placed about in the middle of the wall and vertical rods of the same material at intervals of about 15 inches around the wall will provide sufficient reinforcing for safety. One of the difficulties when putting in such a lining is the removal of the water from the excavation while work is being done. This can usually be accomplished by means of a cutting or piping of sufficient capacity to remove the water as fast as it comes in. It is always wise to build such structures at the time of the year when water is lowest, namely in the middle of summer.

When a spring has not sufficient elevation to send water by gravity to all parts of the farm buildings where it is needed, it is best to run the water into a cistern or reservoir, then to pump it from there into a pressure tank which will force it to all buildings where water is needed. The inlet pipe from the spring to the reservoir should be equipped with a float valve which will shut off the water off when the reservoir is full. This would conserve water and will make it unnecessary to provide an overflow drain from the reservoir.

THE PARTING

By JANE DALE

This is the day when we must part;
Though my sweetheart you'll ever be in my heart.
I disagreed for you—held you in my arms;
Sheltered you from all life's small alarms,
Watched as you grew from boyhood on and on
Knowing full well that someday you'd be gone
This is the day yet no bitterness is mine
You have my blessing and I will not repine
Your heart and head will guide you well, I know.
An unseen Hand will point the way to go.
I had those years to fit you for the day
I loved you, taught you and I learned to pray.
No matter now wherever you may roam
I know your deepest thoughts will be of home
This is the day when you must choose a way,
To it may be the Right one, I humbly pray

Know Your Provinces

Coal Mining In Saskatchewan Is Older Than Province Itself

THE coal mining industry in Saskatchewan is older than the Province itself As early as 1867, eighteen years before Saskatchewan became a province, the Dominion government records indicate a production of 400 tons of coal, valued at $800 00. The earliest coal mined came from the banks of the Souris river, near Estevan and was located down the Souris river to Wauipeg.

From this small beginning production has increased year by year until 1942 the mines of the province produced 1 064 207 tons The last reliable estimate of Saskatchewan's coal reserves was made a good many years ago and the figure should probably be revised drastically downward They show that the province has an actual coal reserve of 2,612.00 metric tons underlying an area of 206 square miles and an approximate estimated of a possible reserve of 54,400,000,000 metric tons underlying an area of 13,000 square miles. Even if these figures were halved the coal measures of Saskatchewan would last for hundreds of years at the present rate of production

The best known coal area in the province is the Souris river coal area which is part of a larger basin shaped coal area extending south into North Dakota The greatest development has taken place in an area comprising six to eight townships extending south and east of the town of Estevan and including the village of Bienfait Shand, Poche Percee Taylorton and Pubis.

This principal coal-producing district of the province is served by both railways. There are approximately 25 mines in the area, many of which are small wagon mines producing a few hundred tons of coal annually. The coal is recovered by underground mining methods as by stripping the overburden above the coal with large excavating shovels after which smaller shovels dig and load the coal into trucks which carry it to modern coal-cleaning and preparing plants The whole operation is highly mechanized and makes for low production costs There are also lesser coal producing areas in the province which are located in Wood Mountain-Willow Bunch and Cypress Hills areas, and also there are outcrops of coal at several points in northern Saskatchewan

All coal so far discovered in Saskatchewan may be classed as lignite The characteristic brown colour and woody texture is to be observed in most of the seams. Others are darker, denser and more homogeneous

The lignite gives off very little explosive coal gas and for this reason the mines are also free from open flame lamps Except where machinery is used in mine or dig the coal, black blasting power is used as the blasting medium

Carbonized lignite briquettes are now being produced at Bienfait, and sold in competition with the best grades of Alberta coal. The only by-product disposed of in the manufacture of briquettes in the Saskatchewan plant is creosote which is marketed in Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, where it is used in timber preservation.

First Grain Shipment Arrives At Churchill

CHURCHILL, Man. — The first grain for shipment this summer from Canada's most northerly seaport has arrived at the 2,500,000-bushel elevator here from Brandenth, Sask.

Last year in the 47-day season Aug 5 to Oct 10 Churchill sent it received 3 314 342 bushels to the United Kingdom

Coyote Bounty To Be Paid Throughout Year

VICTORIA — B.C. Game Branch will pay bounties on coyotes throughout the year henceforth

Previously bounty was paid only on coyotes killed between April 1 and October 31

The amended regulation was published in the B.C. Gazette

Bounty on female coyotes is $20 in Kamloops, Chilcoo and Lillooet districts and $25 elsewhere in the province.

Father's Day Founded On Respect For Paternal Head Of Family

MANY people wonder how Father's Day originated and with the coming of Father's Day on Sunday June 19th, this is an appropriate time to tell the story.

It all sprang from the heart of a mother with deep religious feeling. All her life, she looked back upon the kindliness and courage of her own Father who caused an independent children of which she was one. This woman Mrs. Bruce Dodds of Spokane, Washington was deeply impressed with the love and devotion her Father gave to his mother. Her heart filled often wondered if families with both mother and father appreciated both parents equally. Her theory was that as children we spend so much time with Mother that we fail to see the importance of the paternal head of the family.

The Ministers Alliance and the YMCA took up her idea and by 1910 the first Father's Day was observed in two cities On the third Sunda in June a record number of women met at church for worship and verbal tributes to Dad. Mrs Dodds thought that there was far much disrespect in family relations for Father about 20,000 people in the United States are killed each year by the Father and the number is increasing. Mrs Dodds hopes for a Father's Day Truce Commandment by raising the time and the type for a worthy part in Ans

2,4-D For Annual Weeds

The development and use of the chemical 2,4-D for controlling broadleaved weeds in cereal, flax and field crops is one of the major accomplishments of modern agricultural science

Annual Weeds Briefly, an annual weed is one that grows from seed to seed in one season. Wild Mustard, Stinkweed, Giant Ragweed, Lamb's Quarters, and Russian Thistle are annual weeds. Fortunately, of annual weeds when they are in active growth these weeds can be controlled conveniently controlled in growing grain crops with 2,4-D

About the Facts Some of the many questions that every farmer should know about 2,4-D before using it are: (1) Annual weeds are usually the first weeds to die after a few, including Wild Mustard, and Stinkweed (Round-ball), are very sensitive to 2,4-D and kill easily. Others, like Lamb's Quarters and Red-root Pigweed, are only moderately sensitive, but can be killed. Certain other annual weeds such as Wild Buckwheat are very hard to kill with 2,4-D. Knowing your weed and its reaction to 2,4-D is of utmost importance, since weeds are most easily and quickly destroyed with 2,4-D when they are young and growing rapidly. As they approach maturity they become more difficult to kill. Early treatment, therefore, is essential for best results. (2) Climatic conditions are important. Best results follow when 2,4-D treatments with 2,4-D are made during warm weather when soil moisture conditions are favourable for rapid plant growth. Do not spray or dust with 2,4-D when the weather is extremely hot and dry.

Follow Directions. Obtain your 2,4-D chemical from a reliable manufacturer. Study the label on the container, and follow the recommended 2,4-D dosages accurately. Follow directions closely. Don't forget that 2,4-D is a potent chemical and must be used with care.

Information on the availability of 2,4-D chemicals, and a copy of our new leaflet, entitled, "2,4-D Weed Killers for 1949" may be obtained from local Line Elevator agents. For the latest information on the use of 2,4-D consult your Agricultural Representative or write to Line Elevators Farm Service, Chemical Division, Winnipeg.

REGIONAL BOARD OFFERS TEACHER TRAINING BURSARIES

(By J. W. Chalmers)

The board of Killam School District is still accepting applications for teacher training bursaries, which are granted to young men and women interested in entering the teaching profession. Each bursary is for $300 plus a year's fees in the Faculty of Education at the University of Alberta. Tuition fees are paid directly to the University by the Department of Education, which also re-imburses the Division for half of the $300. The money is paid directly to the student, but when he registers at the University and half in January.

Bursaries are available only to students enrolling in the one-year program leading to the Junior Elementary and Intermediate School Certificate or to those registering for the first year of the four-year program leading to the Senior Elementary and Intermediate Certificate. To be eligible for the Jr. E. and I. course, students must hold a High School Diploma with at least 3 standing in Grade XI English and Mathematics.

Bursaries are not limited to high school students who are graduating this year. Former graduates are also eligible. A person who has been out of the graduates of a high school in the Killam Division. In fact, they do not even have to be residents of the Division. However, all applicants must give an undertaking to teach for two years in the Division, in Province schools they may be assigned to.

Application forms should be procured from the divisional office. If possible, they should be submitted by 3 July next, the date of the next board meeting.

PERSONAL STUFF

— By A. W. B. —

Most small town sport enthusiasts have just recently begun to realize that failure to keep young lads nervous apprentices in organized games such as baseball and hockey, has resulted in senior ranks being badly depleted of efficient players. This because the old boys have become worn out and the younger lads not being qualified to step in and take over. To again a few instances steps have been taken to remedy this situation. Such a case was the organizing of a pee wee hockey league in Sedgewick last winter, supervised by the Sport Society and handled by a handful of interested and sport-minded individuals. These young lads were taught a lot of hockey and will be capable of taking part in senior activities. We see the same thing being done this summer with regards to baseball.

The above facts are perhaps well known to most of you but there are other angles of which I am sure you remain quite ignorant. One of these is the conditions under which these young people play and the facilities they have to work with.

One of the most deplorable situations to my mind is the disgraceful condition of the Sedgewick Skating Rink. The plain fact is that the entire premises is falling to pieces and taking on the appearance of a badly neglected sport country.

I think that the cure for this deplorable condition rests entirely on the shoulders of the Sedgewick Village Council, since the expenses of it is to see that these public facilities are kept in at least decent repair.

It may seem a little premature for some of you to talk about hockey in June, but winter will be on us again before we hardly realize it. RIGHT NOW is the time to get busy and put the rink in shape for next winter's hockey.

The answer as to why some people don't like Stampedes has been given by the Hardisty Stampede Assn. To my way of thinking there is no sense in maintaining a high percentage of attendance at these Wild West Shows than that of keeping spectators interested by providing continual action. Waiting around between events is both tiresome and boring. Judging from the recent affair at Hardisty and the favorable comments made on the amusing scenes to be in providing sufficient clean facilities to keep crowds going Hardisty and the same goes with other clubs and will be well repaid with future increased patronage.

FARMER DAY AT LOUGHEED ATTRACTED LARGE CROWD

Farmers' Day at Lougheed on the 21st of June attracted a large crowd and proved a very successful day.

The parade started off at 12.30 and was unusually interesting as ever, even bigger and better than ever. The floats were all very artistic in design and as well as the floats there were comedy acts, decorated bicycles and a number of the young folks in various costumes. Prizes were given for the various entries.

Following the parade the Rebecca turned to the hall diamonds and the other activities in the baseball, the local Wildcats won the final game by defeating Hazlenden. The Men's Softball was won by Valley. The men were presented with their awards by Valley, with Kinsella winning.

A softball game was played between the local men (north) south which proved to be a lot of fun for both players and spectators. Norths won by a very close score.

Refreshments were served on the grounds by the Legion members and the day closed with a dance.

Prize winners in the parade were Floats — 1st, Anglican S. School 2nd, Legion; 3rd Atlas Lbr Co

Decorated Cars — 1st G. Hudec; 2nd D. Thomas; 3rd G. Smith

Comic Vehicle — 1st Marlow (Irish Washerwoman); 2. Whitehead (Just Married); 3. (Vanishing Americans) H. Barnes.

Best Dressed Child — 1st, Joyce Iwaham, 2nd, Brent Lawley, 3rd, Norma Volkart.

Decorated Bike — 1st Louise Barnett; 2nd, Gordon Marlow, 3rd, Frankie Olson.

Comedy — Kirkman and Kenny.

Various other prizes were presented in the line of comedy, but at the time it is impossible to obtain a definite record of the winners

The Legion members wish to thank everyone who helped to make the Farmers' Day such a success, and a special thanks goes to the ladies who willingly helped in the booths.

Our Links With India

FOR A CONSIDERABLE TIME India was prominent in the news, which told of internal strife and of the events which led up to that country becoming a dominion in the Commonwealth of Nations. Recently we have heard less of what has been taking place there, but India will always be an interesting country, and one which will in all probability be associated with many more events of historical significance. Covering an area of 1,730,000 square miles, which is almost one-third of the area of Canada, India has a population of 337,000,000. Like Canada, much of the country is used for agriculture, and farming is one of the chief industries. Crops produced there include rice, wheat, barley, cotton, jute, sugar cane, tobacco and many varieties of oil seeds and spices.

A Market For Farm Machinery

Canada has many ties with India, both economically and diplomatically. There is a large market there for Canadian products, especially for farm machinery and other mechanical goods which are required for the expansion of industries and the modernization of farming methods, which are proceeding rapidly at this time. As one of the world's largest producers of farm machinery, Canada is considered an important source of this type of equipment by Indian buyers. Diplomatically, Canada is represented in India by a High Commissioner, while the Indian government sends an official of similar rank to represent its interests here. High Commissioners, in diplomatic circles, are considered to be equal in rank to ambassadors.

British Rule Was Impartial

The story of the conquest of India and the years of British rule there make up an interesting and colorful chapter of our history. It has been gradually agreed by historians that in taking over the country, Britain established order and justice without prejudice and brought many benefits to the people. It appeared inevitable however that complete self-government should come to India and the country is now experiencing independence for the first time, although as a member of the Commonwealth of Nations it continues to enjoy certain advantages in respect to trade and defence. Because of the economic and diplomatic links between the two countries, and because India is a sister dominion in the great family of nations which makes up the Commonwealth, Canadians will follow with interest the course of future events in that great country.

Claim Coffee Shop Saved By Miracle

BIG RIVER, Sask. French-Canadian lumberjacks claim a miracle saved a small coffee shop in the modern Saskatchewan town when forest fires practically licked at its doorsteps. The wooden structure was left untouched but a host of glass jars set feet from the building were completely fused by intense heat.

The lumberjacks explain the "miracle" in this way. According to legend, "Satan of Gideal", or black popular, has some significance because it was used for the cross on Calvary and in therefore sacred. In the construction of the little coffee shop, at the fork of Green and Lakes Lake road, builders used one log of black poplar.

May Use Radar To Check Flight Of Wildfowl

OTTAWA — Wildlife experts from all provinces conferring with Dominion authorities discussed possible use of radar to divert wildfowl from farmers' crops and eliminate damage to cultivated areas.

The subject came up at the closed meeting of the provincial-Dominion wildlife conference, but no definite program to safeguard crops by radar was announced and there was no indications how radar would be used.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Stark and Mr. and Mrs. T. Cushman took in the Olds Field Day last Saturday, and on the way home visited with Mr. and Mrs. Darlington at Hespero and also the Liddells at Pumpkin.

John Slack and the Hepburn brothers also attended the Field Day held at Olds.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Lawley and Brent spent last Sun. by visiting with Art's parents at Mannkaw.

Mrs. Laird Tanton and children spent last week in town visiting with Mrs. Longrod. The Tanton farm is undergoing a change — a new house is being built.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Wisner were off again last week and this time their destination was Red Deer where they attended the Stampede and visited their son Gerhart and family.

The G. Riddoth's residence was a hilarious place last Thursday, June 23rd when a number of little friends helped Dolores celebrate her fifth birthday. The little hostess received many pretty presents. The afternoon consisted in playing various games, with a delicious lunch being served.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Whitehead from Cadogan and the new arrival spent the past week end at the H. Butcher home. Mrs. Whitehead remained at her parent's home for a holiday.

Mr and Mrs. J. Butcher left for Claresholm last Saturday where they spent a few days visiting with Mrs Butcher's parents.

QUICK DEATH TO INSECT PESTS

STANCO LIVESTOCK SPRAY and 25% Imperial DDT are economical and effective. With these sprays you can end the losses caused by flies and other insect pests.

STANCO is a repellent spray ready to use. Just fill your sprayer and you can treat your cattle, horses and hogs in comfortable days and restful nights. No more tormenting by flies, no more stampeding. Stanco gives 24-hour protection, is non-poisonous to your livestock and does not stain. It more than pays for itself by causing down milk and flesh losses caused by insect pests.

25% IMPERIAL DDT CONCENTRATE kills flies on contact. It is ideal for use in stables, dairy barns, hog pens and poultry houses. Sprayed on walls and ceilings it ends the fly problem, the menace to health and production. It's economical to use, too. For power spraying you only use 1 part concentrate to 125 parts water, or about 2½ tablespoons in a gallon. For hand spraying you double the strength. For walls and ceilings, a gallon of concentrate makes 5 gallons of spray. It does not stain and is sure death to every fly and insect that lights on it.

NATURE LOVERS MOBILIZE TO DEFEND WILD FLOWERS

By JAY RICHTER
Central Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Probably the only man in North America who devotes himself to protecting wild flowers from people is Percy Lavon Richter, a Thousand-mountain woodsman of the Wild Flower Preservation Society. He's a unique character. He's convinced flower lovers would be thrilled through the outskirts.

Lavon, as his friends call Richter, and possibly as he really likes to be called, is a husky, bushy-haired man who looks more like a lumberjack than a botanist. He's a bachelor, lives with Mother, and has no children of his own. But he's crazy about children and the outdoors, and he's been known to lose his temper when he sees a child picking wild flowers.

Richter talks about flowers as if they were human beings. He refers to them as "they" instead of "it," and he's not ashamed to admit he loves them.

He's an expert on wild flowers, and he's known for his knowledge of rare species which is not available anywhere else.

Richter has been keeping that information to himself until recently, when he decided to go to the Richter home in Washington, D.C., which is surrounded by some dozen inches from the climax of many lands.

The fact that Richter decided to do his part time associate at the Presentation society probably surprised all questions. These include some who are not. How can I picture a wild

A lot of people want to know whether wild flowers can be transplanted either from the flower ways to Richter.

A few flowers resent city life, others get along fine, if they are treated right. Most wild flower seeds planted in moist soil germinate.

Most plants with bulbs or fleshy roots are easy to transplant in summer or fall after their foliage has withered.

Scientific ally speaking, Richter is a taxonomist, a follow who identifies and classifies such things as plants, animals, and minerals.

He got his start at the age of seven by working over a fossil collection belonging to a great uncle who was a geologist. He steadily worked his way through rocks, sea shells, marine invertebrates, fungus, and lichens, on up to wild flowers.

This varied collection as impressed the city fathers of Westwood, Me., he boyhood home, that they built a natural history museum to hold it all. Richter, then in high school, was named curator.

In 1901, after college, he went to Washington to identify and classify plants for the United States Department of agriculture He retired about a year ago to give the wild flower his undivided attention.

I was a dis-united scientist as ld 1921 Richter says, when people got me started. They were ripping down dogwood limb from trees all over Washington and the surrounding countryside. It got out of hand."

He now went to the publisher of The Washington Star who assigned a special reporter and photographer to him. For three weeks, the newspaper ran stories, editorials, pictures and cartoons designed to protect the outcrop from people.

Richter's friends among the city's newspaper men, his chief source of publicity, and the Washington Star's special theme chain turned out film strip to help out the cause.

The New York Times front-paged the story; London and Paris and such kind of North American wild flowers in order to be city cannot fill. Although the society has on file 12,000 photographs representing 3,000 species, there are approximately 30 000 species, altogether.

Hour after hour, Richter roams not just spring time or downright cold.

Richter has books lecture, and he's now working on a book about wild flowers.

TILT OF HAT REVEALS CHARACTER

LONDON — A man grew himself away by the set of his hat, the trade journal Men's Wear said.

It provides these clues:

"A hat dead straight on the head shows lack of imagination.

"Too much on the back of the head suggests the rebel.

Too much over the nose, a prig.

"Too much on one side suggests a character with rather too much bounce."

WANTS TO VISIT U.S.—Princess Margaret Rose, (left), wants to visit the United States this fall and is "wearing down" her father in her efforts to get his permission, court circles have reported. The princess, who will be 19 in August, launched her campaign for a trip to the U.S. after her return from a month's visit to the European continent. The marquis of Blandford, who has been Margaret's number one escort for months, recently visited the U.S. He undoubtedly has increased the princess' interest in the U.S. scene. The princess long has been interested in visiting the U.S. Moreover, one of her best friends is attractive Sharman Douglas, (right), daughter of Lewis Douglas, U.S. ambassador to England.—N.N.S. photo.

Building A House in Two Hours

A mobile dwelling that can be built in two hours is helping to solve Britain's housing problems. In this short time six men can assemble a four-roomed home that is completely self-contained. Known as the "Tyrrappit", this house is made of aluminum and contains a living-room, two bedrooms, a kitchen and a bathroom. When production gathers full momentum, the cost of each house will be about $3,360. Its inventor, Major Scott, considers that it would prove particularly valuable in the Commonwealth countries and the U.S.A. for opening up undeveloped areas.

HEALTH

Alcoholism—What Is The Answer?

If the use of alcohol is interfering with physical health, the integrity of the home, efficiency at work, or social life then it is sufficient reason for its abstinence, it is stated by Dr. R. G. Hill in an article on "Alcoholism—What is the Answer"—in the current issue of Health magazine published by the Health League of Canada. Dr. Hill is Medical Director of the Shadow Brook Health Foundation, Toronto.

"No writer says it is difficult to say exactly when any particular individual becomes an alcoholic but "to take a drinking pattern is such as to indicate the beginning of emotional development of no serious on illness. Such alcoholism, it becomes necessary, to consider treatment at an earlier stage."

Dr. Hill states that because a person can drink large amounts of liquor with apparently little effects of harm, one does not, therefore, necessarily mean that a continuation of such drinking would not produce a full blown picture of alcoholism sometime later. He remarks that "one must quite consistently in the study of alcoholic patients, find the development of alcoholism in any particular case comes as a horrible surprise to the patient.

The writer lists four phases in the treatment of alcoholism.

The first step in treatment must deal with the physiological condition presented by the alcoholic patient with the nutritional state dealt with first. Next, comes a complete physical examination and careful inquiry into all aspects of his health—and analysis of the individual's particular alcohol problem.

Then the patient must be prepared for a protected, therapeutic environment for a minimum period of one year—an environment in which he will continue to acquire insight into his illness, to improve in motivation, and to rid himself of psychiatric symptoms. And, finally the patient must be provided with a framework for a lifetime, non-alcoholic, social environment.

APPRENTICE FARMERS

A apprentice farmers will soon be working on farms in Scotland. An agreement has been made between the Ministry of Labour, farmers and landowners for a three-year apprenticeship scheme to be initiated. In the past farmers have had to draw new recruits to agriculture from the ranks of ploughmen and farm workers. The new scheme will offer opportunity to those young men who have a leaning towards a life on the land to acquire the necessary technical education for this skilled work. In addition to gaining experience through practical farm work they will be able to study soil chemistry and other related subjects essential to success in farming.

Helpful Hints

If you are making a garment which is to be laundered, be sure that the buttons used are washable. Washability of buttons should also be considered even if the garment is to be dry cleaned

Even if your boy's room is small, try to have some kind of cabinet, desk or work top in it for the many hobbies and collections that are so important a part on a boy's life Built-in cabinets are good. A work top can be hinged to the wall, and dropped out of place when not in use

As a surprise to reduce the hips and waist before you bend for the brush to this: Stand with feet apart, right arm on hip, left straight over head. Bend briskly three times to the right, keeping the back and knees straight and stomach tucked in. Alternate, first on one side then on the other.

Swimming For Health's Sake ::

By HARVEY ROBEY, M.B.
Director of Swimming and Water Safety, Canadian Red Cross Society

The use of water as a means of improving health appears in some of the records of a period well before the birth of Christ. From earliest times primitive tribes and races were shapped water even as they did the sun, believing that it had super-natural healing powers. This is still evidenced in "the holy waters of the Ganges" and in earlier beliefs concerning the Tiber and the Nile During the long period of the Roman Empire, bathing and aquatic activities assumed even greater proportions and the size and appointments of famous Roman baths are to this day a source of wonder With the decline of the empire these centres of health and recreation deteriorated and deserted It developed a very unsavory reputation As a result of this trend aquatic activities and the bi ternent of health by means of water came quite outlawed and during the Middle Ages were used very Little

Towards the end of the 19th century the medical profession again came to realize that great health benefits could be derived through the use of water and even modern baths were written on the subject. This trend has steadily increased until today hydrotherapy is a recognized and respected form of treatment for a wide range of disorders and a powerful form of preventive medicine by promoting general body development The term hydrotherapy" could hardly be interpreted as swimming in the ordinary sense of the word, as it also includes medical treatment where movement, pressure, heat and resistance of water are used under supervision to build muscles restored by disease of paralysis and to rectify deformities of many types of water is useful for the psychotic and debilitated, it must also be of use to those of us who are appearing in good health

Recently we have seen a rather convincive bit of evidence relative to the health and body-building values of swimming I refer to those swimmers who participated in the Olympic Games Although many of the other Olympic activities occupied a prominent place in the programs, much of the publicity was centred on swimming and this, I am convinced, was because of the obvious health, vigour, symmetry and beauty of the world's aquatic stars, both men and women.

Swimming is a great body-builder. Experience both in Canada and the United States has shown that the person, particularly the child, who swims well is likely to be taller than the average with long, smooth, flat muscles that produce body symmetry. These people usually have an erect posture and a deep chest with greater vitality capacity than the average. In body movement they are often much more flexible and therefore more pliant and graceful than even athletes in other activities. Swimming strokes, being rhythmic and smart in their patterns when well executed, present another contributing factor to the grace and poise that seems common to all swimmers. Most swimmers also have a clear, healthy skin due to judicious exposure to the sun and air and the stimulating contact with cool or cold water. Because feet are usually strong and well keyed in the arches, though often larger than usual. This is due to the fact that they usually spend so much time barefoot and walking in soft sand.

Swimming has been prescribed for "nervous cases" because it has been found that it relieves nervous tension and actually induces mental relaxation. Patients may develop a self-confidence by the mastering of this new element It also helps in developing relaxed thinking by active participation in an enjoyable and social recreational activity. Swimmers show these beneficial results in that they are usually a calm and carefree lot, noted for their good nature Too often this is taken for granted and, although we know the benefits that can be given to the ill we fail to take advantage of these benefits for normal healthy people

Finally, and possibly most important, swimming is an activity that may be utilized by people of all ages. The friend of childhood may develop their muscles by even the simplest of swim strokes The use of carefully supervised exercises in a therapeutic pool is an essential part of the treatment of the dreaded poliomyelitis Elderly people or those who have become old before their time because of physical inactivity is hard-to-do may gradually get their bodies back into fit physical and mental condition by means of swimming They may start with six-pile strokes close in shore and then, as their muscles are stretched and proficiency increased, they may gradually increase their activity in accordance with the increased exercise tolerance Rheumatoid muscles become stronger and even postural deviations begin to correct themselves. As the person the activities can be very readily re-scaled but with complete control on the degree at all times.

Since the last war much work has been done on the development of convalescent swimming both in our veterans' hospitals in Canada and in therapeutic centres throughout the United States and by the American Red Cross. All too little has been done to make the average healthy person realize that in our efforts to maintain good health we have in swimming and water two of the most natural and valuable agents available anywhere. Cornel L. Bryant, national water safety director of the American Red Cross, has done much to develop this thought in the United States and we are indebted to him for much of our thinking along this line in Canada But there is still much to be done and this will continue to be until Canadians of all ages recognize the benefits that may be obtained from swimming and believe in them sufficiently to take advantage of them.

By means of the Red Cross water safety program we are being taught to eliminate the hazards that have been associated with water activities. While recognizing these and observing the safety rules, let us also make full use of the great benefits that are awaiting us in the world of aquatics. Let us strive for health's sake Canada's Health and Welfare Minister

Flashing For Chimney

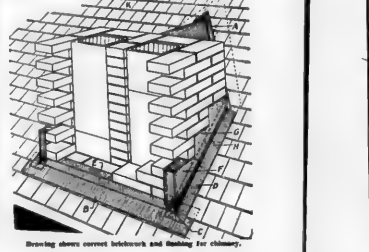
WE are showing herewith a drawing to illustrate the flashing around a chimney. The letter "A" shown the saddle, the flanges of which run under the shingles as indicated by the dotted line. "B" shows the apron on the back side of the chimney, which is put in place first. The piece "C" is then installed and fitted around the chimney as shown by the dotted lines. The piece "D" is then put over this and also fitted against the side of the brick work. The side flashing pieces "F" and "G" are then installed so as to overlap the strip "D" by at least 2 to 3 inches.

In fitting flashing to a chimney the usual procedure is to rake out the mortar to a depth of 1½ inches and then fit the metal into the joint and replace the mortar with fresh material over the metal. Copper makes probably the best material for flashing, the second choice is sheet zinc, then galvanized iron. The chimney in the drawing is cut away showing the flue lining in place.



Showing above correct brickwork and flashing for chimney.

F. U. A. PICNIC

Although it was a cold, cloudy day, a record crowd turned out for the FUA picnic at Sunbakken's picnic grounds on Sunday last.

There were seven ball teams in action during the afternoon, with the following results: Kinsella won from Valley 14; Metropolitan beat the Red Rosters 9-1; Kinsella Girls took the measure of the Fair Ones from Valley 7-4; With Metropolitan drawing a bye, Sedgewick beat Kinsella, the latter winning 9-5. In the final game of the day Metropolitan took Sedgewick 13-4.

A program of races for the young children made for keen competition by some potential world's fastest runners.

The executive of Sunlight Local FUA wishes to thank most sincerely the ladies who worked so diligently in the refreshment booth; the boys who looked after the balls and strikes, and the Sunbakken's, who did double duty in making the picnic a success.

Dear Sir: —
On attending a picnic of the FUA on Sunday, June 26th, we were stopped at the entrance to the picnic grounds and asked 50c admission. Not realizing for the moment that it is illegal to charge admission on a Sunday, we paid. On inquiring why, later, we were told that we did not pay for admission, but merely contributed to a voluntary silver collection. Strange sort of voluntary collection when it is asked for at the gate, before we entered the grounds.

Thought it pretty tough on the children too, to have to pay 10c for soft drinks. Coffee at 10c wasn't so good for the adults. We fully realize that these picnics are put on for profit, but this seemed to us to be carrying things a bit too far. Many of us mind helping a good cause but we do object to being gyped. In any case it just wasn't worth the.

We remain, Disgusted.

Alberta's Greatest Hydro-Electric Project is moving right along

"Cats" and bulldozers, men, trucks and dynamite are harnessing a rugged world behind the Three Sisters — famous mountain south of Calgary-Banff Highway. There lie the Spray Lakes, where Calgary Power Ltd. is building the greatest hydro-electric project in Alberta.

This huge development will cost $10,200,000. It will take two years to complete. Five dams will be required. 2,400,000 cubic yards of earth and rock will be excavated. Three power plants will be erected. Their combined output will add 89,000 H.P. to the Company's capacity.

Ready to distribute this new power to the farms, industries and homes of Alberta is the Company's 3,500 mile transmission system fanning outward across the province to the Saskatchewan border, southward to the United States boundary and north to a hundred miles beyond Edmonton.

Today, new vigor for Alberta's development, new soundness for Alberta's progress, new horizons for Alberta's future are being built by Free Enterprise in the valleys and canyons of the Spray. Already, under the impetus of achievement, crews have set a pace which has put construction to date of this huge project days ahead of schedule.

For Those Who Don't Give a Hoot --Or a Howl For That Matter

By CHARLES W. WHITE

Here you been bothered much by hoot-owls, lately?

It's no laughing matter, brother. There are more than one Canadian town where at certain times of the year a body can hardly get any sleep because of the boredom owls hooting and cat-calling or owl-calling and carrying on generally around the place.

They keep it up until early morning when the moon goes down, and in frosty fall weather they are likely as not to start in again before noon. Owls also are famous for nocturnal whoopee-making especially in woodsied, hilly country and you can keep 'em sounding off any moonlit night.

However, in justice to the owls, it should be presented that they really do a lot of good in the world. So do hawks. For these facts I have the word of Wendell Moore, a biologist and taxidermist, and will go around to him in a minute.

W. C. Handy, author of "The St. Louis Blues" also has some valuable information in his recent autobiography. He is the father of just, you know. It's rather difficult to imagine such a man being bothered by owls during his boyhood, but he says he was.

The owls would get to hooting around his little cabin until nobody times he thought he'd go crazy with fear, he relates. There were nights when the young W. C. Handy) they seemed to be syncopating that stuff.

But, he tells us, his old grandmammy and some other elderly ladies in the neighborhood knew what to do about owls, syncopating or otherwise

You just stick a poker in the fire place, turn it around a few times in the coals, and leave it there. He tried that, and it worked. The owls would shut up like a clam except for the night. It worked every time.

No scientist, Handy never found out exactly why, though. Vibrations in the air, maybe. However, if you have owl troubles, it cannot hurt you to try and there will be no charge for this information.

Now, getting back to Professor Moore, the taxidermist. He not only studies owls, hawks and such things, but he stuffs 'em for a living and even makes sculptures of them in wood, as a kind of hobby.

However, although he makes a living out of stuffed owls and hawks, he doesn't like to receive them, because they are the farmer's best friend, Mr. Moore says.

"Actually, every hawk and owl in the country is worth an average of $20 a year to the farmer for the number of mice and rats they kill," he says

"Less than 3 per cent. of all the food consumed by hawks and owls is poultry, grain, or other valuable food."

According to Prof. Alfred H. Sisbin, Iowa State college agriculturist, a single pair of field mice can cause one million more to be born. One pair of gray or Norway rats can produce nearly a third of a billion in less than three years—unless there are owls and hawks around.

Therefore, the taxidermist urges, people—especially farmers—ought to be kind to owls and hawks. For one thing, if you find evidence of any rat damage at all, there probably are from 100 to 500 rats in the vicinity.

A couple of owls and a visiting hawk now and then would be of considerable value under such circumstances.

Incidentally, Moore says that since last November people have brought him 23 different hawks for mounting —each one a member of the beneficial varieties.

All too often, he says, farmers kill hawks just—although in analysis of 70 osprey stomachs not one disclosed evidence of anything but fish having been eaten. The farmers thought were upset mice at midnight.

the ospreys were chicken hawks.

All the above, it should be pointed out, does not apply to chicken hawks. Chicken hawks are bad birds.

It grabbed her wrist, and was about to take a bite when, luckily, she got hold of a fallen stick and proceed to be on the back doorstep. That fixed the bird, particular hawk, all right. However, in case you plan a spring journey out in the country where there may be chickens—and hawks—around, it might be a good idea to carry a flatiron in your pocket.

Prairie Tree Planting Campaign

The Canadian Forestry Association's 'Classroom on Wheels'—operated a tour this year in the Provinces of Alberta, where it spent over two months, the Tree Planting Car Extracted record attendances at the points visited. The people of Alberta are becoming increasingly aware of the need and value of soil conservation. Tree Planting for shelter belts and to improve farm home living conditions is making steady progress, and the value of trees in preventing wind erosion and conserving moisture is more generally recognized than ever before. The Association wishes to express its appreciation and thanks to the large number of people who helped to make the tour of Alberta a success.

Summer Boarder: "Does the water always come through the roof like this?"

Farmer: "No, sir, often it rains."

In the 14th century skates were made by fastening an iron runner on a wooden frame—a new invention.

CRUISE AROUND IN YOUR OWN BOAT

BOATS are useful, pleasant possessions, but nowadays inclined to be expensive if you can lay hands on the necessary materials you can build one of your own. This flat-bottomed model is difficult to upset it will be found very serviceable as a rowboat and can also be used with an outboard motor, since the transom is made of double thickness with the inner layer of boards running up and down while the outer layer is run crosswise.

This boat may be built out of pine or cypress, the latter giving the longer life. Any soft wood that can be formed to be comfortably bear expenditure. The material should be screwed to ¾ inch thickness, though somewhat thicker material will do for the bottom.

Before attempting to build the boat, the bow post, which should be of oak or any other hard wood, should be cut to it needed, and the bevel cut to the dimensions given in the plan The temporary frame on which it is erected across the middle of the boat also should be built from any soft wood able lumber according to dimensions, and the transom also should be prepared before attempting to assemble the boat.

The sides are made of two pieces, the lower strip being 10 inches wide, while the upper strip is made from a piece eight inches wide, the top edge of which is curved according to the dimensions given in the plan The bow post is then cut to shape and the lower board and the under edge of the upper should be very carefully matched and the ends of the sides tapered to the dimensions given. When these parts have all been prepared, it is advisable to dress the material for the ribs and cleats, as this should also be in readiness.

The first step in building the boat is to fasten the lower side boards to the bow post. This is done by screwing the front ends of the two boards exactly opposite each other on the bow post, using a row of three 2-inch screws near the inner edge of the bow post and a row of four 1¼-inch screws along the extreme front edge of each piece.

Attaching Sides

Allow about 2½ inches of the bow post to project below the lower edge of the boards. Before putting the screws in place the surfaces of the bow post to which the boards are attached as well as the inner surfaces of the boards themselves should be given a coat of thick lead paste and oil, in order to make a watertight joint.

When the two bottom boards have been attached the top pieces of the sides are added. Before these boards are put on, the contacting edges of both are given a coat of white lead and a strip of canvas cotton is laid on the top edge of the lower boards before the upper one is put in place. The canvas are then put on these two strips, using tapered brass nails and so the upper edge of the top board to prevent the clamps front slipping on his tapered nails. The two boards must be tightly drawn together before the front end of the top board is finally screwed to the bow post.

Before the sides are drawn in four or five of the ribs should be screwed to the inside of the side boards, so as to hold the sides tightly together and stiffen them. The ribs on the front edges of the two centre seats

To Assist Plant Breeders

A new laboratory to assist plant breeders in evaluating the quality of new barley hybrids has been officially opened in Winnipeg. The laboratory will be part of the operations of the barley improvement Institute incorporated in 1948 and sponsored by the brewing and malting industries. Primary object of the Institute is to improve Canadian barley standards to get it recognized as the world's best. Picture, left to right, Miss M. V. Bishop, laboratory assistant; V. M. Bembilow, research chemist; T. J. Harrison, director of Barley Improvement Institute.

should not be put in until the boat is completely assembled. When putting on the ribs, it is advisable to put a screw close to the joint of the upper and lower boards to prevent the boards from springing at the joint.

The distance of right feet nine inches from the bow post should now be measured off and marked to locate the temporary frame. The boat should be turned upside down on a pair of horses and the frame put in place, one man bending the rear ends of the sides together while a second nails the sides to the temporary frame with finishing nails, allowing the heads to project so that they can later be drawn out. Next the transom should be put in place and the sides drawn against it by means of a bar clamp across the upper and under sides of the side boards.

Fitting The Transom

The sides are not yet fastened to the transom, however, until the taper or bevel on the edges of the transom has not yet been cut. The bevel is scribed or marked on the upper and lower edges of the transom with a pair of dividers used as a marking gauge. One leg of the dividers is kept in contact with the inside surface of the side boards and drawn along both at top and bottom while the transom is in place. The mark left by the dividers on the edge of the transom provides the line to which the required bevel

The transom is then removed and cut and planed to the bevel as marked, so that it will fit the side boards snugly. Care should be taken, when nailing the two layers of lumber of the transom together, to see that the screws of nails are not placed so close to the edges that they will interfere with the fitting of the edges just described.

Before fastening the side boards to the transom both of the contacting surfaces must be coated with the white lead paint and then with caulking cotton. The clamps are then drawn up tightly and a few nails driven through the sides into the transom to prevent slipping of the parts. Tapered blocks must also be nailed to the sides at top and bottom to give the clamps bearing surfaces square with the clamp bars. The sides are then screwed into place.

The boat is now ready for the bottom, but the first operation before fitting the bottom boards is the planking of the lower edges of the sides so that a flat surface is obtained against which the bottom boards may be nailed. The bottom boards should be sawed to length before the worth of nailing them to the bottom is begun, the boards being set slightly longer than required, so that the ends will be sawn flush with the sides of the boat after nailing the bottom boards in place.

The edges of the bottom boards must be carefully matched by planing each joint. The last operation of this job is to give each board a slight chamfer along the outer edge so that when two edges are joined it will leave a slightly V-shaped joint to facilitate caulking. Number the boards consecutively from front to back as they are being fitted.

When all the bottom boards are ready, paint both faces of each joint with white lead and lay a narrow strip of caulking cotton along the

Hardisty Happenings

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Schaffts (nee Lorene Wiksenlag) of Milwaukee, Wisconsin spent a few days in Hardisty visiting the Bricker family.

A Court of Revision was held at Hardisty on Wed. June 22nd at 7:30 p.m. in the Secretary's office All the complaints were handled satisfactorily.

Examinations are in full swing at the school, hence the haggard and worried looks on the faces of the students.

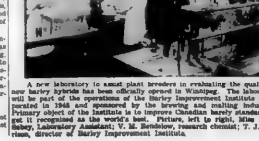
Reg Johnson, as they tell me, has one best story yet for getting home late from the city. Sounds silly but I'm told it's true. Ask him about it sometime.

Eddie Matthews was busy last week moving the high line at the army camp at Hardisty Lake.

About fifty friends and neighbours of Mr. and Mrs. J. McRae gathered at their home on Thursday evening June 16th to wish them success on the eve of their departure for an extended visit to Scotland. Mr. and Mrs. MacRae have resided in this district for many years, and the esteem in which they are held was well shown by the goodly number of people who came to say goodbye. The evening passed most pleasantly in music and singing. Mr. Butcher's rendition of Scottish songs was much enjoyed. After a delicious lunch which was served by the ladies, a very lovely fitted case and box of chocolates was presented to Mr. and Mrs. MacRae by Mr. Byers, who extended the best wishes of everyone for a safe journey across the seas and a safe return home in/the not too distant future. The evening finished up with singing Auld Lang Syne.

Sisters Oress Thorpe, Olive Sanderson and Mabel Perkin and Frances Paden accompanied DDP Sister Barbara Mae Smith with the edge of the side boards. The bowl is then allowed to rest with the point at the end of the bow post. It is necessary, before attaching the keel, to drive in the caulking with the edge of a putty knife to permit the keel to be drawn snugly against the bottom boards. The keel board is now nailed into place, each nail being clinched carefully to make a tight job. When completed, the remainder of the bow post is near cut off flush with the underside of the keel.

Next, the skeg may be attached. A skeg—a short extra keel on the after part of the boat—is not always considered a necessity in a rowboat,



A new laboratory to assist plant breeders in evaluating the quality of new barley hybrids has been officially opened in Winnipeg. The laboratory will be part of the operations of the barley improvement Institute incorporated in 1948 and sponsored by the brewing and malting industries. Primary object of the Institute is to improve Canadian barley standards to get it recognized as the world's best. Picture, left to right, Miss M. V. Bishop, laboratory assistant; V. M. but it does improve the rowing quality, even though it may slightly lessen the speed of the boat. Make the skeg from a piece of wood about the same thickness as the keel and about 3 inches wide. The skeg is then braced with iron angle brackets and the keel and skeg are screwed both to the keel and the bow post.

The boat is now ready for the gunwales, these strips being tapered to thin points at the bow. After this, the seats are put in place, their height being fitted to suit the owner, the fastening and locating of the remaining ribs and cleats being made to suit these requirements. It is a good idea, before placing the seats, however, to give the inside of the boat two or three coats of good marine paint, the seats being painted before putting them in place.

When the seats have been fastened, the temporary frame should be removed. The boat is then ready for the row locks and outside painting. The finish should consist of not less than three and preferably four coats of good quality marine paint.

The oars of the boat should be fitted to suit the boat, on each being so placed that when they are put in the locks and feel out to end there is a two-inch gap between the ends of the handles. If the boat has been built to the above plans and everything carefully done, it should not require longer than two hours in the water to swell all the joints to a watertight condition.

TO MARRY IN DREAM CHURCH—Screen-star Angela Lansbury and Peter Shaw have announced in Hollywood, Calif., that they will be married in London on July 3 at the church of Angela's dreams. The pretty actress was born a stone's throw from London's Bow church, which survived numerous bombings during the war, and has always dreamed of being married there. The couple will honeymoon in England and visit shattered veterans hospitals. I.N.S. photo.

CONVICTED OF MURDER—Found guilty of second-degree murder in the knife slaying of Byron C. Hattman, St. Louis electrical engineer, Dr. Robert C. Rutledge, Jr., (left), St. Louis baby specialist, is shown hearing courtroom after jury verdict, on way back to cell under guard of Sheriff Jim Smith. The defendant took the verdict calmly and remained impassive, but he can be jailed for a term of from 10 years to life at hard labor. The doctor's wife, Mrs. Mary Rutledge, the true cause of argument and later killing due to Hattman's attention to her, was not in court when the jury returned Hattman, alleged seducer of Mrs. Rutledge, was killed by stabbing on a violent fight in a Cedar Rapids hotel room last December. I.N.S. photo.

HEADED TOWARD COMPLETE RECOVERY—Once doomed to early death by doctors because of a bladder malformation, little Pamela Lamphere, whose fight to heal the hearts of millions last year, seems headed toward complete recovery following a series of delicate operations which corrected the dangerous condition. Here the little girl is pictured in her hospital bed in Chicago, Ill., after the latest, and it is hoped, the final operation to make her a healthy little girl. Her parents were separated because of differences of opinion whether the little girl should be submitted to such dangerous surgery, but eventually the mother and father agreed to abide by decision of a board of surgeons who recommended the knife. The Lamperes are now all together again. I.N.S. photo.

NEW SHIP LAUNCHED—The largest vessel to be launched at Owen Sound, Ont., since 1939, when the C.P.R. steamer Manitoba hit the water, slid down the ways into Owen Sound Bay. She was the 30-foot all-welded steel ferry Romeo and Annette. Built for the Rentgnewhe Ferrys Ltd. of Cross Point, Que., she will operate between Dalhousie, N.B., and Miguasha Point, Que., on the Bay of Chaleur of the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Construction on the modern little vessel began last November. While ways were prepared for the launching they dug up a rusted old punch dog used in the launching of the Manitoba 60 years ago on exactly the same site.

RESTLESS HAUTOON RESISTS ROUND-UP—Climbing roan at public school in Toronto had school officials and Humane Society officers puzzled. The animal was captured after he had leaped 40 feet from the building to the ground. Even the school principal joined in chasing the elusive wild creature. Above the caretakers of the school are seen trying to snare the elusive rascal. I.N.S. photo.

WINS HOLLYWOOD TRIP—Free trip to Hollywood has been won by Joan McPherson, of Vancouver, in contest sponsored here by Junior chamber of commerce. She will represent Vancouver at Miss Canada contest which will be held in Toronto. I.N.S. photo.

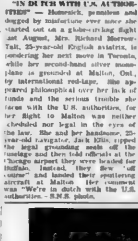
ACCIDENT VICTIM — Sue Shannon, 14, of Barrie, Ont., was instantly killed when knocked from her bicycle near her home. The girl was riding on highway about five miles north of Barrie, when she was struck by a truck driven by Willoughby Grammell. Grammell told police he failed to see the girl who was travelling in the same direction as he was because of the sun. The girl was a first year student at Barrie collegiate.—I.N.S. photo.

"IN DUTCH WITH U.S. AUTHORITIES"—Hamrick, pominion and dogged by misfortune ever since she started out on a globe-circling flight last August, Mrs. Richard Hamrick, Tait, 25-year-old English aviatrix, is pondering her next move in Toronto, while her sound-headed silver monoplane is grounded at Malton, Ont., by international outlaw. She appeared philosophical over her lack of funds and the serious trouble she has with the U.S. authorities, for her flight to Malton was neither cleared nor legal in the eyes of the law. She and her handsome, 25-year-old navigator, Jack Ellis, upped the legal grounding and took off the runways and then told officials at the Toronto airport they were headed for Buffalo. Instead, they flew off course and landed their spotlessly aircraft at Malton for customs. She "We're in dutch with the U.S. authorities.—I.N.S. photo.



MILK AND MUSIC GOES HAND IN HAND—When this cow moos it's her "A" she wants red her hay. Her highbrow expression shows how much she enjoys the clarinet-playing of Bill Eddowes, a farmer at Hopton, near Bradford, Eng., Seated comfortably on a farmyard stool, Mr. Eddowes is as a settled down to provide the daily recital of chords. He says it increases the milk yield. I.N.S. photo.

The First Train Arrives

In connection with the official opening of a Memorial Hall at Balcarres, Sask., Mrs. B. Van Male, editor and publisher of The Fire Lance, found a paper's old files for the 9-week period during the growth of Balcarres from the early 1870's up to the present time. The above picture appearing in the edition shows the arrival of the first passenger train at Balcarres, August 10, 1901. This picture held great interest to many old-timers of the district, who remembered the gala day, when a well planned celebration greeted the pioneers. (Editor's note: This column invites other pictures representing the early beginnings of the West.)

Spring Cleaning

MRS. WAGNER'S STOVEPIPES WELL CLEANED

By H. H. PITTMAN

I HAD just finished cleaning the stovepipes and, feeling rather virtuous, went for a walk while the family swept up the mess and put things in their place again. I was proud of the fact that I had managed to avoid profane language—aloud, anyway—and expressing any caustic opinions about the probable origin or destination of the streaks of stovepipes. Certain members of the family had been inconsiderate enough to point out that the dog had temporarily left home and the cat, with arched back and flattened ears, was hidden on top of the kitchen cabinet. However, an unpleasant job had been well done but to escape argument and recrimination it seemed wiser to go out until the household settled down.

My neighbour, the Old-timer, was sitting smoking in his doorway as I approached, enjoying the early spring sunshine, so I stopped to chat, glad of an excuse to rest awhile. He considered upon seeing me on the road, referred to the widespread laxity in cleaning pipes regularly and finally lapsed into silence.

We sat peacefully smoking for 20 minutes or so, noticing the affairs of the village: a farmer's team bringing a load of grain to the elevator to be cleaned, a commercial traveller's mud-spattered car, a child going on an errand and the many other little activities that make up village life on the prairie. Suddenly a woman appeared at the door of a small house and the Old-timer left the front legs of his chair come to the floor with a startling little thump.

He was smiling broadly when he asked me if I had ever heard about Mrs. Wagner's stovepipes. Hardly waiting for a reply he rollled his pipe and told me the following story:

It appeared that the original tenants of the little shack we had unconsciously been observing were Germans named Wagner. The husband, a labourer, finally returned to the Fatherland, leaving his wife in a somewhat sickly condition with three children to raise — and no visible means of support. Not unnaturally she applied to the Village Council through an interpreter for assistance to the annoyance of the Councillors, who felt that the husband was neglecting his responsibilities. Several taxpayers were present and they supported the Councillors in their refusal to render aid.

Matters rested this way until the next meeting, when Mrs. Wagner again appeared, not only asking for financial assistance but, among other things, for help to clean her stovepipes. Both councillors and taxpayers expressed their opinions long and loudly, but nothing had been decided when Mrs. Wagner left. A series of arguments ensued which lasted for hours but finally agreed that financial aid could not be given, at that time; anyway, the gathering gradually broke up.

Dear Mr. Douglas, an irascible old widower from the north side of the village, was thinking over the matter as he slowly descended the stairs and as his way led by the Wagner home, he dropped in. His half-formed ideas blossomed into actions and before he left he had dismantled the pipes, cleaned them and put everything in apple-pie order, to Mrs. Wagner's great satisfaction. He stamped off home feeling that at least part of the matter was settled and rather pleased with himself.

The Secretary was thinking of the Wagner affair during supper that evening and rather regretting the decision taken by the Council. Suddenly he grabbed his hat and hastened over to the Wagner house. Unable to speak German, he could not understand Mrs. Wagner's greeting or, smiling pleasantly, he shook out the fire in the stove, dismantled the pipes and carried them outside. It was dark before he finished picking up odd brown things and getting everything in place again so without waiting for thanks, he hurried home to wash.

The Secretary felt a little worried that evening about the discussion at the meeting, so next morning knight and early, he called at the Wagner home. No one was up when he arrived but they hastily dressed and opened the door, gazing at him in astonishment. His somewhat guilty conscience seemed to explain their cool reception so, ignoring it, he unrolled the supporting wires and took the pipes down, "by this time the Wagner family were talking loudly in German but as the Overseer did not understand the language he completed his task and took the pipes outside. They did not seem very dirty so he was soon ready to replace them but felt a little surprised at the Wagner's behaviour when he re-entered the house. They did not seem very gracious and the usual German politeness appeared strained!

Councillor Jones was thinking over the previous day's meeting while preparing for a business trip to the city. Some how he felt in the wrong. They should not expect a sickly woman to clean stovepipes. It was a job for a man. Calling his son John he instructed him to go and clean Mrs. Wagner's stovepipes immediately after breakfast.

John called at the house about 10 o'clock, said, in English what he wanted to do and stepped inside. Lifting the pole and pans off the stove, he shook out the fire and put on some thick gloves to dismantle the pipes. He noticed that Mrs. Wagner was in a bad temper but supposing this to be due to his father's actions the previous day, he ignored it and carried the pipes outside. They were not very dirty but he made a thorough job of cleaning them.

Councillor Wilson believed that only those should be helped who endeavored to help themselves, but somehow the problem of Mrs. Wagner's pipes lingered in his mind all through the morning. Tired of arguing with himself for and against taking any action, he finally slipped on an old coat and went round to the Wagner house. The door was apparently very unwillingly opened and there was obviously a chair or something against it, but forcing his way in Mr. Wilson hastened across to the stove and shook out the fire. Mrs Wagner and the children were speechless but assumings this to be due to surprise or gratitude, he carried the pipes outside.

Shortly before train-time good old Mr. Morrison, the minister, went down to the Post Office for some stamps. Short and rotund, he had the sensibility that so frequently accompanies excessive weight and was liked and respected by all who knew him, whether they belonged to his particular flock or not. As he ascended the steps after completing his purchase, the forlorn little house across the street reminded him of the unfortunate and abrupt departure of Mr Wagner. He had helped the family both directly and indirectly in many seasons and decided he would call in again and see if anything was needed.

P. King, his way small, and rarefied, through the door he entered the front gate and rapped on the door. To his joy he found Mrs. Wagner standing in the kitchen and she was obviously in a happy mood. Her children were playing around her and a bright fire burned in the stove. Mrs. Wagner greeted him with a smile and a flood of German and, after a few minutes, he left, feeling that all was well.

Alaska Closest To Everywhere

ANCHORAGE, Alaska — Alaska's claim of being "closest to everywhere" has focused the attention of American military and commercial circles on the strategic territory on top of the world.

Only 2½ flight hours from Tokyo and one day's flight from China, Alaska's importance is clearly indicated by the number of modern jet planes crisscrossing the skies during the 19 hours of daylight now prevailing.

One example of Alaska's proximity to the rest of the world came when J. A. Wooten, president of Alaska Airlines, disclosed his company is evacuating 350 Jewish refugees from Tientsin to Palestine.

Wooten explained the refugees will take a steamship from Tientsin for Hong Kong and there will board a plane for Israel.

SOMEONE'S GARDEN

By JANE DALE

It is someone else's garden
With its rows of beauty there:
The fruit trees in full blossom
Waving laden boughs in the air.
The blues white and Purple
Awaiting June's warm sun
The grasses and the produce
And the violet iris

They are all there in that garden
In the blue sky overhead
With soft green grass like a carpet
Around about to spread
The man who owns that garden
We have no property
On the beauty of its blooms,
It is there for all to see!

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

PA GETS THE FOXES

By Charles Robinson

There Is Many Than One Way To Woo.

THE trouble started that morning when Ma said, "Henry, you've got to do something about those foxes. They killed two more chickens."

Pa made a gurgling sound as he sipped coffee from the saucer. "Tain't foxes in that barn. Heard 'em, I'd swear, then 'fore now. Foxes don't stay 'round where people are."

Ma dipped a pancake. "Thelma said she saw one and it was a fox."

Pa blew his coffee and sipped some more. "Thelma said this, Thelma said that! Miss Thelma, fancy pants! If there's one thing that woman don't know — Ma, what's she? Looks to me she'd use some of that exercisin' knowledge to get a man instead of telling everyone else what to do. How long is she gonna be here?"

"Henry Lipking", Ma said, flipping another pancake, "a fine way to talk about my only sister. You know why she's never married and she is stay as long as she likes."

Aunt Thelma was a school teacher. She had taken a year from teaching to write a novel about Kentucky and horse racing. She always wore riding pants and shiny boots.

"I never met a more foolish woman. am yet that's worth a dam," Pa mumbled.

"Talking about me, I presume," her southern voice drawled and I looked up to see Aunt Thelma enter 'Well, Henry, if you weren't such a dumb pulkefiddle, people wouldn't have to keep telling you everything."

I knew the fun was on as I quietly slipped into the living r

I was standing in front of the window watching the rain when Pa came in.

"Son," he said, "you go out to the shed and hunt up a shovel and meet me here. I'm going over to get Alvin Beaufort." He slammed the door and went down the walk, his old gum boots slapping against the back of his legs and sounding like pistol shots.

Alvin was our next door neighbor. He lived on the next farm and was a bachelor. He used to take Aunt Thelma around when they were young, but not any more. Pa said that Alvin was below her dignity

Pa and Alvin returned shortly and we went to the barn. Pa was still complaining. "Darn women, always findin' something for a feller to do when he thinks he's going to get to rest."

"Haven't make sense that foxes would stay close to the house," Alvin said. "Course they wouldn't," Pa said, "but you can't tell a darn woman nothin'."

They started digging at the corner of the barn. The burrows weren't more than 10 inches deep and the digging was easy because the barn was old and the dirt had rotted. After they had dug about 10 feet toward the centre of the barn the burrow went two different ways and Pa sent me to the house for a flashlight.

Aunt Thelma went back with me when I got back to the job or maybe from plain cussedness. When we got back they had dug one branch of the burrow to the rear and Pa was digging on the other one, leading toward the shed door and the old pond.

"They ain't no mistakin', looks to me like the den is going straight to the pond," Alvin said. "Ha," Aunt Thelma snorted, "I know they're foxes."

Might be minks," Pa said. I had a feeling he was trying to cram Aunt Thelma.

Pa insisted on his shovel "Sport you'd brat stand back about 20 feet with the gun," he told Alvin. "There's no telling if they was to run out on me you'd have a chance whichever way they run."

Aunt Thelma climbed up on the wall of the pond. She was dressed in her fancy pants and glitter boots, so Pa called them. Alvin kept shooting little glances at her.

"Must be getting warm," Pa said and put on his leather gloves and peered down into the hole with the light. "Can't hear a darn yet, but be ready," he told Alvin

"Foxes," Aunt Thelma said

I saw a gleam in Pa's eyes as he reached in the hole. He brought his hand up and has a skunk by the head. I don't know if he aimed to, at Aunt Thelma or not, but I'll always believe he did. The event his her fall in the fare and Pa said "Foxes!" She threw her hands to her face and started to turn, but she slipped and fell face down in the pond.

Alvin dropped his shotgun and jumped in to pull her out. The mud was knee deep and he was stuck. He hands her out to Pa and Pa helps pull him out. Alvin took a big handana and wiped the mud from Aunt Thelma's face The water squished inside the fancy boots.

"Fance," she says and starts laughin' and Alvin starts laughin' "You'd better help me to the house," she says to Alvin and he goes off holdin' her arm, not seemin', to mind the wet at all.

½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon cloves

Sift and measure the flour and sift again with the salt, baking powder and spices. Cream the butter well, add the sugar and cream very smooth; add the thoroughly well-beaten egg yolks, and ½ cup of strong, black coffee

Add the sifted dry ingredients to the cream batter, mixing well. Lastly fold in the very stiffly beaten whites of 2 eggs, blending well. Bake in a shallow, well-greased pan 8x16 inches at 1350 deg. F.) for 35 minutes Sprinkle the top of the cake with sugar

YUMMY Honey Pecan Buns

Recipe

Measure into bowl, ¼ c. lukewarm water, 1 tsp. granulated sugar, and stir until sugar dissolves. Sprinkle with contents of Fleischmann's Royal Yeast Cake. Let stand 10 min., THEN stir well. Scald ¼ c. milk and stir in ¼ c. granulated sugar, ½ tsp. salt, 2 tbs. shortening; cool to lukewarm. Add to yeast mixture and stir in 1 well-beaten egg. Sift 2½ c. sifted enriched flour; beat until smooth. Add ½ c. more flour and mix well. Knead until smooth and elastic; about 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl; turn over to grease top. Cover and let rise in warm place, free from draughts. Let rise until doubled in bulk. While dough is rising, cream ¼ c. butter with ½ c. brown sugar, 1 tsp. cinnamon, ½ tsp. ground ginger, ½ tsp. nutmeg, ½ tsp. salt. Add 1 egg, unbeaten, and beat well. Add 2 tbs. cream; beat well. Spread mixture in greased muffin pan. Press down dough and divide mixture into 1 round portions. Form each portion into a ball. Roll each ball in chopped pecans, then place 3 balls in each muffin cup. Cover and let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake in moderately hot oven 375°, about 20 minutes. Turn out of pans immediately. Et serve hot, or reheated.

I got good results from this New Fast-Acting Dry Yeast

Yes, now Fleischmann's Royal Fast Rising Dry Yeast for all recipes. 1 package equals 1 cake of fresh yeast in any recipe—and it's fast-acting, just like fresh yeast. But it stays full-strength for weeks in your cupboard. If you bake at home, get a month's supply from your grocer.

A Masculine Bull

This picture is a picture of one of the fine animals of Malcolm McGregor a farmer on the old Tofield Hertford ranch which are being offered at auction on June 30th at Brandon. Lee Rupert 197189 was 20 months old when this picture was taken last August and since has developed into a masculine bull who is now ready to head. Mr McGregor had the bull under negotiation to go to New Zealand but fail but dealer exchange interfered with the transaction

Red Deer Hopeful For Pulp Mill

The 6,000 residents of the growing community of Red Deer, Alta., traditionally the centre of one of Western Canada's best mixed farming areas, are watching the pulp and paper business with a critical eye these days

Their interest is a long-term one, because Red Deer has been chosen as the site of the proposed $10 million kraft and bleached pulp mill planned by Alberta Pulp Mills, according to H M Simpson vice-president of Canadian Engineers, Inc. Seattle, Wash To date, few details of the plan have been announced, probably because of the current uncertainty in the pulp and paper market, but Mr. Simpson's optimistic Construction costs of the mill are estimated at $9 million, with $1 million for working capital—The Financial Post

Prospects Indicate Increased World Supply Of Wheat

OTTAWA—Prospects indicated at increased world supply of wheat, the bureau of statistics reported in its monthly review.

The last United States report indicated that with average yields on spring wheat a total of 1,317,000,000 bushels could be harvested.

This would approximate the 1947 record of 1,367,000,000 bushels

Canadian farmers at April 30 planned to seed 3,000,000 more acres to spring wheat than year these last

A recent report from Argentina indicates that planting of wheat is now under way, with real conditions mostly satisfactory. Fall attempts have apparently been made as yet to estimate probable acreage

Last advice from Australia states that wheat seeding is well under way. It is anticipated that the acreage sown will at least equal last year's 13,000,000 acres

Favorable weather and moisture conditions have improved crop prospects in many parts of Europe Reserve minimize, however, in still lacking and more rainfall will be needed shortly.

In France a trade paper estimates the new crop at 258 000 000 bushels, against 300 000 000 bushels last year. The Italian wheat crop is pervisely estimated at 256 000 000 bushels, the same as last year and brief reports on crop conditions in Russia, Turkey, Hungary, Poland, Germany and North Africa have been fairly optimistic

VOLUME XLII —— SEDGEWICK, ALTA. —— THURSDAY, JULY 7TH, 1949 —— NUMBER 22

FINAL STAGE

— A. W. B—

Now that the election is over, and the pressure has subsided, so to speak, it is not the best time of all for a round table view on matters. The outcome of the election, while it was not too much of a surprise to the average citizen, did bring about an upset or two. While those upsets looked pretty dismal to party supporters at the time, we find that as the atmosphere clears things turn out as bad as indicated. For instance, while the Social Credit Party failed to elect a member other than from Alberta, they didn't really lose much ground because they didn't hold very much before the election. While the party did lose three seats in Alberta, I am of the opinion that their popularity practically has not been seriously injured. Mr. Manning and his followers could win another election here handily. The C C F did not make a very good showing in so far as seats were concerned, but the figures show that their popular vote didn't slacken off much. Perhaps the C C F. lost a few votes or things in that their seats in the house were really whittled down to the point where a strong backing in confidence would just be a gesture

To my way of thinking the most deplorable result of the election was the overwhelming majority given the Liberal party. Such a commanding majority is not a good thing unless government seats are held by men who love country more than party. A small seat with a strong backing does not to be compared to a "big" man with small backing but although of purpose. I liked the way Mr. Louis St. Laurent abstained from making popular election promises. He said do the best I can" was the only promise. No man can do more. Time will tell and history will record just how well he kept that one promise. In the meantime let's go fishing.

* * * *

I wish I felt young enough to continue playing ball because believe me it's easier than umpiring. Guess I must do either one or the other as the squared diamond still has appeal for me. One of my admirers (?) came out with the following recently, and I still cannot figure it as an insult or something worse. Anyway here it is. See if you figure it out. Satan called up St. Peter to arrange for a ball game and when it was over St. Peter expected to win a game when such immortals of baseball as Bruce, Yankee, Cheech and Gehrig composed the heavenly team. Replied Mr. Satan, "You may have the players but I've got the umpires." See what I mean. Harold Gaume please note.

JULY 1ST AT SEDGEWICK WAS ANOTHER SUCCESS

The July 1st Sports Day held at Sedgewick and sponsored by the Inter Sports Society again proved to be a successful affair with a large attendance and good weather prevailing throughout the day.

The Martin family with added performers from the Martin School of Dancing of Red Deer, put on two performances for the large crowd filling the grandstand to capacity.

Baseball, which drew the largest portion of the sport fans, provided a fairly good brand of ball. Lougheed was against Killam in the first game of the day. Hastelby trimmed Sedgewick, with Strome downing the boys in the first round. Hardisty then beat Strome, the latter team going on to take Lougheed in the final game.

A junior game between Sedgewick and Killam Stars ended 9-9, 9-6.

The Men's softball provided some first class plays along with one or two that caused a bit of heated arguments. Fuhrgrove took Irma; Valley beat Sedgewick, and the Ski Dusters won the Valley bout in a trimming from Ged Santoro who in turn were beaten by Fuhrgrove in the final game.

Killam girls emerged at top winners in ladies softball by defeating Valley, and then Strome. Hardisty's team was trimmed by Strome earlier.

Harvest of Valley was the main winner in the horse racing in the Free For All Maxwell was first and Henderson 2nd with Hendrickson 3rd. Pony Race—1st Henderson, 2nd Maxwell, 3rd Brodie. Novelty Race 1st Cameron, 2nd Maxwell and 3rd McBride. Children's Pony Race 1st McBride, 2nd J. McConnell, 3rd Cameron.

There were some nice entries in the Smoke Horse Show. Winners in the senior class were: 1st Mrs. M Baker, 2nd Cameron, 3rd Brodie the Junior Class: 1st Anderson, 2nd Gibbs and 3rd Cummings.

The day concluded with a grand dance at night which drew one of the largest crowds in years.

DEATHS

The Lougheed district was again saddened by the death of Mrs. Susan Cookson, who passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Norman Gaffney, at Calgary on June 21st.

Mrs. Cookson was born at Chester in Cheshire England on May 3rd, 1867, 82 years ago. She came to Lougheed with her husband and family in 1910, and farmed there until the death of her husband in 1941. She is survived by four daughters, four sons, twenty-three grand children and one great grand children.

Funeral services were held in Lougheed on Saturday, July 2nd from the United Church, and burial was made in the family plot at the Lougheed cemetery. Rev. Lang of Calgary officiated at the service.

The large number of floral tributes to bespeak the esteem in which deceased was held in the district.

The deepest sympathy of a large circle of friends is extended to the sorrowing family.

F.B. Kirkman, Funeral Director.

KILLAM BABY GAME MEETS

On Thursday, June 30th, the Unit ed Church W M S held its annual Baby Band meeting in the church Twenty-seven members of the Band were present as well as thirty adults and some of the older girls who helped care for the little ones.

The W M S president, Mrs. Baker, opened the meeting and welcomed the mothers. Then Miss H. Hunt had charge of the rest of the program. There were three little girls graduated and they were gently crowned in pink and blue crepe and hats and were seated on the platform, where they received certificates and a gift of a Band Sweetheart was not present for this service. Those graduating were: Marion Conner, Velma Young and Bettine Cox. Marlene Lor son and Lenny Dutton sang, "My Children Are Dear to Jesus".

Mrs. H. Vagt conducted the worship period and chose Prov. 21 as the scripture, a story entitled, "The Day We Flew the Kites" was told by Mrs J. Shannon. A song, "Path Of Our Mothers" was given by Mrs. Wilson. Miss Hunt gave a short talk, basing her remarks on a booklet entitled, "Stewardship". A fine arrangement of books was on display and the mothers had the opportunity of looking them over and to buy what appealed to them.

Now members enrolled at the meeting were Jimmy Young, Regina Johnson, Douglas Smith, Donnie and Darlene Young and Donald Bruce Young.

WEDDING

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, June 25th, when Aasy Ft lambotk, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto George Reimer was united in the bonds of matrimony with Dennis, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lionel Armstrong of Hardisty. Rev. MacLean officiated. Miss Marjory Reimer acted as bridesmaid and Mr. C. Kimball of Killam supported the groom. After the ceremony a delightful buffet lunch was served in the 20 wedding guests during which the toast to the bride was given by Mr. MacLean, and to the bride's mother by Mr. A. McCracken. After a short honeymoon the young couple will reside in Irma.

At the United Church Manse in Sedgewick on June 29th, Miss Bett Mary, daughter of Mr and Mrs Chas Trigg of Calagary, was united in marriage to William McMurray of Kinsella. Mrs. C.H. McBride of Sedgewick was bridesmaid and Mr. Myrtle acted as groomsman. The Rev. M. M. MacLean of Sedgewick officiated at the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. McMurray intend to settle on a farm South of Kinsella.

LOUGHEED BUSINESS CHANGED HANDS JULY 1ST

The Press has been informed that the business conducted for some years past in Lougheed by Mr Bert Hill, has been purchased by Mr Harry Hill Gildner, who for the past several months has been employed there. Mr Hill has found that his health will not stand up to the day to day grind of the business which he has developed and grown during the recent years. He hopes to catch up on his rest from here on and plans for the future are indefinite.

The Press joins in wishing Mr Hill good luck and good health, also wishing Mr. Gildner success.

S.W.S.C

The South Killam Service Club met at the home of Mrs. Bob Hamilton on June 23rd and two visitors present. It was decided to have a picnic at Hardisty Lake on July 1st with all members to bring a picnic lunch and meet at the Lake at 2 p.m.

Material is being purchased to make sit bags for the Strome nursery The next meeting will be at home of Mrs. Geo. Nicholson on 2nd August with roll call to be, Ways To Raise Money. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess.

CROP REPORT NO. 3

(By the Bank of Montreal)

In the Prairie Provinces, while recent rains improved crop conditions in many parts, a wide disparity in prospects still exists. In Manitoba, moisture is presently sufficient and crop are generally developing satisfactorily. In Alberta, crops are becoming critical Crops in Eastern and Northern Saskatchewan are fair to good but the outlook is poor throughout the south-west and central areas. Considerable moisture is also worst in these districts. In Quebec and Ontario crops range from poor to good. In the Maritimes rains are needed In B.C. the outlook for all crops is good but the moisture now need "rain. Tree fruits promise well. Strawberries are now moving in volume to markets.

Land Of Opportunities

TO THE SETTLERS who came here when Canada was a new country it seemed to offer unlimited opportunities. Some brought little with them except a willingness to work and a desire to succeed in a new country. Most of them did achieve success in establishing farms and businesses and in developing the resources of the country, and, we owe a great deal to the imagination and industry of these people who laid the foundations of the nation which we have today. While Canada in the past did offer great opportunities to those who were willing to work, it should not be assumed that because there are now no more transcontinental railways to be built, no great tracts of land to be brought under cultivation, and new frontiers to be pushed back, that there are no longer the opportunities for energetic men such there were in the earlier times.

* * * * *

While the nature of things to be achieved has changed there are still as many opportunities in Canada for those who wish to succeed as there ever were. A recent Manitoba Letter, issued by the Royal Bank of Canada points out to the young people of today, that there is still need for people with ambition, energy and enterprise to help to build the new communities that are being established. Drawing attention to the steady expansion of Canada's resources, the letter states that in 1945 alone capital investment in the country amounted to $3,000,000,000 which was used for new machinery, new equipment and buildings for new industries.

Every dollar of investment means more opportunity for young people. Every dollar is backed by the judgement of astute men that it is justified by Canada's prospects," the letter says.

A Future For Young People

Many Problems in Agriculture

There is no doubt of the present expansion of industry in Canada, and little of its future success, of it is guided by people with an understanding of markets and of economic conditions at home and abroad. In agriculture much progress is also being made and there are many opportunities for those who have courage, initiative and confidence in the future. Agricultural scientists are now working on many problems related to farming. Soil drifting, erosion, lack of moisture and the control of the annual crop of grass are still to be solved. Many of the results are being investigated with the object of improving farming methods here. While solutions to difficulties may be found there will be obstacles it remains for farmers with an interest in their land and confidence in the future to undertake new practices and, to put into practical use the results of scientific research. It is upon these and upon conditions that the future of Canada turns," the Royal Bank Letter states, and a little consideration of the subject shows that there are still many challenges and many opportunities for those who are willing to work and have faith in Canada's future.

Young Lad Acts Quick To Warn Train Crew

ZENON PARK, Sask. — Quick thinking and a fast pair of legs made Robert April, 16-year-old farm boy, a hero in this northeastern Saskatchewan district. Recently he ran a mile to warn train officials of a washout.

M. D. Thompson superintendent of the Canadian National Railways at Saskatoon said that "everybody who was on the train that night is grateful to that boy."

He related that the youth came across the washout while inspecting his father's farm after a thunderstorm had inundated the countryside.

He saw 50 feet of washed-out roadbed, and six feet of water in the ditches. The rails hadn't shifted, but in some places the ties were just hanging over the water.

The youth ran a mile down the track to the station, arriving with his warning just as the train pulled in.

The Zenon Park station is on the Saskatoon - Melfort - Arborfield Line which operates twice weekly.

I can tell you said Mr. Thompson he and his family are going to be hearing further from us."

United Kingdom To Buy Surplus Canadian Fruit

OTTAWA Canada has completed a deal with the United Kingdom to ship 1,500 tons of surplus raspberries. Strawberries are expected to follow this total.

The berries were purchased by the Federal Government from British Columbia growers last year as a price support measure.

Stored in 60-gallon barrels the product had become a "white elephant" on the Government's until the UK reacted to a suggestion that the berries could be obtained at a fair to better price.

There was no allusion that the Anglo-Canadian berry contract amounted to but it is believed to mean a sharp loss to the government. The surplus commodity was taken off the growers' hands by the Special Products Support Board for about $300,000.

In the U.K. the berries will be used in making jam.

Casey Jones Never Saw A Sight Like This

A locomotive's warehouse right across the track! Here while two of three section men set on their tools and watching the unusual proceedings, the building is being moved over the Canadian National Railways tracks at Fairford, Man. The man on the roof has the job of lifting telephone wires so they will pass over the ridge unchanged.

Experimenting In Growing Cotton On The Prairies

MEDICINE HAT — Farmers sent may be "tonic" them bales" in from more than 100 localities in Alberta and Saskatchewan.

R. F. Beck, chairman of the Medicine Hat development committee currently experimenting with growing cotton, said that young cotton sprouts now are about an inch high here.

The sprouts are growing on a half-acre experimental plot—largest of a series of such plots scattered across southern Saskatchewan and southern Alberta.

Mr. Scott said the cotton seed had been taken Alberta's cold weather "without a shiver." He said that with the long hours of sun and hot summer prevalent here, he saw no reason to prevent an important cotton industry being established in western Canada.

About 100 pounds of seed, obtained from Veron, Texas, is growing in the experimental plots.

Majority of the plots in Saskatchewan are at Swift Current and Vidora. Those in Alberta are mainly concentrated in the southeastern corner with others at Brooks and at Bow Island, on the outskirts of Calgary.

Potato Acreage Below 1948

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports that, according to farmers' intentions as at April 30, 1949, plantings of potatoes in Canada this year will amount to 461,000 acres, a decline of 5 per cent, from 485,300 in 1948 and the smallest acreage since 1918.

The eastern provinces account for all the drop with an indicated acreage of 380,500 acres, a drop of 7 per cent. from 1948, while in Western Canada the plantings will be a shade over 1948 at 101,300 acres against 101,600 acres.

Following are comparative figures:

| | 1949 | 1948 |
|---|---|---|
| Manitoba | 30,000 | 30,300 |
| Saskatchewan | 34,000 | 34,300 |
| Alberta | 77,300 | 77,000 |
| British Columbia | 17,700 | 17,700 |
| Western Canada | 101,100 | 101,000 |
| Prince Edward Is | 41,300 | 44,200 |
| Nova Scotia | 39,000 | 39,000 |
| New Brunswick | 60,400 | 67,300 |
| Quebec | 114,000 | 125,000 |
| Ontario | 111,000 | 115,300 |
| Eastern Canada | 369,800 | 387,000 |
| All Canada | 461,000 | 488,300 |

Crop Prospects Bright For U.S.

WASHINGTON — All signs pointed to a bountiful food supply for Americans this year.

Crop production prospects are more promising than usual" according to the Agriculture Department's latest forecast.

The outlook is for another avalanche of grain which can be used to fatten meat animals and expand livestock herds. The result should be big supplies of meat, eggs, milk, cheese and butter.

Corn is the basic raw material for meat production. Stocks still on hand from last year's record-smashing crop are at a record high for this time of year. And the new crop is off to a very promising start, the department said. Record-high wheat supplies are also in the making, it said, and there will be far more than Americans can eat or export.

The department said that its prediction for "all-crops prospects" for the country as a whole are the "most optimistic in the 12 years that estimates of records have been kept."

If prospects are borne out, the harvest may mean all-time production records for some foods and of a very near production of farm surpluses.

The latter may involve increased government controls on farmers to hold down bumper-harvest surpluses and increasing drains on taxpayers under the multi-billion-dollar price support programs.

It was an opening appearance for Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, with Stokowski at his usual majestic pose. The music was crashing and thunderous, when suddenly there fell an abrupt and complete silence, beginning a brief but absolute rest in the music.

Out of the stillness there came a high-pitched feminine voice, full of reproach: "But it said, 'I sing mine in mind.'"

A man named Dodgin was recently appointed foreman, and his name was not known to all the men under him.

One day he was across two men something in a corner.

"Who are you?" asked one of them.

"I'm Dodgin, the new foreman," he replied.

"So are we, fit down and have a smoke."

LDS DOCTORS IN B.C.

VANCOUVER — British Columbia has one doctor for every 687 persons the highest percentage of any province in Canada, Dr. F. L. Whitehead, executive secretary of the B.C. College of Physicians and Surgeons announced. Of the province's 1,606 doctors, 635 registered here from foreign countries after the war.

TIME TO GET BUSY MAKING JAM AND JELLY

Why CERTO Fruit Pectin or "CERTO" Crystals Make Better Jams and Jellies ... Easier ... Quicker

1. VERY SHORT BOIL. When you use CERTO or "CERTO" Crystals you need only a ONE-MINUTE full, rolling boil for both jams and jellies. Such a saving of time and work!
2. MORE JAM OR JELLY. Very little juice has time to boil away as it does in old-fashioned, long boiling. You get up to 30% more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit.
3. PERFECT FRUIT FLAVOR ... COLOR. The lovely taste and colour of the fresh fruit stay in your jams and jellies because the boil is too short to spoil the one or dull the other.
4. NO GUESSWORK. With either CERTO or "CERTO" Crystals you get tested recipes — a different one for each fruit. Follow them exactly and you'll have no failures.

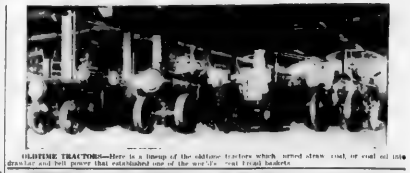
RECENT IMPORTS—Lt'l Aide Secret Sensation, a Sept 1947, Shorthorn bull, one of eight recently imported to J. Crear Yule farm, Scotland, will be a herd sire for P. J. Burk of Drumheller, and Right: The only roan daughter of the Yule imports Maiden Consort has been bought by Emil Cammaert of Rockyford, both held by Bill Yule.



OLDTIME TRACTORS—Here is a lineup of the oldtime tractors which served steam, coal, or coal oil into drawbar and belt power that established one of the world's great tractor hobbies.

CORNISH BIRDS—These muscular looking Cornish birds belong to Mrs Hazel Black of Rockwood, Ont. One bird is now running some good males and appears to be a good mother. They are pure egg producers and are quite quarrelsome after a year old. The large bird in the picture has purple greenish feathers, and their sturdiness is amazing. They look like prize-fighters of the poultry world.

FATHER RESCUES TWO—Trapped behind the locked doors of their flaming home at Petersboro, Ont. Albert Gilpin and two children, Marie, five, and George, seven, escaped through the upper section of a first floor window. Mr. Gilpin, who was sleeping, and he was awakened by Marie who told him the house was on fire. All rooms in the house were filled with smoke. He smashed a window with his fist and lowered Marie to safety. He then searched for George whom he found in another room, sitting in a chair. Mr. Gilpin suffered bruises and cuts. A foot cut required several stitches to close. The Gilpins' other three children were playing outdoors when fire broke out.—B.N.S. photo.

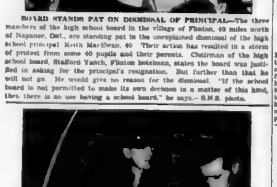
FIRE VICTIM—June Reiner, 18, of Millers Lake, 10 miles north of Warton, Ont., died in Owen Sound as result of burns suffered when gasoline can exploded at home she kept for her father and two brothers. She had left the top off gasoline can, then later lit nearby stove. Explosion set her clothing afire, and destroyed one-story house. June is seen in above picture holding unidentified child

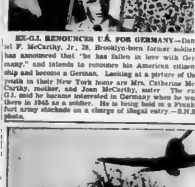
EX-G.I. RENOUNCES U.S. FOR GERMANY—Daniel F. McCarthy, Jr., 28, Brooklyn-born former soldier, has announced that "he has fallen in love with Germany," and intends to renounce his American citizenship and become a German. Lounging at a picture of the youth in their New York home are Mrs. Catherine McCarthy, mother, and Jean McCarthy, sister. The ex-G.I. said he became interested in Germany when he was there in 1945 as a soldier. He is being held in a Frankfurt army stockade on a charge of illegal entry.—B.N.S. photo.

"NEVER GIVEN UP HOPE" — "I don't think it's Richard, but you can't tell," said Mrs. John Marlowe, mother of missing Richard 'Pee-Wee' Marlowe, when she was shown a clipping of a 15-year-old amnesia victim in New York. Richard Marlowe disappeared from his Hicborobe, Ont., home five years ago, July 18. He was then nine. No trace of him has since been found. Recently a woman from Martinville, Ont., sent in a New York newspaper clipping with a picture of a boy who resembled Richard. The caption said the boy was about 18 and had been wandering through the midwest for the last five years in a state of amnesia. After she saw the picture, Mrs. Marlowe said she had never given up hope. "One minute I think he is alive and the next minute I think he is dead" she said.—B.N.S. photo



RESCUED BY CZECHS—NOW FACE ARMY BOARD—It is a case of "out of the frying pan and into the fire for recruits Chalmers Hill, of Paisano, Texas, (center), and George R. Jones of Owensboro, Kentucky. They are being questioned by German border police at Eisenstein, Bavaria, on their return from a Czechoslovakian prison where they were held on charges of "espionage". Czech officials released the men from their sentences—Hill from a 12-year term and Jones 10. Now they must face an army court-martial for breaking arrest last December and for being AWOL for 18 days last November.—B.N.S. photo.

MEDICINES SOUR, STILLED BY A.M.A.—Dr. Morris Fishbein, for 37 years foremost medical writer in the U.S. and editor of the American Medical Association Journal, has been ousted as the association's mouthpiece. Removal of Dr. Fishbein, announced at the annual meeting of the A.M.A. trustees in Atlantic City, N.J., came as a surprise to the majority of medical men, even though he has stirred many a controversy by his writing and speeches. The trustees forbade him to speak on their behalf without their consent and specifically mentioned "controversial subjects". Fishbein had appointed himself as principal exponent of the anti-compulsory health insurance faction among U.S. medical men.—B.N.S. photo.



GIGANTIC WAR MANOEUVRES IN GERMANY—U.S. fighter plane roars over a column of tanks of the 2nd Armored Cavalry to attack "aggressor" forces holding up an advance during the second phase of "operation skewers", recent training exercise for army and air force units in Germany. This largest training manoeuvre ever to be held in Europe by the U.S. took place chiefly in northern Bavaria, with over 70,000 personnel of the army, navy and air force participating.—B.N.S. photo.

Jack Westin spent last week end in the city on business.

Mrs. Matheson and Corrine were in Edmonton last Monday.

We see Steve McOnire of Edson is here in the district again.

Miss I. Banwell left last Thursday for Saskatoon where she will spend the holiday months attending the University of Saskatchewan.

Mrs. M E Cullom is spending a couple of weeks visiting friends and relatives at Wilma and Tofield.

Dick Kenny spent a week in Edmonton with his sister Mrs. Godwin.

The Lutheran Ladies Aid met at the home of Mrs. T. Linn last Wed. afternoon, June 29th, with a good attendance of both members and visitors. In the business various plans were discussed for raising money. Recipe books were then handed out to the members. After the business period the president of the Aid, Mrs. K. Bergseth, presented Mrs. A Matheson with an electric kitchen clock as a remembrance of the Trinity Aid members. A delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Linn.

Mrs. H. Hoggensen left last week for a holiday at Pentieton where she will visit her daughter Mrs. C. Beeman and family. Before returning home Mrs. Hoggensen also plans to go to the States for a visit.

The Ehrenzer Agents and families were all busy packing their bags last week and all left on July 1st for various places. The Olson family went to Marris for a visit with some friends and relatives, and from there will go on to the Calgary Stampede and a visit to Banff. The Petersons went to Saskatoon where they will visit Mrs. Petersen's parents, and will also visit in Edmonton. The Larkyns went to Edmonton to visit relatives, and will also cruise around the Pemberton visiting friends.

Mr and Mrs A Matheson, Marie and Shirley left last Friday for their new home at Camrose Mr and Mrs Nelson of Kelsey have moved into the Alberta Pacific house formerly occupied by the Matheson We say, welcome to Lougheed folks.

Mr and Mrs. E Gunderson and daughter spent a couple of days last week at the Holman home and renewing acquaintances in the district Nice to see them back again Friends are always welcome at Lougheed

Mr and Mrs J Barthel spent last week end visiting with the Hertels at Kavanaugh

Mr and Mrs Cliff Shoebty from Hamilton, Ont. are visiting Cliff's parents here. Also holidaying at the Shoberty home are Mr and Mrs Ben Van Meer and family of Red Deer.

John Barthel and G Benton attended the ball tourney at Wainwright.

We are sorry to report that little Penny Benton has been confined to his bed with a case of measles We wish him a speedy recovery

Mrs. Redgrath and small son from Calmar are visiting Mrs. Redgrath's sister, Mrs. L. Barthel.

Mrs L Reed and Bonny were in Edmonton a few days last week.

As usual everyone took in the big Sports at Sedgewick on July 1st. The weather proved favorable all during the day except for a dust storm in the evening. The Wildcats were there of course and won second baseball being defeated by Stromness in the final game. Quite a number from here also attended the dance at Night and report a good time.

Bob Cronkhite was down for the 1st and played with the Wildcats.

Don't forget the dance here next Friday July 8th sponsored by the Hall Music by the Irma Orchestra.

Vivian Harding stepped off for three days last week on her way to Saskatoon, where she will work at V.O.N. during the summer. Vivian has just won a V O N scholarship which entitles her to one year of Public Health Nursing at the U. of Alberta Vivian

Miss Knight and Mrs. Rushman of Edmonton spent the past week end with their sister Mrs E Stothe

Something new has been added near the Smith Service Station as you can easily notice. They have purchased a warehouse and have it painted and put in two 200o gallon storage tanks. The Smith Bros. have also purchased the full frontage by the highway to the next street.

Ray Merrecken has purchased the old bank lot next to his garage and formerly owned by Harry Burton. A bulldozer certainly improved the appearance of the corner.

The Canada West Nazarene District Assembly and Camp Meeting is being held this year at Red Deer and begins July 5th and closes July 17th

QUICK DEATH TO INSECT PESTS

STANCO LIVESTOCK SPRAY and 25% Imperial DDT are economical and effective. With these sprays you can end the losses caused by flies and other insect pests

STANCO is a repellent spray ready to use. Just fill your sprayer and you can treat your cattle, horses and hogs to comfortable days and restful nights. No more nerve-racking by flies, no more stampeding. Stanco gives 24 hour protection, is non-injurious to your livestock and does not stain. It more than pays for itself by cutting down milk and flesh losses caused by insect pests

25% IMPERIAL DDT CONCENTRATE kills flies on contact. It is ideal for use in stables, dairy barns, hog pens and poultry houses. Sprayed on walls and ceilings it ends the fly problem, the menace to health and pre-luctance. It's economical to use, too. For power spraying one litre and 1 part concentrate to 125 parts water, or about 2½ tablespoons in a gallon. For hand spraying you double the strength. For walls and ceilings, a gallon of spray mixture makes 5 gallons of spray. But use double strength in barns, death to every fly and insect the lights on it.

EUCHRE MEDITATIONS

GOLDEN WINDOWS

By JANE DALE

Every morning when the sun was rising
Sending forth its first bright beams,
I watched the house on the hilltop,
The house of my many dreams
To me the windows seem'd golden,
They shone and glittered there.
I always had a longing
That my windows could be as fair.

One evening when the sun was setting
I came to the house on the hill;
I found there no golden windows
And my heart was sore until
A fair little maiden pointed
To my windows across the way;
What I saw filled me with wonder -
They were turned to gold that day!

SO THIS IS GRATITUDE

TIMMINS, Ont. — A Timmins traffic officer wrote so many parking tickets that his pen went dry. He entered a bank to fill the pen and the manager, in a friendly gesture, gave the officer his private ink bottle to use. With his pen filled, the policeman left the bank and placed another ticket on a car—owned by the bank manager.

NEW RAKE—The New Holland side delivery tractor rake is engineered for power take-off raking and tedding. Two speeds forward and one reverse for tedding is accomplished by gear mechanism which allows rake to travel at higher tractor speeds while reel is geared to best speed for job being done.

Pastor Urges Ontarians To See Canada — Particularly The West

OTTAWA — There are too many Canadians — especially in Ontario — who never go outside their own province unless to visit the United States' Rev. Terence Pinkey, pastor of St. John's Anglican Church, asserted. He spoke at the last presidential meeting of the Ottawa Canadian Club held at the Chateau Laurier.

The United States is a great country," Mr. Pinkey stated, but more Canadians should spend their vacations seeing Canada. It is a great country, too."

He said people in Ontario particularly, feel self-conscious about their western "provincialism."

In illustration, he said the prairie provinces "are keenly interested in Canada's future, with the exception of a few small projects in British Columbia, Alberta is the only province ... [illegible] system of farming ... Alberta has 100,000 fertile acres in Alberta are now entirely independent of rainfall (his figure will no doubt be increased several times in the future) ... that we find the sugar beet industry ... There are two refineries, located at Raymond and Picture Butte. The combined output of these refineries is about one hundred million pounds of sugar per year.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

THE WALL

By C. K. PRIEST

It was dark, so dark that the rain seemed to be pelting him with warm blobs of black ink. There was no light in this darkness, no lessen, no glint of distant village, only a single wavering speck of shimmering brightness that appeared and disappeared in the far sky.

Lacking a better guide, Convict No 614666 followed this vagrant gleam, stumbling, not knowing where his course led.

His escape had been easy, no person escapes go. The lessons received from Zingo, once known as "The Human Fly", who had been his cellmate because of certain unfortunate checks, had been well taught Hours of practice until his fingertips were hard and as strong as claws, tiny, almost invisible grips fabricated further in the prison shop and cleverly sewn into the soles of his shoes. these and the will to escape had brought him up and over the high granite wall. Now he had until morning call before the hunt.

He plodded on, following the fragile gleam. He was no fool, he wanted in return to the purposeful wilderness around the prison. Nor would he take to the roads and inevitable discovery. Instead, with dawn, he would orient himself and head north, away from the hue and cry until the hue and cry had worn down. A three man search would veer off this country, with its plentiful game, and the rain would cover his tracks.

He kept his eyes on the light that was now the guide It was hard to follow Sometimes it disappeared entirely and at other times it seemed to bob up and down The illusion, he reasoned, would be caused by the varying stones' height. He managed to keep it directly ahead of him, although it seemed to grow dim as he struggled through the brush The rain was falling faster, and the night growing even darker. It was that way, he thought, darkest before dawn.

Suddenly he stumbled into something, bruising himself. His fingers explored the cold surface. Another wall! It rose higher than over a mile between himself and the prison by this time. Then it came to him that this must be the enclosure of the railroad spur track that served the prison. He would have to cross it some time—it might as well be now. He felt of the stone that extended up above him into the night Granite, huge blocks of granite, just like the prison itself. This would be a trial of granite

He began to climb, carefully, but it was farther to the top than he had expected and the strain of pulling himself up by his fingertips began to tell He had no idea the track ran so far above the level of the land. He must have wandered into a low section. The ground had been scarcely underfoot.

Up and up he went, and a surge of relief swept through him when his questing fingers at last felt the sharp ledge that meant he had reached the top. He allowed himself to creep close at the wall for a moment, hanging suspended in blackness, before he made the final effort of throwing himself up and on to the tracks. That was the thrill of vertical climbing. Zingo had always said—in being suspended in space while parched crowds below held their breath for the final spectacular leap. Zingo had climbed buildings with cornices that protruded three feet. Sometimes, Convict No. 614666 thought, he would practice climbing an overhang like that.

Slowly, as Zingo would have done he began swinging his body like a pendulum from the pivotal grip of his fingertips, describing wider and wider arcs, until, with a supreme surge, he threw his body up and over. Convict No. 614666 allowed himself to sprawl out, as he REACHED the peak of his swing, thinking how nice it was going to be to drop down on the high track and rest

But there was no roadbed no track, beneath him. He felt himself falling into space, at first with surprise and then with piercing pain as his fingers clawed for a grip where there was nothing to grasp, as the momentum of his body carried him completely over and past the top. He plunged, down and down, and he heard only faintly the thud of his body. For an instant he was conscious of a multitude of flashing lights and what seemed to be the pounding of running feet, and then there was a blackness greater than the night

Some hours later, the chief guard inside his report to the warden "No 614666 climbed out on one side of the prison and climbed back in on the other side. The only way we can figure it out is that he followed the light of the full moon that was reflecting for an emergency landing. He must have struggled through the brush for hours, making a half circle back to the opposite side of the prison. Why he climbed back in again, we don't know."

BY-LAW NO. 12, 1949

By-Law to provide for the Medical and Surgical care of the residents of the Municipal District:

WHEREAS, in the opinion of the Council it is desirable that arrangements be made with certain Doctors to provide Medical and Surgical care to the residents of the certain portions, as outlined, of the Municipal District of Flagstaff No. 82, and;

WHEREAS, Section 366 of the Municipal District's Act empowers the Council of any Municipal District to provide such services:

NOW THEREFORE, the Council of the Municipal District of Flagstaff No. 82 duly assembled, enacts as follows:

(1) That the Reeve and Secretary-Treasurer be and are hereby empowered to enter into contracts or agreements with certain Doctors, that they provide Medical and Surgical care, to be that which 's given by any general practitioner to the residents of the Municipal District.

(2) That this By-Law authorizing the entering into of the aforesaid Agreements be passed pursuant to Section 365 of the Municipal District's Act.

(3) That the sums to be expended under the Provisions of this By-Law are to be raised by a levy upon all the assessable property in the certain portions as outlined:

RANGES 11, 12, 13, 14, 15 in Townships 39 and 40 North of the River and Townships 41,42,43,44 et al. (All that portion of Flagstaff except Township 43, Ranges 10 to 15, which forms part of the Viking Municipal District of ).

(4) That the levy for Medical and Surgical services shall not exceed 2½ mills. The sum to be raised for Medical and Surgical Services shall be approximately $30,000.00.

(5) That the minimum tax levy for Medical and Surgical Services shall be $4.00 and not more than $5.00 per person.

IT IS FURTHER ENACTED:

(a) A farmer who is retiring from active work on account of age may still qualify for purposes of hospitalization by payment of a fee of $7.50 for the current year. If he still continues to be a ratepayer and moves into one of the Villages within the confines of the Municipal District, then the farmer now resides in the Village shall be entitled to hospitalization. In cases of dispute, the Council's decision shall be final.

(b) That a payment of $7.50 will entitle any person who is not a ratepayer, but who resides in the Municipal District of Flagstaff No. 82, to all the benefits of the Medical Scheme.

(c) That the following expenditure which may be made in any one year under the authority of the said By-law shall be limited to $2 per patient as multiplied by the number of patient days; plus payment for extra service as noted above.

First and second reading given to By-Law this 6th day of June, 1949.

AND FURTHER, that unless within thirty days at least fifteen percent of the proprietary electors of the Municipal District petition the Council to submit such By-Law to the vote of the proprietary electors of the Municipal District, the Council will proceed to pass same.

WEDDINGS

SIGBERG — OVERMAN

The United Church in Hardisty was the setting of a very pretty wedding at 7:00 p.m. on Tuesday, July 5th when Margaret Ann Overman, eldest daughter of Mr and Mrs. Orey Overman of Hardisty became to bride of John Lelby Sigberg, second son of Mr and Mrs. Albert Sigberg of Lougheed. The Rev. R. of Macdonald of Sedgewick officiated at the double-ring ceremony

The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her father, was very pretty gowned in white satin. Her sleeves of pink rosebuds and was a triple strand of pearls; gift of the groom. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Beiva Loudrey, as matron of honor. She wore a silver grey taffeta dress with pink accessories and a bouquet of pink carnations. Mr. L. Johannesson supported the groom as best man. Mrs. Ernest Boyd of Goodrich ushered the guests to pews. Wedding music was played by Mrs J. Baker of Hatton.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs Overman chose a green tailored suit complimented with white hat and sleeves She wore a corsage of white carnations. The groom's mother was figured with dress with black accessories and corsage of red roses.

Following the wedding ceremony reception for a large number of friends and relatives was held at the home of the bride's parents. A three-tell wedding cake centered the table, which was beautifully decorated with vases of pink and white carnations. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr Johannesson

Leaving on a short wedding trip the bride changed to a blue gabardine suit with wine accessories. The couple will take up residence in the city of Red Deer.

MORTENSEN — CHOPEY

The chapel of the Metropolitan United Church, Edmonton, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Saturday, July 2nd, when Ellen Mortensen, daughter of Mrs Mortensen and the late Mr. Mortensen of Rosebud, became the bride of George Chopey, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Chopey of Hardisty Rev. Thompson performed the double-ring ceremony. Given in marriage by Mr. Fred Stewart of Edmonton the bride wore a blue gabardine suit, complimented with grey accessories and wore a corsage of white gardenia and roses. The bridesmaid was Miss Merle Woods of Camrose, who wore a green check suit with beige accessories and a corsage of red roses. George Weeks of Edmonton was best man.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs Mortensen chose a white and green checked jersey afternoon dress with a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Chopey wore a white and navy dress with matching accessories and wore a corsage of yellow roses.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the Corona Hotel. Other guests included Mr and Mrs Sawyer and George Mortensen of Rosalind Mrs. Sawyer is of New Westminster, B.C., and Mrs. Jeanne Baker, a sister of the groom, from Nanne.

LOUGHEED W. I.

Fifteen members and four visitors attended the regular meeting of the W. I. which was held at the McClure cottage at Hardisty Lake on Saturday, July 9th. Mrs. H. Pederson gave an interesting report on the Conference at Olds. Mrs. M. Stephen won the contest prize. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess. Next meeting with Mrs. O. Probst

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank all my friends for their letters, cards and good wishes all during my confinement in hospitals. Your kindness is very much appreciated. — Henry Baker.

FARMER'S UNION LOCAL FORMED AT MELBRAE

KILLAM STAMPEDE DRAWS LARGE CROWDS

The Killam Stampede, which this year branched out to a two-day affair, drew a large crowd from near and far. The Stampede events were up to the usual standard with events coming on in regularity with the addition of three new chutes Gaylord Sharpe, another new item, held the interest of the children as well as a good portion of adults

The baseball tourney produced a good brand of baseball and the softball diamonds drew a goodly portion of spectators All in all the big rounds went home satisfied.

Winners in the Cowboy Stampede events were: Saddle Bronc Contest, Bill McLean, Calf Roping, Bill Cobbs, Bareback, Ted Glaser, Steer Riding, Jack Cooke; Wild Horse Contest, Cliff Davidson; Wild Cow Milking, Gaylord Sharpe, Amateur Bronc Riding, R Bell.

The final baseball game saw the Forestbury and Killam teams petted against each other The game proved some fine baseball but had to be called in the fifth inning because of rain and wind The two Kills

FARMERS' MUTUAL MARKETS

Six members of the Lougheed Local as well as two of the Girls' Club attended the annual Sedgewick Constituency Conference held at Chauvin on July 6th. Speakers included Mrs H B Peterson of Chauvin, retiring Constituency Convenor. Mrs. Macdonald of Penhold, President of the Provincial W.I.; Mrs Hawson from Milbut, Director District No. 3, Miss Ruth Clark, Assistant Director, Home Survey Branch; Mrs Hooper Sedgewick, spoke on Public Library Service. A resolution passed the conference. An interesting item on the entertainment program was a solo by Veronica Marion of Lougheed The new Constituency Convenor is Mrs Alfred some fine baseball but had to be called in the fifth inning because of rain and wind The two Kills

A Great Need

THE SIGNIFICANCE OF THE TERM "one world" becomes increasingly clear as the speed and efficiency of air travel constantly increases, bringing people of distant places more and more recently together. Events of the past thirty years have taught us that no country or group of people can live without being affected by conditions in other places. The great social problems which resulted from the last war, although they may involve only thousands of miles away, have been recognized and accepted as the problems of people everywhere and especially of those in countries where there has been relative security and abundance of the necessities of life.

* * * *

Extends Help To Children

One of the great problems of this time is the suffering of many thousands of children rendered hungry, homeless or classified as a result of the war. The United Nations has undertaken to deal with the problem and is now extending help to famine children in Europe. 500,000 in Arab refugee camps [illegible] others elsewhere. Although they have helped so many, the organization has actually extended aid to no more than five per cent. of those in need in Europe and to an even smaller percentage in Asia. In Europe the work is being carried on in twelve countries with no regard for any consideration except the needs of the children.

* * * *

Difficult To Raise Funds

The costs of such an undertaking are very high and constant difficulty is experienced in securing funds to carry on the work. About $70,000,000 has been contributed by governments of which Canada has given $5,200,000. The United States has contributed $34,068,000 and has undertaken to increase this to $100,000,000 by adding $72 for every dollar by any other government. Donations to the fund by organizations and individuals have amounted to $10,238,000. In spite of these donations the Children's Emergency Funds recently reported a shortage of $5,000,000 for the present year and no guarantee of funds to continue their work in the future. Since that time an appeal for funds has been made and to this and to future appeals, both governmental and to individuals it is to be hoped that there will be generous response. The Children's Emergency Fund is an international organization and has given leadership in encouraging its work which is undoubtedly one of the most necessary and humanitarian efforts being carried on at the present time.

Tourist Business

The revenue from the tourist business in Canada last year amounted to the astounding figure of $270,000,000. The Dominion Bureau of Statistics breaks down the figure to show how this was spent as follows:

To retail and department store 67.5 Million Dollars

To restaurants and food stores, 39.8 Million Dollars

To hotels, resorts and tourist camps, 45.9 million dollars

To service stations and garages, 32.4 million dollars

For movies, entertainment, recreation, 22.6 million dollars

For train steamer, bus and plane fares, 19.9 million dollars

For refreshments and roadside purchases, 12.5 million dollars

For novelties, souvenirs, etc., 8.1 million Dollars.

It is difficult to note how far reaching are the benefits from the tourist industry. Chatham News

Alaskan Indians erect totem poles in the annual from which they thank their tribe is descended

Tips For Motorists Planning Trip On Alaskan Road

WASHINGTON—The average motorist, with car in good condition and a taste for adventure off the beaten path, will find a trip over the Alaskan highway a memorable experience and he will not encounter too many difficulties in the matter of getting service and accommodations.

This is the gist of a report issued by the American Automobile Association following an inspection.

Other tips for the prospective Alaskan traveler.

In addition to having the car in good running condition, carry a good jack and two spare tires mounted on the wheels. Driving over gravel on a wet day it's a good idea to stop every couple of hours to let the tires cool.

In summer, the road is dusty, which can be annoying when you have to follow the car ahead for some distance.

Travel-mad drivers should take it quite slowly until they get used to the feel of the gravel under the wheels and because of the car on turns.

Passing a car trailing a cloud of dust can be very dangerous. Wait until you can make sure that there's no car coming the other way and that the road ahead is straight.

SYDNEY, Australia — Although the food was worth about $3 a mouthful it failed to keep alive two Sydney society girls in a basket from India. The nurse had been unwitting, fed them with the treatment of those orchids and had tried to survive by eating the plants.

France Expects To Retain Leadership In Tourist Trade

PARIS—France, having regained its place last year as the No. 1 tourist attraction of the world, intends to see to it that it retains this rank in 1949.

Another reason for cheerful faces in tourist headquarters here is increased shopping like your repayment, ed by the new Cunard liner Caronia and the French Line s lle de France which is scheduled to go into service some time during the summer.

The principal reason for optimism is that the country at no time since the war has been in better shape than now to receive visitors. This is particularly true of Paris.

The hotels have reached their pre-war level and many have improved on that. Refurbishing of rooms and interior and restocking of supplies have been going on apace, and personnel is up to full strength. Prices are generally higher than last year in keeping with the generally rising cost of living but are still reasonable when calculated on the official exchange rate of about 230 francs to $1.

Parks And Resorts That Excel In Beauty

Manitoba's Whiteshell Provincial Park

IT a rugged setting of largest and greatest lies Manitoba's Whiteshell Provincial Park, an evergreen playground studded with over two hundred lakes and rivers. Here in eastern Manitoba, only slightly more than an hour's motoring distance from Winnipeg is a land of rare natural beauty—a thousand square miles of forest, lake and river, a land of clear skies and brilliant sunshine provide the outing with the opportunity to explore The Whiteshell and holiday near its lakes. Fine swimming boating and fishing add to the enjoyment. Here, on the fringe of the north is Manitoba's Land of the Granite Cliffs.

In the Whiteshell you will find something entirely different from the ordinary vacation resort. You will see great valleys covered with trees, stretching with room, pine trees and small brush rising steeply from the water. This variety of scenery will delight you. Much of the land is in its wild state and thickly forested with the contrasting green of poplar bush and tamarac. Often a whole stand of spruce will rise like a tide a half 80 feet from the padded forest floor. Just beyond this may be the lightful open country almost entirely free of brush with small farms interspersed — ideal picnic grounds. Beyond this again may be brushland, abruptly halted by a great ridge of granite, bearing up from the further edge and nurturing a multi-coloured forestry. Clear-water lakes and streams add charm to The Whiteshell. A Provincial Park that fascinates every visitor.

The network of lakes and rivers not by nature in The Whiteshell provides interesting and fascinating canoe routes. Only a quarter of a mile from the Trans-Canada Highway at Caddy Lake is a popular launching point for the canoe routes in the northeastern corners of the park. From here the canoeist may northward on the Whiteshell River to Mallard Lake Beyond this how two routes to the Winnipeg River: by way of Whiteshell and Crow Duck Lakes, or through Lone Island, Jessica, White and Betsin Lake. These are but two of the many entrancing water ways. The Whiteshell offers—quiet streams, running rapids, quiet harbored bays, and many lakes, each with its own charm.

The Whiteshell is the happy holiday-land for campers. A thousand square miles of natural beauty — brilliant sunshine and refreshing nights — rugged forests and a perfect site to pitch your tent. Here is something different — For the sportsman who would like to get away from it all, throw your tent into a canoe, load your grub-box and fishing tackle case and take to the woods! It's as easy as that.

Or if the whole family want the pleasure of the out-door life, the Whiteshell has many sites where the family can come and pitch a tent or tree in a cabin. All conveniences are available garage service for your car and restaurants with good food or if you like to do your own cooking . . . stores are nearby that carry a full line of groceries. Boats and canoes for fishing and fun swimming and other out-door sports will round out your vacation in this refreshing outdoors.

Lake Winnipeg

MANITOBA'S summer playgrounds of water in particular to the vacationist who likes to enjoy his holiday with many a good, cooling dip in refreshing waters. Benches and swimming spots are particularly fine and plentiful. Along both the eastern west and east sides of Lake Winnipeg, a short distance from Winnipeg are many resort beaches catering to both public and private parties. Winnipeg Beach, one of this group, includes bowling alleys, dancing, roller-coasters, and other carnival amusements, that all add up to real family entertainment. Some of the other popular beaches on the west side of the lake are at Clandeboye Morton, Sandy Hook, Pinkham, Whytewold and Belair Sunset, all accessible by car, bus and train. On the eastern shores are Grand Beach, Victoria Beach and Hillside Beach, with ample and convenient rail services.

Nothing is more pleasant than taking a stroll in one of the many quaint little valleys of Manitoba. Here a charming couple are seen strolling in the beautiful Qu'Appelle Valley, Sask.

How To Enter Canada

YOU will encounter a minimum of border "red tape" and delay on entering over into Canada.

Permanent United States residents require no passport to enter Canada. It is well to carry some form of identification, however—a birth certificate or some other document—since you may be called upon to furnish proof of your United States citizenship on returning to that country. It is also suggested that naturalized United States citizens carry their naturalization certificates, and aliens proof of their legal residence in the United States.

Automobiles may be brought in for pleasure or business purposes for a period of up to one month without payment of duty or deposit. There is no entry fee, but a permit for admission of the automobile must be obtained from the Canadian Customs.

Sportsmen's equipment may be brought in but must be reported to Customs and the necessary forms filled in.

Non-residents require a permit to be in possession of firearms in Canada. These permits are issued by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, and an application form can be secured from them or from the Travel and Publicity Bureau of the province you intend entering.

Rules For Fishermen

Do not exceed the limit allowed. Do not kill undersized fish.

Do not use any unsportsmanlike method.

Try berthes beside for more or better sport.

Beware of starting forest fires. By protecting the forest, you conserve fish and game.

Bear in mind that your friends will enjoy good fishing, and that it is your duty to do your utmost to further the protection of fish at all times

BOATING has become a popular pastime on the many lakes that dot the Western provinces.

Rock Lake

ONLY 19 miles from the U.S. border, Rock Lake is easy to get at from the south on Highway No. 30 in North Dakota, then on to No. 17 in Manitoba as far as Crystal City, and to Clearwater and east to the lake. Good hotel accommodation is available and the lake abounds with northern pike and pickerel. The lake is only 125 miles southwest of Winnipeg on No. 3 Highway.

Pelican Lake

THIS beautiful little lake rewards the angler with northern pike and pickerel. It is 27 miles from the international border and can be reached by Highway No. 30 in North Dakota and north on to No. 18 in Manitoba. Good hotel accommodation is available at Ninette, a fine town situated at the north end of the lake.

Lac Du Bonnet

SOME of Manitoba's most beautiful scenery is to be found in the Lac du Bonnet-Pine Falls section of the province. This is the part of Manitoba intersected by the Winnipeg River—a stream that is running and turbulent in places, as at Silver Falls, and at others it is quiet and tranquil in the extreme. This is the river that provides a major part of the hydro-electric power used in southern Manitoba, and dotted throughout this region are the power plants and waterfalls that produce this electrical energy.

Not only is this one of the finest scenic parts of the province, it is also one of the most appealing to the fisherman, for in the many lovely lakes in this area are found some of the finest of fish to be taken anywhere.

There is a considerable amount of cabin accommodation available in this area, and there are modern hotels at Lac du Bonnet

Lake Dauphin

LAKE Dauphin, 10 miles to the east of Dauphin, is that becoming the popular local summer resort. Here also is fishing, boating and golfing. While there is no accommodation here for the traveling public there is a new picnic ground. Fish abound in the rivers feeding lake Dauphin and many a sportsman has been thrilled by his catch of pickerel and pike.

FISH . . .

You May Catch In The West

LAKE trout, pickerel (Walleye), northern and perch are all depended in western waters. Bass are native fish. It is unknown with angler's luck, to pull a 6-or-9-pound lake trout.

Loch Leven trout, spotted trout and the famous rainbow trout have been successfully introduced into the fish-fisherman can test his skill.

Small mouth bass have been placed in the waters of Prince Albert National Park.

The waters of the numerous lakes and rivers of the provinces are clear and cold, ideal for producing fish of excellent firmness and delicious flavor.

ORCHIDS NO ATTRACTION TO COLOMBIAN GIRLS

BOGOTA.—No one gives orchids to Colombian girls because orchids look like dandelions here, and are about as cheap.

This is a situation to which American tourists have difficulty getting adjusted. It would not pretty well for cruise-ship bachelors who can whenever needed bouquets to have dot his wide expanse, making it essential that fishing parties enlist the services of experienced guides.

Guides are available for trips by motor canoe and for fishing excursions. The lake itself is a paradise for fishermen, being especially well stocked with lake trout Boats may be rented at a boating service at Lac La Rouge.

A SLIGHT SETBACK

SYDNEY, Australia.—The envoy of Reginald Calebrewd, ace Australian bucking bronchs rider, has received a slight setback.

While teaching his small niece how to ride her rocking horse, he fell off and broke his collarbone.

SASKATCHEWAN

Kenosee Lake

AT the opposite, or southeast, side of the province is Moose Mountain Provincial Park, an area of 12 square miles thereby covered by white poplar and birch.

Here the provincial government has developed a fine resort at Kenosee Lake, 15 miles north of the town of Carlyle and on Highway No. 9 (inaugurated in 1936). Development has progressed steadily at Kenosee, where the fishing and swimming are popular, and where a fine 18-hole golf course is located. With fairways cut out of the bush, the course provides a splendid test of the skill and accuracy of the golf enthusiast Fine camp sites are available at Kenosee while swings, teeters and trapezes have been provided for the children. Boats are available for fishing and other recreation while the wide sand beach is well equipped with slides and diving towers.

At Kenosee is located one of the finest bathing beaches of the provincial government. Placed with stone and built in the style of an old English country home, the chalet has 12 furnished bedrooms and a comfortable lounge, while home-cooked meals are available in the spacious and modern dining apartment dining room

In addition to the chalet, 21 family cabins are located in the park, of which are completely equipped for light housekeeping. They are served with electricity and running water

Roads through the park are gravelled and it is accessible from all highways in the southeast of the province.

Katepwe In Valley

THE valley of the Qu'Appelle River which has its source near the larger lakes in Saskatchewan, and in the central part of the province, and which flows eastward into Manitoba, contains many of Saskatchewan's popular resorts.

One of the province's provincial government park and camping site at Katepwe, 14 miles north of Fort Qu'Appelle and 30 miles from Regina. Set in the natural beauty of the valley, 160 miles long, fashioned by nature into the semblance of a long sunken garden, is one of the most beautiful spots in Saskatchewan.

It was this valley that once inspired the famous Canadian poet, Pauline Johnson, to write the poem which also related the legend of the origin of the word "Qu'Appelle" ("Who Calls").

Carlyle Lake

TO the one who decides going to Carlyle Lake in the Moose Mountain park country of Eastern Saskatchewan, there will be no room for mistake on choosing that location for his vacation, when he returns home. There are many small bays, giving an exceptional shelter and beauty to shoreline. In the farthest reaches of the lake the exploring holidayer will have himself in solitude With the Kenosee lake close by it gives the motorist a beautiful scenic drive between the resorts. To the fisherman these lakes are popular for their pike, pickerel and perch.

Cypress Hills

ONE of the most attractive of Saskatchewan's provincial parks is found at Cypress Hills, a heavily-wooded area in the southwest of the province, often described as the Highlands of Saskatchewan. The altitude at Cypress Hills is 4,300 feet above sea level, comparable to Banff in the Canadian Rockies. A ground cover of saxifrage, pine grass alder to hundreds of types of flora, some of which are pre-glacial and not found in any other part of the Dominion.

The Cypress hills, which rise abruptly out of the prairie, offer ideal conditions for the student of flora and fauna and the camera enthusiast

With life in abundance at Cypress Hills, and visitors often catch glimpses of big game such as antelope, cougars and mule deer, and elk, the park is a veritable bird sanctuary as seen in the lake and tributary streams. Fishing is also available here streams adjacent to the park lakes provide fishing with neutral varieties of sport-trout

Other recreational facilities include a large modern dancing pavilion, pool, recently completed, which is circular, and floored in maple, a superb one-hole golf course, and horseback riding along the many paths and trails winding through the park

Good accommodations are available at the park There is a 16-room hotel and a large log cabin available for rental at moderate prices. None of the cabins are equipped for light housekeeping as meals are served at reasonable prices at a restaurant. A well-stocked store provides necessary foodstuffs for campers.

Cypress Hills lies directly south of Maple Creek, 17 miles east of the Alberta boundary and 50 miles from Medicine Hat, and is accessible by Highway 21, which passes directly through the park.

This park will be particularly appealing to those who prefer hay-fever, because of the altitude

Good Spirit Lake

ONE hundred miles west of Duck Mountain is Good Spirit Lake Provincial Park, which provides one of the finest and safest bathing beaches for children available in the province

Good Spirit Lake has just celebrated its 25th year from Yorkton, and its wide, sandy beaches, sloping gradually beneath the cool, clear water afford ideal bathing conditions for the youngest and smallest children. Older people must wade out at least the distance of a city block before reaching water sufficiently deep for swimming

Accommodation at the resort has not been developed extensively by the government, only general maintenance work having been done. However, it provides a fine camp site equipped with fireplaces, picnic tables and benches, as well as sanitation facilities. There are also suitable locations for camping, where bathing and boating may be enjoyed.

In their work around the world, the Red Cross people use a total of 81 different languages.

3 cups cooked chicken
1 pimento, cut fine, if available
½ cup mushrooms
½ cup table cream
Yolks of two eggs

Cook together chicken stock or milk. Add flour and salt which have been mixed to a smooth paste with a little cold water. Cook until mixture thickens. Add cooked chicken, cut in pieces, pimento and mushrooms (which have been cooked a few minutes in fat). Cook until thoroughly heated. Add cream.

Mix well and serve hot on toast or patty shells.

Tea Muffins

1½ cups sifted pastry flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoons butter or other shortening
4 tablespoons sugar
1 egg, well beaten
½ cup milk

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Cream butter, add sugar, and cream well; then add egg and beat well. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating only until smooth after each amount. Bake in greased muffin pans in hot oven (425 deg. F.) 30 minutes. Makes 12 muffins.

"Could Not Disturb Mr. Sinclair's Two Days' Repose"

By HAROLD HELSER

PEDRO MANDANNA could not; honestly say he was sorry his wife was dead. She kept her tongue in motion too much to suit him. But he said he was not the one who had ordered her permanently He said he had shut up his trust stand at once he began his search and had gone to the bottom of the matter. Then and when he awoke his wife was lying on the floor not far away with a knife in her.

The policeman, Manuel Aquilla, came and had a talk with Pedro Pedro insisted on his innocence and said it must have been a sneak thief He and his wife couldn't stand the thought of anybody tampering with anything that belonged to her and when she saw the thief she must have made an attempt to forestall her.

Manuel Aquilla wrote a factual account to the governor of the province about the matter and had the wound continue to investigate The governor wrote back that it appeared all obvious to him that the culprit was one of the Indians who had quarreled with her husband and he could save unnecessary for prolonging the investigation He said he was sending a personal representative to help continue things.

The personal representative spent a day in town and stayed with Pedro Mandanna was plainly the guilty party First of all, he pointed out, there was no sign of violence or disorder in the room. And everyone in town he met on the street from the local coroner

Lougheed Facts

(By Connie Methenie)

Visitors at the T Cookson home on Sunday were: Mr and Mrs Herbert Cookson, Jack and Margaret of Tofield; Mrs Lily Ball of Bairdtree; Mr and Mrs W. Cookson and Cliff, Mr. and Mrs. J. Bloch, Art and Gail; Mrs Liddell of Passeka; Mr and Mrs Bill Albrecht and Bobbie, Mr and Mrs R. Cookson and Bonnie and Mr and Mrs. Jo Cookson and children.

Miss Margaret Cookson of Tofield and Miss Lois Liddell of Passeka were week end visitors with Miss Rosemary Cookson.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Langrud are on a couple weeks holiday and visiting relatives and friends in the district and also also at Killam.

Andy Birchall is back in the old home town again for a couple weeks holiday. Welcome Andy.

Mrs D McDonald and Jimmy are spending a holiday at the farm in the Green Valley district.

Mrs Shannon and Barry left last week for a holiday at Duncan B.C. where they will visit Mrs Shannon's father. They will also visit with her brother Major Potts and sister Mrs. McArdle both of Victoria.

The Legion members held their regular meeting in the hall last Monday night. After the usual business more a social evening was enjoyed.

Gus Probst is attending the Cadet camp at Vernon B.C.

Norman Sax spent a few days at Vermilion last week where he attended a reunion of the Ag. students.

(By Fred Hansen)

From here on it's at your own risk. Connie, the regular correspondent, is spending the week at her parents in new home in Camrose. Hurry back Connie, we both miss you.

Mrs. Robert Palmer (nee Marion Aitchison) of New York spent last Friday visiting with her grandmother Mrs. M. E. Sax.

Bob Rand and family of Evansburg spent the week end with his mother Mrs. Harry Pedersen.

Mr. and Mrs. Schneiderker and two girls of Vancouver B.C. are spending a few weeks visiting here.

Harry Barton was an Edmonton visitor last week.

Our old friend Bob Lockburn dropped in the other day for his annual visit. Same cheery old Bob, hasn't changed a bit in the years since he left.

Mrs. C H Mann and children from Vancouver B.C. are paying a short visit to her sister Mrs Reg Shirvill

The old town is humming with activity again. Everywhere you look you see a bulldozer at work. Of course it's the same one but it sure gets around. McCracken used it to cut in the foundations of the old Bank of Commerce basement and then had trucks hauling earth to fill in, later bar'ng the dozer again to level it off. Smith Bros., who have purchased the balance of the lots in their block fronting Highway 13 have put in a 4-foot fill, erected a storage warehouse, excavated for and installed two 500 gal. storage tanks. Hobby has had the hotel parking smoothed until you could use it for a bowling green, while Pauley, not to be outdone, had the ground between his machine shed and Harry's Garage excavated a few feet with evident intention of having a sunken garden at some future date. You couldn't find a pick or shovel nearby at the above jobs; all power machinery, graders, bulldozers and also dump trucks. As one onlooker remarked, they have taken all the fun out of work. When I think of my young days and the work I did with pick, shovel and wheelbarrow in helping build what was then the young West, my only regret is that I will not be here 50 years from now when the machines we marvel at today will be as obsolete as the pick and shovel of the past.

Mrs. C. P. Larson of Brooks is spending the summer vacation with her parents the Erik Johnsons, while Mr. Larson is continuing his studies at Eugene Oregon.

Owing to so many members and ticket holders being away on holidays the Lougheed Legion dance billed for the 23rd inst. has been postponed until after holidays. Date to be announced.

Yes, the district has been blessed with a couple of lovely rains and one more like the last and we'll have no problems in saving our potatoes. As it is they are growing so fast that by the time a potato bug crawls on the top of a spud he is too tired to do any damage

Elmer Stokke and family are away on their holidays and have landed in Red Deer just in time to attend brother Johns wedding. Our best wishes go to the newly weds.

Miss Leona Tschirne of Perintosa is spending a few days with her aunt Mrs. Harry Bloesser.

Dick Wright is busily engaged in building a new tool house in connection with the Lougheed Garage. A snazzy two-toned affair.

Mrs. W A McClure (Phyl to you) is spending a bunch of town age girls on a two-week campaign at Sylvan Hardisty Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Fee (nee Elsie Irish) of Quebec were Friday visitors at the R. McCracken home.

Allen Palmer who has been stationed at the Military Camp Wainwright, motored to Lougheed to visit on Sunday with his bride of a few days who has been visiting with her parents the J. Barbels. The newly weds will go from here to Calgary

Mrs. Redpath and son of B C are visiting with her sister Mrs. Louis Barthel in town.

Mrs. Tom Lawson is spending some time with his sister Mrs. Simpson.

Mrs. Hannah Olsenberg and Alice spent a few days in Camrose.

The Baptist Church held their annual picnic last Saturday out at the Sedgewick Lake

Mrs. Bill Sutfil and Lucille Vanhees returned to Edmonton Friday. Lucille is going to spend some time with her sister up there.

Mr. and Mrs. A E Fee returned from Banff Mr and Mrs Russell Fee and Dr and Mrs Allan Fee returned with them to attend the Stampede.

Reg Shirvill is busy these days adding an addition to his town home Bernard Leibrahd has his new home practically completed and ready for Habts to be connected. Truly, the old town is sprucing up. Some different for a few years ago when they were moving houses out of town.

The two Mohr children of Edmonton are spending a vacation with their uncles C. Moen and K. Bergseth and seem to enjoy the wide open spaces.

There should be a law. As I walked down the main drag, with the thermometer around 95, what do I see in one of the main display windows Tins of anti-freeze.

Mr and Mrs Ben Gunderson and daughter Doris of Edgerton and Mrs M. Holman and son Maurice of Lougheed spent last Sunday at the Hugh Vagt home.

Mrs. Anna Morgan of Moscow, Idaho is spending some time with her daughter Mrs M Gibb.

Marion and Ken Gibb are attending the Calgary Stampede where Ken is judging Aberdeen Angus cattle

Mr and Mrs Sam Taylor and son of Calgary and Mr and Mrs Sid Wood of Latimer, Ont. were recent visitors with Mrs Mary York and Mr. Sam Barker here.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Wyatt and daughter Wilma of Veasley, Alberta are visiting the Ed Forster home

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY

SOX FOR MR. LEVIN

By Louis Arthur Cunningham

FREYA'S fingertips ached to touch it then. But such stockings were not for her. Ah, the lovely things, their woven than the webs the spiders leave on the grass in dewy mornings. She could picture herself drawing them on, shaping them, looking at her ankles, at her calves—like those of lissi in Ufandherd, perhaps in Sweden —as lovely as Selma Dressen's. Selma who was the queen of Hollywood, who was admired the world over. Selma who had sat with her — her, Freya Sandstrom, in the school at Ufandherd.

Well, she would be as great as Selma. But no one else in Ufandherd believed her when she told them. The other boys and girls laughed at her. Kristen, her mother, was sometimes angry, sometimes amused, but always Kristen said, "Make the butter and the cheese, Freya, and say your prayers. Marry Leif Jansen and have a good home. And don't envy Selma; her mother tells me that Selma, for all her fame is not happy Selma has no husband and no children on you! When Carl, your father, brings his sox home, will you spoil his few days here by sulking?"

Freya did spoil his few days. Freya acted so sullen that Carl ragged her. "Very well. I will take you to America. You can live with your mother's window and my own, seeking something that is not for you happiness. But go you shall!"

So Freya went, across the ocean, not as she would come back, in some great liner, in a stateroom filled with flowers, but in a study cabin to the top of a ship. And he is too tired to do any damage

"Three Years". Like a flash of awful light, blinding her, it came into her head that Selma, in the picture, had stolen from a big store, stolen some little thing—a vial of perfume.

She was at the revolving door now, pushing it. A crippled lady was coming in and Freya hated her because the door just seemed to crawl. Suppose, as in that picture, the detectives had seen her!

Out on the street, she fought the inclination to look back, but it conquered her. Oh, God! Two men—one fat, one thin. And the fat one was pointing at her and talking vehemently and now they started after her.

She had come up this street from the dock where the Lars Bjornes lay. So she hurried straight down it. She could feel the pursuit. Oh, let her once get on the ship, let her reach her father and feel his strong arm about her There at last was the ship. She had always hated it, thought it ugly, like an old black kettle, but now it was lovelier than any of the dream-ships that she spoil ho'd to sail upon in years to come. Let her get safe, and she would go home and never again think of Selma or Hollywood Her hair flying from under her beret, she dashed up the gangplank. Only now did she look back. They were at the foot of these men, and with them now was a policeman, and he was pointing at the Lars Bjornsen, right at the vertical father behind which she crouched.

"Freya! What is it!"

"Oh, father!" She flung herself against him "It is the police They are after me. I—I have stolen something from a store—a pair of stockings! But they saw me. Have me from them and I—I will not come again evy Selma Erguard Even I will go back home gladly and marry Leif—"

"Go to my cabin!" he said sternly. "Wait there"

The men were coming up the gangplank as she dashed into the cabin and hid her face among the cushions. Could her father, by paying them the worth of the stockings, send them away?

The door opened. The men came in with her father. The two detectives were out of breath. The fat one was wiping his brow and sweating. She knew that, for God's name sounded much the same in English Then he began to scold her and the distance away—

Freya took the stockings and thrust them into an inner pocket. They seemed to work a transformation in her, instant, terrible: her heart thundered and there were stags on her ankles that sought to make her fly. She must not run. She must walk out calmly, carelessly—the way Selma had walked in that picture.

All over. In that picture, after she was arrested for the theft, Selma got three years in a terrible prison and died.

"No! No! No!" Freya's eyes blazed in her white face and her fingers raked her hair and seemed to acquire gold into the deeper gold of the afternoon sunbeams. "No!" And she flung herself down and did not look up until they had gone

Moments after she heard the door close, she got up. Carl Sandstrom was still there He leaned at her gravely "I almost lost you then, Freya." he said, "I might have lost you, only I love you too much ever to let them take you"

She kissed him. She said, "I will go home and never leave home." She remembered the stockings — the stockings! She snatched them out of her pocket, rolled them in a ball and dashed out. The men were walking along the dock below her. She threw the gossamer ball and as it descended it unravelled, opened like a parachute and draped a pair of streamers around the fat man's arm. She heard terrible words from the fat man and feared he would come back But he did not. He plodded along beside his companion who wanted to laugh but dared not. "Imagine it! Imagine it, Herbert! Out of a blue sky and just on her first trip! Why, that's the worst offence yet—three contract with Super-Superior. Because I got intuition I can better tell when she's lying. Ha! I offer her that—me Nigel Lewis, a rough—and she says no to me, and throws a pair of sox at me."

Cottons Popular For London Street Wear

LONDON . Cottons have turned up for fashionable street wear, after having been out of the running since the war.

This year sees almost the first of the new tailored suits in thick cottons which can be laundered without much trouble

The most noticeable feature of their reappearance is the change in fabrics. Linens and silks are passé. The range of cotton-made garments has been widened to include not only formal town suits, but afternoon dresses, garden party dresses and beach wear.

Some of the most attractive evening dresses shown are of cretonne knee made of West African printed voiles, flowered linens, handkerchief printed voiles and shadow striped organdies. For day clothes, thin cambrics weaves and fine basketweaves by high twist cotton crepe of solid texture.

Cotton materials are now handled such as woollen fabrics, and the effect of these clothes worn with smart, formal accessories is most attractive

The English woman's summer wardrobe will be made more flexible by the addition of heavier cottons for wearing on dull, cool days.

DUCK MOUNTAIN PARK SURROUNDED BY TREES

Duck Mountain park, northeast of Yorkton and near the Manitoba border is one of the most beautiful of Saskatchewan holiday areas

Surrounded by spruce, white birch, aspen and pine trees the resort is an ideal place for a quiet restful holiday. A tourist camp is located near the lake to accommodate visitors who like to swim and boat. Hunting and fishing is one of the prime interests here. 2825

"What Fools These Mortals Be." The absolute truth of the above is never more forcefully proven than when you watch a "greenhorn" being fleeced out of his money in a gyp game with the assistance of what is commonly known as "skills". The original idea, that you can "beat the wheel" in the starting point in the loss of millions of dollars each year. The best policy is always to remember that these games were invented for the unwary, so in other words to catch the sucker. You can't beat them. Remember that. When you see a stranger win easily, just remind yourself that he belongs to the show and is being used as a "come-on" to get you to bite. This is the skill. He's allowed to win.

Last week at the circus in Killam I saw a young chap lose just about the equivalent of two weeks salary in a skin game which the close observer could see was rigged from start to finish. It pays to be wary of the strangers who hang around these games. He's after your cash dollar and unless you're smart he'll get it.

A moment of thought and you will realize that in order to stay in the business, these fellows just can't afford to give you anything but even a 50-50 chance to win. The odds are at least a hundred to one against you. The moral of course is — don't be a sucker. A fool and his money are soon parted.

I've written on this subject before, but a fairly modern car and a drinking driver (that Friday evening) reminded me that even yet there are car drivers who have absolutely no regard whatever for human life. A man (or woman) who will drink himself into a stupor and then deliberately climb behind a steering wheel and career up and down the street, in a public nuisance and a criminal, and no doubt should have his driving license suspended and he himself locked up and thoroughly examined by a brain specialist.

I was so angry when this young chap drove past my house at a mile a minute per hour (estimated by myself and three other car drivers) that I had a good mind to take down the time I'm afraid World War 3 would have started right there.

The unseasonably hot dry weather of this mid-July has been annoying to the city boys but entertaining, it is being predicted that our crops are going to at least match last year's. Of course that is some too good. I have a brother-in-law who was here last week. He slapped at mosquitoes, bushed off flies, cooled in a rain storm, and suffered from the heat. He informed me that in California they have none of those things. No flies, no mosquitoes, no dry heat, no frost storms. Who wants to live in a country like that. It's fighting the elements and nature that make our people here amongst the steadiest and most robust on the Continent.

WEDDING

ROZIC — JONES

Baskets of gladioli and delphinium decorated the Metropolitan United Church Chapel, South Edmonton for the recent wedding of Muriel Mylaney Jones, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Jones of Lowshead, to Howard Stuart, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Zafe of Edgerton. Rev Reid Yipond, visiting minister of Edmonton performed the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a white satin dress fashioned with pearl trimmed bertha matching the lily point sleeves. Her floor length veil was of illusion net tulle caught up to a beaded and pearl trimmed coronet. She carried a white bible, gift of her parents, decorated with red rosebuds and white daisies. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace and gold watch, gift of the groom. Miss Helen McCrackin was bridesmaid, and chose a shaded mauve shoes dress with white trimmed of flowers. Her bouquet was of yellow gladioli and white carnations. Harold Carey was best man and Chester Zeltz was the usher.

A reception for 36 guests was held at the King Edward Hotel where a three-tiered wedding cake flanked by white tapers and vases of sweet peas centered the bride's table. Receiving the guests, Mrs. Jones chose an afternoon model of gray printed silk jersey completed by grey accessories ad corsage of red roses. Mrs. Zafe chose a printed silk jersey and navy with it white accessories.

Mr. W.E. Fletcher proposed the bridal toast.

The couple left for a honeymoon to Calgary, Banff and Jasper and will take up residence out of Edmonton. For travelling the bride donned a printed silk jersey afternoon dress with white accessories

CIRCUS DRAWS LARGE CROWD

Perhaps cheered by recent rains, hundreds of folk flocked to Killam on Monday, July 15th to take in the King Bros.' Circus, and most of them were not disappointed by the show. Trained animals especially delighted the children, while the trapeze and high-wire events held the interest of adults. For many of the children it was their first opportunity to visit a circus, and perhaps the herd of elephants was the feature of the show for them.

A sidelight of the show was the scramp of license plates on the cars, which represented many provinces and American States.

DEATHS

Mr. Fred Green passed away in the Hardisty hospital on Friday, July 5 at the age of 67 years 11 months. He came to Canada in 1906 and took up farming at Sibbald, Alberta district, where he resided until his death.

WEDDING

HANK — SCHNEIDER

St. Boniface Church was the scene of the recent wedding at Spring Lake of Bernice Marie, daughter of Mr. Schneider and the late Mrs. Schneider of Dayland, and Mr. Charles Hank son of Mr and Mrs Henry Hank of Wetaskiwin. Rev. Father McCarthy officiated at the ceremony. Escorted to church with her father, the bride wore a gown of traditional white satin styled with a net yoke trimmed with beads. She carried a bouquet of Regal lillies and wore a wrist watch, gift from the groom. She was attended by her sisters, who wore taffeta dresses in shades of coral and blue respectively. Flowers were a white wreath in her hair and corsage of roses. The groom's attendant was Mr Melvin and Mr. Alexander Schneider. The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents in Spring Lake. After a honeymoon at Banff the couple will take up residence at High Prairie.

BRAIDEN — DYER

On July 6th at four p.m., Sedgewick United Church was the scene of a quiet but impressive wedding, when Rev. Leslie united in the bonds of holy matrimony in a double-ring ceremony, Bert Braiden, son of Mr and Mrs. Andy Braiden, Sedgewick, and Edna Mary Dyer of Edmonton. The bride, attired in a pearl grey ashleigh dressmaker suit, with matching hale hat and coral accessories, entered the church on the arm of her father, to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played by Mrs. L. Wilson. Her bridesmaid was Miss Clara Mae Braiden, sister of the groom. The groom was supported by Mr. Ronald Burt of Edmonton. During the signing of the register, the soloist, Mrs. Howard Smith rendered the well loved wedding selection "Because"

A wedding reception attended by immediate relatives and friends was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Braiden, where the bride's table was attractively decorated with a wedding cake flanked by vases of assorted summer flowers. The number of the groom received guests in a becoming flowered silk gown with corsage of carnations. Toast to the bride was given by Mr. Roy Maglio of Edmonton, who served in the Canadian Navy with the groom. The toast was responded to by the groom

The happy couple, after a brief honeymoon, will make their home in Edmonton. Out of town guests present at the wedding were Mrs. E. Bashaw, Mrs. E. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Maglio (nee Zena Richardson) and Ronald Burt all of Edmonton, and Miss Vickerman of Olds

MRS. S. GIBB HOSTESS TO PRESBYTERIAN LADIES

About eighteen members and visitors attended the July meeting of the Presbyterian Ladies Assn. held at the home of Mrs. Marion Gibb Thursday. Aside from the regular business plans were made for the entertainment of Rev. Macbeth Miller and Miss Smith Elsie who are to be guest speakers at the July 31 and 21 services in the absence of the regular pastor. C. Secretary reported the purchase of 15 new hymn books which have been placed in the church. A short discussion of the fall bazaar was held as the secretary and treasurer were requested to order materials. Acting upon the suggestion of one of the members, it was decided to cam mence cleaning the kitchen in the church basement with clothes baskets having each member contribute one dish as her roll call at each meeting. Per August will be one plate. At the close lunch was served.

AGRICULTURAL FAIR MEETING ON JULY 15TH

A very encouraging meeting was held with 15 members and directors present, and it was felt that with the present rains a good Fair will be held

It was decided that sheds be purchased for construction of pig pens, and that seating facilities be provided at the quoits ring for spectators. Also some discussion it was decided that the Grains and Grasses and the Vegetable Classes be in the curling rink, providing we could get permission so to do so. Regarding sports it was decided we ask four baseball teams, namely, Killam, Sedgewick, Forestburg and Lougheed, and three softball teams, Valley, Metropolitan and Sedgewick. There will also be

Britain Rebuilds

DAMAGE DONE TO HISTORIC BUILDINGS in all the countries involved is one of the many tragic features of war. Most regrettable, of course, is the death and disability caused by conflict, but the destruction of buildings of historic interest and architectural beauty, which cannot be replaced is a loss to people of the present and of future generations. To the people of Britain and the Commonwealth, the destruction of the British House of Commons by German bombs in 1941 marked the loss of a building associated with many historical events and rich in the tradition of the past. In this, as in the case of many other historic buildings destroyed during the war little time was lost in commencing to rebuild.

Report Given On Progress

In May, 1947, work was commenced on the new House of Commons, and a recent report on the progress which is being made was given by Sir Giles Gilbert Scott, the architect. While the old structure cannot be reproduced, it is apparent that the new building, which is expected to be ready for use by autumn of next year, will have much of the charm of the original structure, with some features representative of the times in which it is being rebuilt. One of these features is the archway from the Chamber to the Lobby which is being named the Churchill arch in honor of the great wartime leader of the country. It will be built partly of new stone and partly of stone from the original building.

* * * *

Wood Is Sent From Canada

From many parts of the Commonwealth valuable materials are being sent to complete the Chamber and Lobby. Timber has been sent from Canada, as well as that which can inside The speaker's chair, of black bean timber from North Queensland, Australia, is to be on exact replica of the speaker's chair in the Canadian House of Commons. Gifts have also come from South Africa, British Guiana, Northern Ireland, the Fiji Islands and many other parts of the Commonwealth. Architecturally the structure will be almost a replica of the old one but it will also contain evidences of the relationship between the various members of the Commonwealth and objects of happy remembrance of the times in which it is being rebuilt.

FERTILIZING BY AIR

Two aircraft recently top-dressed a New Zealand hill farm with 140 tons of fertiliser in pellet form. Flying at 600 feet the plane released a ton of material in seven seconds over an area of about nine acres.

No cost figures were made available but it appears that costs based on aircraft of one ton capacity were higher than hand dressing WWA planes having a capacity of 20 tons or more the cost would be considerably less.

"Good gracious, how terrible!" exclaimed the professor as he finished reading the note left behind by his daughter who had run away.

What ever is the matter dear?" asked his wife, concerned at his obvious distress.

For answer, the professor handed her the letter to read.

So she's eloped with that nincompoop officer?" was the lady's calm comment." "Well I can't say it's quite unexpected."

"But she spelt 'eloped' with two I's" mourned the man of learning.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

— MORAL STRENGTH

All the strength and force of man comes from his faith in things unseen. He who believes is strong; he who doubts is weak.—James Freeman Clarke

From lack of moral strength comes fat. Right alone is irresistible, permanent, eternal. — Mary Baker Eddy.

I must stand with anybody that stands right, stand with him while he is right, and part with him when he goes wrong.—Abraham Lincoln

The cultivation of the moral judgment is the crucial need of civilization.—Dr. Terrance Phelps

Today's greatest danger may be a blessing in disguise if we meet it with intelligence and conviction. —Roy L. Smith.

The men who succeed best in public life are those who take the risk of standing by their own convictions.—James A. Garfield.

Hints For— Happy Motoring

FOLLOWING is one of a series for happy motoring that appeared in an issue of "Happy Motoring" magazine, and we hope the "Don Do's" and "Nine Don'ts" will help you avoid those unnecessary accidents and make driving easier and safer.

The Ten DO'S

1 Many accidents are caused by pre-occupation with business or domestic troubles. Keep your personal importance to yourself and don't take them out on the motoring public

2. Avoid sudden stops. Form the habit of depressing the brake pedal lightly a few times when you intend to stop soon. This will light up your stop light and warn the driver behind you that you intend to stop.

3 Be careful in your approach to bridges, tunnels, causeways, viaducts, underpasses and tunnels. You should be able to stop without collision if the entrance is blocked.

4. Watch the fellow with mangled fenders, twisted bumpers, or splashing headlights. Caveria are a habit with him and he's probably a poor driver.

5. Drivers who do not slow down enough, or who pick up too quickly at the outskirts of town, are responsible for a very high percentage of the serious accidents. Drivers who have not been out on the highway do not expect excessive speed, and may underrate yours. Even though you may seem to be crawling they may be speed laws.

6. If there is a question of an overtake, yield the right of way. Being right won't pay the doctor bills if you are hit, and there's little comfort in knowing it was the other fellow's fault

7. If you even suspect any change in visibility at night, check your headlights. You don't want to be driving one of those nameless and dangerous "one-eyed" cars

8. Keep your foot off the clutch. Riding the clutch causes unnecessary wear on the clutch facing

9. Train your lights for the other fellow, even if he doesn't train for you. Blinding him may cause an accident—and you'll be in it!

10. There is less traffic in the months between October and February but there are more accidents. Take the hint and drive accordingly.

The Nine DON'TS

1 Don't get too close to the car ahead of you on the highway. Remember, you have never seen the driver before and know nothing about him, yet you are putting your life in his hands if he decides to stop suddenly. If someone is tailing you, size up gradually so he can pass you. If you are following a friend in another car or are one of a group of cars in line leave enough room between your car and the one ahead for another car to get in if necessary

2 Don't unnecessarily turn for an easy ride. Understanding causes 60 per cent. of the blowouts

3 Don't pull up close to the low-cred gutter at a railroad crossing. A car might bump you from behind and push you into the path of the train

4. Don't open the left-hand door to alight without first checking to see that nothing is coming behind you. You not only endanger your own life, but you might cause an accident if the driver behind you swerves into the wrong lane to avoid you.

5. Don't fail to glance at your oil and water gauges every 10 minutes. Attention to these may save you a repair bill.

Pigs With Jitters Seldom Die

That's the answer University of Illinois veterinarians have given to several worried swine rasers who have asked about the disease.

Some pigs jump up and down, raising their front legs from the ground, others raise their hind legs. Sometimes the neck muscles are affected, and the pigs heads jerk almost constantly

Veterinarians call the jumping condition myoclonia congenita. In farmers language, they means that the pigs have spasms of their nerves. The cause of the fitters is not known

Pigs generally are affected at farrowing time or soon after In some litters all of the pigs are jumpy, in others only one or two pigs may be affected. Symptoms are worse when the pig is awake and moving about But the disease is seldom fatal. Doctor C. C. Morrill, of the College of Veterinary Medicine, assures hog raisers. The jittery pigs usually stop their jumping by weaning time and are normal. The jitters may not slow down a pig's growth seriously unless it has a hard time nursing Only in rare cases are the jitters noticeable when the pigs are marketed.—Morrell s Stockmen's Letter.

6. Don't use matches when you car is in motion They require 1 or hands Get a lighter, preferably of the non-flame type.

7. Don't light a match or smoke in a garage or filling station

8. Don't leave your motor running while you get gasoline, or when you get out of the car for any reason

9. Don't fail to keep the metal hose nozzle in contact with the tank filler spout on your car or you should handle the gasoline hose yourself This will prevent a spark of static electricity that might ignite gasoline vapour

Safety First In Swimming

OTTAWA — Wise are the parents who teach their children how to swim—not only as a good sport, but often it is a means of avoiding a drowning tragedy later on.

Issuing a warning finger at the number of summer drownings annually in Canada, health and welfare department officials say a little time and a little practice beforehand could prevent such heartbreaks.

"The poor swimmer, learn to swim, and for the sake of others, learn approved methods of life-saving and artificial respiration," say the experts

When planning on going for a swim, first of all get someone to accompany you. Stay out of the water if exhausted from fatigue, or from any other cause. Avoid bathing within one hour after a meal. Don't go in swimming when the body is cooling after perspiring

Avoid bathing altogether in the open air if, after having been a short time in the water, there is a sense of chilliness with numbness of the hands and feet

When taken with cramp while swimming, the Royal Life Saving Society offers the following advice: Keep calm, and turning on the back, rub and stretch the affected limb. If seized in the end of the leg, turn up the toes, straighten the leg, and stretch the muscles, apply friction and knead the surface of the water until they relax

DOG TURNS ON KENO FOR ITS OWN ENTERTAINMENT!

POTTSVILLE, Pa. — Here'd you like to own a dog who turns on the radio and dials in programs? Raymond Klinger, 61-year-old Locust Gap, Pa. barber, thinks he has one

Several times in the last month Klinger has left his home, turning off the radio. When he returned the set was going full blast

Curious, he walked out and then watched through a window He said his dog, Skippy, jumped on the table, flopped the switch and then dialed with his paw

The only thing he's not sure of is whether Skippy likes singing commercials or the jockeys

Don't Load Up On Your Travels

MAKE those unnecessary stops on your vacation trip this summer . . . just for your husband's sake.

Don't pack enough clothes to last you six months if you are going on a two weeks' automobile trip.

Sure, it's a vacation and you hate to be hurried, but do try to speed up your dressing time, so that your husband doesn't feel like he is wasting half of his vacation waiting for you to get ready to do this or that.

Don't insist on hooking up acquaintances in every town you go through, especially if they are friends of yours who have never even met your husband

Do be systematic about your packing so that you aren't constantly asking your husband to haul in half a dozen bags every time you stop for the night.

If you have left the children home, don't keep wondering out loud if they are getting along all right. If you can't help worrying about them, worry silently

Don't insist on doing everything and going everywhere the girls have told you that you mustn't miss.

Don't let a single argument mar the fun of your trip. It takes two to argue so all you have to do to keep peace is keep still when things don't go just right

Don't above all ACT as though you're having fun So many wives spoil their vacations for their faces even when they're supposed to be vacationing to "get away from it all."

Hardisty Happenings

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Crouch and daughter Eileen returned last week from a holiday trip to Shagwaw, Whitehorse and Victoria. Among some of the things they saw were, sword fish, icebergs, whales and the unloading of halibut boats. Jim says he had the pleasure of having to take oxygen and blankets in a plane flying at an altitude of 17,000 feet.

Eddie Matthews has been working with the Calgary Power Co. in the Brierley Rest of Hardisty.

When we asked Sonks for news all he could say was, "They'll Bet."

A regular general business meeting of the Hardisty Legion Branch was held last Friday night.

The regular monthly meeting of Comet Lodge AF and AM was held on July 16th.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Hendricks of Calgary arrived by car Saturday night to spend a few days in town with friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Keegan spent last week touring beauty spots in Edmonton, Banff, Jasper and Edmonton, B. C., Idaho and Montana.

Several Hardisty ball fans motored to Manville last Sunday to see the baseball girls play. Everyone reported a very amusing visit and said work is going to see.

Bars— To Mr. and Mrs. Lou Harris, Monday July 18, a son. Congratulations.

Mrs. Evald Johnson, Mrs. Harry Saville and Rosalie Johnson left on Monday to spend a few days in Edmonton. Mrs. Johnson to continue on to the Coast for a time.

Parks And Resorts That Excel In Beauty

ALBERTA

Aspen Beach

ASPEN Beach Park is a small area on the shore of Gull Lake near the town of the same name. Some 37 miles Southwest of Lacombe. It was set aside as a Provincial Park in 1932 for bathing, skating and picnic purposes. It doesn't cater to transient trade.

Gooseberry Lake

THIS park has on the shores of Gooseberry Lake north of Ohaton on the C.P.R. line east of Lacombe and was established to serve the population of that large district with outing facilities. It has a sports ground and tourists are allowed to summer cottages along the shore. Some game bird hunting is done in the neighborhood. Hunters can get accommodation at Ohaton.

Assineau Reserve

THE Assineau Reserve on the Athabasca River south of a settlement of the same name on the southern shore of Lesser Slave Lake was established as reserve an unusually splendid stand of large spruce whose graves provide a beautiful spot for picnic and outing ground. The main highway to Peace River passes about three miles north of it and a secondary road leads into the reserve.

Writing On Stone Reserve

THIS reserve on the Milk River is east and south from Coutts and was established to preserve a large number of peculiar natural sandstone which have been weathered into grotesque shapes and upon which appear distinct hieroglyphics believed to have been inscribed by Indians of an extinct tribe or culture.

Hommy Park

THIS park lies in the vicinity of Allbright between Crowsnest Pass and Hythe on the Northern Alberta Railway. Picnic and outing facilities.

Saskatoon Mountain Reserve

THIS reserve preserves a fine looking out point in the Grande Prairie district, north of Lake Saskatoon. It is a high hill rising from a vast expanse of level terrain from which on a clear day, visibility extends for possibly 150 miles in all directions.

Bad Lands Reserve

THE Bad Lands Reserve located north of Drumheller in the vicinity of the Munson Ferry was established to put a stop to unauthorized removal of fossilized remains of prehistoric animals of the dinosaur type. A secondary road extends through the valley from Drumheller but the fossil beds must be reached on foot.

Sylvan Lake

THIS park on the shores of Sylvan Lake about 11 miles west of Red Deer was established primarily for the use of summer cottage residents. There is a good hotel in the town, two good dance halls, boating is good and the long reaches of shallow water over clean sandy beaches make the place popular among families with small children.

Park Lake

THIS park was set aside to provide a picnic facilities for residents in the Rocky Butte and Monarch districts north and west of Lethbridge. It has no accommodation for transient tourist.

Lundbreck Falls

LUNDBRECK Falls is a pleasant little beauty spot on the Crow's Nest Pass highway west of Macleod. It is particularly popular with Americans in the autumn and many motorists enroute from British Columbia to Alberta by that route stop there for a few hours fishing. There are a few second-rate cabins near the falls and at the falls. Hotel accommodation is available at Blairmore or Pole or Creek, both a few miles distant.

Dillberry Reserve

LOCATED on the Alberta Saskatchewan boundary near Chauvin the Dillberry Lake Reserve was established to preserve the natural beauty of a picturesque lake whose wooded shores a rarity in the district provided outing facilities for residents of near-by towns.

Wapiti Reserve

LOCATED on the Wapiti River about 10 miles south of Grande Prairie, the Wapiti Reserve established an outing spot for the rural district. At this point the Wapiti River banks are about 200 feet high and the river passes through a canyon. The reserve is also used by big game hunters, that district being among the foremost hunts of moose.

Beside the picturesque background of thickly leafed trees many lakes of the Prairies can boast of the long shallow beaches, as shown above, that enables the youngest to the oldest vacationist to enjoy their daily dip.

Ghost River

WHEN the Ghost River dam of the Calgary Power plant was completed, it created a beautiful lake in the valleys of the Ghost and Bow Rivers in a site ideally located for boating and other aquatic sports. Tourists enjoy travel belong on the numerous tributaries of the Bow and those which are handy to the main highway from Calgary to Banff.

Little Smoky Reserve

THE Little Smoky Reserve lies in a canyon on the river of the same name about 12 miles south of Fallen on the Northern Alberta Railway to Grande Prairie. It is used as a picnic ground and by big game hunters.

Hints For Fishermen And The Camper

MOST fishermen or those fishing this year will stay at comfortable hotels, chalets or lodges, or in outing cabins, but there will be some who will "go camping" for several days. To the camper the following warnings and hints may be useful:

See that the campfire is really out. Do not set or be on bare ground.

Always carry two waterproof match boxes. Do not use them all the time but keep them in reserve.

Keep your axe and hatchet sharp. Don't forget a sewing kit.

Do not have a dirty camp. Destroy all refuse from the table in the fire. Don't pollute the woods.

Two heavy shirts are warmer than a sweater or coat.

A little vinegar boiled in pans will take away fish smell.—E. H.

To keep nails away from rubbers set a box on four sticks standing in tin cans or saucers full of water.

If your boots are wet, scrape some hot dirt or sand from under the campfire and fill them with it. They will be dry in the morning.

Don't get into bed water with hip boots on.

Never drift into swift water. Have plenty of steering way on your craft.

In running logs on foot keep your eye on the log, not on the moving water below. Test the bark to see if it is loose.

Your peavie should not be too large, of good steel with two strong blades, a can opener, leather punch and a file.

USES OWN METHOD

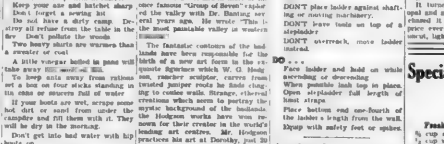
Blinded by accident when he was 75, H. C. Vincent, New Southgate, Middlesex, England, now 85, writes his own letters by a method he evolved himself.



QUIETER WATERS—Quiet streams as shown above are frequent in the West, where one can relax to the fullest and also enjoy the good sport of fishing.

Alberta's Dinosaur Park

ALBERTA'S Banks in the Rocky Mountain chain haven't always been the mighty spectacle they are today. There was when the Rockies hadn't even been formed; when Alberta was a territory of standing swamps and jungles, with hot winds blowing up from the Pacific. That was a time when dinosaurs, 30 and 40 feet long and just as high, held sway, some of them carnivorous, some vegetarian, others amphibious, all living and feeding on a tropical land.

That era was at least fifty million years ago, according to geologists and learning dynasty, as the experts term it, lasted 130 million years and the period has left its mark.

Today Dinosaur Park in the Red Deer Valley 88 miles northeast of Calgary, has been established as a tourist reserve, a resort that is a wild fantastic valley of hoodoos, coulees, red shale hills, rainbow tints, gigantic bones protruding from the wind-carved earth, queerly shaped earth formations alive with colorings rabies, but there will be some who will "go camping" for several days To the camper the following warnings and hints may be useful: See that the campfire is really out. Do not set or be on bare ground.

Always carry two waterproof match boxes. Do not use them all the time but keep them in reserve.

Keep your axe and hatchet sharp. Don't forget a sewing kit.

Canoe Trip From McMurray To The Pas

FOR those who wish to make a canoe trip across country from McMurray to The Pas, Manitoba, it would provide an excellent opportunity for a complete demonstration of rivercraft and woodlore. Passing through a chain of lakes, waterfalls, rapids and silent reaches which grew tense with the songs of the old voyageurs, the country will cover historic territory along the former highway of the west. Guides are not always necessary as those who are sure should be recruited. Travel along the Clearwater to Methy Portage. Then from Methy Lake to Peter Pond and Ile-a-la-Crosse Lake, then along the Churchill River for 30 miles. At Frog Portage the route is changed and the canoe follows a chain of lakes and streams leading to Cumberland House and the Saskatchewan River, which winds down to The Pas. The route is rich in points of interest. Game is plentiful. Wild-fowl and fish—trout, pike and pickerel—are to be found in abundance.

LADDER SAFETY

DON'T . . .

DON'T use a ladder with missing rungs or broken steps or side rails.

DON'T place ladder against shafting or moving machinery.

DON'T leave tools on top of a step-ladder.

DON'T overreach, move ladder instead.

DO . . .

Face ladder and hold on while ascending or descending.

When possible lash top in place. Open step-ladder full length of spread straps.

Place bottom end one-fourth of the ladder's length from the wall.

Equip with safety feet or spikes.

Auction Sale To Complete A Vacation

BOSTON.—A New England vacationist almost completed his vacation with an afternoon at an auction sale. Where all the early American furniture comes from is surprising, but there never seems to be a shortage of auction sales or lookers.

Though not exclusive to New England, residents seem to have a special charm for the natives, as well as visitors, perhaps because they combine the appeal of a bargain, a human interest story, and hours of keen swapping over a back fence.

BANANAS PICKED GREEN

All bananas, even those eaten locally in the tropics, are picked green because they are not fit to eat if permitted to ripen on the plants.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

Okanagan Beauty

THE beautiful Okanagan country follows the Valley of the Okanagan lake south to the border Vernon, Kelowna and Penticton are major vacation centres in this beautiful orchard-land, but good accommodation and facilities are available at many lake-side villages and settlements where full vacation facilities are obtainable and from which excursions may be made to scores of higher, but smaller lakes where cabins accommodate the angler, hunter or nature lover. This is a "dry" country but irrigation used practically the length of the valley makes the Okanagan one of the most verdantly beautiful sections of the continent. Here, too, game and upland birds are hunted in season, good fishing obtains, and aquatic and athletic outdoor sports are enjoyed over a long season.

Glorious Kootenays

THE Kootenays in the south-eastern section of British Columbia offer the visitor a myriad of lakes and streams. Here timbered mountains dip sharply into the waters and rise to snow-capped heights. It is said of the Kootenay region that it has her more kinds of big game which may be hunted, than any other part of the world. The Rocky Mountains form the eastern boundary of the area and are home for the Rocky Mountain rounds. Steamers on the Arrow Lakes offer fortnightly cruises to the motorist, and while some mainline highways have been built throughout the area, few sections of the Kootenay Northwest afford the average traveller much close contact with virgin wilderness.

Revelstoke

REVELSTOKE is in the western gateway to the Selkirk Mountains and ranks South Central British Columbia and the lower mainline district. Five great Rocky Mountain resort areas Mount Revelstoke, Glacier, Hamber, Yoho and Kicking Horse parks and provincial parks all afford Alpine recreation and fine scenery. Steamer which have given the area the name "Switzerland of America". Revelstoke is also famous for its ski facilities, the district affording year-round attractions.

A Vacation That Really Paid Off

ADELAIDE, Australia.—Two citizens of this town are able to boast a vacation that really paid off. They spent a month on a disused opal field in South Australia, rummaged around in old mines, and discovered a giant semi-precious stone

It turned out to be almost pure opal and a Port Augusta buyer purchased it for £3,000. The highest price ever paid in Australia for an uncut, light opal.

Specially Selected Recipes For Your Holiday Guests

Fresh Peach Ice Cream

½ cup sweetened, condensed milk
½ cup water
1½ cups crushed fresh peaches
2 egg whites
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup whipping cream

Blend sweetened condensed milk with water thoroughly. Pour into freezing trays and chill until beginning to freeze. Stir well and fold in fresh, whipped egg whites into the consistency. Then add the crushed peaches to which sugar, lemon juice and salt have been added. Return to freezing unit set at coldest setting. When mixture is half-frozen, remove from sides and bottom of tray, whip with a fork until smooth and creamy but not melted. Replace in freezing unit and freeze until firm to serve 6.

12 eggs, separated
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
2 quarts milk
2 tablespoons flavoring
1 pint heavy cream or ice cream

Beat egg yolks until thick, adding salt and sugar gradually. Add milk, flavoring. Heat. Chill 4 hours, or overnight, in refrigerator. To serve turn into punch bowl. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and cream whipped until stiff. 50 glass punch.

Frozen Fruit Salad

6 ounces package cream cheese
1 cup mayonnaise
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
1 cup maraschino cherries, quartered
½ cup green cherries, quartered
1 can (2½ cups) crushed pineapple, drained
2½ cups diced marshmallows (about 24)

Combine cheese and mayonnaise, blend until smooth. Fold in whipped cream, fruit and marshmallows. Pour into refrigerator tray. Freeze until firm. Serves 8 to 10.

Banana Bread

¼ cup butter
1 cup sugar
2½ cups all-purpose flour
2 eggs
3 mashed bananas
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ cup chopped nuts

Cream butter and sugar, add eggs and mix well. Mash bananas, add to mixture. Add to creamed mixture. Sift flour and measure; sift again with baking powder and soda. Add dry ingredients gradually to cream mixture. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for 45 minutes.

Cornflake Crust

1½ cups rolled corn flakes
¼ cup melted butter
¼ cup flour
½ teaspoon cinnamon

Combine sugar, cinnamon and corn flakes; pour over the melted butter and combine well, using the hands to combine the mixture. Press into pie plate and chill well. This is suitable for bread cream fillings.

Nut Balls

½ cup butter, or part shortening
½ cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
1 egg
1 teaspoon salt
1½ cups all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon vanilla
¾ cup finely chopped nuts

Cream butter and shortening, add sugar gradually, then egg, beaten with vanilla. Blend together thoroughly. Flour dates and nuts with little of flour mixture. Add remaining flour and fruit to creamed mixture and stir well.

Dissolve soda in hot water and add, stirring well to blend thoroughly. Drop by spoonfuls on well greased cookie sheet. Bake at 350 deg. F. for about 15 minutes.

INTERESTING STORY —

THE BLUE DRESS

Truth Is Stranger Than Fiction

By LILA LENNON

MISS LACEY was a quiet little woman, something of an enigma to her colleagues in the dress section. She was a frustrated old maid who had an artistic nature. She had been disappointed in love. No one ever knew because Miss Lacey kept her secret with a smile and dreamed.

Miss Lacey needed her job, no one knew how badly. Certainly not Bixley, the department head. Only that morning she had spoken sharply to Hesky Lacey your sales record should be better. After all, we're here to make money."

All day the words had haunted Miss Lacey. She felt the unspoken threat as a cloud. Miss Lacey had paid about given up when she saw two customers. One woman was a were a shabby print and the young girl was wearing a shirt too short and a sweater too long.

Miss Lacey stretched what she hoped was a welcoming smile across her face. "Can I help you?"

The woman settled her hat with a tired gesture. We're looking for a formal for Ruthie."

Ruthie stood staring at a blue mousseline de soie with a bouffant skirt. It was a lovely shade and the price tag was $19.95. Her mother's eyes moved to the price tag and rack filled with slightly soiled and clearance sales.

"Any special style?" Miss Lacey asked.

The woman fingered a white page "This might do, if it could be cut off, later"

Ruthie came up with the blue dress.

"Mother, can I try this on—" she asked, breathlessly Ruthie's mother nodded. "I suppose so. I thought this white one . . ."

The girl disappeared.

Miss Lacey said, quietly, "Let's try them both." She went to the rack and Lacey slipped the pages over Ruthie's head. Her busy shoulders stuck out like a pair of undeveloped wings.

"It is a nice dress," her mother said tentatively. Ruthie said nothing.

Miss Lacey put the blue dress on Ruthie and stepped to settle the folds. She heard a gasp as the girl looked in the mirror. Ruthie had caught her shirt waist in her belt and piled it on the top of her head. Over were the awkwardness and adolescence, and in their place appeared a lovely creature, a child, half woman.

A familiar pain caught at Miss Lacey's heart. Ruthie turned from the mirror. "Please, mother, It's perfect!"

Ruthie's mother fingered her worn purse. "I don't think we can afford Short Story—The Man in My Life rather expensive, and it can't be made into anything else."

Ruthie moved like a doll. Miss Lacey she said, "Is there a belt mirror I could use myself—"

"Yes." Miss Lacey said. "There's a triple mirror outside."

The girl left and Miss Lacey knew the question was coming.

"What do you think?" the woman asked. "It seems such an extravagance. For just one night, and only a school dance" Her voice trailed off.

Miss Lacey sat down on the other chair; she was very tired. "Twenty dollars isn't much to give for your daughter. A first dress and a first dance are important, especially when you're young. Ruthie looks pretty enough, then you're old and nothing to tell . . . I'm sorry. You know best, of course."

Ruthie's mother didn't speak. Miss Lacey felt a little desperate. The sale of the blue dress would fill her quota, but she couldn't think of any thing to say. Unless she dared. She said, hesitantly, "Your daughter reminds me of my little girl. She was about Ruthie's age when I bought her first formal. It was pink net she was so pretty in pink."

Miss Lacey stared straight ahead, her eyes were dark with remembering. "I never wore dance shoes."

Ruthie's mother gasped and Miss Lacey looked at her. Suddenly the words tumbled out "What if I had worn them for a few hours and some scuffs had to patch my slips? It was worth it!"

The woman looked at Miss Lacey She straightened her shoulders and said, "You're right. Maybe Ruthie's life will be like mine, someday, dull and drab. But, just once, she should have a lovely dress to remember."

Miss Lacey found that she was trembling. Never before had she spoken so to anyone Ruthie came back. Her mother smiled and said, "Ruthie, we'll take the blue dress." The girl stared at her mother a moment and cried, "Oh, mother, you're wonderful!"

Miss Lacey's bell rang and Miss Lacey watched her customers leave. She felt better, somehow. She wasn't so tired

Bailey came up to Miss Lacey "Did you make the sale?"

"Yes, they took the $19.95 blue." Miss Lacey said. She looked around booth, straightening up, and I found your sandwich. It was a good sagle, but, did you have to make it so big?"

Miss Lacey looked at Bailey. "The truth is sometimes sad," she said.

Something To Fit The Corner

THERE is always too much going on in our sitting-room to make it a good place for letter-writing or doing the household accounts

To provide a quiet writing corner I fitted this simple wall desk in our bedroom. It requires rather more timber than most of the other fittings I have described, but now that many decorative hardwoods are off the ration it is possible to make more ambitious furniture.

First Step: The desk is constructed on the boards A and B. They are 2 feet by 10 inches, and then B is fixed to the sides of the cupboard shorter. The two boards fit side to end in the corner see sketch

HOW TO ASSEMBLE

Second step: Edge the front, 2 inches by 10 inches, are screwed on the outside ends of the boards to carry the shelf.

Third step: A supporting bar for the writing surface 2 inches by 3 inches is made to cut at an angle and screwed into the back of the side pieces see the small diagram Both diagrams show how a narrow fillet is nailed to the boards to carry the back edges of the writing surface

Fourth step: Cut the writing surface to fit between the sides and fix with four slim screws from beneath

Fifth step: The shelf is then fixed two equal levels, 2 feet by 6 inches rounded at the outside corners and fitted to fit in the angle

Sixth step: Plug the wall as that the writing surface will be 2 feet 6 inches from the floor and screw about six times as sadly as the framework to the wall (Take care) screws to find uprights in left-handplaster to sink in its dense water.

Headerchief Trick Easy If Known

HOLD your handkerchief by one corner Then, to give it stiffness you may, strake it briefly several times with the free hand Next grab the lower end and let the top end go To the amazement of your friends the handkerchief stands upright for a while as you go through the motions of trying hard to balance it.

That's not so hard as it looks! Someone may say Let him try it with his own handkerchief or a second one which you have ready. If his handkerchief is ordinarily starched he may be able to get by, which is exactly what you hope he will.

Then comes your second stunt. The remains of making your handkerchief stand out horizontally or vertically. Thus remains of a cold can spread typhoid and dysentary. The rule on the floor of a laundry member of the Lodges And Society can prevent the chicken salad for the church supper

HOW TO ASSEMBLE

Second step: Screw sides to top and bottom with inch-square corner fillets, as shown in diagram. Screw on back. Screw and battens to outside of lid. The main structure of the desk is now complete.

FIX THE LID

Third step: Screw hobs to take bolts to end battens and bolt in positions as indicated. Bore corresponding holes in top so that the lid can be bolted to the top to form a bench Bore similar holes in lid and shooting block so that the lid can be bolted on to the bench when required as shown in sketch

Fourth step: Cut a batten 18 inches long and 2 inches square. Bore two bolt holes to correspond with the holes in the lid Screw the batten firmly in the wall with plugs and screw the top 30 inches from the floor. The lid is bolted to the batten when the bench is in use as shown. A similar batten can be fixed to the back wall or wherever the portable bench is to be used.

Final step: Fit the interior of the chest with shelves, racks, and hooks to take the tools, boxes of nails, and screws. The rope handles of the chest are knotted on the inside and the lid is secured by four hasps.

Restaurant Sanitation

LAWS, inspection and court action are necessary in accomplishing restaurant sanitation, but persistent education is essential for permanent results, states Homer N. Calver in an article—"The Thumb in the Soup" —in the current issue of Health, official magazine of the Health League of Canada. It is also the editor of Health Officers News Digest.

He states that three groups must be reached by this education: (1) the people who own and operate our eating places; (2) the public that works in them, and (3) those who eat there.

Pure and undeteriorated food, protected from spoilage and infection served by sanitary employees clothed with clean habits and in clean eating and drinking places are the public health requirement for eating and drinking places, Mr. Calver points out. Good light, good ventilation and good cheer, with adequate washing and comfortable attributes of any food handling establishment, but in the end analysis they have little direct bearing upon disease. Good equipment and proper supplies are useful in purveying a non-dangerous food, but they are not essential.

"Stainless steel does not prevent the thumb in the soup," says Mr. Calver "Many a lipstick-smeared glass emerges from improperly operated modern dishwashing equipment. The idle ways in which foothanders work can have more effect on health than the most elaborate things they work with."

The author remarks that a chance of infection runs from person to person in the things we eat and drink and the things we eat and drink from and with. The unfashionfeted glass can carry the bacteria and viruses of livers, gall bladder, measles influenza, scarlet fever and the common cold from mouth to mouth The unwashed hand of a cook can spread typhoid and dysentary. The rule on the floor of a laundry member of the Lodges And Society can prevent the chicken salad for the church supper

Kit Trouble Is Over For Father

WHO left that hammer on the stairs." Look at those shavings on the kitchen table! You, father again in trouble Be far away father and ben in trouble I have solved the problem of the handyman's kit chest which opens up to provide a solid working-bench in a minimum of space.

My solution is that portable tool

The chest is constructed of one inch timber. It is 30 inches high, 18 inches wide and 9 inches deep. If you extend the bottom by 4 inches on each side you will have room for a couple of planes. The lid is 36 inches long, 20 inches wide and 2 inches deep.

MAIN STRUCTURE

First step: Cut back and lid pieces 18 inches by 20 inches, two side pieces 9 inches by 30 inches; top and bottom pieces 9 inches by 18 inches, two end battens for lid and one shooting block, all 18 inches by 2 inches.

Second step: Screw sides to top and bottom with inch-square corner fillets, as shown in diagram. Screw on back. Screw and battens to outside of lid. The main structure of the desk is now complete.

FIX THE LID

Third step: Bore holes to take bolts to end battens and bolt in positions as indicated. Bore corresponding holes in top so that the lid can be bolted to the top to form a bench Bore similar holes in lid and shooting block so that the lid can be bolted on to the bench when required as shown in sketch

Fourth step: Cut a batten 18 inches long and 2 inches square. Bore two bolt holes to correspond with the holes in the lid Screw the batten firmly in the wall with plugs and screw the top 30 inches from the floor. The lid is bolted to the batten when the bench is in use as shown. A similar batten can be fixed to the back wall or wherever the portable bench is to be used.

Final step: Fit the interior of the chest with shelves, racks, and hooks to take the tools, boxes of nails, and screws. The rope handles of the chest are knotted on the inside and the lid is secured by four hasps.

$200 Turns Up In Furrow, Last Plowing 3 Years Ago

TILLSONBURG. — It is an exception that one loses something and finds it intact three years later, but that was the happy experience of W. C. Beckett, well-known farmer on the 10th concession of Blenheim Township, northwest of Tillsonburg.

While plowing a field on the Beckett farm on April 11, 1944, Percy Beckett was carrying his father's wallet in his pocket and it fell out while he was seated on the tractor. The wallet was buried in a newly-turned furrow The father was laid up with injuries and the son was carrying the wallet which contained around $300 to pay the employees.

The field had not been plowed since and recently and Mr Beckett noticed the lost wallet follow the mould board of the plow to the top of the ground. Upon opening the wallet the money was found intact. All bills were in good condition with the exception of two $1 00 bills which had been torn in two.

PROGRESS

In 1835 it took 60 hours in the field to raise a bushel of wheat. A century later machines were helping to do the same job for a total of two hours' field work.

Well, it's me again folks, bringin, ju, you the local scandal for another week. My thanks to Mr. Rogers for writing a very interesting column in the Press during my absence.

Ronnie Kishkovich accompanied his sister Ann of Edmonton on a week's holiday at Vancouver, where they visited their aunt. Ronnie returned home last week and Ann will spend the remainder of her holidays at Cyprus Lake.

Little Ardice McClure of Irma is spending a visit with her grand parents the F. Rogers while Mrs. McClure is supervising the irma CGIT girls at Hardisty Lake.

Mr and Mrs Love and family from Killam and Mr and Mrs Gillespie of Lyalvew, Sask. were last Sunday guests at the Parker home. The GIB copies were enroute on a holiday at Banff, Jasper and Calgary.

Mr and Mrs P. Burden attended the Calgary Stampede.

Mr and Mrs I. Morris of Seattle spent a couple of days visiting with the O Probst family. Mrs. Morri and Mrs. Probst are sisters.

Francis McDonald spent a few days amongst the bright lights of the capital city last week.

Two junior baseball league games were played last week at the home diamond. On Monday night the local lads defeated Sedgewick by a score of 8 to 6. The following night the South Killam team was victorious, after a very exciting game, the score being 3 to 2.

June Marlow has been spending a visit with Yakee of Jarrow.

The D. Denham family spent the last week at the N. Denham.

We see Orville Ahens back again after having spent the past month in the States where he visited friends and relatives in Minneapolis.

Also back home from their holiday in the States are Mr. and Mrs. Lo sons, Glen and Gerry, C. Lende and M. Holmen. They visited friends and relatives in North Dakota, Missouri and Montana. Mr. Holmen spent the greater part of his visit in Minn.

While away they also attended an old timers reunion at Fergus. Here stated the crops were fair all above, with the exception of the Red River Valley district and parts of Montan where farmers expected bumpe crops. They returned home via Pri cary where they attended the first day of the Stampede.

Mrs. Hardisty spent last Wednesday in Edmonton.

Marie Marlow has been holidayin and at the Cross farm.

J. Herlem is receiving medical treatment at the University Hospital in Edmonton. We wish him a very speedy recovery.

Mrs. Iverson of Calgary visit her sister in law Mrs. E. Larson f a couple of weeks.

Mr. J. Larson and Dale spent a weeks holiday at Darrell and Bob Peach with Mr. Larsons sister in Betty Denham was hostess to Tuesday when a number of little friends helped her celebrate her 6th birthday. The usual little folks' games were played and a delicious lunch served by Mrs. Denham.

Ellen Lamence has been assisting Ken's Cafe for the past week.

Last Wednesday afternoon found the Wildcats headed for the Viking sports, and when the day was over F. Sat had reason to be proud of his team. Their first victory was over Viking I won't embarrass the opposing team by mentioning the score in the final game Lougheed won over Killam by a score of 8—2. The first game was pitched by G. Simpson and the second by C. Ingvaldson who struck out 14 men. Keep up the good work boys You're doing O K.

Mr and Mrs. W Grandage and family and Mrs. Allan Fulmer have returned to their homes at Calgary after a holiday here.

F. Pedlar received word last Saturday, of the death of his sister at Toronto. Our sympathy is given.

Mr and Mrs B Loridahl spent a few days in Edmonton last week and then came home and settled down to the business of moving into their new house by the curling rink.

Mr and Mrs. E. Weir and Carlen returned home last week from a holiday at Banff, Kelowna, Etc.

Clayt Lawrence is a patient in Col Hewburn hospital at Edmonton and is receiving medical care. Sorry we had get well Clayt. We miss you.

Melba Cutsforth of Daysland visited friends here last Thursday.

Mrs C Winger spent the past week end in Camrose visiting with her brother and wife.

They did it again! Yes the junior ball team is really enjoying the life this night they won another of their league games by beating Hardisty.

Mr and Mrs A. Purcell and the family of Calgary are spending a couple weeks at the J. Parker home.

Mr and Mrs P Draper and family of Vegreville spent a two week visit with C Desjarins and A Desjarins

They're all starting to return now-a-days. Last week brought the Mc-Coys and E. Bakken home, and by the time this is in print the grain buyers and families will be back.

Mr. Tolfer and Mrs. O. Tolfer spent a few days in Edmonton lately. Long overdue home with a very pretty bunking Doctor ent.

The dance at Groveland School was quite well attended last Friday night, and from all reports everyone had a good time Music was supplied by Johnny Heron Orchestra.

Mr and Mrs O. Probst and Helen left the first of the week for a trip to Portland and Seattle where they will visit relatives. Mrs. W F Probst and Sheila accompanied them here they will visit with Mrs. Probst's parents.

Chas Probst returned home last Friday after attending the

There's an old saying that goes, whatever you start, I can go you one better, I mean by that, I can drop in drink. We guess the it Walmsleys who are camping at Hardisty Lake, found that true, as we noticed them in Lougheed last week getting a supply of water. Quite a ways to haul water don't you think.

Mrs. Keeney and Dick were in the city for a few days last week, while Dick had a minor operation.

Anyone ever say there were no carpenters around here? Well, take a look at the work that's been done on the Legion Hut if you don't think so. If it keeps progressing as fast as it has these last few days they'll probably be holding a session there inside of a week.

Hey kids, what took so long coming home from Hardisty Lake a couple of Sunday's ago? Is that modernized buggy " couldn't be possible to have a breakdown could it?

Mrs. Marlow spent a few days at her Hardisty Lake cottage recently.

Joyce Denham and Elaine Olsen are at the W I Girls Club at Olds

How quick the weather does make a change. All week we walked and cycled to find the coolest place in the village, and on Saturday we wondered why we ever put our winter duds away. No complaint though as the rain was worth millions even if we do do a little shivering.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

THE MAN IN MY LIFE

By Louis Arthur Cunningham

THE Shaw's sisters were easily the loveliest of all the girls for miles around Fotcroft. They married young and well—rich men who gave them cars and furs—all except Lesley, mainly the prettiest of the four. Lesley turned down a half-dozen fine offers, waited until Brad Connor came home from the war, married him the week after and went with him to the old Connor farm, high on Malvern Hill, out of the world and by the world forgotten. Everybody said how foolish she was. The three other Shawsons, in their positions and on their country estates, said it oftenest. Lois, the eldest, a redhead with eyes green as emeralds and just as hard, hammered at Lesley. "Don't be such a fool. Think of what you're letting yourself in for when you marry Brad and go off to that eagle's eyrie of his. I know Brad's a good guy—sober, serious, steady, and you don't want for anything, but he'll be as dull as a log before you're a year old, he can talk a row or handle a plow, but there's much more in life."

"Brad," Lesley said simply, "is what I want."

"Name it."

"It's—" Lesley shook her head. "Oh, it's something you can't name, Lolie."

"You're hopeless. And I wish you wouldn't call me Lolie—Ed doesn't like it."

Lesley smiled. She had been through the so often. With Sally, who had a year's start after her in adoring Marven Grant, who was said but many with Beth who owned race horses and had a cocktail named after her by Pete Bowers, on head of hair but was nasty.

Lesley and Brad went quietly off to the little church where, as children, they had sung in the choir, pretending to read the same hymn, and there were married by old Canon Rose, who was also Lesley's godfather. Then they went to the farm on the hill. The sisters and husbands came with gifts—rich things that seemed garish among the old furniture.

"Heading's right in that corkery," stormed Lois. "That lovely portable that they consulted on the hero and Brad never sits in that chrome chair we gave him."

"I don't see how she can stand it," agreed Sally. "The place is like Wuthering Heights."

"Lez will get fed up soon," said Beth, breaking open a cocktail shaker, even painting the walls herself. And Brad seems to take it all as natural as a log cabin. He'll just smoke his pipe and half the time don't even talk to her."

"And they haven't even got a radio," said Lois.

"Radio!" Beth shrugged. "They haven't even got electricity."

"I heard Lesley was buying a power-plant with some of his gratuity."

"Well, when he does we'll give 'em a radio," said Sally. "We'll all have a party."

They fixed the party for a night on sleet and big-starred that even their blase souls were moved. Ed stopped his car on the lookout and said, "What a night! Makes you feel sort of good. And it's a powerful quiet up here. Maybe those kids have something. The world's kind of a crummy place of late."

"It's no place for Lesley," cut in Lois.

"I dunno," grunted Pete Bowers. "She's an able guy, Connor. He gave me the idea he knows where he's going and what he's after."

"You're impossible," said Beth. "Both of you. I don't know what Lesley sees in him."

"Once the glamor of first love has worn off," Sally groaned, Marven was already asleep, his shiny head on her shoulder.

The lights of the old house twinkled among the pines and firelight shone out when Lesley and Brad came to the door. The men carried in the radio

"Here's something to liven you up," said Ed. "Bring a bit of cheer into your lives."

"You're impossible," said Beth. "Both of you. I don't know what Lesley sees in him."

"Once the glamor of first love has worn off," Sally groaned, Marven was already asleep, his shiny head on her shoulder.

APPLE CAKE

Recipe

Measure into bowl, ½ cup lukewarm water, 1 teaspoon granulated sugar; sift over and let dissolved. Sprinkle with contents of envelope Fleischmann's Royal Yeast. Let stand 10 minutes. Then stir well. Scald ½ cup milk and stir in ¼ cup granulated sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons fat (shortening or oil) to lukewarm. Beat in 1 cup sieved whole wheat flour. Add yeast mixture and 1 beaten egg; beat well. Work in enough more flour to make a soft dough. Knead lightly, place in greased bowl, brush surface with melted butter or shortening, cover and let rise in warm place, free from draughts, 1½ hours, or until doubled in bulk. Punch down dough and divide into 2 equal portions; form into smooth balls. Roll each piece into an oblong and put in pan greased pans about ½ inch thick. Cover and let rise in warm place until doubled in bulk. Press fingers deeply into this dough, brush with melted butter and sprinkle with granulated sugar and lightly grated apple mixed with cinnamon and sugar. Cover and let rise about ½ hour. Bake in moderate oven, 350°, about 1 hour. Serve hot, with butter.

Stays Fresh-Acting Dry Yeast Needs NO Refrigeration!

Stays fresh and full-strength on your pantry shelf for weeks! Here's all you do:

1. In a small amount (usually specified) of lukewarm water, dissolve thoroughly 1 teaspoon sugar for each envelope of yeast.
2. Sprinkle with dry yeast. Let stand 10 minutes.
3. THEN stir well. (The water used with the yeast counts as part of the total liquid called for in your recipe.)

FRENCH FARMERS ARE BATTLING COLORADO BEETLE MENACE — One of the many hazards that farmers have to contend with is the combating of insects that are injurious to crops, fruits and vegetables. In France the farmers are trying to cope with Colorado beetle menace that has broken out. One of the methods being used is to kill the insects as shown in above picture. A helicopter is being used to spray a potato field near Caen. An estimated 10,000 acres in the neighborhood of Caenne will receive same treatment.—E.N.S. photo

Says Girls Know How To Keep Cool

OTTAWA — Hot, eh? Well, take a tip from the girls. They have it all over the men when it comes to knowing how to keep cool in warm weather.

That's the opinion of Dr R. G. Reid, chief of the Health and Welfare Department's Civil Service Health Division. He said in an interview he was hearing in favor of open-necked dresses, shorts and no stockings.

"Clothing should be light and as non-constrictive as possible — and women follow that out," he said.

But men? Those ties?

The Socks-in to some of the worst offenders," Dr Reid nodded down perceptingly, and accusingly, at his own dark blue number.

"A neck-tie," he said, "prevents circulation of air between the head and the body."

Blech, darn it, at the neck, wore the best.

As for physical exercise, he warned that persons getting on in years should be chary of hot weather exercise.

For instance "you'll find a lot of people in the hospital in the middle of July."

While they might not be harmful to the young ones, older persons might find them a bit too much for their not used to exertion.

"People more than 45 should not undertake unaccustomed strenuous exercise, particularly in hot weather," said Dr. Reid.

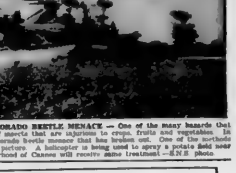

Diagram shows the relation between hay quality, hay consumption and grain requirements.

Some Do's And Don'ts When Electrical Storms Approach

TRENTON, N.J. — Don't worry about shelter under a steep cliff or the centre of dense woods.

Don't what not to do to even more important

You're a lot smarter to get soaked by rain out in the open than to get cooked by lightning standing under a lone tree. The danger spots to avoid are wire fences, clotheslines, open sheds or small outbuildings.

Golfers came in for a special scolding from the society. Instead of lugging those clubs under a tree, golfers should put their clubs down and stay out in the open.

Lightning, the Medical Society says, never needs to strike twice.

Alaska Heading For Record Influx Of Tourists

JUNEAU, Alaska. — According to Alaska's pre-season tourist information, the biggest invasion of visitors from all parts of the world in the territory experts in 1949 the greatest influx of tourists in its 81-year-old history. Thousands of persons scattered from Alexandria Egypt, to Omaha, Neb., and Rotterdam, Indonesia, sat down during the winter to write the Alaska Development Board for information on how to get to the territory and what to do and see when they reach America's Land of the Midnight Sun.

An attorney in Omaha requested directions to drive to the Yukon River. A school teacher in New Orleans asked if she should wear "leggies" aboard ship while cruising Alaska waters. A resident in Trenton, N.J., wanted to fly above the Arctic Circle and across the international dateline next tomorrow. A secretary in Los Angeles thought she would go husband-hunting in the north, and asked for particulars. The Egyptian sportsman and Indonesian student sended general information.

Alaska's hopes of becoming a state in 1949 have heightened and Alaskans are preparing to meet a tourist rush. Accommodations have been increased approximately 10 per cent over those of last year. There were more than 80 hotels, lodges and other tourist facilities operating in Alaska during 1948. There are also 40 similar establishments, with a total of almost 1,000 beds, along the 1,523-mile Alaska Highway, between Dawson and Fairbanks.

LETTER TO EDITOR

The Community Press does not necessarily endorse and cannot be held responsible for the views expressed by contributors.

Dear Sir:—

The Killam District Board of Trade wishes to take this opportunity of thanking every voluntary worker in all organizations and individuals who in so many ways helped with the Stampede days, July 5 and 6. The cooperation was all that could be hoped for. The committee responsible for the [illegible] who had been appointed all reported that they received wholehearted enthusiastic support and help from all who were asked. This was indeed a fine example of what can be done by a community working as a unit for a worthwhile cause. While the net proceeds may not have been all that had been hoped for, yet all will agree that in every other way the Stampede was very successful. Killam stages sports days that are counted by few and surpassed by no other centre of like size, and that is an important factor to keep in mind. To those who worked and to those who donated, in short to all who in any way helped the Executive and the Chairmen extend sincere thanks for the jobs well done. — Yours truly, Edward F. Fee, Secretary

Note—The ladies who donated pies please are asked to put benches about the beach. If you have any ideas and a willing hand contact Howard Smith who manages this movement on behalf of the Sports Society.

BEE LORE

There will be no surplus honey this season in so far as this district is concerned, however there are other important indirect benefits obtained from these useful insects. Besides being the only insect which provides food for man, the honey bee is the apart ping of legume seed and fruit production. Here are the only pollinators controlled by man and are responsible or 85 percent of the insect pollination. If fruit trees are in bloom during damp cool weather when the bees do not work, the setting crop is considerably reduced. In statement of the annual production of honey is only a start to a statement of the value of apiculture to many other branches of agriculture. To those who are disposed to consider honey as a luxury, the following information may be interesting. On a calorific basis, one tablespoonful of honey contains 100 calories; corn syrup one and three-quarter tablespoons; maple sugar one and a half tablespoonful, and sugar, two tablespoonsful per 100 calories. The various jams have a comparatively low calorie content.

Honey complies in small amounts all the elements we need. Its organic acids simplify digestion, and regarding digestion like cane or beet sugar, it is recommended by American Medical Assn. to formulae for infants. It has healing qualities on the skin and on nerve. A more liberal use of nature's sweet means better health and fewer [illegible]

W. I. & G. CONVENTION AT OLDS

(By Elsmer Clerr)

The W.I. Girls Club's 21st annual convention began at Olds Alberta on July 19th with over 300 girls and supervisors from all sections of the Province attending. The three days from July 19th to 21st consisted of sports and demonstrations in cooking, sewing, nursing, dramatics and music. Host interest began with the slogan, "All our discontents spring from a lack of thankfulness of what we have", and "Home sweet home, Over Your Face With Sunshine." A banquet, presentation of prizes and honorary membership ended the 3 days of activity.

The Lougheed Girls Club team secured [illegible] in their quilt, 3rd in basketing and 2nd in thrift. Delegates to the convention from the Lougheed Club were Elsmer Olsen and Joyce Denham.

FORMER RECTOR, REV. LYS CALLED BY DEATH IN ENGLAND

(From a Lloydminster Paper)

The death of the Rev. Frank Brian Lys, former Vicar of Bishop Norton, occurred on Sunday, at the home of Mrs. Hall, Bishop Norton, where he was living in retirement. Mrs. Lys died nearly two years ago. He was 84 and was Vicar of Bishop Norton from 1932-46, retiring to Bishop Norton, where he was curate at the parish church. He was born in India and educated in England, and was an all-round sportsman in his young days, especially keen at cricket. He spent many years in Canada as a missionary, and at the same time formed at Highfield Farm, Winnipeg. There he built his own church. He was of a kindly disposition and always ready to help, and during hostilities he was unofficial fire watcher. Before it was made an obligation on all citizens. He left a stepson and daughter, besides many friends in Canada.

Mr. Lys was rector at the Anglican Churches at Sedgewick, Killam Lougheed and Hardisty during the years from 1931 to 1937.

WEDDING

The First Presbyterian Church in Edmonton, was the scene of a quiet but lovely wedding on Tuesday, June 28th, at 1 30 p.m., when the Rev. J. MacBeth Miller joined in happy matrimony, Anayst, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H Mandrowsky of Two Hills and Robert, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Kobitzsch of Hardisty. Entering the church on the arm of her brother-in-law, the bride wore a white satin gown, fashioned with a simple bodice with high and rounded neckline and long lily point sleeves, while the full skirt featured bustle effect on the sides. Her full length embroidered veil caught in her head with a beaded crown. She carried a white Bible with rose buds and narcissus. The bridesmaid was Miss Helen Kwasnicki, cousin of the bride, who wore a blue net gown with matching coronet and carried a bouquet of carnations. Bernie Kobitzsch attended his brother a wedding dinner for 35 guests was held in the Cottage Tea Room, where a tiered wedding cake flanked by white tapers received the bride's table. Mr. Thos. Turner proposed the toast, the their return from Vancouver, Mr and Mrs Kobitzsch will make their home in Hardisty.

Vocational Guidance

OF LATE YEARS INCREASING EMPHASIS has been put upon the importance of social welfare, and more attention has been given to the emotional and physical well-being of the population. One matter which is considered to be of importance both to workers and to employers is vocational guidance. Placing workers in the tasks to which they are best suited in the policy of most employers, and in many industries today there are specially trained personnel workers who deal with this problem. However, there are still many cases in which skilled vocational guidance is not at readily available to young people leaving school to commence their careers, or to others, already employed, but perhaps not entirely suited to do the work in which they are engaged.

* * * *

Available From Many Sources

Recently Major A. E. Wood, head of vocational guidance and training for the National Employment Service of Canada, stated that too many young citizens leaving school to start a career take the first position which is offered to them without proper regard for the future possibilities of the work or of the extent of their aptitude for it. The result is "more often than not a frustrated lifetime of moving from job to job in the hope that one will eventually provide some measure of satisfaction." Each year 150,000 young Canadians enter the 20,000 or more vocations open to workers in this country and Major Wood stressed the importance of a guidance for these people from one of the numerous sources which such services are available. Many schools now employ trained guidance officers to assist students in their choice of a career, and excellent advice is available from some schools from their own families. There are also vocational guidance bureaus set up by provincial governments, and youth guidance counsels have been set by communities or by the federal government's National Employment Service.

* * * *

Progress Made In This Work

The latter service, sponsored by the National Employment Service provides facilities for the placement and guidance of young workers and calls for co-operation between the local employment office and the various youth-serving agencies in the community. "The worker in search of a new job suffers not only from difficulties in actual employment but suffers from reduced earnings, from the problem of interviewing prospective employers and from many other hardships leading to the creation of a vicious circle of maladjustments" from which he cannot extricate himself," Major Wood believes. It is evident that progress is being made in this important work which has such far-reaching effects upon the moral welfare and industrial advancement of the country.

Women Doctors Chose Officers

SASKATOON. Women doctors in Canada now total 750, the Federation of Medical Women of Canada reported. The Federation is holding its 20th annual meeting in conjunction with the Canadian Medical Association convention.

Dr. Jean Macdonald of Halifax was chosen Federation president for 1949-50, succeeding Dr. Anna Nicholson of Saskatoon.

Vice-presidents elected are: Dr. Roberta Bond-Nicholls, Halifax; Dr. Grace Ritchie, Montreal; Dr. Jessie McConachy, Winnipeg, Dr. Stephanie Pelzalski, Calgary, Sask.; Dr. Pearl Christie-Dowling, Calgary; Dr. Edna Lindenfield, Vancouver.

Secretary is Dr. Emma Fowler-Ascroft, Winnipeg and treasurer Dr. Margaret Owens, Winnipeg.

Current Culture

There is good news for those people who are interested in growing currants. Thanks to the persistent efforts of plant breeders, the long-dreamed-of black currant resistant to white pine blister rust—a very serious disease where the five needled pine is grown extensively for lumber may soon be a reality.

Currants should not be planted in districts where white pine is considered of commercial importance, as they are hosts to white pine blister rust. This host fruit can, it is pointed out in a Dominion Department of Agriculture pamphlet, Current Culture, be grown successfully where white pines are of no economic importance, if locally they are considered especially valuable.

Currants are natives of cool, moist, northern climates; they barely and will withstand extremely low temperatures if windbreaks are provided. Black currants thrive well under the climatic conditions that prevail in central Canada, particularly on heavy well-drained soils, and yields up to four tons an acre may be obtained. Red and white currants yield even heavier crops than the black.

The life of a currant plantation is at least 10 years if it is properly cared for.

The pamphlet, Current Culture, gives full information for the three kinds, on cultural methods, propagation, pruning, and suitable varieties. It may be obtained from the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. Ask for it by name.

$45,000 FOR CAT CLINIC

LONDON—Miss Constance Ellingham Lucy Antom of the isle of Wight has left £45,000 ($180,000) for a clinic for cats. Her legacy is the biggest received by the British Cats' Protection League since the foundation 22 years ago.

READING PERCENTAGE

The average reader spends only six per cent. of his reading time in reading the other 94 per cent. in looking up in passes for the eye and mind to assimilate.

Hog Breeding Crate . . .

WHERE farmers are using spud boxes on young pigs, young boars on old sows or where there is a temperamental animal to be bred farmers find a hog breeding crate of value.

The plans here show the breeding crate developed by the Texas Experimental Station which has been found satisfactory.

The cost of the material for this breeding crate is not much and it is not difficult to build provided plans for the crate are carefully studied. They appear fairly complicated at first sight, but a study of the following explanations will make it easier for the crate consists of two runners, 2" x 4" plank 5'2" long. This is for the head from being raised and moved forward. A third gate is inserted ahead of the second gate to prevent the sow from getting out of the crate when the second gate is being adjusted to suit the length of the sow as bred, the two front gates are lowered and the adjustable side removed allowing the sow to walk forward and out of the crate.

The hardware needed is 2 pairs of 6-inch strap hinges, three feet of 1/4 inch iron bar, two barrow snaps and four screw eyes.

BILL OF MATERIAL FOR 1001 BREEDING CRATE

Self-Appointed Guardian

Kibbler, self-appointed guardian of the mail at La Riviere, Man., is shown here proudly posing with Bill 10-dibby, the local mail carrier, and Kibbler's mail. The odd thing is that Kibbler isn't fed a dog; nor is he on the pool office payroll, yet he never misses the trip back and forth to the train with the mail.

Attractive Design For Silver Dollar

OTTAWA.—John Cabot's 1947 ship will seal on silver waves if the design for a new silver dollar to commemorate Newfoundland's entry into Confederation is approved by the government Royal Canadian Mint craftsmen have completed a design for the coin which depicts the sailing ship on one side and the profile of the King on the other.

FUNNY And OTHERWISE

A party of tourists in Arizona came upon an Indian brave riding a pony. A heavily burdened squaw walked beside him.

"Why don't you let the squaw ride?" asked a tourist.

"She got no pony."

"Well, here are you getting on now you are married!"

"It is just like the Garden of Eden."

"I am glad to hear that."

"Yes we have nothing to wear and now is daily four of being covered out."

A man who had taken pity on a lad and given him work as a junior clerk took him at the office rather later than usual one Saturday.

The lad became sulky, and performed his duties in a very disagreeable manner. At last his employer turned on him.

"You ungrateful rascal, where would you be now but for me?"

"At a ball game," was the answer.

Scientist Warns Canada Must Save Land From Waste

VANCOUVER.—If Canada doesn't correct present "land wastage" the time may come when we won't be able to feed our population, one of the world's foremost social geographers said in an interview here.

L. Dudley Stamp, chief adviser to the British Government on rural land use, was summing up Canada's need for land conservation measures.

Mr. Stamp knows what he's talking about. He's the man who worked miracles with Britain's food production during the Second World War.

Today, through re-afforestation and use of lands for production it is best suited to, Britain now produces only half the food she eats.

"We don't want every bit of land in years to come," he said.

The scheme results lead to have with housing and industry. He explained that good land is used for good food, housing units are situated on poorer lands and sub-marginal areas are marked off for forestry sales.

They concentrate on growing the most nutritious types of food. For example, it is fairly common for Britain to grow her own wheat. Greater value is gained by planting fruits and vegetables, relying on imports to the wheat needs.

He viewed at the session of delegates from 30 countries attending the 19th International Geographical Congress.

Northern Lake Named After Flin Flon Hero

FLIN FLON, Man.—In memory of Captain Harry Maranda, who died in France in 1943, while serving with the R.C.A.M.C., a lake in Cape Churchill has been named Maranda Lake, according to word received here. Dr. Maranda spent many years in the north before going overseas, and Maranda said "the world is produced less food per head today than in the 1930's. But he thinks proper planning will ensure enough food in future years.

With populations rapidly increasing—in India, the latter is expected as many people in three years as there are in Canada today—scientific management of food resources is badly needed."

GREAT SLAVE LAKE FISH INDUSTRY TO BE DOUBLED

EDMONTON.— Federal fisheries department announcement of increase in the annual fish catch quota in Great Slave Lake from 2.5 million to nine million pounds means that production in the industry will be increased from an estimated 200 to 400 tons, William Mahoney, head of McInnes Products Corporation Ltd., stated here.

Much of the whitefish and trout caught in the northern lake is exported to U.S. cities.

JELLY BUNS

Measure into small bowl, 1 c. lukewarm water. 1 yeast. Stir to dissolve. Into small mixing bowl, stir until sugar is dissolved. Sprinkle with 2 envelopes of Fleischmann's Royal Fast Rising Dry Yeast. Let stand 10 min. Add 1 c. lukewarm water, 1/4 c. sugar, 1 tsp. shortening, gradually blend in 1 c. granulated sugar, 2 tsp. salt, 1 tsp. grated nutmeg. Gradually beat in 2 well-beaten eggs. Stir in 1/2 cup lemon extract, 1/2 c. mixed candied fruit and peel, and about 4 cups flour, or enough to make a soft dough. Turn out on floured board and knead until smooth. Put in a greased bowl. Cover and set in warm place, free from draughts. Let rise until doubled in bulk. Punch down dough and cut into 30 equal portions. Knead into smooth balls. Brush with melted butter or margarine. Place in greased muffin pans and arrange by 's' apart on greased baking pans. Cover and let rise until doubled in bulk. Twist the handle of a knife in the top of each roll to form an indentation. Fill with jelly. Cook in hot oven 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 30 buns. Variation: Bake in smaller muffin pans, 375°, about 12 minutes.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

SOMETHING TO REMEMBER

By JOHN F. WATT

I MET her in the canteen at Thetford. '41, that was. I was wearing the newness off my two stripes. Monica Philip just seemed to become one of the crowd . . . and I wrangled things so I paired off with her.

Seemed to me it just had to be that way. There was a dingy in our hut who read poetry . . . queer over . . . and he once spouted stuff about "rain sonik". Now I knew what he meant rain sonik, that was Monica and me.

Some day . . . I told her, "This war'll be over—when I've slogged all the way to Berlin! Then I'll come back . . . and you'll be waiting for me, yes? That's how it'll be . . . "

She smiled, and laid her head on my shoulder.

"Sure . . . that's how it will be," she said, dreamy like. "It'll be the rest of the world slip by, the two of us . . . "

I think it was just the day after words that our lot got marching orders—pax, overseas. Seemed they needed us to get some "corny general" out of a jam. For which I says the Army sure stick . . . two stick for 'em.

For I hadn't time to meet Monica. And, worst of all, I hadn't her address, all I knew was she were Land Army uniform, and came into Thetford Thursdays, Saturdays and Sundays . . . what a prize me I'd been, neglecting to find out where she lived, her home address.

Of course, I never thought we'd get on the move so quickly—but there it was, us pulling out . . . and Monica was left behind.

I wrote a note to her, addressing it care of the canteen . . . but heard much hopes of her ever getting it.

Once she didn't receive it, either. For I never heard from her—I'd enclosed my home address, so she couldn't know that she'd really made forward it, when she got my overseas mailing address.

But no letter from Monica came Me, I was overseas, and I lost soul. I knew I loved her—then couldn't be anybody else for me!

The war dragged on. Plenty scrapping—never enough to make me forget Monica's dark hair and blue eyes.

We reached Berlin, finally. The war was over.

Soon I'd be going back—only Monica wouldn't be waiting for me . . .

Poor kid—I often wondered how she took it, me going off without even a goodbye . . . a one-girl man, you could call me and the one girl was definitely Monica!

Back to Civvy Street. The same old grind. I was just getting really settled down, a good job, a steady income, a place to live . . . before marriage, but back of my heart had gone with it . . .

LONG WALK ENDS

EDMONTON.—Cons. (Sgt.) Robert hung up his mist bag for the last time recently, when he completed 30 years' service delivering mail over the province. He figures he walked the equivalent of 3½ times around the world and carried 162 tons of mail.

FOR MISS HAYTIE DUNN

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. — The city dump looked like a farmyard recently after fruity eggs were dumped there by Prince Albert hatcheries. Hot weather and heat in the incubator hatched chicks from many of the eggs.

WHEAT TESTS IN B.C.

CRANBROOK, B.C.—New types of wheat are being sown in test plots in the Joseph farming area of Mt. Alex, a Prairie near here, the only extensive test area in East Kootenay. Also planned are demonstrations of weed control methods, especially against wild mustard, stinkweed and Canadian thistle.

WAR ON COYOTES

EDMONTON. — John Harris, Alberta's deputy minister of lands and forests, reported that the newest war against coyotes in the province is proving successful in curbing livestock activities. Coyote-hunting from airplanes is more effective than efforts to encourage hunting of animals through bounty paymasts, Mr. Harris said.

MAY BE NEW GOVERNOR

EDMONTON.—The Edmonton Bulletin said recently in a newspaper story that it has learned J. J. Bowlen, Calgary oil-man, rancher and farmer, likely will be the next lieutenant-governor of Alberta.

CONTINUE AS COALITION

VICTORIA, B.C.—The British Columbia government coalition executive committee, said Premier Byron Johnson, in a curt statement after a recent cabinet meeting. He declined to a report that Liberals and Progressive Conservatives might split, stating that the government was elected in a coalition and would hold office on the basis of election.

Finds Purse With $2,800 Along Roadside

CRANBROOK B.C The $2,800 which vanished—with a bumbebee—from a tourist car has been found just as casually.

Bruno Parada of Cranbrook, who had ever trouble to the southern Trans-provincial Highway near Jaffray, 25 miles east of here.

When he had fixed things up he walked to the roadside to wipe the grease from his hands on the grass, and there was the purse with the $2,800 in it.

The purse was reported missing by Mr. and Mrs. Pelpas of Portland, who said they had stopped a mile from Cranbrook to get a tea out of the car, and an hour later discovered the purse missing.

Parada will receive a cash reward.

Old Gray Mare Still Spry And Healthy

GOLDEN PRAIRIE Sask — This old gray mare is still what she used to be.

A gray mare owned by Adolph Fyke, Golden Prairie pioneer, that she still carries a lot of weight around the farm and is healthy and active on the field enjoying life, the mare got her name, Langley, as a very milky plow. When efforts to shake off the weight failed, she got up with the plow still hanging from her mane and began to do some traveling. One-quarter of a mile later she stumbled and fell with the plow, only slightly bent.

The old gray mare is still spry and healthy.

PRAIRIE AREA

Total area of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta is 481,000,000 acres of which about 130,000,000 acres are farm lands.

Wholesale Sales Higher On Prairies

OTTAWA — Trends in the dollar volume of wholesale sales showed a wide variation in different parts of the country during April, the bureau of statistics reported.

Compared with April last year, wholesalers in the prairie provinces showed the greatest increase at 14 per cent., while sales of Ontario wholesalers were up only two per cent. In British Columbia sales were down six per cent.

For all Canada, the dollar volume of wholesale sales increased less than two per cent over last year, with cumulative sales for the first four months of the year now 2.7 per cent, above the similar period of last year.

Hope To Curb Lightning Storms

VANCOUVER — Possibility of preventing lightning storms by seeding clouds with dry ice and silver iodide was reported at a meeting of the American Meteorological Society at UBC by L. G. Grant, one of several scientists who tried rain-making in the past year.

Mr. Grant, a member of the American Institute of Aeronautics Research of Pasadena, Calif., said the seeding can also make it rain where it can't actually start a rainstorm. The scientists, he said, achieved almost 60 per cent success in causing rain over a near-desert area.

Only kinds of clouds worth seeding, he reported, are those at least 3,000 feet thick, containing three per cent moisture by volume and having a sub-freezing temperature. Quick seeding of the top sometimes produces no rain but changes the nature of the cloud and a bulldog in neighboring clouds to a point where they may form raindrops.

RECIPES

SWEDISH TEA CAKES

½ cup butter
½ cup brown sugar
1 egg yolk slightly beaten
1 cup all purpose flour
1 egg white slightly beaten
Finely chopped nuts
Raspberry jam

Cream butter and add sugar creaming until light. Add egg yolks and vanilla; then flour. Roll out ¼ inch thick. Cut with cookie cutter. Brush with egg white and dip each into egg white and then nuts. Place on greased cooky sheet and make a dent in the top of each with thumb. Bake in oven 350 degrees F for 5 minutes. Remove from oven and press dent deeper. Return to oven and continue baking 15 minutes longer. Fill hollows with jam immediately after removing from oven.

ARABIAN DESSERT

½ cup sugar
½ tablespoon flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 egg yolk, beaten
1 beaten egg
2 cups milk, scalded
½ teaspoon vanilla extract
Combine sugar, flour, salt, egg yolks, and whole egg. Add small amount of milk, blend, and mix to remaining milk. Cook in double boiler, stirring constantly. Cook add vanilla extract.

Pour into sherbet glasses chill. Top with Chocolate Fluff.

Mounties Keep Old Custom

MOOSE JAW — In respect for deceased members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police force, in accordance with custom of tending the graves of the former Mounties is carried on by members of the famous law enforcement unit.

Former Mounties are buried in cemeteries at 23 points in Saskatchewan. The graves are inspected periodically, and if needed, the grave-sites are weeded and trimmed.

New ——— Become Bt. John Ambulance Awards

OTTAWA — More than 71,000 Canadians received awards for proficiency in first aid and home nursing from the St. John Ambulance Brigade last year.

This was 10,000 more than in 1947, C. A. Cregg, sub-prior of the order of the hospital of St. John of Jerusalem, told the annual meeting.

Drivers Warned Of Dusty Roads

REGINA — A warning to summer drivers to exercise caution when driving on dusty roads was issued by George Dickson, chairman of the highway traffic board.

Motorists should take extra care that there is nothing ahead of them before passing another vehicle, he said.

Congratulations to Grandma Sorenson who will celebrate her 83rd birthday this Friday, July 29th.

Harold Merritt of Kindersley, Sask. visited at the Parker home for four days. Harold is making his new residence in B.C. where he will work.

Among those attending the Edmonton Fair last week were: Ed Young, Lloyd Young and family, Phil Mc-Lachlan, Jesse Bannink, Gilbert Bergeson, Walter Erickson, Helen Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Dawson, Vernon Erickson, Mr. and Mrs. Les Larson, Mr and Mrs Sig Olsenberg, Carol, Lawrence Albert, Mr and Mrs Grant Murray, George Murray, and Mr and Mrs Geo. Stewart.

Miss Mary Shaw, Deaconess of the Presbyterian Church, took over the service at Killam last Sunday.

SOUTH KILLAM KLIPS

Doug Forster motored to Camrose and was then accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Jim Herman and family to Loch Lea where they spent a week on a successful fishing trip in spite of the rains.

Mrs. A. Haggerty spent several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H.F. Smith. They returned to Camrose with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Frazier accompanied Mr. and Mrs. J. Humphries to Calgary and Banff.

Other recent visitors to Banff were Mr. and Mrs. J. M Grant &c., who motored out with the J. Shannons.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Dennison motored to Edmonton, Banff, to take care of their old buildings and bring the lumber home.

Congrats to Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Mallet on the birth of a son, Roger, Stewart.

Mrs. D. Anderson, Joan, Barbara and Don McKinney were also recent visitors to Banff and Fields B.C.

LOUGHEED FACTS

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Reed of Bayview spent a short visit at the W. C. Reed home here.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Walmsley from Calgary spent a few days at the J. blocks and with the H. Walmsley at Hardisty Lake. Mrs. E Smith and daughter of Bonnyville accompanied the Walmsleys to Lougheed and then spent a few days in Sedgewick.

Edwin and Ivan Smith and Mr. and Mrs. A. McClure, all of Edmonton, motored down for the week end. Mrs McClure (Phyl) is staying on at Lougheed and will help out at the Post Office when Mr and Mrs Rogers are camping at Hardisty Lake for the first two weeks in August.

A considerable amount of excitement was stirred up in the Village one afternoon last week when F. Volkart's car collided with the car of a travelling American motorist on the highway by the monument. Luckily nobody was hurt and damage to cars was not too serious.

Max Hilker and wife of Edson spent a short visit here and Mrs. M. Kirkman also visited at Hardisty.

We notice the Legion Hut is progressing nicely. With the roof painted green and the inner brick siding on the walls, it really adds a bright appearance to the street.

Soviet Scientist Discovers Mars Has Christmas Trees

LONDON—A Soviet scientist said he has established that there are at least two kinds of plant life on the planet Mars

Moscow radio idealized the scientist as Professor Tikhov, "the founder of astrobotany" who studied plant life on heavenly bodies other than earth.

"The professor," said the broadcast, "has ascertained that there are patches on Mars which retain their green color not only in the summer but also in the winter.

"It has thus become clear that the Sea on Mars contains not only deciduous plants but evergreens as well.

"In view of the severe climate on Mars its flora should resemble the flora of the northern latitudes or of regions of high altitudes."

"The Martian vegetation," Moscow radio quoted Tikhov, "does not emit infra-red rays as do plants on our globe.

"This property has been lost in the process of constant adaptation to low temperatures."

TO RECORD BABY'S CRY

CAMERON, Mo.—Baby's first cry will be preserved in proud parents now. The community hospital has installed a tape recording machine to catch the first cry of newborn babies. The cry is transcribed in a photographic record, with an announcement of the baby's weight, birth time and the names of the parents.

HEAD COLDS

A study of head colds shows that women have more colds than men and people who sit at work have more colds than those who walk around.

Down On The Farm

Did you know that farm families own one radio, cars and telephones more than they own bathrooms in the Prairie provinces? Although they are far behind city residents in other amenities such as bathrooms, running water, central heating and electricity they are steadily catching up in these particular advantages.

This is only one of the findings from a study conducted by the economics division of the Department of Agriculture in co-operation with the Welfare Branch of the Department of National Health and the universities of Alberta and Saskatchewan and now issued in booklet form.

The farmer's accounts show that two-fifths of the goods and services that he must, poultry, eggs, dairy products, fruit, vegetables, rent and fuel are charged against the farm. The average Alberta farm family spends $7.80 a week for food and consumes another $7 worth of food off the farm.

In West Central Alberta a third of the farms have electricity and central heating, a fifth have bathrooms and running water, and there is a piano in two-fifths of them. The commonest reading is daily or weekly newspapers, agricultural periodicals and magazines, but 25 per cent. of the farmers have fewer than 10 books.

With these improvements in living standards have come more community development and various associations activities. The highest level existing is to be found among the British and Scandinavian block settlements among the Poles and Ukranians.

In this particular survey 414 farm families in three areas were studied in 1942-43 and re-interviewed in 1947. During the average time in the level of living—or the increase in the amenities of life—was 23 per cent.

Farm debt was reduced by half there is a strong trend toward farm ownership, and even discontinuance of tenancy. The farmer now has more cash to spend on such things as educational, recreation and charity. There is little change in the interest of farm dwellings but there are big changes noted in interior decorating and the addition of home comforts.

All in all the farmers are having a much better time of it than they did five years ago.

Story Of First Oil Well In Edmonton

EDMONTON — The story of Edmonton's first oil well, drilled 20 years ago and still not complete, was told here recently as wrecking crews began to dismantle the derrick at the Leduc-Woking Lake Trail, near here. Many who saw the structure before it was toppled and scrapped, heard it mumble its memories as well but W. E. C. Chamberlain, one of three partners who began the original venture in 1912, says it never has been a dead mute.

Mr. Chamberlain's partners were his two brothers-in-law, R. R. Campbell and E. L. Campbell. With their own funds, they erected the first wooden derrick in 1912 and were about to attack gay wives when the driller Bill Sloan.

A year later, they rebuilt the derrick and began drilling in 1914 when their bridge ran out. Then they struck it, 2,065 feet but their funds were depleted and Bo-ay expected from Canada was tied up due to the war. Finally, the brothers joined the army and the well was capped.

R. R. Campbell never returned from the war but his brothers came back and in 1920 the old derrick—by Mr. Chamberlain's hand was erected when a Spokane company took a contract to drill it. It held the contract for a year but took no return. Then, two Toronto firms, took over but they didn't get around to drilling.

Now, new negotiations are under way with a private company which plans to erect a modern steel derrick and continue drilling of the old well.

Mr. Chamberlain is optimistic about the well's possibilities. "Indications were very hopeful when we drilled the first 2,000 feet in 1913," he said. "We found great quantities of gas in the well and at 1,800 feet there was a tremendous gas blow.

"We're still hopeful of completing the well but there have been so many disappointments that we don't believe drilling has been resumed until we see it."

Several Good Ways How To Beat Summer Heat

The Department of Health and Welfare at Ottawa has released a few cool and comforting health hints to help happy holidayers hurdle the temper trouble

Heroin contained are panaceas for practically every summer complaint, copious quantities of good, clear, cool water, but sweetened drinks—such as the popular "pops" — tend to make you feel hotter and stickier on the department says

If you are going swimming you'd be wise to learn to dive or if you insist on jumping into deep water and you don't know how to dive—just feet first and hold your nose

Some of the sunburn you get in July is caused by the glare from the water, as is suggested by the show process. A little each day rather than a lot in one day, is the sage advice of the Department of Health

There is a helpful suggestion for the holiday hungry desk jockey who wants to pack a year of hiking, fishing and swimming into two weeks

Do your vacationing sensibly. It is the August word from the health doctors. "Recreation, yes, but with a little of what's-body's-else," they plan to avoid feeling hot and bothered is to try a dish of ice cream.

Alaska Could Easily Be Lost By Default

WASHINGTON.—A report before President Truman suggests the U.S. could lose Alaska by default to the United Nations.

"It is quite conceivable," the report by Interior Secretary Krug says, "that sometime in the future the United Nations might demand that some outside group of the unpopulated and potentially rich regions of Alaska.

"Therefore, the United States is faced with the problem: Who will develop Alaska? Will it be American, or will it be the land-hungry people of frustrated Europe or the overcrowded Orient?" and the report adds:

"Today Alaska belongs to the United States; tomorrow it could belong to the world."

—Sa A. W. B.

Been a short trip out through the rural portions of our districts would sure be an eye-opener for the town dweller who had an opportunity to view the country-side some three or four weeks ago. The situation then looked fairly grim so far as the vegetation was concerned. What a vast difference there is today. The recent heavy rains have created almost a miracle. What a month ago looked almost like a complete crop failure has now blossomed into a fairly good crop. Even the native vegetation, which can stand a lot of abuse, has taken on a new color, grass is a deeper green and coming on remarkably. Perhaps we humans spend too much time bewailing what we lack and not enough in giving thanks for what we have got and do receive.

To the unbeliever I have at last come across an enlightening theory of just what golf is. Golf is a game in which you place a ball in the hollow in diameter on top of another ball 2000 miles in diameter, the object being to hit one without disturbing the other.

"The scenery through Jasper Park, Lake Louise and Banff just can't be beat." Such was the remark made by a young couple from Northern California, when I chanced to meet them on the entrance to Glacier Park in northern Montana. After having visited California myself, on my several north-western States, I am also convinced, after visiting Jasper for the first time, along with repeated calls at Banff and Louise, that there is no need for Albertans to leave the Province to enjoy nature at its best. Right here in Alberta we have just about everything for the vacationist. Big game hunting, fishing, boating, swimming, sun-bathing, sports of all descriptions, mountain climbing, canyons, lakes, rivers, and perhaps most important to most of us, a low cost living when enjoying any of these things. Now, more than ever before I am an Alberta booster.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Williams spent the week end at Stettler.

Mr. Doug Irving spent the week end in Wetaskiwin. He was accompanied by Mr and Mrs Eric Brailand.

Mrs. Bert Boadway has as guests, Mrs. Ethel McAvoy and Miss Gertrude, and Mrs. Chris Brown, all of Detroit, Mich. They motored up to Jasper and with a stop-over at the Stampede in Calgary.

DEATHS

Mr. James Grey passed away after a long illness, on August 3rd. The funeral services were held in the Lougheed United Church on Aug. 6th interment took place in the family plot at Lougheed cemetery. The Rev. W. Brooks officiated. He leaves to mourn his loss one sister Helen of Sedgewick. Pall Bearers were: D. Markwart, F. Fedar, T. Kenny, Ray McCracken, C. Brandegan and Joe Ball. F. B. Kirkman, director.

James Thomas Grey was born in England 74 years ago. He came to Ontario in 1906 and in 1910 moved to Saskatchewan. Three years later he moved to the Sedgewick district where he lived until his death. His wife predeceased him 3 months ago.

GOOSE CREEK FAIR EXHIBITS MAINTAIN HIGH STANDARD

The annual Goose Creek Fair was held in Lougheed last Wednesday, August 10th, and Secretary Dave Black reports that while the exhibits were down slightly in number, the quality was of a high standard. The home cooking and needlework exhibits were displayed in the hall, the vegetables and grains in the curling rink and the livestock at the sports ground. There was a good display of exhibits in all classes and judging proved a difficult task.

Baseball, softball and hidden carve were in action all afternoon. In the baseball, Lougheed won the first encounter from Hardisty and then lost to Sedgewick in the final game.

The Red Deckers were the winners for the day to softball. A booth was operated by the W.I., and a dance at night closed the festivities.

Editor's Note— A full list of the Fair prize winners will be printed in our edition next week.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Tea and Sale of Home Produce will be held in the Legion Memorial Hall at Lougheed, on Saturday August 20 during the afternoon and evening. Proceeds for Legion Memorial Hall.

should be, and the only unfavorable comments I heard from motorists was on the road situation. Getting closer to home, I might say that our own Highway 13 was the worst stretch of road I had to drive over. Actually No. 13 is a public disgrace.

PRESBYTERIAN LADIES MEET

About 10 members and visitors met at the home of Mrs. Stewart Grant on Thursday of last week for the regular monthly meeting. Mrs. S. Oultrey was assistant hostess.

Following the routine business, further plans for the Mid Summer Tea were discussed. Mrs. James Grant Sr., Welcome and Welfare Secretary reported receipt of a letter from Montreal regarding the arrival in the Sedgewick district of a lady just arrived from Britain. Plans were made to try and contact her. Mrs. Grant also read an article from a Coast paper regarding a child prodigy at the musical world who is the 5 year old son of Rev. McKay Elder, former pastor and missionary at Killam.

Mr. Walker gave the ladies a brief description of his trip through Eastern Canada and the U. S. The meeting closed on a motion to make another donation to the Memorial Fund.

KILLAM DIVISION ADVANCES RURAL CENTRALIZATION

(By J. W. Chalmers)

At a recent meeting the trustees of Killam School Division devoted considerable attention to plans for increasing the rural school at Morrin from two to three rooms. Contract for 1 or more Protein School to the Morrin site to provide for the third room. A new contract was also discussed for the transportation of children from the Pinnington and Hillsboro districts to the enlarged school. It was also decided to close the Beckiwe school and send its six pupils to Morrin. Supt. Chalmers reported that the two former teachers, Miss A. Brenkel and Miss Myrtle Anderson were remaining at Morrin, and recommended the assignment of Miss Monica Goodman of Sedgewick to the newly opened room. In this the board concurred.

Other divisional business included the authorization for the divisional secretary to engage a full-time assistant, the payment of a scholarship for the payment for school runs on the basis of 15c to 20c per mile, depending on type of vehicle used and the calling of tenders for the supply of coal for schools and for the sale of underbrush and cut-off logs in Chinberg S D. A petition calling on the re-opening of the Pine Behead was received. School opening was set for September 1st.

LOUGHEED W. I.

Twenty members and friends met at the home of Mrs. O. Frobst Sat. August 13th with the regular meeting.

The lodge has been cut at the cemetery and many graves have been tended after. The work will continue for another month. Hospital linen have was discussed and a committee of four appointed for further study.

A letter will be sent to each of the Lougheed organizations, urging that we each donate an equal sum to provide sufficient dishes, etc., for use on all occasions. Financial report on the booth were very gratifying. All grand members of Lougheed are urged to attend the next meeting which will be held in the hall on the third Saturday in September at 2:30 p.m. Miss Joyce Denham gave a splendid report on her trip as delegate to the School which was served by the hostess.

LARGE CROWD WATCHES KILLAM TWIN POWOWS

Killam Juniors Defeat Lougheed

A large crowd witnessed some fine ball games at Killam on Aug. 8 and 9.

A provincial playoff game between the Killam Clippers and Provost Pros (Ladies Football) resulted in a win for Killam —4.

Following the game the Killam Fourth Juniors beat Lougheed 11 to 1 in a league playoff game.

An exhibition game between Ponoka and Killam girls gave the latter another win 18—8.

Lunch was provided for the girls in the Co-op Hall between games by the Killam District Board of Trade.

RED CROSS BLOOD CLINIC SURPRISES OFFICIALS

The Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic held at Sedgewick on August 8th was so successful that attending Red Cross officials were "amazed" at the local response. Records show that 183 persons from Lougheed, Killam and Sedgewick answered the

The Doctor in charge had praise for the local organizers for the way things were conducted.

Among attendants was Miss Kay Tweedy who is employed by the Alberta Red Cross Society.

FAIRDONIAN VALLEY P. W. U. A

The July meeting of Fairdonian Valley PWUA was held at the home of Mrs. J.R. Haiken with eleven members answering the roll call. It was a very pleasure to welcome Mrs. and Mrs. A.B. Falls. The routine business was transacted. An appeal for blood donors for the Red Cross was made for August 8th. Mrs. S Lakiely reported on the recent convention held in St.

Mr. Falls spoke on ane outlines Miss Gunn's and Mr. Scandal's, recent speeches. After the meeting a journeal an auction sale was held of parcels of which the contents we e secret. Mr. Falls acted as auctioneer, and the sum of $46.30 was realized for the Hall Fund.

WHAT PRICE A WIFE?

The man who calls his wife "Honey" is probably unaware of what that sweet term could mean long before ruple was known. In ancient times honey often meant the difference between celebacy and marriage. In Gaelic-land near Abyssinia the prospective bridegroom had to offer his loved one so much honey before the wedding. If the girl's parents deemed the offer too small the wedding was called off. Honey was considered so valuable in Egypt that the wedding ceremony itself demanded that the groom pledge a certain amount of honey to the bride; moreover this was a token of his affection had to be paid every year. A feast on honey in the tent in store for every bridegroom in Morocco immediately after the ceremony. Roman couples partook of a nuptial supper that consisted only of milk, honey and poppy juice. Cupid and his brides have other ways of choosing their husbands-to-be than by the amount of honey they can provide even though our product ranks high among the best. He must be able to raise the dough, provide the car and bring home the bacon. The modern damsel is more independent then pounds sterling, she is more sophisticated and have to be doubly sure of her man before she becomes infected with the germ of grandma ever was. She can and often does contribute a goodly share of the dough, the bacon and the honey. The Hindus prized honey because they believed that it chased away evil spirits. Part of the marriage ritual was an amusement of the bride with the precious sweet spirits. Today Scotch or Irish appear at the weddings here, but who ever thought of chasing them away. Britain's bees have their own health insurance. A shilling a year insures beekeepers a standard coverage of two pounds, a coverage with health bonus of two pounds ten shillings, if their bees become infected and have to be de-

Wheat Pool Achievements

The Alberta Wheat Pool was organized by Alberta farmers some 26 years ago. Alberta Pool Elevators started business in 1928. Grain producers of Alberta put up over $8 million to build Pool Elevator facilities. They did this because experience had taught them that only through the operation of their own co-operative grain handling system could they obtain protection and efficient service. By so doing Alberta grain producers are now freed from the shortcomings of monopoly control.

Alberta farmers have given generous support to Pool Elevators. The openness of operation and efficiency in directing and managing the Pool Elevator system have gained for this co-operative widespread respect and confidence.

In the years Pool Elevators has been in operation it has paid $3,892,000 in cash patronage dividends, $3,531,000 in reserves, and has redeemed reserve contributions from original Pool members to a total of $4,854,000.

Pool members can increase their reserve holdings by patronizing Pool Elevators. In seasons when earnings warrant some cash patronage dividends are also paid. It is to the advantage of every Pool member to deliver his grain to a Pool Elevator.

Grain producers can become members of the Alberta Wheat Pool by the delivery of 500 bushels of grain to a Pool Elevator and the securing of Wheat Pool reserves to the value of $5.00. Your local Pool Elevator agent will be pleased to give advice and assistance if you desire to apply for membership.

You can help the grain growing industry, agriculture in general, and yourself in particular by giving every support to

Master Machine for Modern Farmers

A recent survey showed the owners of self-propelled combines in Western Canada to be divided like this:

6 1/2% were owners of Massey-Harris
24.1% were owners of other makes

This is a very significant fact. Farmers don't choose their machines by whim or fancy. Such a high preference for Massey-Harris is proof beyond doubt that Massey-Harris combines give them the best all-round performance . . . in fast harvesting, clean threshing, freedom from field delays, low cost of operation.

If you were to visit the Massey-Harris combine factory and watch the long trainloads of combines pulling out of the railway siding, you would see something else that is noteworthy. Many of these train-loads are destined for United States points, because Massey-Harris combines are as popular in Kansas, Texas and the Dakotas as they are in the Canadian West.

And if you observed further, you would find many carloads destined for far-away countries like Argentina, India, Turkey, Tanganyika. All over the world, the Massey-Harris self-propelled combine is known and recognized as the master machine for modern farmers. Wherever you find modern agriculture, you find Massey-Harris combines in use and in demand.

Characteristics Of Some Of Our Lake And River Fish

Lake Trout —

This is an universal a fish that it needs no introduction to any seasonal angler. During the best of summer, July and August, the Lake Trout is usually keeping cool down in the deeper water. One of the best ways to be successful in trolling, using a weighted sinker and depending upon luck to get a strike. Spoons with numbers painted Trolling these conditions he is not a fussy fish. He is at best dead tired after a battle of wits and requires little time he is brought to the surface. Yet, a great many anglers delight in fishing for Lake Trout.

In May and early June as well as in September he comes out of the depths to feed along the shoals and shores. It is then that he is a game fish of the first water. When caught on trout fly tackle or by bait casting a ten pounder is likely to dwarf the electric fighting spirit of the Brook Trout.

Rainbow Trout —

The Rainbow is considered by many sportsmen to be one of the greatest game fish caught in fresh water. He has the furious fighting tactics of the Atlantic Salmon, with instantaneous leaps long runs and the trick of doubling back.

He would naturally prefer the prairie but was introduced twenty years ago, giving fishermen the chance to match their angling skill against the many salmon fighting fish.

Rainbows will amply young Steelhead Trout that did not run down to the sea in spring up, take on silvery colors and return when mature to freshwater streams to spawn. They remained in fresh water where they took on more brilliant colors and reached maturity at a smaller size.

They will take dry fly and wet fly as well as baits, according to season and river level. Three to four pounds are on a fly rod is an unforgettable experience. Heavy fly rods and reels large enough to carry the fleet of backing should be used.

With its round, iridescent, purplish-red hand along the side, the Rainbow is well named.

Brook Trout —

The Brook Trout has been called the jewel among all game fish. While in this way he lives in some waters where he may have every color of the spectrum on his scales, in other waterslods, he may be so dark that little color is discernible.

When hooked, the Brook Trout is not a fighting fish like the Rainbow, although he may rise clear of the surface in striving the fly.

The most popular equipment is a nine-foot five-ounce fly rod. Standard trout fly patterns in sizes eight to fourteen will serve. In the Fly River, streamers and bucktails up to size 4 gas and four, for the large ignorant dandies, are good.

Pickerel —

This fish is incredibly abundant and provides the fishermen a riot of fishing they are not likely to forget His favourite playgrounds are in large lakes with tributary waters

In early June, when the ice is on its way out, the Pickerel travels with his brothers up the rivers and fast waters to spawn. There is dangerous sport among angling experts as to whether the fly kerrl can be caught during this season. Some argue that it can be, but bright lure through not the day, while others say he is not interested in food at all. However, later on the season the Pickerel resumes his nutritional feeding habits and can be caught at shoals near the shoals and at the foot of falls using bright lures of the wobbler type, red and white plugs and spinners with mormon trigger behind.

Many of our American friends sail into the Walleye.

Loch Leven Trout —

While this is definitely a fighting game fish, he does not do battle on the rod of a line quite so vigorously as his other trout brethren. He is however quite as well educated either; he will take almost any kind of lure or bait but he is most particular how on a fl

His square tail distinguishes him from the Lake Trout which has a forked tail.

Five to eight pounders are not uncommon; but a ten pounder on a fly rod will give the most callous angler the shivers.

Arctic Grayling —

The Arctic Grayling is the aristocrat of all northern fish, not only because of his unsurpassed beauty, but because of his electric fighting qualities.

His habits are very much like those of the trout family, although he inhabits waters which are much cooler than that where game trout are mostly found. He prefers cold clear streams and lakes of pure water, with sand and gravelly bottoms. He is more elegantly formed and more graceful than the trout, and his great dorsal fin is a superb mark of loveliness. His color scheme by itself is something worth angling for.

A ten pounder will give your rod the best work-out it has ever had.

Sturgeon Pike —

Only since the refinement of fishing tackle and the introduction of light but casting reels has the Northern Pike been regarded as a worthy game fish. We have enjoyed him on both the line and in the pan

He is a notoriously voracious fish and is believed to eat in the neighborhood of one-fifth of his weight daily. Almost anything that moves in or on water will provide the greedy maw of the Pike's vicious jaws. Flags, spoons, bass bugs, surface lures or bottom lures can all be used with equal success. He needs no coaxing.

Northward in the remoter lakes of the pre-Cambrian zone where he attains his greatest size, the Pike is found in great abundance in the rocky, cold waters he is at his best as a game fish too, and that in a masterly stroke of understatement. By reason of their large numbers a ten pounder is an event in most waters, although thirty pounders have been frequently reported.

In Saskatchewan the Pike is called the Jackfish

Small Mouth Bass —

This fish is favourite for his fighting as an aerial acrobat on the end of a line. His terrier-like frenzy has wrinkled the brow of many a stern angler.

Although some of the biggest Bass are caught in Big Beaver, the height of the season is during July and August.

The Smallmouth prefers live bait to artificial lures and likes frogs, crawfish, minnows and leeches. Hoover the smaller deep-going plugs and bass bugs, spoons and spinners, in early morning and evening surface lures, are becoming popular with the Smallmouth. Some rod fly fisher prefers to take him on bass bugs and floating fly.

Perch —

This underwater gentleman is a prime favourite because he is everybody's fish. He comes to rod and hook in reports and series. They all stand an equal chance.

He is ready to snaple all the baits of the amateur, and the expert takes him both with artificial fly and trolling spoon.

As a food-fish there is some better in favour among the connoisseur circle.

Goldeye —

Here is a dish for the epicure and a fish for the more enthusiastic angler. Smoked Goldeye in a delicacy which is highly prized on the tables of most South Americans.

Although the eating excellence of the Goldeye is widely recognized, it is not so well known that he can hold his own as a good game fish, too. He will take dry or wet fly, but the favourite method is by the use of a small float supporting a hook baited with worm, insect or minnow about a foot below the surface. He is also occasionally, too, on small spinners or plugs.

CATTLE CAN TRAVEL FAST

FORT LEWIS, Wash. — Forester Bob Nordbrock claims he has found rivals for the likes of Citation, Whirlaway and Olympus.

Nordbrock patrols the local military reservation in a helicopter. He said he spotted a group of cattle grazing off limits and came down to take a look at their brands. The cattle fled, Nordbrock followed.

He insisted they were traveling 60 miles an hour. The record for a running horse is 43.3 miles per hour.

ADVICE

LONDON - A cure for the worried: keep an aquarium.

Fish-pet fancier Anthony Evans says this is the best way to arrive at a state of "calm and to achieve a philosophic detachment from the wickedness of men." Evans edits the Federation of British Aquatic Societies Journal.

"Moss and more people in these troubled times are finding tranquility in the quiet study of goldfish and other aquatic pets," Evans says.

It is wrong to think of the goldfish as an aloof creature They are most sociable. They can be trained to answer a whistle at mealtime, and to discriminate between whistles of a different pitch."

Smile of the Week—

The patient fisherman was sitting at the edge of a pond during the closed season on bass.

The warden stopped and talked a while, finally asking if he had caught any fish.

"No," was the reply.

"What are those four doing on your line?"

"Well," was the reply, "I just had to tie them up while I fish. They were eating my bait."

EXCLUDED FROM WAR

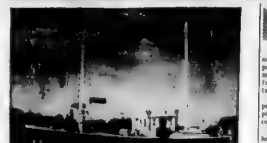
Except for the Portuguese and Spanish colonies, every part of Africa was involved in the Second World War.

The ancient Etruscans invented dental restoration and false teeth by fitting artificial teeth in bronze bands or "bridges".



FLOATING LABORATORY—This is Canada's only "floating laboratory", the Cameron, weighed especially for fisheries research in the Arctic, which will have its first major trip out shortly under the direction of Prof. Maxwell Dunbar, who designed the ship, on behalf of the Fisheries Research Board of Canada.

Girls Receive Answer To Message In Bottle

LAST summer two 13-year-old girls from Romford who went to Flin Flon, England, with a party of Girl Covenanters, a Bible class, thought it would be fun to send a bottle message.

They wrote their names and addresses and the date on the message and asked the finder to write to them. Then they securely corked the message in the bottle and threw it into the sea.

Not long ago they received a letter from Germany containing their message and a letter in his own language from a German fisherman, Michel Wathers, describing how he had happened to find it.

He was at sea in his boat when a storm blew up and he was obliged to run for the nearest shelter. This happened to be the island of Helgoland, which since the war, has been destroyed and is deserted. On the shore of this smashed and lonely island he chanced to find the bottle. It had taken six weeks to reach this uninhabited rock in the North Sea.

Michel has three young children, and the two English girls have sent him a parcel of clothing for them.

Helpful Hints

Tent cots usually remove grease spots from wallpaper with a paste made of cornstarch, talcum powder or white cornmeal and carbon tetrachloride. Spread paste over spot, brush off when dry, and repeat until stain disappears.

To distinguish stockings when they have been served women in the household, make several stitches of colored embroidery thread on the top of the stocking, using a different color for each person

* * *

When powdering the face, start from the back up, powdering the nose last. Otherwise the nose gets more than its share of powder, becoming the most prominent feature on the face.

Hint To Inventors

A young German inventor is, he says, working on an automobile which will cost practically nothing to operate since its motor will run on air or water. Near it someone else will just come along and transform these same inexpensive ingredients into 7-tone steaks, riverside and building materials, we should be well on our way to beating the cost of living.—Winnipeg Free Press.

METHODS OF CANNING

The two methods of canning fruit are commonly described as the "hot pack" and the "cold pack". This merely refers to the condition of the fruit when it is placed in the container.

The cold pack method refers to the practice of placing the prepared pieces of fruit in the container and covering with hot syrup.

The hot pack method refers to the heating of the fruit to a boil with a little sugar and sugar before it is placed in the container. This method results in broken pieces and a more or less stewed product. The fruit method retains the natural shape of the pieces and is the method commonly used in commercial canning.

As the hot pack method reduces the number of containers required by 40 to 50 per cent, many housewives will prefer to use this method, even though the appearance of the resulting product is not quite so attractive as is obtained by the cold pack method.

Directions For Cold Pack Method

Use this method for canning cherries, apricots, peaches, pears, Prince and Pioneer

1. Test the jars to see that they make an airtight seal Wash in warm soapy water. Rinse in a container of hot water and bring to a boil

2. Make a thin Syrup, using 2 cups of water to 1 cup sugar Boil 5 minutes

3. Select fruit that is fresh and at the proper stage of maturity. Wash and prepare the fruit into pieces suitable for serving Pack into hot jars. Take care to see that no bits of fruit interfere with the seal

4. Fill the glass-top jars full to overflowing with boiling hot syrup. Fill the metal-top jars to within one inch of the top. Partly seal the jars, using the upward technique required for each type of jar

Screw-top jars—tighten and turn ½ turn

Spring-top jars—adjust the rubber and top and leave the lower spring up

Metal-top jars—adjust the top in place and then change or adjust with a metal screw band until tight

5. Process the (fr. comb) the jars by either of these methods:

Hot Water Bath—Put rack in the bottom of the wash-boiler Place the jars in the boiler and see that they are covered by one inch of water. Start timing when the water begins to boil.

Oven Method—This method is advised only if you can be very accurate accurately with the thermostat. It should not be attempted with a coal or wood stove, where the oven temperature may vary.

Put a little hot water to ½ inch of water in bottom. (The broiler pan is excellent.) Process at a temperature of 200 deg to 225 deg. for time specified.

6. When processing is completed, remove the jars and seal. Do not tighten, tap or invert the metal-top jars.

7. Test the screw-top by inverting for a few minutes and test the spring-top jar by placing the jar on its side. If any leaks are found, investigate the trouble. These simple tips may help you to overcome the

(a) From the top edge of the metal band of the screw-top jar down with a knife-handle.

(b) Open the spring-top jar and add a second process for one hr (the

(c) Then the wire closure on the spring-top jar, until it is in a tighter position.

8. Let all the jars stand until cool. Store in a cool, dry place

Directions For Hot Pack Method

Wash, sort and prepare the fruit as for storing for immediate use. Place in a preserving kettle and heat as quickly as possible to avoid discoloration. A little water may be added if necessary to prevent scorching. Amounts of sugar are added as required.

The fruit is brought to a boil and packed into glass jars, that have been heated previously either in the oven or in a pan of boiling water. Containers are filled to overflow to a bit of the top. The jars are partly sealed and placed in boiling water for the cook.

If the packing is operated rapidly so that there is no opportunity for cooling, a cook of 10 minutes per quart jars is sufficient. If cooling in fact, many boiling hours in the processing-time as given for Cold-Pack.

Directions For Processing With Pressure Cooker

Follow manufacturer's cooker fitted with rack in the bottom, steam tight cover, pressure and pressure gauge.

1. Prepare product and proceed according to directions for Hot and Cold Pack methods listed above.

2. Place rack in bottom of cooker and add enough hot water to bring up to level of rack

3. Place the filled jars on the rack in the cooker Prepare only enough jars at one time to fill the cooker. Do not allow jars to touch

4. Adjust the cover of cooker and fasten securely by tightening opposite clamps or adjusting band.

5. Leave the petcock open until a jet of steam has been spurting from the petcock for 7 to 10 minutes. Then close petcock and start counting processing time from the minute the required amount of pressure is reached on the pressure gauge. Keep pressure uniform throughout the processing period.

6. Process for required length of time.

7. Remove cooker from the fire as soon as the processing time is up and allow the hand on the pressure gauge to return to zero. Then open petcock gradually.

8. Remove jars from cooker. Do not tighten metal top jars with screw bands. Set on surface on which several thicknesses of cloth have been laid. Do not turn metal-top jars upside down while cooling and cooling and do not screw bands down after jars are cold and sealed. Do not set hot jars in draft.

Good News For Fishermen

There is rumors for rejoicing in the announcement that a plastic worm, which is more pleasing to fish than the common garden variety, has been invented.

It looks like the earth worms that you find when you dig in the garden The new worms which are collected after dark on dewy lawns by aid of a lantern or flashlight.

The claim is that a fish will dart for the plastic worm and try to swallow it much more readily than the same fish will go after a live worm. It is also claimed by the inventor that the ladies who go fishing for fish prefer the plastic worms in the early spring earth worms that wiggle when you try to impale them on a hook.

The plastic worm is good for a whole afternoon's fishing because it doesn't get bleached and haggard-looking from long immersion.—Moose Jaw Times-Herald.

POSTURE IS IMPORTANT

Posture is important for good health. This is particularly true regarding a person's place of work or study. Chairs and desks should be at the correct level so a person can work comfortably without bunching over the desk. Factory workers should adjust work-benches to require as little stooping and bending as possible. Good posture means less fatigue and better production.

Two Types of Box Sills for Buildings

Three two types of box sill construction for frame walls show approved methods of combining plate, stud and joist for strength and durability.

WE are showing herewith two types of box-sills which are good construction in wall framing. A good form of box sill accomplishes two desirable ends in building construction: First it provides an effective weatherstrip along the wall of the building at this point.

The construction of the sill in the drawing at left is possibly better than that at the right, but requires somewhat more material In this type of sill the wall plate is laid on the foundation, then the joists are fitted against the side of the 2-inch end-strip of the sill. The subfloor or rough floor is then laid over the joists and the wall plate for the studding is placed on top of this supported by the runner around the wall and the end of the joists.

In addition to good weatherstripping, a good type of box sill inhibits the entrance of mice into the wall spaces between the studs. Either of the sills illustrated are good from this standpoint, but in addition to preventing the entrance of mice at the sill, it is advisable to nail stops between the studs at intervals of 4 or 5 feet to prevent them from getting all through the building should the gain entrance to the wall spaces at the sill level.

Such stops have the additional advantage of forming fire stops on walls in fact, many building codes in towns or cities make such fire-stopping compulsory. It will be noted that the studs in the drawing at left do not run all the way to the top plate of the sill, whereas in the right hand drawing the studs do rest on the bedplate, thus making somewhat longer studs essential in this form of construction

WEDDING

ELMQUIST — MAY

A very lovely wedding took place in the Hardisty Anglican Church on July 23rd at 2 p.m., when IvyCaroline, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Elmquist of Sedgewick, exchanged vows with Claude A. May, son of Mrs. R Hansen of Meon, Arizona. Rev. John Pettitt performed the ceremony, in the living room of the bride's home. Given in marriage by her father the bride was beautifully gowned in floral net over taffeta, styled with a fitted bodice and full skirt, and wore matching elbow length gloves and a lacey white picture hat. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations and her only ornaments were a pearl necklace and ear drops, a gift from the bridegroom.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Marion Madden, was her only attendant, and chose a tan rose floral net over matching taffeta, styled with a bow at the neckline. Her corsage was a white gardenia. The best was Patrick Madden, brother-in-law of the bride. The wedding march was played by Miss Doreen Powell, and during the signing of the register, Doreen and Odie Powell sang, "I Love You Truly."

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs Elmquist wore an afternoon dress of white jersey patterned with large ryrose roses and her corsage was of yellow carnations.

The living room was beautifully decorated for the occasion, centered with a large white bell, emblematic streamers in pink and white, complete with clusters of white roses, and the bride table was centered with a tiered wedding cake in pink and white topped with a good luck charm and bedded in white net, especially decorated for the occasion by a worker and close friend, Mrs. Ivy Parsons. The seat to the bride was presented by Al Keegan Mrs. Elmquist poured, assisted by Mrs Andrew Elmquist, aunt of the bride

For her travelling costume, the bride chose a pearl grey wool crepe suit with matching accessories, and after a honeymoon spent touring the beauty spots along the Alaska Highway, the happy couple will make their home in Hazy, where Mr May will be teaching school.

An Honor To Canada

THERE ARE AN INCREASING NUMBER of indications of Canada's growing influence in world affairs, and many Canadians are now serving with distinction in highly responsible positions in international organizations. Among the most recent honor of this kind to come to a Canadian was the election of Dr Herbert H Hannan president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture to the position of president of the International Federation of Agricultural Producers, when that organization held its third annual conference at the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph in June organized in 1905 on a provisional basis the I F A P has met in London, England, The Hague and Paris Sir James Turner, of London England, held the office of president the conference at Guelph this year when he was succeeded by Dr Hannan

President For Past Ten Years

Dr Hannan has had wide experience in farm organization and has been president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture for the past ten years. A native of Ontario Dr Hannan graduated from the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph in 1926 He worked for a time for agricultural journals and served as secretary of the United Farmers Co-Operative Company. In Toronto. He later became associated with the Canadian Federation of Agriculture and will continue as the president in addition to serving as president of the I F A P. Dr Hannan also operates a dairy farm near Ottawa While the new position to which he has been appointed will add considerably to his duties, it will give Dr Hannan an opportunity to present the views of Canadian farmers to the governments of other nations and to gain a greater understanding of the problems of farmers throughout the world.

Brings Honor To Canada

Canada was honored by the international farm organization in being chosen as the location for the conference, and again when Dr Hannan was chosen to be the president More than one hundred delegates and observers attended the conference at which twenty-three of the world, major food-producing nations were represented As one of the largest of these Canada and especially the Canadian farmer, has a great interest in all policies affecting agriculture Dominion of Provincial co-operative movements social security for farmers stabilization of prices and production and many other problems of international scope are of great interest and concern to us here The election of Dr. Hannan as president of the I.F.A.P., is an honor not only to him, but to the place which Canadian agriculture holds among the other nations.

National Library Is Urged

WINNIPEG Establishment of a national library is the greatest project facing Canadian librarians today, Elizabeth Dafoe, president of the Canadian Library Association, told the association's first general session.

"It is our hope for Canadian literature," she said, "that this will eventually form part of a nationwide system. It is our hope that, as they develop, it will be possible for them to lay stress on individual and more knowledge less emphasis on the book of the month and more on the book of the decade

RICH, SPICY CINNAMON BUNS

Recipe

Measure into large bowl, 1 c. lukewarm water, 2 tsps. granulated sugar and cool yeast cake dissolved. Sprinkle with 2 envelopes Fleischmann's Royal Fast Rising Dry Yeast. Let stand 10 min., THEN stir well. Scald 1 c. milk and stir in 6 c. granulated sugar, 1½ tsps. salt, 6 tbs. shortening; cool to lukewarm. Add to yeast mixture and stir in 2 well-beaten eggs. Stir in 2 c. sour-sifted bread flour; beat well smooth. Work in 2 c. more sour-sifted bread flour. Knead until smooth and elastic; place in greased bowl and brush top with melted butter or shortening. Cover and set in warm place, free from draught, let rise until doubled in bulk. While dough is rising, combine 1½ c. brown sugar (lightly packed down), 2 tsps. ground cinnamon, 1 c. seeded and diced seedless raisins. Push down dough and divide into 2 equal portions; form into smooth balls, loaf each piece out on lightly floured board to 12" square. Brush dough with melted butter or shortening. Sprinkle with entire mixture of sugar, cinnamon and raisins, leaving ½" margin at long edge. Roll up like jelly roll, beginning at long edge. Cut into 1" slices. Place cut sides down and touching each other, a cut edge up, in greased 12" round layer-cake pans or other shallow pans. Loosen tops. Cover and let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake in moderate oven, 350°, 30-35 minutes. Serve hot, or reheated.

Young Ducks Banded In Wildlife Survey

REGINA — Young ducks on well — or adult ducks well will be banded by members of wildlife groups engaged in the annual waterfowl survey now being conducted out of Regina

Participants in the project are John Lynch, Asheville Lomanna, Ben Thompson, Salt Lake City Utah and Ray Bumtrom, St Paul, Minnesota members of the U S Fish and Wildlife Service, Dave Cain, Winnipeg, Dominion wildlife officer for the prairie region, and Mary MacDonald, Saskatoon, provincial secretary of the society here.

According to Mr. Lynch, banding of immature birds is a comparatively recent innovation, made because former methods had a serious disadvantage.

"When we first began to band the youngsters we started as if we were walking on eggshells," says the American waterfowl "In trapping we used self netting instead of wire so that the ducks could not be hurt We took the youngest ones out first so that they had the best chance Now we can trap 600 at a lick without losing a one."

We take better care of the birds than we do of our own personnel," Mr. Lynch pointed out that the banding of younger birds was begun because of the disadvantages of netting with adult waterfowl exclusively. The latter practice is too selective to give a valid sampling of a giant ducks will not come to bait. Besides this, such methods do not provide a complete life-history of the ducks Information on the number of what has happened to the birds before they were trapped.

Present work done by the field workers may be described as the second month of a six month task that has been going on for more than two months. # Harvesting Of Crested Wheat Grass Seed

SWIFT CURRENT, Sask —The Dominion experimental station at Swift Current issued the following statement on the harvesting of crested wheat grass seed

Crested wheat grass should be left for seed on every field where the grass heads out and does not seem to be suffering from lack of moisture or disease. It is important that as much seed as possible is produced since the demand is great and the supply very limited The cost of seed is so high that it will be profitable to harvest a stand yielding as low as 50 pounds per acre

To obtain as much seed as possible, it is important that the grass be cut at the right stage and proper harvesting methods be employed to avoid waste Crested wheat grass should be cut when the heads are brown with a greyish tinge Only the most mature heads should appear in a fertile condition One of the best methods of attempting to reseed and combine three to four days after the best results because the rate of travel can be so slow while a high sickle speed is maintained It is important that the knives are in good condition

Although a straight combining is not generally recommended, short, thick stands are also adapted to this method. Harvesting should be done promptly when most of the seed is ripe Even under the best conditions considerable green seed and other impurities will be harvested and it is essential that the seed be cleaned before placing it in a granary to dry before it is cleaned and stored in order to prevent heating.

When combining, the following precautions may be helpful

1 The cylinder and concaves should be fairly far apart Rub bar cylinders have given best results as they do not break the straw up as much as teeth cylinders

2 Machines should be operated between 2,000 and 3,000 r.p.m.

3 The wind blast should be cut down

4 Adjust screws so that they are fairly flat This will avoid broken straw from falling into the grain tank

Crested wheat grass seed can usually be cleaned satisfactorily with the ordinary fanning mill if proper zinc screens are used.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

AN EYE FOR BEAUTY

By WESLEY FIRTH

THE Mexican sat like a wobbling jelly on the patio of his hacienda, a few miles out of Mexico City, I climbed out of the car and in my only words of the lingo, said "Salo dos Amigos

Broadcast sense" he enquired with an oily smirk

Yes I said "Sewing your consults

"Do you lonely, you also me? The man, she are always shewing"

I see you have a notice up advertising yer wherefores I told him, as I sat on the steps I'm thirsty

Si si senor Please to wait a minute Isabella quieck bring thees gringo hombre a drink."

The girl who came in answer to his bidding made my eyes pop.

I had heard a lot about the beauty of Mexican senoritas and now I saw one up and delivering the goods right there this way in the city

She was literally over, short swinging against suntanned, shapely legs She placed the bottle on a table and gave me a gleaming smile which almost bowled me over. Then she went back into the hacienda.

The Mexican had been watching me all this time with a sly smile I settled with him for the drink, and he spat on the coins before slipping them in his pocket

He said, "The senor can interested see the Senorita?"

I grinned, didn't reply He dispossessed a wandering flea from his right ear and scratched his head. He said "Bet ees always so And why not? There is no such joy to life as a lovely senorita I know, amigo, I have been married three — four times

The beautiful young girl came out again carrying a slop-bucket with the ooze of a woman with a face like the pearl of or a clump of rarfus

They vanished round the building I thought that if that was what I'd be married, he could not have much use for an eye for beauty When you're old you can't be choosey

Ah, yes, I sighed "Even a poor peon such as I may build himself a wonderful world" He turned on me quickly "You are going to Monaco Cosie?"

Stevens Isaa," I said "Er— I mean si si"

He smiled "You do not speak my language of my people too well, eh? You ever come to Monaco?"

"I expect I will," I agreed.

"Si There is much of beauty in Mexico City—but the guides, senor, they are all worms and some of worms. They will rob you of every penny They wool trick you . . . they are thieves"

"I'm afraid it can't be helped, sen or," I told him "I'll have to have one."

He nodded and spat with gravity on a passing lizard He let on evil black rigarro, and seemed to have lost interest in me and my needs.

The two women came out of the hut and the young one glanced at me spoke to her companion Both giggled Then the older woman with the gar gargle feel-lizzy dropped her arm and hurried her inside

Mi wife and my only daughter, he explained, looking up and following my gaze

He offered me a rigarro which I hastily refused He shrugged, not unpleased. He blew smoke at the sun above then transferred his attention to me

I had been about to rise and leave but he motioned me back to my seat "The Kingbeach is beautiful place" he explained "I would not do three days journey from there to Monaco Cosie?"

Stevens Isaa," I said "Er— I mean si si"

He smiled "You do not speak my language of my people too well, eh? You ever come to Monaco?"

Manitoba Drilling Gets Oil Showing

WINNIPEG — Four showings of oil are reported by the Souris Valley Oil Co which is drilling 10 test wells at southwest Manitoba

One of the wells on June 13 was down 1 424 ft. (President) O Knaley reported that light crude oil flowed at 4 bbls ft and that on a test of the bottom 4 ft. to 1 424 ft. fluid rose in the drill pipe a distance of 60 ft in a 25-minute test Mr. Knaley reported that gas was present with the oil.

The company has undertaken to go to a depth of 5,000 ft in each test well. The six where oil showings are reported in 3½ miles southwest of Lyleton and about six miles from the international boundary.

It Wasn't A Beaver, Muskrat, But Nutria

COURTENAY B.C — It wasn't a beaver but it looked like one. It wasn't a muskrat even though it had a tail.

Game officials here had but one question "What is it" but finally learned it was a nutria.

Experts at Victoria said it was a South American aquatic rodent, if you prefer zoological accuracy. Nutrias are fairly common rodents which were introduced into B.C some years ago as a possible source of new furs.

The nutria in question was bided by a trapper when it attacked his dog. The trapper termed it "mighty quest-lookin'."

SOURCE OF VITAMIN C

Tomatoes are a good home grown source of vitamin C, juvenile acid. Strawberries are also a pleasant way of getting this vitamin

Large Sums Being Spent On Highways

Expenditure of more than $157 millions on roads and highways this year will bring no dramatic improvements in Canada's highway system no national projects no official Trans-Canada Highway, just a gradual improvement in both trunk routes and county roads. That's what The Financial Post found in a coast-to-coast survey recently

Post provincial Colonist Manitoba Saskatchewan and British Columbia report expenditures at a new high Some new and improved highways are included, but for the most part it's a program of maintenance and gradual raising of road standards

Most provinces are taking no particular action in anticipation of agreement on the Trans-Canada Highway through improvements being made both in Manitoba and Saskatchewan could tie up with it whenever it is undertaken.

Manitoba

Another peak in highway expenditure Burns vowed to date are $7 4 millions for main provincial highways and $4 6 millions for revenue-sharing and aid to municipalities and school districts

One hundred and sixty miles of main highway is to be graded, and 66 miles surfaced with gravel or concrete The main improvement projects include

Winnipeg to the international boundary at Emerson.

Brandon to the international boundary at the Peace Gardens

Hilbert to Neepawa (north-east boundary) Trans-Canada Highway.

Saskatchewan

One of the largest programs undertaken in last 15 years, with total appropriation of 4 1 millions $2 5 millions is for maintenance

New construction includes 400 miles of "base grade" roads, 430 miles of gravel surfacing, 105 miles of intermediate-type gravel. The projects are widely scattered but much work is being done on each of two alternative routes for the Trans-Canada highway

Alberta

Work comparable with last two years. Total expenditure for construction is 9 6 millions; 686 miles are to be graded, and 198 miles surfaced with asphalt Work agreed on under provisions of Canada-wide highway taken on the Trans-Canada Highway

British Columbia

The most extensive program ever undertaken by the province is agreed on construction, reconstruction and paving 250 miles to have new pavements

Feed Grain Supply Shortage In Alberta

EDMONTON — Threat of coarse grain and pasture crop failure makes it imperative for Alberta farmers to arrange purchase of feed grain supplies, G S Longman, deputy minister of agriculture warned

A relatively large area will produce only light crops because of drouth, he said, and pastures must have early substantial rains to prevent serious livestock production losses

Shortage of feed grains by early fall is possible, he added, following the placing of coarse grain marketings under jurisdiction of the Canadian wheat board from Aug 1

How You too Will Benefit from Calgary Power's Spray Lakes Project

IN YOUR HOME ... ON YOUR FARM The Spray Lakes project is a Ten Million Dollar pledge by this Company that, while meeting the steadily increasing power needs of Alberta, it will meet your individual needs at all ... in your home, on your farm. It is power insurance for you for years to come — power for new appliances and new homes, plus the instant, dependable 24-hour service you have enjoyed ever since this Company started to serve you. The Spray Lakes project is progress, for Alberta and for you.

IN YOUR TOWN The Spray Lakes project is a capital expenditure this Company is making to assure your town's continued growth and expansion. Without your town issuing bonds or debentures, and without increasing by a single penny the taxes you pay, your town will have its electrical needs met regardless of how fast, or how big your town should grow. Home by home, business by business, street by street, power will be there for power is always there in towns served by this business-managed utility.

IN YOUR DISTRICT The Spray Lakes project will benefit your district in two ways. Through assuring abundance of power for rural electrification it will bring a higher standard of living to your farms, and lower farming costs. By assuring continued industrial development throughout Alberta it will bring more people and more industries to this Province — with increasing demands and better cash markets for many of the things your district produces. The Spray Lakes project means progress for all.

Pickerel Exchanged For Speckled Trout

HUDSON BAY, Sask. A shipment of 5,000 speckled brook trout fingerlings were planted in the Overflow river, 12 miles north of Hudson Bay after an overnight run from Calgary by special truck with just one stop at Qu'Appelle hatchery.

The Overflow river runs out of the Pasquia mountains and is similar to the Pic river where former plantings have proved such a success.

The trout were obtained from the Alberta authorities in trade for pickerel fry from Saskatchewan.

It is expected that other suitable rivers in this district will be stocked with trout when available.

R. Wolonsky of the fisheries branch, department natural resources, was in charge of the transfer.

TOURIST TRAFFIC INCREASE

For the second year in succession Britain's tourist trade in 1948 gained more dollars than any manufacturing industry. The annual report of the Travel Association estimates that more than 500,000 overseas visitors last year spent $126 million, of which $64 million was Canadian and in U.S.A. dollars and other hard currencies. It is expected that more than 500,000 overseas visitors will travel to Britain this year and that their expenditure, including fare payments to United Kingdom shipping and air lines may exceed $230 million.

Says Alberta's Oil Potential Is Great

WASHINGTON — A private consultant told the United States Government that Alberta's oil potential is greater than Mexico's.

Max W. Ball, former chief of the oil division of the interior department, made this point in a letter maintaining that a United States ban to Mexico for oil development would be a "disservice" to both countries.

He estimated the content of the Alberta and Northwest Territories fields at 20,000,000,000 barrels or more. Mexico's undiscovered reserves, he said, are only a geologic guess but are probably between 5,000,000,000 and 75,000,000,000 barrels.

Ball's letter to the State Department, concerned the recent request by Pemex, Mexican Government oil monopoly, for a $200,000,000 loan from the United States export-import bank.

The reference to Canada was contained in one of 20 points Ball made in his letter.

The Dominion offers "more alluring prospects, geologically and politically," than Mexico he said.

"A great sedamentary basin lies east of the Rockies in western Canada. It occupies parts of Alberta Saskatchewan, British Columbia and the Northwest Territories. It is called the Alberta syncline.

"In certain geologic aspects, the Alberta syncline is like our Permian basin in West Texas and New Mexico, but much larger. The discoveries of the past three years make it look at-least as promising as the Permian basin looked after the discovery of the Big Lake, Hendricks and Yates fields in the 1920s.

"The syncline may well contain 20,000,000,000 barrels or more."

Ancient Greek philosophers believed that there was only one chemical element, but didn't agree as to what it was.

BRITAIN'S NEW BOAT TRAIN IS VERY EXCLUSIVE

LONDON People have been turning out in hundreds recently to view the New Haven boat train which is quite the gaudiest thing on wheels. For the last few weeks it has been polished unsmilingly by a fancy new exterior decorator painted bright green, white, blue and red lining. The regular units of the train are now cream and cream—the newly adopted rarely seen color scheme for British Railways express trains. In the middle there is a Pullman car in dark russet with a brown & parker car and a diner privately operated in the traditional chocolate and pale yellow. There are two baggage cars one all crimson the other green

CROP REPORT NO. 9
(By the Bank of Montreal)
In the Prairie Provinces, recent high temperatures have hastened ripening of all c...
In the northern and eastern Soil Zones and south western Alberta, good to above average yields are expected. In the Central Alberta and parts of Central Saskatchewan from late to good. Elsewhere in Bank, yields will be seriously poor, ranging down to seed only. Some cutting is in progress in Manitoba, the southern districts of Saskatchewan and Alberta, but harvesting will not be general over the prairie for another ten days.
Ample feed will be harvested in Alberta. Rapid growth of weeds in the western section presents a harvesting problem. Extensive hail damage is reported in the north-central area. Heavy yield is estimated at about 50 percent of last year.

SHOWER FOR ELSIE WILSON
On August 11th the Co-op Hall was the scene of a lovely shower given, sored by Mrs. Fraser, Mrs. Vanderroort and Miss Faye Stout, in honor of Miss Elsie Wilson, bride-elect.
The evening was spent making up a bride's book depicting Elsie and Norman's love from boyhood days, school, courtship, engagement and wedding days. This unity covered book was presented to Elsie as a memento of the occasion, after which she read the jingles written by each group. The gifts were placed on a nice covered and decorated table and a red rosed a reception to approximately forty guests was held in the Co-op hall and lunch served by the bride. The table was decorated with pink and white sweet peas and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake. Rev. Simpson proposed the toast to the bride and groom, after which the groom replied. After a honeymoon to Jasper the couple will reside at Cadomin. For travelling the bride chose a dark green crepe dress and coat to match. The best wishes of the community go with the couple in their new home.

KILLAM DIVISION IMPROVES TRAVELING LIBRARIES
(By J. W. Chalmers)
SEDGEWICK, August 13.—Several hundred dollars worth of new story books have recently been added to the traveling libraries of the Killam School Division to brighten the lives of town and country children in grades one to nine. And for the first time the facilities of the traveling library will be available to children in town schools of the Division.
Organized several years ago the traveling library service has undergone a reorganized history (Original), before there were any towns in the Division, the rural schools were organized into circuits, and the library sent books travelled around the circuit without ever returning to the divisional office. Difficulties in keeping the books circulating led to a change in method of distribution two years ago, when it was decided to have all books sent out from and returned to the divisional office by mail. Thus no school would be without reading material because some other school failed to forward a travelling case promptly. In this scheme the Canadian Post Office cooperated by forwarding books to the schools at a very low rate and by returning them free.
Previously, travelling libraries have contained research and reference books for enterprise activities and other subjects, as well as free reading material. However, with the improvement in the basic libraries in the schools, only story books will henceforth be circulated. For each room schools library cases will contain a general assortment for pupils from grade 1 to 9. Cases destined for town schools will contain titles for not more than three grades, and each school will be loaned three cases at a time. Town schools will be expected to return cases after one month but rural schools will receive the books on indefinite loan. However, they may not borrow more than one case of books at a time.

WEDDING
A wedding of much interest took place in the Baptist Church, Killam on Wed. August 17th when Miss Ada Ilene Frances Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G.F. Wilson became the bride of Mr. Gordon James Rowher, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Rancter, all of Killam. The Rev. R. Simpson performed the double-ring ceremony before an altar banked with spring flowers and ats arch trimmed with green and white wedding bell. Entering the church on the arm of her father to strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, the bride looked lovely in a gown of shimmering white satin, styled with a long bouf panelled trimmed with white pearls, and long sleeves which tapered to lily points at the wrists. She wore a string of pearls, a gift of the groom. A pearl trimmed bedi hpiece held her chapel veil and she carried a bouquet of red roses. Miss Betty Rancter was bridesmaid and was dressed in a pink gown of pique with chapel veil; Miss Jean Rancter acted as maid of honor and chose a pale green gown with chapel veil. Both matrons made up their bouquets. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Douglas Wilson was usher and usher, aided by David and Keith Wilson. Soloist was Mr. R. Rancter who sang "Wedding Prayer".
The bride's mother wore a grey rayo dress with matching accessories and a red rosed a reception to approximately forty guests was held in the Co-op hall and lunch served by the bride. The table was decorated with pink and white sweet peas and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake. Rev. Simpson proposed the toast to the bride and groom, after which the groom replied. After a honeymoon to Jasper the couple will reside at Cadomin. For travelling the bride chose a dark green crepe dress and coat to match. The best wishes of the community go with the couple in their new home.

BRIDAL SHOWER HELD FOR MINNIE STEADMAN
On August 16th about thirty ladies gathered at the home of Mrs Rose Grant, in honor of Minnie Steadman a bene marriage to Mr. Lew Frantz took place in Hardisty on Aug 16th
The bride, seated under a shower opened her many lovely gifts and graciously thanked each and everyone. A bride's book of selected autographed recipes and useful hints was presented on behalf of those present. The afternoon concluded with a very lovely lunch.

MR. AND MRS. R. HEPWORTH HOLD GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY
Mr. and Mrs. R. Hepworth celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last Sunday, August 14th at their home south of Lougheed. On August 14th, 1899 Sarah Ellen Belcher married Reuben Hepworth at Wadden Parish Church in Sheffield, Yorkshire England. They farmed there until 1912 at how came to Canada settling at Lougheed. Their three sons were born in England and their only daughter in Canada. They also have two grandchildren. School opens Sept. 1 and teachers for the term are: F. C. Paige, C. A May, J.F. Donovan, Mrs. J. Saville, Miss Joy Innes; Miss Victoria Burchardt and Miss Helen D. Mer

The Bert Brandsons of Assiniboia, Sask. are visiting this week at the Don Dickson home and renewing acquaintances around town.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sambo and Mrs. Red Mattoon motored to the city to spend Thursday and Friday visiting friends there.

The town was very rudely but wisely aroused last Thursday when the fire alarm went, calling all men to the aid of his country. No, there was no danger, but Mr. Terry had set fire to some tires which sent up volumes of black smoke. With the exception of a few broken hinges and things the fire was out in no time. Our Fire Chief is really pleased about the whole affair.

Though the darkies failed to keep their appointment last Sunday, the folks still saw some real ball games down at the lake between Longhorned and Hardisty teams. Both team won a game. The Sedgewick juniors defeated Hardisty. Thanks for the fun boys. We like to see you play.

Congrats go to Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Kimber on the birth of their daughter on August 16th; also to Mr. and Mrs. August Abramont on the birth of a daughter, August 18th.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Sampson of Irma were Sunday visitors at the Albert Hingsont home.

Mr. and Mrs. Red Mattoon, Fay, Terry, Elsie Miller, Madeline Donovan and Marie Keegan went with the Killam Football team to Ponoka to Olds over the week end. The girls were really on the beam Saturday, to beat Ponoka 7 1, but lost the first two games to Olds in playoffs. They are not licked yet. Come here Sunday at Killam the girls promise some real action. Games at 2 and 4. Step for Step Signs, unless you want a parking-up.

An Example Of Co-Operation

AT THE BEGINNING OF JULY the International Refugee Organization of the United Nations marked the end of its second year of operations. During these two years it has assisted more than 1,250,000 refugees who were waiting in camps to be settled in new homes. These people have been fed, clothed and restored to health by the I.R.O., and in addition many have received training in occupations which are likely to be useful to them in their new homes. It is doubtful if any organization of the United Nations is better known throughout the world than the I.R.O. Some 64,000 displaced persons have come to Canada under its auspices, representing thirteen per cent of all those resettled by the organization.

Was Undertaken By UNRRA

At the end of the war there were about eight million homeless people who were refugees from little areas or who had been in slave camps. The situation was first dealt with by UNRRA, which undertook to provide these unfortunate people with food and clothing and return them to their homes. Millions did go back to their homes, but there remained those in camps who did not wish to return to their own countries, but hoped to resettle elsewhere. It was this problem which faced the International Refugee Organization when it was created two years ago. Difficulties were encountered by the Organization in securing funds and in enlisting the co-operation of governments in carrying on the task of finding new homes for the people under its care, but these were gradually overcome as people throughout the world became aware of the urgency of the need for assistance.

Difficulty in Securing Ships

At the time it came into existence the IRO was hard difficulty in securing ships to transport displaced persons to their new homes. However, a great deal has been accomplished in this respect and the Organization now has a charter fleet of forty vessels, and has transported an average of 20,000 people each month to points in all parts of the world where there have been homes awaiting them. Although 500,000 persons have been resettled by the IRO, there are still 500,000 more waiting to be placed. It is now hoped that this will be accomplished by July 1st, 1950, and that after that time there will be no further need for the services of the Refugee Organization. Much credit is due to those who carry on this work and to the countries who are lending their co-operation in giving homes to displaced persons. Canada has given a fine support to the work which stands as an encouraging example of how international problems may be attacked by an international organization.

RECIPES

NEVER FAIL PIE CRUST

1½ cups flour
½ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup shortening
2 tablespoons butter
⅓ cup cold water, beaten with one egg white

Sift flour and salt together, cut in shortening and butter. Add cold water and egg white, mix lightly with fork. Chill for ten minutes if possible.

Divide into two parts and roll on slightly floured board to desired thickness.

Brush top crust lightly with little top milk. Bake in hot oven (400 deg. F.) for 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 deg. F till pie is baked and crust nicely browned.

FRESH APRICOT PIE

2 cups pitted and halved apricots
1 cup sugar
or ½ cup corn syrup
1 teaspoon melted butter
1 teaspoon lemon juice

One recipe flaky pastry

Line a deep pie dish with pastry and sprinkle the bottom lightly with a few very finely rolled cracker crumbs. Fill with apricots. Combine sugar or syrup, butter and lemon juice. Pour over apricots and sprinkle with 2 tablespoons finely rolled cracker crumbs.

Brush edge of pie lightly with cold water, place top pastry on, pinching the edges and pricking the top well. Place in oven at 400 deg. F for 10 minutes reduce heat to 350 deg F for 25 minutes longer.

To Make Marriage Easier in Ontario

TORONTO — They're going to make marriage just a little bit easier to get into in Ontario.

Beginning Aug. 2 one of two forms now required for marriage will be eliminated and the officiating clergyman won't have to pip the bride and groom with a series of questions. All he'll have to do is certify as to the persons being married.

The couple, however still will have to fill in answers to 28 questions required by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

FUNNY And OTHERWISE

In a hat shop a saleslady gushed: "That's a darling hat, dearie! It makes you look 10 years younger."

Then I don't want it," retorted the customer. "I can't afford to put on 10 years every time I take off my hat."

"Have you ever done a lick of work?" demanded the angry homeowner of the tramp.

"Lady," he retorted, "if you think asking dames like you for a bite to eat didn't work, you don't know what work is."

Farm Master: "So you admit that this boy was thrown into a trough of water last night? Can you take in the dog-gone[illegible]?"

Smith Minor: "I took the right leg, sir."

A spinster received and accepted a proposal of marriage. Then she began worrying about the bible truth—she hadn't mentioned them to her fiancé—and she asked her doctor what she should do—tell him or not.

The doctor replied: "Get married and keep your mouth shut."

An angry subscriber called to see "the scoundrel who wrote the libelous article" about him.

"You'll have to be patient," said the office boy. "He's out attending the funeral of the man who called to get satisfaction yesterday."

Bell Hop—"Did you ring, sir?" Irate Guest—"No, I was bellowing. I thought you were a fire."

"Have you ever noticed how a woman always lowers her voice when she asks a favor?"

"Yes, and pours it when she doesn't get it!"

A sergeant on a course of training wrote home to his wife: "Darling, I'm not in the military now, I have been put in the infantry, but don't worry, for I shall be all right."

His wife wrote back: "Darling, why should I worry? Your's in the infantry, not me."

"I just can't figure what got into her," said the old farmer, as they lugged his wife away to the insane asylum in a strait jacket. "She ain't been outa the kitchen in 30 years."

Diner—"Waiter, the portions seem to have got a bit smaller lately."

Waiter—"Just an optical illusion, sir. Now that the restaurant has been enlarged, they look smaller!—that's all."

A large woman and her meek little husband stood before the judge in traffic court.

"What were you doing at the time of the accident?" asked the judge.

The woman spoke up, "Your Honor, I was driving down Main Street, with my husband at the wheel . . . "

Boarder—"Ah, your steak is like the weather this evening, sodden, rather raw."

Landlady—"Indeed? By the way, your account is like the weather, too, unsettled."

A REAL PIONEER—Edgar Hoke is still a pioneer at 75. He homesteaded in Southern Saskatchewan in 1906 and stayed on his original homestead until 1947, becoming a Specialist in municipal affairs. Then he moved to his present home in Victoria, B.C. Now Westminster, and now has a cleared land, a fine house and garage built. He is shown here picking his first crop of peas on his second property.

Sprinkler System Used By Alberta Farmers Successful

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. The sprinkler system of watering a lawn is being applied this year to sugar beet and vegetable farming in the Lethbridge irrigation district of southern Alberta.

Just as the city dweller can do two jobs at the same time with the aid of a lawn sprinkler, the irrigation farmer now may give his attention to other chores while a high pressure system waters his crops.

Previously the flooding and furrow methods have been the accepted means of spreading the water for irrigation of canals to the cropland. The sprinkler system takes the "backache" out of this work.

Those using the new system say it is a big improvement on the conventional irrigation methods. It saves labor, produces more even crop growth with less water and eliminates costly land leveling because it can water up and down hill.

Sprinkler irrigation is done through light-weight aluminum pipes which is laid out over the crop land. Water, pumped in under pressure, shoots out of the pipe at 40-foot intervals through spray nozzles.

One setting of the pipe will irrigate an area 80 feet wide and the length of the system, which covers up to five acres of land at one setting.

Beet and vegetable growers have found that they can make three to four "sets" a day, irrigating 12 or more acres of land. It takes only between 30 minutes and an hour to change the position of the pipes.

For the initial methods of irrigation, five acres of watering was considered a good day's work.

More Fruit, Less Vegetables In Harvest

OTTAWA — More fruit, less vegetables—that's the outlook for Canadian crops to be harvested this fall. The Bureau of Statistics today issued its first 1949 estimates on production. Reporting that corn will be the only one of the home-grown vegetables more plentiful at harvesting time.

Acreage of asparagus, beans, peas, and tomatoes under contract to vegetable processors is slightly reduced.

Prospects in British Columbia crop, will be down, too. But prospects are for more apples, pears, plums, prunes, peaches, grapes, apricots and cherries.

Corn acreage is 23 per cent greater than last year. Apple production is estimated at 16,774,000 bushels, 25 per cent above 1948. The pear crop is expected to be 831,000 bushels, slightly larger than the 789,000 last year. A 15 per cent increase is looked for in the peach crop, currently estimated at 2,025,000 bushels.

Plums and prunes should be up to 744,000 bushels compared with 671,000.

Apricots, grown commercially only in B.C., are expected to be about 172,000 bushels. 20,000 more than last year. Production of cherries is expected to be around 694,000 bushels, just three per cent higher than a year ago.

Legume crops are down to 1,216,000 tons compared with 2,261,000 in 1948. The grape crop is expected to be around 64,300,000 pounds or 12 per cent above the 1948 level.

Following is the acreage of vegetables under contract to processors, with figures for 1948 in brackets:

Asparagus 768 (1,210), beans 3,628 (4,186), corn 62,190 (51,350), peas 32,130 (40,388), tomatoes 23,880 (27,139).

Soldiers Making Christmas Toys

OTTAWA — It's unquestionably unseasonable, but Christmas is in the busy making-toys for destitute children in Britain. The deadline is Sept. 30.

The army makes them, the Red Cross gets them to the ports, the United Emergency Fund gets them over seas, and the British provides Santa Claus distributes them. Many letters of thanks have come in for the same sort of effort last year.

CATTLE KILLED BY FLIES

MELFORT, Sask. Twelve head of cattle in this district were reported killed this year from attacks by black flies. The flies were known to be high mortality[illegible] attacks.

Prison Warden—"I've had charge of this prison for 10 years. What's going to happen to the rest of a party do you boys suggest?"

Prisoners—"Open house."

Delicious CRUMB COFFEE CAKE

Recipe

Measure into bowl, ½ cup lukewarm water, 1 teaspoon granulated sugar, one cake yeast or dried yeast. Sprinkle with 1 envelope Fleischmann's Dry Yeast. Let stand 10 minutes. Then stir well. Scald ½ cup milk and stir in ¼ cup granulated sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons shortening. Cool to lukewarm (86 deg.). Pour into large bowl and add 1 egg, beat well. Work in 2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour. Knead lightly, place in greased bowl, brush top with melted shortening. Cover and set in warm place, free from draughts. Let rise until doubled in bulk. Punch down dough and divide into 2 equal portions. Form into balls, roll out each ball on floured surface to about ½ inch thick. Place in greased pans about 7" x 11". Grease tops, cover and let rise until doubled in bulk. Prepare topping with 1 cup brown sugar, 2 tablespoons melted butter or shortening, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, ½ cup chopped walnuts or coconut. Sprinkle over dough. Bake in hot oven, 400°, about 20 minutes. Serve hot, with butter

NO WINDOW LOOKS DOWNCAST One Minute only for both Jams and Jellies

When you use Certo or "Certo" Crystals your jams and jellies need only a ONE-MINUTE full, rolling boil. This short boil does more than save you time and work.

Since no little time is lost in the time to boil away, you get an average yield of 10 glasses where old, long-boil would only yield about 8.

Not the lovely taste and colour of fresh fruit are in your jams and jellies because the boil is too short to spoil the one or dull the other.

SURE RESULTS EVERY TIME

If you follow EXACTLY the recipe that come under the label of every bottle of Certo or in every package of "Certo" crystals, you'll have no failures. You'll get lovely, sparkling jams and jellies every time. Different fruits need different handling, so there's a separate, easy-to-follow kitchen tested recipe for each fruit.

To get 50% MORE Jam or Jelly from your fruit use either CERTO or "CERTO" Crystals

Quick and Easy...Results are SURE

There's no guesswork in making jam or jelly with "Certo" Fruit Pectin Crystals. It takes no more time than to make a simple dessert. You get better set, better appearance, better taste . . . and about 50% more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit!

Please yourself which you use. Certo and "Certo" Crystals are both nothing but fruit pectin . . . the natural substance in fruit that makes jams "jam" and jellies "jell" . . . extracted and concentrated for quicker, easier, better jam and jelly-making. The word "Certo" is a trade mark.

THE BUTLER :: Was The Doctor Right?

By Louis Arthur Cunningham

"ANNA, I have a surprise for you, one of the best and most cut and dried surprise "Wallace?"

A figure loomed out of the gloomy portiere of the door leading to the servants quarters.

"Yes, dear mistress, Wallace," said Dr. Benet. "And those little words are Julian and Rose who will complete the life out of you if you let them."

I am at your service, madam, and the children's," and Wallace with a bow that Chesterfield would envied, led Rose Mrs Benet gathered her children closer to her and tried not to look at Wallace as though he were Death resurrected and clad in the stately garb of a butler.

Because it was dark and because he was elated with his wife's return, she had been away for months—he Benet failed to mark her agitation. Wallace was as impassive.

Dinner at eight o'clock" he asked mournfully and departed when Doctor Benet nodded.

"Wallace, Anna," said the doctor "Has Wallace conveyed you or so filled you with admiration that you just want to stand and marvel." It is a splendid domestic I acquired him through Colonel Tupper The Colonel found him in the war of 19 in the hospitals after The man is entirely without memory of the past but Anna, there is something, but some defect in the bones at the base of his skull where a bullet pinched him. I hired him as a model simply him as well as hers services."

"I . . . I understand" said Anna Benet and the doctor observed her tired, low-pitched voice to the fatigue of her journey.

But Anna was not tired. Her body—the slimly-moulded, graceful body of a modern who has never suffered, her girlhood, aroused no longer to arise. She was all spirit, and that spirit was suffering. She sent Julian and Rose away with Nina, the maid, and went quickly to her own room. Hot and cold she threw thoughtlessly on the bed and lay down beside them Her temples throbbed She had lost track of events and lived in a topsy turvy world that was a shifting mass but out of the hurly-burly one thing revived itself into rigid lines the tall, erekte figure of Wallace, the butler: for Wallace was Anna Carvil's husband and Dr Benet was just a man, and Julian and Rose

Anna Carvil and Wallace he was Anton Rose then had met and married in England a few weeks before he was sent to the front. Shortly after, he was reported killed in action and Anna had returned to Canada to find consolation in the love of Dr Denis Benet. A year after Anton's death they were married. Five years of quiet, crowded happiness had followed years that had brought Julian and then Rose and showed her the sterling worth of

In the morning after breakfast she heard, as one hears the preliminary noises of a volcano that must well drown people in destruction, the opening and shutting of doors in her husband's laboratory. The operation, he had told her, would not take long It was almost sure to be a success. An hour passed Anna lived through several years. At last moved her husband and — her other husband would come downstairs to her and . . . Her emotion was too great for tears, but her hands clenched and her lips so tight-pressed, her eyes so still, showed how she warred against fate and tried futilely to master her anxiety.

Upstairs the door opened, they were coming along the hall, down the stairs, talking She heard the butler's voice It sounded different less subdued to her, more like Anton's voice

They came into the living-room where she sat. She feared to look at them; yet a fascination led to be resisted drew her eyes to Anton's face to her husband's.

The butler's face was ghastly Dr. Benet looked troubled, baffled, disappointed.

"It did not work, Anna," he said And I really have sworn it would Everything went as I had it planned! You're sure you recall nothing before ever of your past, Wallace? Perhaps in a day or so—"

"I remember nothing, sir," said Wallace. "I guess it will always be like that "

A few weeks later Wallace gave notice He was young back in Glengrogue, he told Dr. Benet, and much regretted leaving Anna, her hope restored, confident that he would never remember, told him she was sure to see him go; but in her heart she was glad to be free of his presence

She drove Wallace to the station. Some was called to a patient. The morning of the butler's departure and had asked her to see the man away

"Goodby, Wallace" said Anna, and gave him her hand just before he boarded the train. "I am sorry my husband could not do anything for you Beneday, perhaps, you will remember me."

He looked at her in his impassive, rigid way

No, I will never remember . . . Anna

B.C. Turkey Eggs Rated Top By Scottish Poultrymen

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C.—British Columbia turkey eggs have been rated tops by Scottish poultrymen.

A small contage of gold sovereigns will be struck by the London mint shortly for the first time since 1925, to help cutdown in practice

An Indian scientist said he had reached the bottom of the crater of Vesuvius after trying for five years and he saw no sign the volcano would erupt soon.

Farmers sold $106,2nd,000 worth of goods during the first three months of this year, an increase of seven per cent over the same period last year the bureau of statistics reported.

Queen Mary apologized to a crowd of sightseers at the Tower of London for keeping them out of the Jewel House a half for about 20 minutes when she inspected the Crown Jewels.

Sir Philip Allhen M. a former German meteorological service official has arrived in Australia to assist in research into the origin of cosmic rays. Dr Allhen will work at Melbourne University

A sports complex to accommodate 12,000 persons is being planned for Vancouver at a cost of $2,000,000. The arena, to be used for agricultural events as well as sports, is still in the draughting stage.

A United Nations observer in Israel-Jordan authorities the Lebanon government has accepted Israel's request for help in reuniting Arab families separated as a result of the Palestine war

Journeys End

PEACE RIVER, Alta - For years 79-year-old Mrs. Agnes Mash served all she could from her old age pensions to keep a husband in the style husband's grave.

Finally, after 13 years, the stone arrived and Mrs Mash took the long trip to Peace River, where it is erected over the grave. She hired a trucker to take the monument to the cemetery and helped see it erected.

When she returned to the place she was staying, she said she felt ill. She lay down to rest and died in her sleep.

B.C. Apple Crop Estimated Larger

VICTORIA. -- British Columbia's 1949 apple harvest will be slightly larger than last year, according to the first official estimate of the provincial agriculture department.

In 1948 British Columbia orchards produced 7,272,182 boxes of apples Estimate for 1949 is 7,508,505 boxes.

At the same time the department estimated crabapple production for the year would be only 60 per cent, of last year's. The poor harvest is expected also to show a slight loss but a slight increase is reported in the grape harvest

All areas of the province except Vancouver Island are expected to pack more apples this year than last The harvest on Vancouver Island, estimated at 20,000 boxes this year, compared with 23,500 boxes actually harvested in 1948

Department officials have placed the Okanagan apple harvest at 6,-987,505 boxes. Last years production was 6,863,741 boxes

Manitoba Raises Child Adoption Fee

WINNIPEG — The child adoption fee in Manitoba has been raised from $7 to $20, effective immediately under a regulation announced by Hon Lorne Schultz, Minister of Health and Welfare

The increased fee is payable when the child is placed for adoption by or with the approval of the provincial government's director of child welfare or a society, subsequent to June 1

In cases where a child's adoption has not required the supervision of the director and investigation by the department, a $7 fee will be charged

At the last session of the legislature Mr Schultz said expenses of investigations in adoption cases were considerably more than $20 and that in most cases applicants for adoption of a child were more than willing to pay it.

Money In Coives? Farmer is Sure Of It Now

WINTERR Trans — Farmer Marvin Hambright always thought there could be money in coives. Now he's sure of it

Hambright dropped his wallet in his coutht. Two hours later he returned and found it with $18 missing.

He glared suspiciously at three calves especially one which was chewing

Hambright had the calf killed. Two tons, a five and four ones were found in its stomach

Mrs Hambright put the bills through her washing machine, pressed them carefully and her husband took them to the bank for exchange

Two less still are missing Hambright figures the other two calves probably ate them

Popular Canning Bulletin Ready

A bulletin which will prove timely to housewives who resumed the last printing, is "Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables", prepared by the Consumer Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture. This is a reprint of the bulletin of the same title first published some two years ago which has proved so popular

It might well be described as an A B C of canning, dealing as it does with all points with the subject, from the selection of the fresh fruits or vegetables through to the finished product. All methods of processing are included and a processing timetable adds to the value of the publication.

And as many people often feel through a book from the back to the front, it might pay to do so with this, for the last three pages contain a quiz which could well be read first even before starting to can For here will generally be found the answer to many puzzling reasons as to why last year's jelly was not quite clear, why the berries floated, why the peas were cloudy and a host of others

The bulletin may be obtained by writing the Dominion Department of Agriculture Ottawa. Ask for Publication No. 709.

Tree Planting Car Meeting With Success

Devoted to the work of soil conservation and the planting of trees as shelter belts, the Canadian Forestry Association's tree planting car has become a familiar sight to thousands of prairie people who have attended meetings in it during the past 20 years. A pioneer in the educational work of promoting tree planting it has worked towards the goal of having a shelter belt on every prairie farm. While this has not yet been realized, the building up of belts of trees around the farm home and buildings is now an accepted rule for improving living conditions, and making possible successful gardens and even orchards in all areas of the south.

Of special interest in the growing appreciation among farming people of the value of native trees as an aid to agriculture in parkland and forest settlement areas. The desire in past years to clear off every available acre is being replaced by a realization that it pays to leave sufficient growth, especially on weaker soils, to provide protection from winds, to hold snow and conserve moisture

The interest to the tour so far this year has increased over past years. Capacity audiences attended the meetings held

More farming people each year are learning these who have cropped, by the use of trees, pleasant and comfortable farm home surroundings The new prairie is slowly giving way to a landscape dotted with islands of trees as the accumulative efforts of farm people take advantage of trees as a place of better living are the prairies

Though we cannot change our climate, bring rain when we want it, or suddenly ban hearty winds, we are finding that by proper planting of shelterbelts we can safeguard our soil, and in making use of all available knowledge and the materials of nature we have an opportunity for conservation, tree planting, and the protection of native growth, overcome to a great extent the ill-effects of the open plain, a light annual rainfall and heavy winds. Much of our hope in keeping our western agricultural prosperity over the years lies in our ability to work together in the eventual development of sound conservation.

Develop Chickens Without Wings

DES MOINES, Ia. — Wingless chickens have been developed by Peter H Bauman of Des Moines after 12 years of selective breeding

He has about 600 of them.

The advantages?

Well, for one thing, Bauman said his birds have no place to where others have only bony wings it makes them better eating

And besides no high fence is needed to keep them in the yard The birds can't fly at all, and Bauman says they can run only high jump" 18 to 20 inches A crouched barrier is high enough

Bauman says the chickens lay an average number of eggs, but a true test must be made by individual other chickens and produce more meat.

Energy an ordinary chicken wastes in "useless flapping and flying about can be utilized in production of meat and eggs," Bauman said.

Lack of wings also makes the domestic hen more docile. That, Bauman said, is because the chicken's upper leg has to work harder to hold the bird upright.

Franklin Simmons (1830-1913) was an American sculptor, who in 1865 made portrait busts of Gen. U S Grant, Gen. W T. Sherman and other noted officers. After 1865 he lived mostly in Rome, Italy, where, in 1886 he was knighted by King Humbert.

THE HIGHWAY OF LIFE
By ANNE HALE

There is a road we all must travel;
It goes uphill and downhill.
Through some of the largest cities,
Through many a little town.
There are stones and holes in the highway
Here and there a sharp incline
There are sandy dells by the wayside
And spots with scant sunshine.
The highway we travel is life, child.
It can be joyous and gay
If you take a light heart with you
As you journey from day to day
Now as your path intermingles
With the one you have chosen to
You will find through sunshine and
The best of the highway ahead!

GEMS OF THOUGHT

PLEASURE

The most delicate the most sensible of all pleasures, consists in promoting the pleasure of others.
— Bruyere.

Pleasure is very seldom found where it is sought. Our brightest blazes of gladness are commonly kindled by unexpected sparks. — Samuel Johnson

No pleasure is comparable to the standing upon the vantage-ground of truth. — Francis Bacon.

False pleasure will be, is, chastened, it has no right to be at peace. — Mary Baker Eddy.

The difference between false and true pleasure is that, for the true, the price is paid before you enjoy it; for the false, after you enjoy it. — Jackson.

All earthly delights are sweeter in expectation than enjoyment; but all spiritual pleasures more in fruition than expectation. Feltham.

PERSONAL STUFF

G. A. W. B—
Now D..., I wonder whether wurr are res ... to be ... to brush ... aboard of ... I know that war aggravates the situation alright, but I am beginning to believe (reluctantly) that it is man's greed which lies at the bottom of all high price structures. You know, when a man accumulates a certain large sum of money, he is not satisfied to let it go at that; he wants to double it and treble it. And sometimes the more he makes the less he cares how he makes it or who suffers by his transactions. When you raise a protest he tells you that labor is the cause of it all. If he could just hire cheap labor he could blame humanity with cheap goods. But a cheap look at corporation profits shows clearly that here is another place where changes could be made to reduce consumer prices.

To my readers and patrons in the Lougheed district I wish to announce that Miss Matheson has resigned as local Editor and her place is being taken by Mr. Fred Rogers. News and advertising may be left at the Post Office as before.

CLUB CAFE BUSINESS SOLD TO M. ROSEBOOM

The Club business on main street, Sedgewick known as the Club Cafe, has been sold to Mr. Harvey Rosboom of Sedgewick. Der Yee Bay and his family left last week for a holiday in Seattle before settling in business in a new territory.

Mr. Rosebough is busily engaged in renovating the building and when completed he will establish his Barber and Billiard Parlor business in the new location. His plans call for the addition of at least three new billiard tables. He will also carry a line of confectionery supplies and soft drinks.

MR. AND MRS. R. HUYSHE SURPRISED ON ANNIVERSARY

WEDDINGS

WRIGHT — GREVE

A quiet wedding took place August 22nd in the Manse of the Sedgewick United Church, when Agnes Greve youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. A B Greve, became the bride of Norman (Dick) Wright, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. William Wright, all of Lougheed. The Rev MacLean officiated.

Miss Inez Erickson of Oakland acted as the bride's maid and Angus Greve supported the groom. The bride wore a turquoise silverace crepe with accessories in white, while the bridesmaid chose a pea pink dress with white and navy accessories. Following the ceremony the happy couple left for a trip to Jasper and upon their return will reside on the farm of the groom south of Lougheed.

OLSON — OLSE..

Bethania Lutheran Church was the scene of a double-ring ceremony on Saturday, August 20th at 2.30 p.m. when united Norma Lillian Olson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lind Olson of Sedgewick and Anton Odean Olson, son of Mr. Gertie Olson and the late Mr. Olsen of Camrose. Pastor Rasmus Andersen officiated. The bride given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a floor length gown of white re-em with veil held in place with pearl clusters and fitted bodice. The yoke was trimmed with lace gathered and long sleeves. Her veil was held in place with a wreath of orange blossoms and she carried yellow carnations. Her only ornament was a pearl necklace, gift of the groom. Miss Esther Olson was maid of honor and wore a full length gown of pink sheer. Miss Doreen Anderson cousin of the groom was bridesmaid and chose a full length gown of pink sheer. The flower girl was Jean Olson who wore a pale yellow and carried sweet peas David Cannon nephew of the groom was ring bearer for Anton's wedding were Chester Olson and Lloyd Olsen Ushers were Ivor Olson and Elder Danielsen. The wedding march was played by Donna Marie Olson. During the prayer at the Altar Rail Jacobsen sang "The Lord's Prayer". Mrs. Lind Olson, mother of the bride wore an embroidered grey crepe dress and corsage of sweet peas and fern. Mrs. Olson, mother of the groom, chose a grey and black striped jersey ensemble.

Following the ceremony an open reception was held in the ba... of the church. The bridal table was covered with a tiered wedding cake, pink and white streamers and pink and white candles. Master of ceremony was Palmer Olson. After the reception the couple left on a honey moon to Jasper and Banff. For her travelling costume the bride chose a blue tricotine suit, gold top coat and black accessories. The newly weds will reside in Camrose.

FISH AND GAME MEETING AT KILLAM AUGUST 26TH

Executive members of the Kill...m Viking and Sedgewick Fish and Game Clubs met in Killam on Friday, August 26th to make final arrangements for the delivery of some 500 Chinese Ring Necked Pheasants. These birds are to be brought in this morning and released on Iron Creek West and North of Sedgewick. This area will be posted with "No Hunting" signs. All sportsmen are requested to observe this in seeing that the signs are obeyed

Of interest also is the news that trucks will be placed at several points in the area north of and midway between Killam and Sedgewick where the water level in that area is low.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank all our friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness during our recent sad bereavement, Special thanks to Doctor Norwood and staff of the Hardisty hospital.

Exchange Of Information

CONDITIONS UNDER WHICH British farmers work are not comparable in many ways to those experienced in Canada, and especially by farmers in the West. However, during the past few years there has been considerable exchange of information between the two countries on matters connected with agriculture, and parties of British agriculturists have visited this country. Likewise representatives of Canadian farmers have been invited to the United Kingdom. The most recent of these visits took place early this summer when seven leading Canadian agricultural scientists, educationists and administrators spent eight weeks in Britain, during which time they saw what is being done there in research, teaching and administration of agricultural policies and organization in agriculture, as well as the practical side of farming.

* * * * *

Value Of Soil Is Emphasized At the close of the tour members of the party were interviewed and their impressions were summarized in an article released by the United Kingdom Information Service. The appreciation of the British farmers for the importance of handling the soil properly was noted by Dr. J. C. Hutchinson, professor of economic husbandry at the University of British Columbia. Professor G. N. Rohahe, Dean of Research at the Ontario Agricultural College, also noted this fact and said "farmers in British look on livestock, crops and soils as an interrelated triumvirate, and have a deep respect for the importance of preserving soil fertility." The quality of British livestock and the large number of breeds there, and new developments in farm machinery, especially of the type suitable for fruit and vegetable farms also impressed the visitors from Canada.

* * * * *

Praise Service Given Farmers The members of the mission were enthusiastic about developments in agricultural research by Britain and especially with the speed with which practical problems in farming can be referred to competent research authorities. There was also approval of the advisory service which is available to British farmers. In an effort to produce as much as possible at home during the war and during the trying economic situation which has developed since Britain has made great progress in increasing production and generally improving the efficiency of agriculture. While fundamental conditions here are, for the most part, on a different scale from those carried on in Britain, Canadian farmers can gain from what has been learned over there in regard to soil preservation, livestock breeding, new types of machinery and other matters of interest to farmers in both countries. On the other hand, British agriculture has no doubt received practical help from the visits of their farm representatives to this country.

Montreal Businessmen Give Car To Help Work Of Prairie Minister

In a gesture indicative of their faith in home mission work, a group of Montreal businessmen handed together recently and purchased an automobile for the use of a minister who is in charge of a 2,700-square-mile field in Southern Saskatchewan.

The car went to Rev Arthur Watson, son of Rev. J. G. Watson. The drive to raise the money for the purchase was instituted by several laymen of St. Luke's United Church, of which Mr. Watson had been a member for many years.

Mr. Watson was put in possession of his car, a new 1949 model. He has been in Montreal for the past three weeks on vacation and will drive back to Saskatchewan.

Born in Brockville, Ont., Mr. Watson came to Montreal at an early age. He attended Quinn, West Hill and Montreal High schools here, and was graduated from McGill University with a B.A. degree in 1946. He was certified as a candidate for the ministry of the United Church of Canada in 1942. In the fall of 1946 he went to Saskatoon to attend St. Andrew's Theological College there, and was graduated last spring. He was married in 1947 to the former Betty Ward, daughter of Mrs. C. W. Ward, of Hudson, Que.

Mr. Watson and his brother, Norman, were ordained together by the Saskatchewan Conference of the Church on June 5 in Regina. Both are now preparing their threm for their Bachelor of Divinity degrees. Norman is now stationed at Kelvon, 100 miles west of Saskatoon.

For 2½ years while studying in Saskatoon, Mr. Watson served a field at Dalmeny, 130 miles east of Saskatoon. He was at that time the owner of a 1929 car and drove into the college for four days each week from Tuesday to Friday.

Now he is in charge of the field at Clinton, Sask., 250 miles southwest of Moose Jaw, just 12 miles from the Montana border. In the field are 10 preaching points, several of which are schoolhouses. The main church is in Climax, which has a population of 300. The Rev. Watson's manse is located there also.

"I guess I'll have to enlarge my garage now," Mr. Watson said. "It was built in the days when cars were much smaller." — Montreal Standard.

Stone Houses In B.C. Valley May Be Key To Prehistoric Era

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C.—A remote mystery-shrouded valley in British Columbia's interior may hold the answer to the question of North America's prehistoric settlement.

Luther W. Elder, a Prince Rupert prospector, returned from a field trip recently with tales of crude stone houses in a valley near the end of the Copper River, about 100 miles north of here.

The houses, Elder believes, may have been dwellings of some monkey-like ancestors who moved across the frozen wastes from Siberia to settle in the warmer climate.

The huge stone slabs with stone slab roofs would prove of tremendous interest to scientists, whose knowledge of the paleolithic age in North America is very slight.

Up to now it has been contended that the continent was settled by Europeans from Russia.

Elder, who has prospected in the Ush area for many years, had never been in the valley before. Residents of the district disclaim any knowledge of the wild territory.

The paleolithic age is distinguished by scientists as an era of flint tools and weapons when the hairy, ape-like mammoth struggled for existence among strange and now extinct animals.

Scant details brought back by Elder and nothing of any implements or other evidence of human habitation.

Cst. R. D. Johnston, local real estate broker and former area commandant of the Canadian Army here during the Second World War plans to go to the valley in the near future to make a more complete report on the discovery.

The record has been uncovered of any pre-historic country occupying the same latitude of any which flowed over the continent thousands of years ago although American anthropologists have found traces of pre-historic skeletons

Finds Prehistoric Fish in Manitoba

WINNIPEG — The fossilized remains of a prehistoric fish, estimated to be 60,000,000 years old, has been discovered at Thornhill, Man., by T. S. Norris-Ely, director of the Manitoba Museum, said he said there is possibility the fish may be new to science and that its accurate determination as to species must be awaited until it can be examined by a specialist.

Pilot's Hat Followed Its Owner From Saskatoon To Edmonton

WINNIPEG — R.C.A.F. aircrew overseas during the war were notorious for their devotion to their operational headgear. The more battered an officer's hat, the more attached he became to it, as a symbol of his service.

A Winnipeg pilot found out that the reverse might also be true. The hat became devoted to its owner and refuses to be lost. The pilot's hat blew out of the cockpit at Saskatoon and was picked up on the runway at Edmonton 300 miles further on, shortly after he had landed.

It happened when the City of Winnipeg, 662 fighter bomber squadron reserve unit was ferrying 12 Harvard aircraft to Grande Prairie, Alta., in preparation for operation Eagle. The annual R.C.A.F. operation, which are the largest ever held in Canada.

As the 12 aircraft took off from Saskatoon on the third leg of the 1,000-mile trip FO. Vic Barber, of 277 Moorgate boulevard watched with chagrin as his faithful old hat suddenly blew out of the cockpit where it had been stowed.

He promptly wrote the hat off as a total loss until one of the other aircraft in the formation told him he had a bird and it was now lodged on his tail.

The bird was his hat which was being held to the tailplane by the slipstream.

But over two hours he kept receiving reports that the object was still there.

As he turned off the runway at Edmonton, the hat, released from the slipstream, dropped off on to the taxi strip. Shortly after it was recovered, a little more aerodynamic looking, but still a serviceable hat.

Fellowships For Advanced Training

OTTAWA — The Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism society has announced a program of post-graduate fellowship to give Canadian physicians advanced arthritis training in leading British and American medical centres.

In explaining the need for this program, the society's executive director, Howard Dunlop, said an estimated 600,000 Canadians suffer from rheumatic diseases. Each fellowship will cost between $2,000 and $1,000, said Mr. Dunlop.

UNOFFICIAL RECORD

EDMONTON SHOWING VERY RAPID GROWTH

EDMONTON — Edmonton's population has increased 21 per cent, in the last three years, going hand-in-glove with the city's third building boom in little more than a decade, figures released by civic officials showed.

Sparked by huge oil discoveries near here, building in setting a record clip again this year and has surpassed the 1945 record.

Coming hard on the heels of a prewar surveys boom and a wartime military boom, the latest development is bringing thousands of new citizens to the Edmonton area and pushing the building barometer far above last year.

HAY DAMAGES CAR

MOOSE JAW — Over $200 damage was caused to a car owned by Mrs. Harold Lawson, 51, of Thiel River Falls, Minn., R.R.A. when two tons of hay fell off a truck onto the vehicle while it was parked on Albert-Ross street here. The hay fell from a five-ton load on the truck of Paul Widmer, of Pangman Sask.

TONS OF RAIN NEEDED

Some people get joyous over a shower that brightens up the lawns and the flowers. But, says the Lethbridge Herald: It gives a bushel of wheat requires 20 tons of water. If we keep that in mind we'll be able to read the rainfall figures and understand a lot more about them than most people now seem to understand.

Hardisty Happenings

Mr and Mrs. Jim Donovan and the kiddies are holidaying this week before Mr. Donovan begins another term at the local school.

Mrs. Norman Simpson and boys arrived Saturday night to spend a while visiting Mrs. Simpson's folks, the Earl Moores.

Several Hardistyites took in the wedding dance in he Smyth Hall on Tuesday of last week, of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kobluck. It was a very gala dance, being a semi formal and the many busy swirling gowns added color. Everyone reported a very good time.

Mr. and Mrs Don Wilder were Calgary visitors last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude May (nee Ivy Hampton) arrived home Wednesday night after an extended tour of the Alaska Highway. Mr. May also is a teacher in the local school.

Friends of Misses Lois Parkes and Muriel Stark, who played ball with the Manville Rosebuds this year will be interested to learn the outcome of their Edmonton Manville series which wound up last Sunday too. Manville lost out to Elk Island by one run each time. Sorry to hear it girls. Again we say, better luck next time.

The second big dance put on by the Hardisty Aces, in their Lake Pavilion was held last Friday night with a large crowd present. Music was by Rudy Kessler's band. All was reported which indicates a big success.

That nice shiny car of H. Moody's looked quite different one day last week when he, his brother Raymond and Jim Brady of Rosyth drove home from a trip to York, Nebraska. What's a little dust after a trip like that eh Harry?

Misses Helen Manning and Claire Moody are at home visiting before they leave on again to begin the first year of teaching. Claire goes to Bateman near Daysland and Helen to Montrose near Daysland. Best o luck to you both.

VISITING TEAMS CAPTURE THE HONORS

Throngs of people visited Hardisty Lake last Sunday to watch a mix-up team of Hardisty, Lougheed and Sedgewick play the outlawed boys in some very interesting baseball. We won the first game 2 to 0 but the visitors came back in the second to win 9 to 0, and giving the crowd some very amusing moments.

Some of us missed seeing the ball games, as Kilkan and Olde Girls were playing in the finals in Pool ball at Kilkan. The locals needed to win to stay in the running, but Olde Girls to be too good. Anyway all in it was a splendid try. Better luck next year.

BOY DIES IN CAR-MOTORCYCLE CRASH—Wedding guests of young Hamilton couple were taunted when Ernest Jules' 19 was killed and his fiancee, Evelyn Van Wallegher 17 was seriously injured when motorcycle they were riding rushed into a taxi just south of Chicksota, Ont. Accident is believed to have been caused by a blown tire from bike or taxi. The people were planning to be married very soon after policeman is seen looking over wreckage of what was once a shiny motorcycle. N.N.S. photo.

FINDS GOATS ARE GREAT COMPANY—If you live alone and have plenty of acreage and bush around your home get yourself a couple of friendly goats. Mrs. M. Gibson "a lone Canadian" says you won't regret it. She has two goats who are as good company as dogs. They follow her around, go with her for the mail and apart from being wonderful companions, one of them supplies her with a gallon of milk every day and the other will be milking next year. If she goes away for a while she is greeted on her return at the gate of her home by the bleating of excited goats. The Gibson Saanan goats accompany Mrs. Gibson to get the mail and go with her and a friend, right), back to the house.

KEEPING COOL WHILE ON STRIKE—In a move that will make it extremely difficult for many Paris designers to have their fall openings on scheduled 12,000 seamstresses walked out on strike, just five days before many scheduled openings. The girls are shown at a meeting, keeping cool with the help of ice cream cones. Their wage demand is a four-cent-an-hour increase over the present average hourly wage of 15 cents. N.N.S. photo

A NEW WINNER—Lindell Galahtina's Admiral, grand champion Jersey bull at the Edmonton Exhibition for Chas. Dixon & Sons, St. Albert Trail, is a new winner on the "A" circuit.

EGG PRICES CLIMB—As eggs climbed to 77 cents a dozen in Ontario, controversy ran high in town and country, but the reasons were soon made clear to the consumer. Here a board outside the L. E. Kreve farm in Waterloo County posted the prices as they rose, right at the farm, from 57 to 70 cents for grade A extras. Prevous drops right off the list. Prices, which have not yet reached a peak, are the highest in many years.

ENGLAND IS INVADED BY MODERN VIKINGS—London's hobbies because sailors here they said to was to protect Danish "Vikings" while they "invaded" Britain. The bobbies took to their boats when seven students at Lambeth hospital decided no invasion could be real without resistance. Led by a young woman intern dressed as Queen Boadicea, the students painted their faces blue, as the ancient Britons, and set out to resist the Danes who had sailed a replica of an ancient Viking ship from Denmark to Britain as a good-will gesture recalling the landing of Hrothet and Horsa in 549. Brandishing mops and ash-can covers, the students were about to attack the Viking with rotten tomatoes and bags of flour when police intervened. N.N.S. photo

SURVIVED 23-FOOT FALL—Fate intervened and saved Gregory Hoy from possible death when he plunged into one of many mountain gorges in Hamilton and escaped with only minor injuries. Gregory had been playing with his brother Lawrence, nine, and another playmate, Edward Brewer, 12, on top of the gorge when he slipped and tumbled 23 feet down the face of sheer rock. Alfred Shanks, on part of young playmates in picking up the injured boy and carrying him to the nearest house for medical aid is credited with publicly saving the youngster's life.—I.N.S. photo.

RODS RAPIDS—Seen being embraced by his wife and daughter is Lloyd Hill, who successfully rode Niagara rapids in a torpedo-shaped barrel 48 hours after his first attempt failed. The barrel had been caught in a whirlpool in initial trial, and had to be towed in. Lloyd had received minor injuries when "boat" was being battered around by water and was sent to hospital where he was later released. Big barrel is seen here as it was launched by one of Hill's assistants for breath-taking voyage down the rapids. The trip ended at Queenston, Ont.—N.N.S. photo.

Extending the Frontiers of Canadian Farming

Twenty years ago, agricultural scientists looked askance on the idea of farming Canada's vast northland. The brief northern growing season was too short, they said. The number of horses a farmer would need to work his land, and get his crop sown in time to mature, would eat him out of house and barn. But then came power farming!

In the northern areas of the Prairie Provinces alone, five million extra acres have been brought under cultivation since 1936! Sown in wheat at present prices, this new acreage could yield in a single season a revenue of $180,000,000.

Generations ago, Massey - Harris served the early pioneers of Canada's West and North. Today, Massey-Harris is proud of its part in the continuing extension of Canada's farm frontiers—through the development of the indispensable power machinery that alone makes possible the opening up of vast new areas for settlement and prosperous development.

Newfoundland HOLIDAY LAND

IT 'LL be people who put down a hundred largest acres when we're in Newfoundland for a week or so. Every acre of it's pasty-faced every bit permanent road, and of the lot.

That's why most of antithesis that even though the head of many a Newfoundlander as he ponders the years still million or so, occupies possessions who travel to right to a holiday there. Not that it can be by far only a fraction of the hundred dollars that the tourist peacefully seems to represent here in Canada. The season of course is that Canada is still a comparatively new island to not yet reached up with holiday facilities that are needed to cash in on what are undoubtedly some of the world's finest tourist opportunities.

If you want to take advantage of these opportunities you could start in New York and be at Gander in six hours. It would take you 12 hours to come from London and almost every airline part of eastern Canada and the United States is within the right to in hour radius.

When you land as a tourist at Gander, you will be met and your bags shifted to a waiting car. From there it will be a matter of minutes until you put down on any of the hundreds of lakes or rivers of northern and western Newfoundland. If it's big game you are after your trip may even be shorter because plenty of moose have been taken within a half hour's ride by canoe and outboard motor from Gander itself.

So, whether you are planning to do battle with the fighting salmon and sea trout straight from the ice in the jaws of the north Atlantic, or are planning to seek out the nuggets of game and timber you'll find on a simple, conditions. Gander is easy to reach, but once you arrive you find lakes that have seen little but Indian and Eskimo canoes and hundreds of miles of almost virgin hunting territory.

Needless to say, Newfoundlers are not going to export any of their fish or game, but they are prepared to welcome additional development capital on Gander. Almost unanimously the suggestion that there is an opportunity here for outside as well as domestic capital.

It would, of course, be a mistake to think of the tourist trade if Newfoundland only in terms of the opportunities from Gander. At present the most active tourist development is in the southeast corner the Avalon peninsula. Here the city of Argentia all the beauties of seaside life and rugged surroundings. Signalhouse, the older settled ports of Newfoundland managed to combine a feeling of a admiral background with an unspoiled beauty that is all too rare today.

Nor is the south and west coast out of the tourist picture, although the model town of Corner Brook and the vast Bowater paper undertakings mark it as one of the most industrial centres of Newfoundland. Within minutes of Corner Brook are busy streets, the angler can be by the fighting salmon in not in the pools of the famed Humber River.

Besides the attractions outlined above, every bay and inlet of the island's 6,000 mile coastline possess charms and recreational facilities that to appeal to people with families. The young people can sail or motor in the harbors and when the tide runs out the clam beds are at their best. Cockles and mussels can be had for the searching while there are numerous varieties of other types of fish that inhabit the shallow coastal waters. Those who are more adventurous can go further offshore for deep sea fishing.

A trans-island highway, which would enable motorists to travel leisurely from Port aux Basques to St. John's has been proposed as an enhancement to tourism. Many expect that the road will be completed by the end of 1952.

For years there has been a slow but steady growth in Newfoundland's tourist trade. Today, with talk of the trans-island highway for the near future and with the tremendous potentialities of the Gander air traffic, Newfoundlanders anticipate that the steady growth will shortly take on the characteristics of a boom in the period Oil Review.

Guiding Lines For Summer Styles

Summer And Sunburn Go Together But They Don't Have To...

By DR. F. M. JONES
(Chief Medical Officer, Canadian Industries Limited)

ONE thing about Old Sol" you can't live without him for his warmth and heat give the earth life and energy. Body enough though, a lot of people haven't learned how to live with him.

This summer a number of Canadians will find that too much sun can bring on serious illness, and those souls of others will suffer painful burns. According to estimates, almost 500,000 working days are lost each summer in Canada on this account.

Today there is no excuse for any one to burn or burn. Science has learned how to deal with sun and the knowledge is open for everyone to use. During the war, the problem of protecting marooned service personnel in open boats or rafts from sunburn became of vital importance. With some of the best scientific minds forsaking their attention on the dangerous effects of the sun's rays. The researches emanated the effect of these rays to be so important that the results of investigations were not published until after the war.

Before this time solar burns were not given very serious consideration as a public health problem. But when the misery hours and lost time of the unprotected were actually counted, the toll in suffering and economic loss was staggering figure. Added to the 500,000 working days lost each summer in the discomfort is that those who come to work handicapped by the itchy sting of a sunburn.

The irony is that most sufferers actually believe that the degree of the burn is directly proportioned to the benefits received. It is probably the very reverse. A severe burn is hard on an unlucky and over-done so frequently that little benefit is left.

Many people forget that considerable effect of the sun's rays come through the eyes. It is important to wear darkened sun glasses when you are out in the sunlight.

For those who wish to have sunburn protection handy for use during an emergency, a protective lotion has been developed that will be useful, such a preparation must contain ingredients that prevent the passage of ultra-violet rays of the ultraviolet rays. But here again the protection is far from absolute and the sun person first tries it in conditions which are more severe.

In considering treatment, mild sunburn gets better in a day or so, regardless of what is done; but a severe sunburn should be treated just like any other burn. Soothing applications should be the rule, certainly anything antiseptic that will irritate. Bad cases should be under medical care

Follow Simple Rules To Help Avoid Lightning

WASHINGTON — Changes are of 42,310,876 to 1 that you won't be killed by lightning this year. You can cut the odds even further by following a few simple rules suggested by the National Bureau of Standards.

Latest government statistics show that 330 persons are killed each year by lightning. Another 1 000 are injured as a result of electrical charges from storms.

In an effort to cut down on those figures, the Bureau of Standards noted that no large object is entirely immune against being struck by lightning. That's why you should never stand under tree or in an isolated shed to keep from getting wet during a rain and electrical storm

The safest place to be during a thunderstorm, the bureau says, is in a room entirely surrounded by metal, or in steel framed buildings, or better yet, a room underground.

Even people in such places as these should stand under a ceiling electrical fixture or touch a telephone during a storm. There is danger of an electrical shock.

THIRTEEN SOLSTEINS DIE IN LINE ON TEXAS WIRE

COLUMBIA, S.C. — A perplexed cockatoo looked across a pasture and saw 13 Holsteins and seven Guernseys lad dead, falling over in a perfectly straight line. It was found the grazing cows had stumbled one at a time upon a fallen high tension line and were killed by its 4,800-volt charge

AMERICANS EATING LESS MEAT NOW

WASHINGTON — Americans now are spending about 3.4 per cent. of their income for meat compared with about 5.6 per cent. in the pre-war period, the agriculture department reported. In the second quarter of last year 3.5 per cent. of consumer's income was being spent for meat.

Summer Wheat Proves Best For Areas Requiring Early Maturity

Saunders wheat was licensed in 1947 and first distributed for commercial use in 1948. It comes from a cross made in Ottawa between a Hope a Reward hybrid and Thatcher. Saunders is an early maturing, stem rust and loose smut resistant variety, developed for areas where early maturity is important.

At the time of licensing only 220 bushels of seed were available. This quantity was increased that summer under contract at Beaverlodge and Lacombe. A crop of 5,500 bushels of seed was harvested and distributed to 337 farmers and growers in Central and Northern Alberta. Many hundreds of farmers were disappointed, as the demand was far in excess of the supply. To make the seed stocks go as far as possible not more than six bushels per grower was allowed.

It will be recalled that the spring of 1948 was very late, and in many areas the season remained cold and wet until June. Farmers were unable to seed until late in May and some did not get any wheat seeded that season. In spite of these drawbacks, it is estimated that approximately 100,000 bushels of Saunders were harvested, says J. G. C. Fraser, Chief Dominion Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

Reports received from over 60 per cent of the growers of Saunders wheat indicated that they were well pleased with their first years experience with this new variety. They were impressed with its earliness and yielding ability under rather adverse conditions, and considered it a very promising variety. A number remarked upon its ability to resist drought, shattering, and frost, and its suitability for combine harvesting.

A further distribution of about 10 000 bushels to 1,200 farmers took place in 1949 from the Dominion Experimental Stations at Beaverlodge, Lacombe, and Melfort

Saunders is not being recommended for the "Open Prairie" areas of Saskatchewan and Manitoba, but a limited distribution of some 3,000 bushels to 625 farmers was made in the northern sections of those two provinces in 1949. The Dominion Experimental Stations were unable to supply every farmer who applied for seed but it is expected that next year Saunders will be available in 1948 and those who will grow it in 1949, should be able to meet all demands for seed in 1950

The results to date indicate that Saunders should be readily adapted in the Peace River area. Its suitability for the Edmonton-Lacombe area and for parts of northern Saskatchewan is doubtful. Further trials are required to establish the truth certainly.

Hope is now under way to produce Foundation and Elite Stock Seed of Saunders at Ottawa. When available the distribution of Foundation Stock seed will be handled by E C Sinesy, Superintendent, Dominion Experimental Station Beaverlodge, Alberta.

Animals And Birds Familiar To Hunters Of The West

Whitetail deer—most common deer of the provinces. Black antler with a backward bend then forward sweep with the points bran bag up from it like tail of beaver and leather than that of the blade deer and white under mouth which makes it look like a raised flag in flight

Mule deer or "Jumper"—antlers arranged in even forks, tail is short and tight coloured with a black tip. In flight they drop its tail and use ebony the ground with a peculiar bouncing leaping.

Barrel-ground Cariboo—travels in bands throughout the year, but in the winter season approaches forms in large herds and moves down the Arctic wastelands into timber bands. Its unusually high back downward, brass bell antlers, which are worn by both sexes, make it easily recognized.

Moose—most prized quarry of both woodsmen and big game hunters. Its huge head and Roman nose, large mard, rude spreading palmated antlers, are easily identified. Supplied with an extremely acute sense of hearing and smelling, this animal tests the woodcraft and skill of the very keenest of hunters

Mallard — nesting in every marsh, slough and pothole, the Mallard is the most popular bird with the majority of sportsmen. The green head and white ring on neck of the male makes it easily distinguishable from other wild ducks. It may be found in marshes or in flight over shallow water.

Canvas-back—is a good size having an average weight of three pounds, but being one of the swiftest birds is difficult to shoot which makes it the more sure fun for the keen hunter. It is prized just as much for its excellent table qualities as for the fine sport it offers the hunter

Redhead — distinguished from the Canvas-back by its slightly smaller size shorter back and the shorter shape of head with abruptly rising forehead and reverse bill. The bird makes delicious eating

Canada Goose — "Honker" is the aristocrat of the migratory bird world and known and respected by hunters everywhere as a wise and wary creature. Easily recognized by its large V-shaped formation in flight and its loud honking call

Its keen sight and acute ear make it an extremely difficult bird to outwit and consequently well worth hunting

Poison Once Used By Indians On Arrows Now Used For Operations

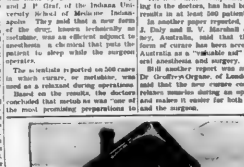
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. — The medicine previously used curare comes from the South American drug, once used by Indians to poison the enemies as a help in operations was reported at the annual meeting of the American Medical Association.

The drug is the well-known curare, a highly toxic extract of poisonous roots and trees used in South America as an arrow poison.

One report on the use of curare was made by Drs V. K. Stoelting and J. P. Graf, of the Indiana University School of Medicine Indianapolis. They said that a new form of the drug, known technically as d-tubocurarine, was an efficient adjunct to anesthesia, a chemical that puts the patient to sleep while the surgeon operates.

The scientists reported on 500 cases in which curare, or metubine, was used as a reinforced during operations.

Based on the results, the doctors concluded that metubine was "one of the most promising preparations to



HOT—L. $11,250 IS WILLED TO HAMILTON GIRL. June Armour, five, of Hamilton, Ont., was bequeathed $11,250 in three unidentified amounts and a $12,500 house in the will of the late Fred McGregor of Hamilton, who died in Agnol, Mr. McGregor was a retired contractor, who had formerly lived in Detroit. Mr. McGregor's son had related to June, but knew her only as a delightful neighborhood child. A deep friendship had arisen between the little girl and the retired contractor, and, as he had no relatives, Mr. McGregor had made June the beneficiary of his estate. (CNS photo).

A very new version of the shirtwaister dress, with cotton poplin, and striped in butcher blue has been designed for summer wear, 1951. The rolled collar and bands of lace inset on the pockets and sleeves add a dainty touch. The cape-styled cruise, (centre), is known as the "double duty" dress for afternoon or evening wear. It is worn with a wide straw sunbonnet, gaily edged. Ideal for garden parties in the black crepe model, (right), trimmed with lace collar, cuffs and apron-back gloves. The ensemble is complemented by the unconventional wide-brimmed chapeau.

Deaf Congregation "Sings" Hymns Without Sound

BALTIMORE. The minister read his sermon and sat down. Then robed choir members rose, faced the little congregation and joined in a hymn without sound

After the benediction the parishioners gathered in little knots at the rear of the sanctuary as good Methodists will—yet not a sound broke the stillness.

It was another Sunday service at First Methodist Church For The Deaf, a small, unimposing structure at a busy intersection that has been gathering worshippers since 1836.

The workings of the service are novel, yet quite simple. As the Rev. Lee Wellington preaches the sermon his assistant, Rev Louis W Fogarty stands beside him and conveys the message to the congregation by means of sign language

Mr Fogarty, better known as "the signer" has complete hearing, but he has used the sign language since childhood because both his parents are deaf

The signer speaks with his face as well as his hands. His expression changes constantly he lips move occasionally—while his hands busily translate the sermon into a series of hand symbols.

Some of the gestures are obvious, even to one unfamiliar with sign language. Others are more "off-the-

Indian Girl From B.C. Clever Artist

OTTAWA — Although only 19 years old, Dorothy Morgan of Kitwanga, B.C., already is on the threshold of success as an artist.

The Indian girl has been studying art at the museum in Victoria. She has won several goal—20 of her paintings on display at the National Gallery.

If she were here, Judith would thrill to the praise which her work is drawing from visitors and from officials.

She has a great feeling for her own cultural heritage said one official.

"She has a wonderful future ahead of her," he added.

With the exception of one black and white print, the 20 pictures in the collection are done in pastels

For those who wish to have sunburn protection handy for use during an emergency, a protective lotion has been developed that will be useful, such a preparation must contain ingredients that prevent the passage of ultra-violet rays of the ultraviolet rays. But here again the protection is far from absolute and the sun person first tries it in conditions which are more severe.

In considering treatment, mild sunburn gets better in a day or so, regardless of what is done; but a severe sunburn should be treated just like any other burn. Soothing applications should be the rule, certainly anything antiseptic that will irritate. Bad cases should be under medical care

Households In Canada On The Increase

OTTAWA — The estimated number of Canadian households in June, 1949, was 3,330,000, as compared with 3,130,000 in June, 1947, the dominion bureau of statistics reported At the 1941 census, the number of recorded households was 2,906,000. The increase of households between 1941 and 1949 was 423,311.

The average household size declined from 4.2 persons to 3.9 persons over the period from 1941 to 1949, while the average size of home-build in Quebec was largest at 4.9 persons and smallest in British Columbia at 3.2 persons.

The estimated number of families in Canada in June, 1949, was 3,080,000, an increase of 22.3 per cent. more than at the 1941 census.

The average family size in Canada in June, 1949, was 3.5 persons as compared with 3.9 in 1941 In each region, a decline in the family size took place between 1941 and 1949.

Thus is reflected in an increasing proportion of families in the smaller size groups, the percentage of families from two to four persons rising to 74.6 per cent. of all families in 1949 as compared with 70.3 per cent. in this category in 1941.

Waging Campaign To Save Floral Emblem

REGINA, Sask. — A city-wide campaign to save Saskatchewan's floral emblem has been launched by Mrs. Dorothy Morrison of Regina Her attractive booklet, The Prairie Lily, written for Saskatchewan school children, is just off the press.

The prairie lily used to grow in profusion, Mrs. Morrison explains in her preface. "Now the lily population has decreased so much that flower lovers are alarmed."

Saskatchewan chose the lily as its floral emblem in 1941. Mrs. Morrison reveals, when the legislature passed an act making the flower legally and botanically as Silene philodelphicum caudicum and popularly called the prairie lily" the emblem of the province."

Despite dry years drought in the natural enemy of the lily—the flower has made a comeback in the last within recent years only to be faced with another mortal enemy—man.

The dwindling beauty of the lily has led the Saskatchewan flower-lover to raid lily stands. It is with the idea of educating children, and through them their parents, that Mrs. Morrison has written her booklet.

GIVES WIFE CREDIT

CALGARY. Teddy Yellowtip of the Blood Indian reserve spent the tradition that Indian women do the work but get no credit. He had his wife were named the best-dressed Indian at the Calgary Stampede. "All the credit goes to my wife," Teddy said. "She made both our outfits.

FINISH NOT SO GOOD

The Anglican Outlook says: "Love Something in England made a lot of friends when he said that women are the rewards of the world, but spoiled the effect by adding that women are half humbugs and half acid drops"

ICELESS REFRIGERATOR

WHEREVER ice is unobtainable, a chair can be cooled by the absorption of moisture or evaporation brought about by evaporating water or other suitable evaporatives with damp cloths. These devices are called iceless refrigerators. For the farm owner and many a city home where it is impossible to obtain ice, the iceless refrigerator is very useful, it being possible to maintain a temperature as low as 50 degrees, which will keep milk, butter and meat from spoiling for many extra hours.

A very convenient size is made of a cloth frame measuring 42 by 16 by 11 inches and covered with screen wire. The door is made to fit closely, and of which consists of a wooden latch. The refrigerator remains placed against a north wall of poultry netting on light wooden frames. The bottom is made of a hard board and the top should be made of screen. A 14-by-16 inch drapping is placed over the top and the floor rests in a pan 17 by 13 in bes. The entire refrigerator, including pan and screen, should be given two coats of paint which makes it more attractive and prevents rusting. Three yards of burlap or cloth makes a close fitting covering for the frame as shown in the illustration.

The bottom of the cover should extend about 4 inches over the pan. Four double strips, which taper to 1 inch wide, are sewed to the upper part of the cover and act as wicks that dip over into the upper pan.

Keep the upper pan filled with water The greater the rate of evaporation the lower the temperature of the refrigerator. It is suggested as a shady breezy place and where the air is dry and warm, the evaporation is very rapid

The size of cooling cabinet described above is only intended for a dairy cellar or kitchen. It is possible to obtain very satisfactory results in cooling from two to four cans of milk by placing them in a wooden stand, erecting a frame work of strappings around and over them and covering the frame and all with coarse canvas or burlap. If the latter is kept moist all day the object will be attained

Physical Exams Should Include Check Of Teeth

If pedatricians paid as much attention to the teeth as they do to the heart they would find modern practice, states Dr. M. A. Cox of McGill University, Montreal, in an article in the magazine Hygeia.

He says that a total victory over dental caries (cavities) can only come when not only all the dentists apply themselves to the problem but when all pedatricians and parents awake to their responsibility in the matter of this complex disease.

In his article — "Prevention of Dental Disease in Children" — Dr. Cox stresses that no physical examination of a child is complete until not a proper and thorough examination of the teeth.

"It is up to the pedatrician," he states, to instruct the parents in this regard and to see that good examinations are carried out by dentists interested in children's dentistry."

Dr. Cox's article is one of a series on child care—Memo to Mothers—appearing in Health, official magazine of the Health League of Canada, which presently is developing a Division of Maternal and Child Welfare. The magazine Health from time to time, also features appropriate articles under the departmental heading "The Canadian Mother".

Addition of two new Divisions in Health League work widens its scope of voluntary education activity which already embraces immunization, venereal disease, nutrition, poliomyelitis and industrial health.

Saunders Wheat Proves Best For Areas Requiring Early Maturity

Saunders wheat was licensed in 1947 and first distributed for commercial use in 1948. It comes from a cross made in Ottawa between a Hope a Reward hybrid and Thatcher. Saunders is an early maturing, stem rust and loose smut resistant variety, developed for areas where early maturity is important.

At the time of licensing only 220 bushels of seed were available That quantity was increased that summer under contract at Beaverlodge and Lacombe. A crop of 5,500 bushels of seed was harvested and distributed to 337 farmers and growers in Central and Northern Alberta Many hundreds of farmers were disappointed, as the demand was far in excess of the supply To make the seed stocks go as far as possible not more than six bushels per grower was allowed

It will be recalled that the spring of 1948 was very late, and in many areas the season remained cold and wet until June Farmers were unable to seed until late in May and some did not get any wheat seeded that season. In spite of these drawbacks, it is estimated that approximately 100,000 bushels of Saunders were harvested, says J. G. C. Fraser, Chief Dominion Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

Reports received from over 60 per cent of the growers of Saunders wheat indicated that they were well pleased with their first years experience with this new variety. They were impressed with its earliness and yielding ability under rather adverse conditions, and considered it a very promising variety. A number remarked upon its ability to resist drought, shattering, and frost, and its suitability for combine harvesting.

A further distribution of about 10 000 bushels to 1,200 farmers took place in 1949 from the Dominion Experimental Stations at Beaverlodge, Lacombe, and Melfort

Saunders is not being recommended for the "Open Prairie" areas of Saskatchewan and Manitoba, but a limited distribution of some 3,000 bushels to 625 farmers was made in the northern sections of those two provinces in 1949 The Dominion Experimental Stations were unable to supply every farmer who applied for seed but it is expected that next year Saunders will be available in 1948 and those who will grow it in 1949, should be able to meet all demands for seed in 1950

The results to date indicate that Saunders should be readily adapted in the Peace River area. Its suitability for the Edmonton-Lacombe area and for parts of northern Saskatchewan is doubtful. Further trials are required to establish the truth certainly.

Hope is now under way to produce Foundation and Elite Stock Seed of Saunders at Ottawa. When available the distribution of Foundation Stock seed will be handled by E C Sinesy, Superintendent, Dominion Experimental Station Beaverlodge, Alberta.

THE SECOND IN A SERIES PRESENTED BY THE ALBERTA BREWERS' AGENTS DEALING WITH

The Magpie Menace

Kerry Wood, naturalist of Red Deer, describes the Magpie as the most clever and one of the most beautiful members of the Crow family. Its beauty, every farmer and sportsman is well aware of the tremendous toll these handsome bandits take in wild life, domestic fowl and in livestock in Alberta.

The Magpie kills new-born calves, lambs and fawns by perking out the eyes of these helpless animals. It eats and destroys considerable grain. It destroys wild bird nests; they invade poultry yards to kill off young chicks and turkey poults and even dines on hen's eggs. Another grisly habit of the magpie is to attack open sores on livestock, often enlarging the wound to such an extent as to cause the death of the animal.

It is understandable that with these outlaws on the increase in Alberta, it is up to the farmer and towns people alike to destroy the magpie and crow wherever possible, by shooting and trapping or controlled poison

"The Score Will Be Sorry."

By MARY L. ARSIM

THE woman hesitated in a step and the woman who had been waiting crowded the steps almost gratefully. She sank into the nearest seat and closed her eyes against the cottage and the tumbled road as the bus ground forward again.

The woman beside the newcomer noted the hastily assembled ensemble, the reddened hands clutching purse and gloves, the straying hair. When her neighbor opened her eyes, she let fall the words ready on her lips.

"Going far?" she said.

The other was confused and a little frightened. "Far? Me. Not far! I haven't really made up my mind yet." She tightened her fingers on her purse. The other was silent, watching the advancing fields. They she turned suddenly from the woman.

"Was it so bad as all that?" she asked softly.

"Why, whatever do you mean?" The new arrival made a motion as though to move to another seat, but thought better of it, and sat back warily.

"It's all there," said the first woman. "The way you've hurried. That means you decided on this trip in a hurry. And the way you dress your eyes as you wouldn't look back at the house where those two little heads were at the window . ."

"They'll be all right," her neighbor almost pleaded. "Their father will be home in less than an hour and I let the fire go out before I left." She bit her lip irresistibly. "It's you're running away?", said the first.

"And if I am! I've worked and washed and scrubbed and tried to keep the children tidy in that dreadful place with no water and no light, and him always promising, 'I'll do this for you and I'll do that for you,' but never doing anything. I've hung on and hung on, thinking that next year would be better, and then the year after that, until I'm worn out. And every time I suggest moving into town he says he'll quit his job entirely .

She paused for a moment, but then lagged on, talking more to herself than to her seat mate. "And what have he do on payday? Spends the best part of his pay on some land which he says will do wonders but which only loses around with the rest of them until it's rusty, too. I've told him many a time that some day he'd come home and I wouldn't be there, but he didn't believe me."

There was a long silence.

"He'll believe me now," she said. "As soon as I get a job I'll come and get the children and get someone to look after them."

She glanced at the other woman as though for confirmation.

"But suppose he won't let the children go? He's fond of them, too."

"Oh, he'll let them go, all right," the newcomer exclaimed. "He won't look after them all day and go to work. He'll likely drive to town for his sister tonight."

"And isn't he fond of you, too?"

"I suppose he is in his own way," the answer came slowly, "but lately we've started so much we haven't had time for anything else. You know how it is. Somebody like that comes up and soon that's the only thing you ever mention."

"And if you leave now you'll be home before he knows you had gone."

The woman grasped and set her lunch attachment's against the seat, but hope had begun to bloom like a rose in her cheeks.

"There's a bus passes this one at Elmdale going south," the other went on. "Perhaps if you went back for and pretend yourself and the cutlogs up a little and eased your aching heart . . ."

"But I got so tired out there with no one to talk to but the children!"

"Elmdale must be pretty close to Camrose. What's that long building with the sign about whether to be happy or miserable the rest of your life?"

"The Elmdale!" the driver and began braking for the stop. Several others assembled their baggage and took their places in the aisle

And suddenly the newcomer followed the others to the door opened she leaned back to the woman.

"How did you know?" she asked wonderingly.

"I ran away once, too," the woman said.

"But you knew just what to say! Did everything go right when you came back?"

The queue in the aisle had begun to move and the woman by the window answered.

"I didn't go back," she said. "Couldn't go back." She smiled. "But I'm glad I helped you."

Woman Enjoys Managing A Daily Paper

WINNIPEG. — The only woman managing editor of a daily newspaper, Mary Gardiner likes her job.

Miss Gardiner has been managing editor of the Prime Albert, Sask., Herald since last April.

In Winnipeg to attend the recent annual western regional meeting of The Canadian Press, Miss Gardiner took time out to tell how she got started in newspaper work.

In 1942 she went from her Regina home to Prince Albert to teach in the collegiate.

"Yes, I like teaching," she said, "but when it came to sign my contract again in the spring, with a 24-hour deadline, I decided to take the job as cub reporter on the paper. I've never regretted it."

Describing her work on the paper, Miss Gardiner said: "One hour you may call the day to distribute the miles away. Only last year, the Herald's 'co-operative' was started.

"There are editorials to write. I must keep an eye on the telegraph desk; lend a hand to any desk that is short-staffed; check the make-up of page one, and report in the head room on the general situation each day. Rather a confusing home, where a woman usually decides the social policy of her family, does the shopping, are that everything runs smoothly . . . supervises the active members of her family."

Miss Gardiner says she must maintain the harmony between all members of the group, with their varying temperaments and needs — much the same psychological angle in both jobs.

"Women should be able to handle the managing of a newspaper," she says.

Pelicans Being Sent To Zoos in Britain

WATROUS, Sask. — An unusual shipment of 16 live pelicans left Watrous recently on their way overseas.

Twelve of the birds are going to a zoo in Ireland, and the four other four will make their new home in a London zoo.

A party of six men from Aberarthy captured the birds on Pelican Island in Lake Johnston, about 20 miles Shepper of the pelicans was Ralph F. Wood, Provincial Game Warden. Capture of the birds was authorized by special permit.

Sweet Swedish Tea Ring

Recipe

Measure into large bowl, ¼ c. lukewarm water. Add 1 tablespoon granulated sugar and sprinkle with 1 pkg. dry granulated yeast. Let stand 10 minutes. Add 1 tsp. salt, ¼ c. granulated sugar, 1 egg, well beaten, ¼ c. shortening and ½ c. scalded milk. Work in 2 c. more sifted bread flour. Beat well. Let rest and double in bulk. Punch down dough and divide into 3 equal portions; keep remaining dough cool. Roll each piece into a ½" thick oblong, 8 inches wide. Cream ¼ c. butter or margarine and mix in 1 c. brown sugar, 2 tablespoons cinnamon and 1 c. chopped nuts. Spread ⅓ of mixture on each piece of dough and sprinkle over ½ c. raisins or currants. Beginning at a long edge, roll each piece up like a jelly roll, place each roll on a greased large baking sheet and shape into a ring, sealing ends together. Grease tops. Cut ¾" slices almost through to center with scissors and turn each slice partly on its side. Cover and let rise until double in bulk. Brush with 1 egg yolk beaten with 2 tbs. milk. Bake in moderate oven, 350°, 30-35 min. If desired, spread tops with a plain icing three hrs. each before

Outstanding Exhibits

As at several Western fairs this year interest in heavy horses was outstanding. At Yorkton, Sask., fair there were five entries in the four-horse team class

3,000 Wasps Battling Sawfly

WINNIPEG — Things are really buzzing in Manitoba forest areas these days, with approximately 3,000 wasps released recently to do battle with tamarack tree-killing larch sawfly.

A horde of more than 1,200 of the wasps sent to Manitoba by the Dominion parasite laboratory at Belleville, Ont., were turned loose just west of the Duck Mountain forest reserve in western Manitoba. Other colonies totalling approximately 1,800 were released in the White Shell forest reserve near the Ontario border last month.

The wasps destroy the laugh newlines which have been killing the province's stands of tamarack trees. The tamarack, found in clumps and at one time almost wiped out by sawflies is coming to a joint except it sheds its needles each year in a host ground of tamarack was started in Manitoba, but swarms appeared on them, stripping the trees of their needles and thereby killing them

The parasite wasp lay eggs inside the sawfly larva The egg hatches into a grub which, as it develops kills the sawfly.

UNEMPLOYMENT LOW ON B.C. ORCHARDS ENDED

VICTORIA, B.C. — The provincial government announced out a 20-year-old ban on the employment of Chinese and Japanese.

It rescinded an order passed in 1923 which prohibited the employment of Japanese or Chinese on any persons grant or leased timber or mining properties or on any government contract, or below ground in the mines.

It is understood, however, that the order will remain in force the restrictions continue.

RECIPES

ANNIVERSARY SALAD

3 bananas, sliced, scraped and mixed
1 cup diced orange
½ cup green grapes (or other large grapes peeled)
½ cup finely chopped dates
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 cup moist grated coconut
1 avocado, peeled and diced (optional)

Combine all fruits, sprinkle with the lemon juice, and chill. Add whipped cream dressing, toss lightly, and pile on crisp curly lettuce

Garnish with coconut and top with cherry. This may be served as a dessert salad as well

SCALLOPED TOMATOES

(Serves 6 persons)

4 tablespoons butter or fat
½ cup finely-diced celery
½ teaspoon granulated sugar
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon dried basil
Dash cayenne pepper
1 quart tomatoes (1¼ cups)

Spread bread cubes in baking pan in 350° oven until golden brown, about 20 minutes

Meanwhile, saute onion in 3 tablespoons of butter until onion is tender-crisp. Combine onion with bread cubes, sugar, salt, pepper, basil and cayenne

Arrange a layer of tomatoes in bottom of greased baking dish. Top with layer of bread cubes. Continue until all is used, ending with a layer of tomatoes on top. Combine remaining ¼ cup bread cubes with the remaining 1 tablespoon butter, and sprinkle over top of casserole

Bake in moderately hot oven 375° for 45 minutes

FATHER FOREST FIRES

WINNIPEG — Lightning strikes have caused a greater percentage of forest fires this year in Manitoba than in any other year in the past two decades. Extremely dry conditions in the central and northern areas of the province made the bush and timber particularly susceptible to flash fires started by lightning.

FIRST MAIDEN

NORTH PORTAL, Sask.—Said to be the first lumber carrier to be used in Saskatchewan, a machine crossed the border here destined for Prime Albert for use by the provincial government there.

PLAN PULP MILL

RED DEER, Alta. — Construction of a $9,000,000 pulp mill here will get under way this fall or at the start of next spring, F. A. Fowler of Red Deer, vice-president of Alberta Pulp Mills Ltd., has announced.

FILM RULING

CALGARY — A ruling by the Alberta government film censor that foreign pictures cannot be shown until a full script translation had been approved by the board of censors may limit the number of foreign pictures imported by Calgary.

MAN NEW POST

EDMONTON — Dr. H. Bruce Collier, professor of biochemistry at the University of Saskatchewan, has been appointed senior professor in the biochemistry department at the University of Alberta.

DIRECTOR CLUB

DAPOR, Sask.—Plans for forming a junior calf club have been discussed by young people from the Dafoe, Poole, and Copeland districts. Lee Boyce, agricultural representative for Wynyard addressed the group.

PLAYOR RETAINED

SUMMERLAND, B.C.—The saturday night baseball game between the two teams will be played in the Okanagan Valley centre.

BOTTLE OF WATER PUZZLES OFFICIALS

EDMONTON. — Provincial government forestry officials were puzzled over just how wet water is

The department received a bottle from a United States manufacturing firm labelled "water wetter" and claiming that it was wetter than just ordinary water because it caused rapid penetration "thus assisting in the quicker extinguishing of fires."

The officials are just a bit skeptical

SPEED LIMIT UP

REGINA — A recent revision of The Saskatchewan Vehicles Act sets the speed limit at all times for passenger cars at 50 miles per hour and for trucks at 40 miles per hour on provincial highways Previously, the speed limit for cars was 35 miles per hour during the day and 45 miles per hour from sunset to sunrise. Truck speed limits are unchanged.

Disease Epidemic Wipes Out Ducks

WINNIPEG — Thousands of wild ducks have been wiped out by a waterfowl disease epidemic which has broken out recently at Whiteshell Lake near Deloraine, Man., 150 miles southwest of here, it was learned.

Officials of the game and fisheries branch of the Provincial Mines and Resources Department said the waterfowl deaths from the virus disease known as botulism probably will reach the 10,000 mark unless the epidemic can be checked.

Game and fisheries men are burying dead birds and investigations are being made by young people from the Dafoe, Poole, and Copeland districts. Lee Boyce, agricultural representative for Wynyard addressed the group.

PLAYOR RETAINED

SUMMERLAND, B.C.—The saturday night baseball game between the two teams will be played in the Okanagan Valley centre.

New Strip Mine Being Prepared For Mining in Rockies

CALGARY — A second strip mine in the Rocky Mountains, five miles northwest of Michel-Natal, is being readied for opening and a road is being built to the new mine.

Best known strip mine in the Crows Nest Pass district is at Coleman near the Alberta boundary which is in operation following the winter shutdown. Outcrop is owned by Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co.

PERSONAL STUFF

— A. W. S. —

Last Sunday forenoon I was one of a number of sport-minded citizens of Viking, Killam and Sedgewick who witnessed the release of four hundred Chinese Pheasants under the auspices of the Game Associations of the three above communities. The whole affair was handled by those who had charge of the endeavor, in a real admirable manner, and it was a sight well worth viewing. When released, the birds for the most part "took off" in a manner which plainly indicated they had only one idea in mind — to get away, fast and far.

This was the biggest undertaking of its kind in this area, in the present Province-wide program of restocking our prairies and woodlands and streams with game birds and fish. The other large project was the stocking of lakes at Hardisty with fish recently. The two projects taken together constitute the finest forward in trying to make at least the area served by this newspaper a sportsman's paradise. The results are not to be supposed to be immediate but with an eye to the future, these Game Associations envision this area becoming as established game and fish region as are little consequence.

To those who have real hunting blood in their veins, no word of advice is necessary here; what follows is for those who have little or no regard for the preservation of game birds, and who shoot at "anything that flies" stray line. Local Game Association members have elected to watch for persons who break any of the existing game laws, and are set ed to slap an heavy, but reasonable fine on the head law. This is the only way these pheasants can be given a proper chance to survive and multiply to the extent where this territory can become fully stocked

In view of the above all might be added that 'a word to the wise is sufficient.'

Undertakings of this sort naturally require financing, and it is only through members that this can be done. I believe we should feel honored to such an organization. If you are interested, join the group at Sedgewick, Killam, Viking or Hardisty and give a boost to this work.

A recent article by an American Press writer, contained the statement that while a Canadian is considered upon the United States, Canada confesses to financial manhood. I take it from this that the inflationary trend and the building boom continues over all of the Dominion. If local activity is any criterion, it must be so. I visit several towns and villages in the course of a month, and every one of them has a building boom in some degree or small degree. For example, Hardisty has just completed a fine new and large dance pavilion out at their popular lake; the Legion at Lougheed has erected a new and very fine modern Legion "Hut"; Another coal Pool has been erected at Sedgewick, as well as several new houses Killam 's progressing in fine style with their large covered arena, and we noticed also that new foundations are being laid there for houses.

This, coupled with the fact the very few summer goods are ends down in price, indicates that the so called recession will not be visiting us for at least a while yet.

WORK STARTED ON LOCKER PLANT FOR HARDISTY

A good start has been made by M Frances Lubens on the new Frozen Locker Plant for the town of Hardisty. A well has been drilled on the premises and the cement foundation work completed. Mr. Lubben, in a interview with your reporter, remarked that construction on the building will commence this week, and that he hopes to have the full zoned building at least closed in before fall.

The plant will be opened next spring and will contain when completed, 300 individual lockers.

Wedding Bells

ERICKSON — HEGAN

Strathcona Presbyterian Church in Edmonton was the scene of a pretty wedding recently when Miss Carol Ina Gertrude Hegan of Edmonton became the bride of Mr. Arnold Victor Erickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. I Erickson of Killam. Rev. Stuart Johnson performed the ceremony.

Amid bouquets of gladioli and ferns flowering the church on the arm of her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin styled with a full s.i. ending in a train. It also featured long sleeves and was trimmed with chenlly lace at the yoke. waist line and sleeves. She wore a long veil English illusion net caught in her head with a coronet of seed pearl. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet of Talisman roses and stephanotis. Miss Dorez Hegan was her sister's maid of honor wearing a gown of pale blue taffeta. Mrs. Ogina Olson bridesmaid, chose a gown of old rose taffeta. Little Phyllis Olson, cousin of the bride, was flower girl wearin a gown of pink net over taffeta. Mr. Elbert Erickson was his brother's best man and the ushers were Mr Ogina Olson and Mr. Pryor

Mr. Stanley Frith sang, 'Miracle of Love' and Mr. Mail was organist.

Later a reception in the Arcadia Hall for 60 guests, the mother of the bride and groom received the guests with the wedding couple. Mr. Hegan chose a rose crepe dress with black accessories and corsage a white rose. Mrs. Erickson received wearing a blue crepe with gray accessories and pink sweetheart roses corsage. During the receiving Mr. S. Frith sang, 'I'll Walk Beside You' accompanied by Mr. Dwight Robson. Mr. G. Olford played two violin solos accompanied by Mrs. Cuevas Mr. John Kelly was M.C. The bride's table was decorated with three-tiered cake flanked by bouquets of pastel roses and tall white candles in silver candlesticks. Mrs. Florence Erickson and Mrs. Leslie Post poured coffee. Mr. John Kelly proposed the toast to the bride Mr and Mrs. Erickson left for a honeymoon trip to Banff, Lake Louise and Jasper, for her making their home in Edmonton

In addition to the names and dates items presented last year, that a new and novel attraction in the form of a silver pedestal horse ... was introduced Jitney dancing is also to be featured this year and a booth will be operated in the club The three sponsoring organizations are all hitting it hard and the Hardisty Carnival and everyone is assured a grand and glorious time.

KILLAM ARENA GOES UP

Interest around Killam these days is centered on the erection of the Memorial Arena being constructed by the Board of Trade with the aid of village and country citizens ready the arena presents a sight to be proud of As the sod and stone work are something for all to see The contractor has built and raised twelve huge arches and placed them in place. The ends are now going up and the foundations for the inside walls and the ice floor will be in before this appears in print.

The building committee of the Board of Trade has been most active and only in seeing that what must be done is done, but also with cement mixers and hammers. Many citizens have turned out to lend a hand already, and the time has now arrived when everyone who can spare a little time will be more than welcome If you can spare an hour, a day or a week just pick up your hammer and help with Killam's Memorial Arena.

JABOSH — TONER

St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church Killam, was the scene of a pretty wedding recently when Eileen Agatha, daughter of Mr. and Mrs J Toner of Vermilion exchanged marriage vows with John Anthony, son of Mr and Mrs. A. P. Jarosh of Castalia. The Rev. Fr. McCarthy of Killam read the ceremony, assisted by Rev. Fr. Tessier of Carstairs.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother in law, Barry Hannah, wore a gown of white satin styled with a set yoke, lily-point sleeves and finger tip veil held with a bustle back. Her floor-length veil was held in place by a net tiara and she carried a bouquet of red and white roses and a prayer book. Maid of the groom. Her only jewelry was a gold cross. Miss Theresa Toner, bridesmaid, wore a gown of pink net over taffeta with a bow back of with a chapel veil and elbow length gloves to match. Miss Doreen Nichol acted as maid of honor. Her dress was sky blue taffeta with a matching chapel veil and elbow length gloves They carried bouquets of carnations and sweet peas. Miss Dyann Schaffler was flower girl, wearing a frock of blue net over taffeta with a bow band to match. She carried a basket of sweet peas. The groom was supported by his cousin Mr. Tom Mahoon and Mr Eddie Kneber as best usher. Mr. Gilbert Bergmann and Mr. Art Smith acted as ushers. Soloist was Donna Jarosh sister of the groom who sang, 'Ave Maria, Mrs. Toner mother of the bride, chose a grey suit with matching accessories and a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother, Mrs. Jarosh, wore a blue flowered silk dress with pink accessories and corsage of red roses

Following the ceremony a reception for about 75 guests was held in the Parish Hall. The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake flanked by bouquets of evergreens. Rev. Fr. McCarthy proposed the toast to the bride and the groom to which the latter replied.

The newlyweds left by car for a honeymoon in Banff and Calgary. For travelling the bride wore a two piece printed crepe dress with a white top coat and white accessories. She wore a corsage of gladioli and roses Upon their return the couple will reside at Lloydminster.

Lougheed Facts

Lougheed Ladies Aid met at home of Mrs. M. MacLean on Sept. 1st with an attendance of 12. Mrs. Ekert gave an interesting talk on "Review". The hostess served a delightful lunch. Next meeting at home of Mrs. F. Sax, Lougheed.

Mrs. Culbertson of Edmonton is spending the harvest season with her friend Mrs. Ray Sutter.

Bill Culshaw had a bit of tough luck last week when he discovered his saddle horse dead in the field. He says that in spite of treetops and auto etc. there are many places a saddle horse is handy on a farm.

This week we say "Au Revoir" to Connie, the girl who has made boy ing postage stamps a pleasure. She leaves to join her family in Camrose or else? We are all sorry to see Connie go and we hope she will get a good job, her good luck and happiness in whatever course she follows in the future. We hope she will get a final time to revisit her friends in the old home town.

The more I listen to the radio the better I like Canada, which now days practically means Alberta. On the west coast they have been having so many quakes lately the natives are combining, while in Florida they have gentle zephyrs of 150 M. P. H. A few more of those blows up the coast and Florida will be further north so can annex it for the 11th province. Yes, make mine Alberta please where you get the best variety of climate and scenery without the expense of travelling.

Hail, hail, the gang's all here heads the hit parade in Lougheed just as pressure or in other words the harvesters are here doing their stuff. Let's hope they see things a little through the farmers' eyes and not use the Nelson eye.

Ray McCracken and wife motored through the Peace River country the end of last week and visited with Gordie Brown; the Rowlands and Arvid Peterson travelled about the same route and visited the Petersen's relatives.

They brought Don back with them. These are the round-up days for all school kids, sending the visiting ones home and getting our local ones back in time for school opening.

Our old friend Dave Johnstone flew over Lougheed and circled the district a few times. This is about the only occasion when we wouldn't want him to drop in on us. Possibly he wanted a bird-eye view of our snappy new Legion hall or figured it was the only way he could keep Elmer or George from selling him a book of tickets for Legion dance.

Mrs. Wilton of Winnipeg has completed her visit with the Whites and Riddocks here and left for her home Thursday of last week.

The Berkshires were week end visitors at Camrose and took in a picnic at Dried Meat Lake Sunday. They say the latter place is becoming quite a summer resort.

My apologies if some of my items are a release of your former correspondent. Didn't have a chance to check up and things happen so fast around Lougheed you just got one chance to use them or they go by. Reminds me of an argument between our two local Insurance Agents, Harry and Elmer on the promptness in making adjustments and paying of claims. Elmer had new use of their necks had been hit by a car and rushed to hospital, and as they were carrying him in the ward, their adjuster was walking beside the fellow taking down details of the claim. # Safe Thinking and Safe Driving

(By A. H. SLOCK, M.M.U.)

IT is a well known fact that the automobile is one of the greatest institutions today in our way of life. The pleasure and business created by the automobile cannot be measured or put into figures. Without it we would not be the way we do.

It is also recognized that the automobile of today is engineered and built to perfection and is almost foolproof in operational performance providing it is kept in top mechanical order. But in spite of these facts, we are reluctant to realize that the automobile is also one of the greatest killers of our modern way of life. Bringing death and injury to thousands of people on this continent every year, and with property damage amounting to millions of dollars annually.

Statistics are proving that over 85 per cent of all accidents are accounted for by human failure to observe the traffic rules and the use of cautious and common sense. The driver, is the problem. He is not foolproof and at times the wisest and in a prayer fool because he took a chance once too often.

It is man driving, once behind the wheel seem to get an air of superiority and indifference, losing all thought of courtesy. If only it could be aroused on all drivers, and even pedestrians, that a moment's haste may mean hours of suffering, perhaps death. Majority of accidents could be avoided if drivers would acquaint themselves more fully and abide with traffic rules, keeping in mind to always drive with courtesy. This is not only a matter of rules and regulations, but only to the driver but to the occupants of his car.

Driving safely, must be the driver's no.1 concern indiscriminately cut in and out of traffic, and avoid passing on curves and hills. Always signal your intentions before turning and stopping. Do not park on a travelled highway and if necessary, make sure that a clear view of the parked car is visible. Where car be seen at least 200 feet each way. When driving at night always dim your lights for oncoming vehicles.

Traffic officials are always stressing to the motoring public to be alert to children dashing into the streets. The following letter written by Phil Brandt appeared in the Tulsa World, and merits repeating:

DON'T RUN OVER MY LITTLE GIRL!

Dear Doctor:

Today, my daughter, who is seven years old started off to school as usual she was a dark blue dress with a white collar. She had on black shoes and white hose. She is a cute little miss Elizabeth (that's a doll) and as she left on the front porch and skipped on her merry way I wondered if I would ever see her daddy. When her doll got spanked or hungry, I can fix it, but when she starts across the street, then she is in your hands.

She's a nice kid. She can run like a deer and I don't shout like a chipmunk. She likes to ride bcause and swim and hike with me on Sunday afternoons. But I can't be with her all the time—I have to work to pay for her clothes and her education. So—please drive slowly past the schools and intersections — and remember that children run from behind parked cars.

Please don't run over my little girl.

— PHIL BRANDT

Hardware Store Keeper Meets Competition

A FARMER walked into the hardware store of a mail-order town and asked to see an axe. After carefully examining a half-dozen, he chose one and asked its price.

"It is $1.50," said the storekeeper.

Producing a page torn from a mail-order catalogue, the farmer said, "Here is the same axe for only $1.32."

The hardware man looked at the picture, pondered, then said, "If they can sell it for that, so can I."

"OK. I'll take it," said the farmer.

The storekeeper picked up the axe, weighed it on a scale behind the counter and began to make out a sale bill. $1.32 plus 12 cents, total $1.44.

"Hey!" shouted the farmer. "What is that 12 cents for?"

"For postage. If you sent for it you'd have to pay postage, wouldn't you?"

The farmer had to admit he would. He counted out the $1.44. The storekeeper wrapped up the axe—and calmly laid it on a shelf.

"Say what's the big idea?" asked the farmer.

With a twinkle in his eye, the storekeeper replied, "Come back in three days and you can have it."

LAND UNDER CULTIVATION

Spain's productive land comprises nearly 114,000,000 acres, about 90 per cent. of the total area, but only about 56,000 acres are under cultivation. Sixty million acres are pasture and mountains.

Poison Ivy Can Spoil The Picnic

PICNIC time can sometimes be poison ivy time, so it is well to be able to recognize this plant. Although it generally grows as a trailing vine, it is a number of separate plants forming patches of varying thickness and size, it may climb a tree or telegraph pole for a considerable height. It leaves are arranged alternately on the woody stem with a leaf bearing three leaflets, which are set in pairs (large, small) or (small, large) with a single leaflet at the end. Clusters of greenish-yellow fruits about the size of peas develop on poison ivy in some localities. These fruits gradually turn white. Poison ivy is the only common plant in Canada having distinctly three-leaved and white fruit.

The rash which is the cause of distressing in many people is caused by coming into contact with the poisonous resin substance which is on the plant. This substance may remain active on gloves tools shoes and picnic baskets for months. Dogs, cats, or even smoke from burning poison ivy can transmit the substance.

The best preventative measure is to learn to recognize poison ivy and not to touch or eat some. If poison ivy does come in contact with the skin wash immediately with laundry soap preferably in warm water. Washing with alcohol benzene or gasoline would be of more value if soap and water are not available. Small patches of isolated plants in gardens or around summer cottages can best be removed by digging them out but as the plant has an extensive root system therefore several shoots will develop which can be thoroughly washed or else chanced. Mere pruning intensifies, when not among plants for shrubs which might also be killed are best treated with chemicals. Such chemical methods are outlined in a pamphlet, Poison Ivy and Its Eradication, which may be obtained from the Dominion Department of Agriculture Ottawa.

Smile of the Week—

FIFE.

Her husband being invalided home, a young and inexperienced wife attempted to take his temperature safe, in a state of great excitement, scribbled a note to the doctor "Dear doctor — Please come at once. My husband's temperature is 150."

The doctor replied: "Dear madam —The case is beyond my skill. Send for the fire engine."

Time For Mothers To Forget About The Children

THE mother of four small children was asked to take off for a few days' vacation — the first time in years she had gone away from her family.

"Now, don't worry about the children," said the competent woman she had hired to look after them.

Looking around to make sure none of the children was in earshot the mother replied "Worry about them? I'm not even going to think about them for three whole days."

At that hotel, just expected, answer the nurse looked shocked. Yet the mother had the right attitude toward her vacation. What was the use in her taking a vacation if she wasn't going to put her home responsibility completely out of her mind?

The idea most women have that a good mother is supposed to worry about her children every minute she is away from them is absurd.

Worrying about the children doesn't do them any good. It doesn't keep them away from them. But it does keep the mother from ever enjoying a minute of complete freedom, a sense of belonging for a little while—even if only for a few hours to herself again.

Men, of course, don't feel they have to worry about the children when they go on their annual vacation in order to be good fathers. They usually carry on their business affairs if they're stirred about the children all the while they were away from them.

So why should women have the idea that they aren't being good mothers if they don't have their children on their minds constantly?

That mother of four who confessed she wasn't going to think about any of the children during her few days' vacation probably had a wonderful carefree and happy time. And no doubt she came back to her family refreshed in mind and body and ready to take up the job of being a mother again, with a new relaxed attitude toward the job's demands.

Mothers who worry and are worried about the children the whole time, wondering what they were doing and if they were getting along all right the vacation wouldn't have been a vacation at all.

Comfort In A Lawn Chair

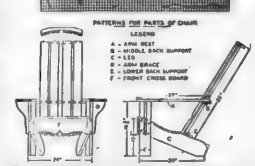
PATTERNS FOR PARTS OF CHAIR

LEGEND
A - ARM REST
B - MIDDLE BACK SUPPORT
C - SLAT
D - ARM BRACE
E - LOWER BACK SUPPORT
F - FRONT CROSS BRACE



The working diagrams of the Leisurelean lawn chair show you how to build it. The completed lawn chair is to be painted with heavy paint, and one-inch openings, carefully laid out.

RELAXATION in comfort on the lawn is a fine way to get the most out of summer scenery and odd moments of rest and quiet. This lawn chair, sometimes known as the Leisure-Lean lawn chair, will make relaxation or comfort a simple matter to you. The chair can be built from almost any of the soft woods, though pine, three-quarter inch thick, is preferable.

The best thing to do is to make the full sized patterns for the various pieces shown in the accompanying drawing. To make the patterns first lay out a fairly large piece of paper with squares one inch each way, drawing the lines carefully at right angles to each other in pencil. Next, count the number of squares in the length and width of each piece and then design the outline as nearly as possible to the curvatures shown in the accompanying scale drawing.

The arm rest, for instance, will take a piece of lumber six inches wide and slightly over 27 inches long. The front cross board is 24 inches long and five and a half inches wide. In this way, each piece can be laid out and designed with considerable accuracy. Then shape them to the curves of the patterns, using a bow saw or a band saw, if one is available, for cutting the pieces to correct form.

It will be noticed that the back rest of this chair is made up of four pieces, and the back is given some comfort, which is a considerable improvement over the flat back as often seen in chairs of this type. It will also be noted that the three two boards on the back are farther apart than the others, this also being for comfort, the spacing at the center being one and a half inches between the center boards. The slats for the seats should be made out of three-quarter inch material, one and a quarter to one and a half inches wide, and the spacing between these slats should not be less than three eighths of an inch because it is necessary to keep all sides of the lumber painted in order to prevent decay which would otherwise set in, as these chairs are often left out in the rain.

The chair is wider at the front than at the back, the width being controlled by the cross piece E to which the lower end of the back rest is attached. The contraction of the legs at the rear requires the front edges of the legs to be beveled so as to provide a flat rest for the front cross board F, but this is easily attended to when assembling the chair.

While nails are sometimes used in certain parts of this chair together, it is better to use screws as they make a neater job, and hold better than do ordinary nails. Flat-head screws will countersunk and painted over are best for the job. Screws one and a half inches long and of No. nine or 10 size will be best for most of the pieces, though for several of the parts a somewhat longer screw can be used to advantage.

Finally, it is a good idea to prime coat with paint all parts before final assembly, then to give not less than two and take jolly good care I don't lose one of them.

As for awnings, many women have been buying two matching pairs for a long time.

When asked if he didn't think it would be a good idea to start putting up hours of three, one local manufacturer snorted: "Just like a woman! Always changing their minds! One company started the three-to-a-box idea about 15 years ago and would have gone broke if they'd stuck to it!"

Women Are Notoriously Bad At Figures

NEW YORK — Women, especially housewives, are notoriously bad at figures.

However, that isn't the reason some women think three compounded a school marks a pair.

When it comes to stockings or earrings, three should be the number, say many New York career girls.

"I would love that man—the first manufacturer to declare that three make a pair," one young woman said. "I'm always losing one earring and my jewelry box is full of lone, unmated earrings."

While a poll indicates general approval of pair-and-a-half earrings and hosiery, enthusiasm in some quarters is reported by many.

If they're $1 or $2 earrings, I'd be willing to try it," one girl commented. "But if it's a $10 investment, why, no thanks. I'd stick to the old tried and true poly good care I don't lose one of them."

Wheel—Man's Oldest Mechanical Invention

IT IS a curious thought that while the wheel is the oldest of all man's mechanical inventions, it has undergone no fundamental change in design since the dawn of history. The materials of which it is made have, of course, changed with the years: steel and rubber for example, have almost entirely replaced wood—but the hub, the spokes and the rim are still arranged just as they were on the chariots of the ancients. And the shape has always been the same as perfect a curve as the technical methods at the time could contrive.

An American inventor, John F Kopczynski of North Tonawanda, New York, has taken this as a personal challenge. He has produced an entirely new wheel—one in fact as better to its traditional model.

The wheel is made in two parts, one ahead of the other and connected by a rocker arm. They are symmetrical so that when the flat on one of one is on the ground, the corresponding edge on the other is at the top of its swing.

The inventor claims that his design gives a smoother ride and "grip" better for heavy going through mud and snow. He doesn't say how good it is at digging itself out again afterwards.

Marco Polo, in his writings told of seeing 15,000 boats at one Chinese anchorage.

HOMING PIGEON—Here is homing pigeon taking-off at ten from the deck of a naval craft, no doubt carrying an important message to the base.

MAKE SURE YOU PUT THE STAMP ON YOUR CHEQUE

OTTAWA — That last cheque you wrote—the one you didn't put a stamp on—could get you in trouble. Because that sort of thing is against the law.

The law, Revenue Department officials explained, requires that the person who writes the cheque must pay the tax of three cents on cheques up to $100 and six cents for cheques of more than $100.

The tax must be paid before the cheque is cashed. So you just can't take out the cheque for an extra three cents and let it go at that. You may have intended the extra three cents as the tax—but you didn't actually pay it.

The Stamp Tax has been on cheques, purely as a revenue measure, for some 25 years and there have been prosecutions for not putting stamps on when the cheque is written. Conviction carries a fine of $10, but prosecutions are "few and far between," an official said.

"The reason you don't have to accept a cheque for payment unless there's a stamp on it when you get it, Judge T. H. Barnard of the Toronto county, in which decision of the kind, that an unstamped cheque doesn't constitute a payment. A landlord was trying to evict a tenant because he had not made a proper rent. The tenant had given the landlord an unstamped cheque for one month's rent, but the judge ruled that wasn't good enough and ordered the eviction. The tenant, Miss Lillian Baxter, said she will appeal. The landlord will not say if he will appeal.

"The reason does give you an unstamped cheque, you can't—strictly speaking—take it to the bank, give the teller three cents and have him put on a stamp. Because then the cheque is dated. The law says it's to be paid by the person who writes out the cheque—the cheque."

The Revenue Department doesn't go around looking for people to prosecute. It gets the money regardless. But if a person does that can't get a conviction unless it has the information laid. Then the department is forced to prosecute when someone writes a cheque and asks for a prosecution.

Profitable Way To Get Rid Of Papers

SPOKANE, Wash.—Mary Frances Ackerman didn't know what to do with the stack of newspapers she had left after clipping them for her publicity work with the Ice show, Ice Cycles.

So she piled them neatly in the hall outside her room at the Davenport hotel and went to bed. When she returned, the stack was much smaller.

Lying on top was 60 cents in nickels and dimes.

Need Vitamin "D" All Year Around

Physicians are unanimous in the impression that during the summer they do not need to give their children Vitamin D because they get all they need from the sun.

Unfortunately, in many areas of Canada there is not enough sunlight to provide adequate amounts of vitamin D, and in any case Canadian kids as a screen, keeping out ultra-violet rays. It is necessary to add vitamin D to a child's diet all year around.

Helpful Hints

Mixed lotions are just as necessary in the summer as they are in the winter. It's awful what the summer sun and water can do to hands.

* * *

Soaking stockings in water before washing will give them more elasticity. All types must be washed in lukewarm suds—never rubbed or pulled—simply squeeze suds in and out.

* * *

Peppy seafood cocktails make an impressive beginning for dressed-up dinner menus. To make them even better, cut ripe olives into quarters and include with the other ingredients. Be sure to include a little horseradish in the dressing.

* * *

If your water tank springs a sudden leak close it temporarily with a wad of chewing gum. Dry it first with friction or tire tape. Next call in the local tinsmith and ask him to do a permanent job properly.

* * *

Give your shoes extra protection against stains and scuffing by polishing them before wearing them for the first time. Do the same with smooth leather handbags.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sparrow and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Stevens (nee Mary Spencer) of Calgary were week guests at the W. Spencer home.

Mr and Mrs Eddie Matthews motored to Calgary and Vulcan over the long holiday week end.

The Misses Jacqueline Hendricks, Eleanor Bemmer and Marion Brenan all business college students in Edmonton, were home last week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Timmins and Geraldine left Tuesday morning on an extended holiday touring beauty spots of the country. During their absence Mr. and Mrs. Claude May are over-seeing the Timmins place of business here in town.

Mr and Mrs. "Tuf" Mattoon from Edmonton spent the week end visiting relatives here and at Metiskow.

Miss Ione Terry, now employed at a radio station in Edmonton, was home over the week end.

Jack Rattan, previously of Hardisty and now of Calgary, accompanied by Fred Gilbert of Rosebury, motored in here over the week end.

Others here over Labor Day were Bob Robbins of Edmonton and Blyth Bennett of Calgary.

An Tuesday evening a very large group of friends gathered in the United Church basement in honor of Mrs. Ernest Hamilton, whose wedding took place on Saturday Sept. 3rd. Amy was the recipient of many beautiful gifts and while her many friends gathered around wishing her happiness, a very delightful luncheon was served.

A large crowd attended the dance at the lake pavilion Friday nite and danced to the music provided by the Wainwright orchestra. Watch for posters folks. The Stampede Assn promises more of the same.

Muriel Stark arrived home Thursday of last week from Calgary where she is attending at the Sedgewick High, after picking for the Manville Blueberls during the summer.

Indications Of Prosperity

ALTHOUGH CANADA HAS BEEN experiencing a period of almost unprecedented prosperity and expansion since the war, there is always some speculation regarding the possibilities of a business recession or of a depression such as occurred in the nineteen thirties. A recent recession in the United States caused some apprehension as to whether there would be a similar trend in this country. However, some figures regarding financial conditions here, and given at a meeting of the Investment Dealers of Canada held at Minaki, Ontario, early in the summer, showed that there are still indications of continuing prosperity.

* * * * *

Increase in Bank Accounts

Among the figures presented were those showing the amount of bank savings in Canada at this time. There are 6,640,000 accounts in the various banks with a total of $4,068,000,000, deposited in them. These were compared with the figures for 1945, when there were 6,000,000 accounts totalling $1,370,000,000. Another interesting fact brought out in the discussions was that there are now 267,000 more accounts with balances exceeding one thousand dollars than there were fifteen years ago. It was also shown that employment rates are remaining at high levels except for seasonal drops which are to be expected in certain types of work

* * * * *

Small Number Out Of Work

At the time these figures were compiled there were 4,700,000 employed in Canada, which was 30,000 more than at the same period in 1946. Only 116,000, which is less than three per cent, of the total working population were unemployed. This is looked upon as a period of full employment and at many times in the past would have been regarded as highly satisfactory. While there are a great many factors which govern the prosperity of a country, basic balances, which represent purchasing power, and employment, which is of fundamental importance, both appear to be at high levels in Canada at this time. Economists and financial experts are not all agreed as to what may happen in the future, but these facts are encouraging to those who believe that we are to enjoy continuing prosperity.

Unemployment Claims Show A Decline

OTTAWA — Claims for unemployment insurance benefits declined in June. The bureau of statistics said they were down to 53,100 from the 53,700 claims filed in May, but up from the 39,600 filed in June last year.

By the end of June there were 85,400 ordinary claims on the live unemployment register, compared with 91,900 at the end of May and 86,500 at the end of June 1946.

Compared with 750,000 persons who were paid $5,511,000 in May, some 711,000 got none received one or more unemployment insurance benefits during June, getting $4,112,000. Payments were for 1,853,000 days of compensated unemployment in June, compared with 2,074,100 days in May.

In June last year 70,000 persons were compensated for 1,700,000 days. This amounted to $2,509,700

Average duration of unemployment showed a slight increase in June estimated at 18.6 days compared with 16.4 days in May, but down sharply from the 17.8 days in June last year.

Benefits paid were slightly higher averaging $36.79 for each unemployed person in June, compared with $36.50 in May and $34.13 in June a year ago.

Average amount of benefit paid for each compensated day of unemployment amounted to $2.22 in June, $2.23 in May and $1.93 in June last year.

BELIEVES CANADIANS FRIENDLIEST PEOPLE

MONTREAL — Canada is a better place to live than the United States, W. J. J. Herron Irish author and playwright said in an interview. The 37-year-old Princeton, N.J., graduate was returning to England aboard the liner Empress of France after a six-month tour of Canada. Canadians are more relaxed, a more friendly people, he said. They are interested in one another and lead very personal lives.

BUENOS AIRES HAVING WINTER WEATHER NOW

BUENOS AIRES — Weather note: Buenos Aires had its coldest day of the year August 16 with a temperature of 36.24 degrees Fahrenheit.

Ice, uncommon in the winter season here, glazed the streets.

It snowed for the first time in 15 years at Mar del Plata, fashionable resort 300 miles south of Buenos Aires.

"When do you like your babies?" asked the barber. And the tired customer replied, "Cried."

* * * * *

"Who decides where you'll spend your holidays—you or your wife?"

"I do, of course—then my wife thinks of somewhere better."

* * * * *

"Your wife drives like Stirling, doesn't she?"

"Yes—always striking trees."

* * * * *

The Judge had just awarded a divorce in a wife "And" he said to the husband, "I have decided to give your wife $50.00 a month."

"That's fine, Judge," the man said, "and once in a while I'll try to slip her a couple of bucks myself."

* * * * *

"Harold is awfully obstinate."

"In what way?"

"It's the hardest thing in the world to make him admit I'm right when he knows I'm wrong."

Big Expansion In Fish Trade

WINNIPEG—The Canadian fishing industry is capable of great expansion and development, Fisheries Minister Mayhew said here.

Mr Mayhew was in Winnipeg to present plans for improvements in the fishing industry to provincial government officials and representatives of Manitoba fisheries and trade.

He said the government should "take further positive steps toward a greater combination of the great fishery potential of the Dominion."

The move is the most of currency in Ecuador. 2643

Trans-Canada Road Proposals Being Drafted

OTTAWA. — Federal government proposals on the construction of a trans-Canada highway will be sent to all provincial governments in the near future, a reconstruction department official said.

A document containing the proposals now is being drafted and will be sent to the provinces as soon as Reconstruction Minister Winters has it approved by the cabinet.

Legislation providing for federal contribution to the cost of the highway will not be submitted to parliament until all the provinces have indicated that they are fairly well in agreement on the question of sharing costs, the route of the highway and the standards of construction to be.

The official said plans call for use of many existing roads. Some provinces have not indicated what roads they want to have the highway go through, so estimate has been made on the length of existing roads that will be used.

It has been estimated roughly that the whole highway will run 8,000 miles. Total cost of completing the highway, taking into account the use of certain existing links, has been calculated at $400,000,000. The official said 5,000 miles of completely new construction on highway could not be built for $400,000,000.

Mr Winters said in an interview that the federal contribution likely will be in the neighborhood of $150,000,000 to $200,000,000.

Honey Crop Small This Year

WINNIPEG. — The Canadian bee isn't buzzing around as much this year as last, so the honey crop will be smaller

However, the large surplus left over from last year will assure the consumer of an almost-normal honey supply.

Frank R. Garland, president of the Canadian Beekeepers' Council, said in an interview that bad weather conditions in Ontario—chief honey producing province and drastic curtailment of sugary feeding indicate a crop of only 50 to 60 per cent of the normal.

Canada is a surprising difference from last year when the beekeepers had to ask the Dominion government to take away some of the sting of sky-rocketing sugar to help them meet their expenses. The government agreed to buy 5,000,000 pounds of honey, packed it in wax packed in large containers.

They took only about 2,500,000 pounds, however, because much of the honey crop was packed in small containers.

Production of honey in Canada last year totaled 45,000,000 pounds, including 15,000,000 from Ontario

Price Set For All The Butter Now In Storage

OTTAWA — The agricultural prices support board announced the butter it has purchased of the current flood price will be sold to the trade at not less than cost plus storage charges.

The announcement recalled the bureau of statistics reported recently that butter storages stocks in Canada amounted to 56,000,000 pounds on Aug. 1. The dairy products board held 41,000,000 pounds of the total.

"The only abnormal feature of the present butter stocks in Canada is that they are largely held by the government instead of by the dairy industry and the trade," said the announcement.

The government began obtaining stocks when the heavy spring and summer production of butter sent prices below the floor fixed by the government. The floor was 53 cents in Montreal and Toronto, 50 cents in Winnipeg, Lethbridge and St. John, N.B., and 57½ cents in Vancouver.

Edmonton Team To Play For Hockey Title

TORONTO — Edmonton Mercurys will represent Canada in the world hockey championships in London next March. This was announced by the Canadian Amateur Hockey association following a two-day meeting Mercury's are western intermediate champions.

An outright gift of $8,000 to the Canadian British Empire Games' association to help defray expenses of sending a 62-athlete team to New Zealand Games next February also was announced

We realize that some athletic and the organizations to which they belong haven't the facilities to raise money and we are glad to be able to help them out," Fredd-ut Al Pickard of Regina declared.

Pickard said the meeting also recommended that Memorial cup finals, to be played in the east, will start no later than April 22 and the Allan cup finals, to be played in the west, will start no later than April 29.

"We have stipulated also that the Edmonton club must satisfy the association it is of caliber to represent Canada adequately." Pickard said. Plans are that the team will leave Canada at the end of December for a three-month tour of Europe and Britain and return home late in March or early April.

Exhibition Officials Turned Detectives

Agricultural manager Sam Foster and his staff at the Canadian National Exhibition turned detectives to track down the rightful owners of some $125 in entry fees money left in the box office.

Foster said he had carefully filed their entries for this year's livestock competitions at CNE. They recorded the breed names of each animal and checked their entry fee remittances. But they neglected to write in their names or addresses.

With only the breed names to go on, Mr. Foster and staff contacted breed associations, cross-checked last year's entrants, contacted farmers whom they knew breed certain family-line stock.

They had traced all six exhibitors, supplied entry money where it belonged.

Residents Forced To Lick Stamps

DAWSON CREEK, B.C — Residents using the Dawson Creek post office have licked stamps with their tongues recently while the waterless office was wedged between a dominion municipal dispute.

The village commissioners shut off the water in the post office. They said the federal government refused to pay frontage rates.

The government, in turn, claimed it is exempt from the rate.

While both stood pat, residents wondered around with distasteful looks on their faces.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

YOU NEVER KNOW

The Thought She Knew The Case — But Was She?

By BERTRAND BECK

BIDDY ought to be keeping her eyes resumed, traveling the road of worry about the little sandy haired woman seemed so much like herself. Biddy felt she was talking to a sister

"I was happy enough until last week," Biddy said

"Last week," said the woman, sympathy in her eyes.

"There they were," Biddy went on with the batch of letters from that woman in Sea Gate, hidden under her fishing gear."

"Ah," sighed the woman her eyes suddenly bright. "So it was going there now?"

Yes, and after she had seen her she would call Larry and tell him she was on her way to Reno. Being the woman would make up Biddy's mind, talking to Larry long distance would be easier than telling him face to face.

"I've got the letters here," Biddy said, pulling the bulging pocketbook she had bought for that purpose here in Beverbrook four days ago. "I'm going to show her that I have them, and then I'm off. My ticket's for tomorrow. Eleven o'clock Track thirty-three."

The brown-haired woman turned away, stared out of the darkened window. Biddy felt slighted She set the wallet firmly in the crook of her elbow, determined not to think of Larry and Beverbrook.

It was then that she noticed that a woman had come and sat down at her left, a small dainty woman with delicious perfume. Her thin eyes were on Biddy's face as if she knew Biddy from the pho—perhaps. Lawrence carried Biddy's picture with him, Biddy remembered, startled into awareness.

Oh, this woman whose skin was transparent, whose lips were so gay — this was the kind of woman Larry had always admired. And she was on the train to Sea Gate

"I have to talk to you," Biddy said, her voice thin. "I have a feeling of knowing you."

The blonde smiled, teeth white against lipstick. "You're not from Iowa?" she said, a note of harshness in her voice.

"I'm from Missouri. Beverbrook I'm on my way to Reno. I came here to see—someone first."

"Husband trouble," the blonde said, and as if she were suddenly reminded of something she had forgotten, she opened her purse, lifted out a paper on which Biddy saw the name of a Reno hotel. It was a bill, dated last week. The blonde folded it carefully. "I almost thought I'd lost it," she said. "What does your husband say to taking the long way around to Nevada? Expensive, but it's—it have my own savings," Biddy said. "Lawrence doesn't know that I know he's been—unfaithful."

The blonde laughed bitterly. "I suppose a man coming to New York would want things to serve good time to get at home—in Beverbrook Theatres and gaiety."

There was no use denying the truth

Time woman, lovely and delicate and seductive, this woman had recognized her. This woman had been making Larry happy. Biddy wanted to scream. Biddy bit her lips.

The blonde was thinking aloud "It doesn't hurt their marriages most of the time," she said.

"How do you know?" said Biddy "I got it." the girl flicked her eyelashes. "You think I'm your woman," she shrugged. "I couldn't occur to you that maybe I'm in the same boat—with my husband going west regularly and forgetting to tear up the letters. Her eyes narrowed. "Maybe it was you he was sewing out there in love. How can I be sure? You're the kind that would make him remain and apple sauce and let him go to sleep after dinner in a big chair near the fire while you knit him socks. I hate kind of woman. I want my divorce."

"How does it feel?" said Biddy apologetic.

The blonde's eyes filled. "Awful," she whispered. "I never realized—I only knew I loved him. I'm sorry."

"I'm not so sure. If I could do it over again—I wouldn't!" Take my advice, go back to Iowa, or Missouri, or wherever you live!"

"What?" Biddy said. "I don't want advice I want my divorce."

The blonde stood up. "Well, good luck."

"Is this a station?"

"It's the last stop. If you're going to Sea Gate you take the trolley. Are you Upstream Upstream perhaps. Lawrence carried Biddy's picture with him, Biddy remembered, startled into awareness.

Oh, this woman whose skin was transparent, whose lips were so gay — this was the kind of woman Larry had always admired. And she was on the train to Sea Gate

BAKED HAM AND APPLES

1 inch sliced smoked ham about 6 inches long
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 tablespoonful brown sugar
½ cup water
1 cup apple juice

Pare ham. Place in a baking pan and rub with mustard. Sprinkle with 1 tablespoon of the brown sugar. Core the apple and slice into ½ inch slices. Cover the ham with the apple slices and sprinkle them with the last tablespoon of brown sugar. Add apple juice

Bake in a slow oven (300 deg F.) for 30 minutes or until tender.

GINGER MUFFINS

2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon white pepper
¼ cup shortening
½ cup sugar
1 egg
½ cup molasses
½ cup milk

Sift flour, measure; add baking powder, salt and spices.

Cream shortening; add sugar gradually; continue beating until light and fluffy; add egg and molasses; beat well; stir in milk; add flour mixture and stir just enough to moisten the dry ingredients. Do not beat.

Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full and bake in hot oven, (400 deg F.), 30 to 25 minutes.

GATHER AT THE BARBECUE . . .

SECTION A-A' — FRONT ELEVATION — PLAN

These drawings will aid in the construction of an outdoor barbecue.

We are showing drawings giving the construction of a barbecue stove for outdoor use. These drawings are taken from plans by the Portland Cement Association and when built according to plan this kind of outdoor fireplace not only provides a thoroughly satisfying cooking service for young folks, it makes an attractive ornament in the grounds of any home.

The barbecue stove is built on a concrete slab 6 inches thick made of a mixture of 1 part of cement to 2½ parts of sand and 3 parts of crushed stone or screened pebbles. Where sand from gravel is available a very good base can be made from 1 part of cement to 4 parts of fairly run gravel. Where a smooth finish is desired an additional inch of concrete made of 1 part of cement to 2 parts of screened sand may be laid on top of the rough concrete. The walls may be built of concrete blocks 8 inches thick from the liver portion and 6 inches thick from the front of the grill to the top. Concrete blocks are often available in thicknesses of 4, 6 and 8 inches and any combination of these thicknesses may be used to secure the desired effect.

The firebrick should be lined with fire clay with hard burned building brick as fire is inclined to damage the concrete work when directly exposed to it.

Fireplaces of this type should be located in a secluded spot in the grounds where shrubbery forms a background and preferably also the two sides. The fireplace should be so located that the front will face the prevailing wind. This will assure better draft and keep smoke out of the eyes of those working around them.

The load, wood or charcoal burned in the fireplace, will add to the flavor of the food cooked on the grill.

Cycling Edmonton Girls Receive Marriage Proposals On Tour

LONDON — Four Edmonton girls on a two-month bicycle and hitchhiking tour of Britain, France and Italy have each had a marriage proposal since they arrived July 1—but they're not taking them seriously.

The girls wandering wherever a whim takes them, are Donna Cruse, 22; Jean Campbell, 24; Mary Brock Smith, 20, and Dawn Eckert, 22.

After they arrived at Liverpool on the liner Ascania the girls bought themselves bicycles. Then, dressed in blue jeans and fancy-striped shirts, they peddled off.

Telling of the first Donna, a laboratory technician said this week: "We rode our way through North Wales to Shrewsbury, Oxford, and London stopping at hostels all the way. We had already had our first proposal of marriage.

"A boy in the ship's orchestra coming over had proposed to Jean But she is already engaged.

"Almost as soon as we reached London, I noticed our second proposal — from a policeman we met here.

When we nipped over the channel for a look at Paris a Frenchman proposed.

"It was in Devon that Dawn got her proposal from a territorial in an army camp there."

After about a month of cycling the girls were too tired in the evening to look around the places they visited as they started hitchhiking.

The Spaniard had only one "really bad moment" since they tour began.

They arrived at the Spanish border, drove too late one night to arrange for accommodation in customs and they telephoned police.

"The police locked us off," said Donna, "and told us to learn to look after ourselves.

"At midnight we found a cafe still open and drank about six cups of coffee each. Then it was getting time so we told the proprietor our plight and although it was two in the morning he found a friend who let us have a tiny cupboard of a room for the night.

"That was the best night's sleep we've had."

Farm Loans Through F.I.L.A.

Once the harvest is finished, many farmers take advantage of the golden autumn days to make everything snug around the farm before winter sets in. Perhaps the barn roof needs repairing, maybe a new barn house is needed, or a new summer kitchen has to be added to the back of the house.

Sometimes these repairs, or new construction jobs, are let slide because a farmer hesitates to go ahead unless ready cash is available. That was a good reason once upon a time, but not so strong a one since 1944 when parliament passed the Farm Improvement Loans Act.

Under the terms of that Act, Canadian farm owners may obtain loans for repairing old farm buildings, or building new ones, to fix up or install heating and plumbing systems, to fence or drain his land, to buy implements, livestock, or equipment. Even tourist cabins may be financed if located on the farm, and operated as a side-line to the main business of farming.

The borrower contributes a portion of the cost of the article purchased or the proposed project. In case of farm implements, the borrower puts up one-third. In most other cases the loan is for 75 per cent, but for the construction alteration, or repair of farm buildings loans may be made for up to 90 per cent of the cost. The maximum of an individual loan is $3,000, at five per cent simple interest.

There are no extra charges. Security for the loan is provided by the farmer's land holdings or implements or both.

According to the Act, all F.I.L.A. loans are made through the chartered banks of Canada. Any farmer interested in getting one of these loans should, therefore, talk the matter over with his local bank manager.

Got New Uniforms in Record Time

OTTAWA — Thirteen of Britain's future military leaders took how they learned of the Canadian army's efficiency at first hand.

The 13, students from the Imperial Defence college who were visiting Canadian military establishments, were shown round an Ottawa clothing depot.

Two hours from the time they were measured, they said, they drove off in tailored-to-measure suits of the army's new tropical worsted uniforms.

The army said it didn't usually work quite so fast, however.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

PLEASURE

The most delicate, the most sensible of all pleasures, consists in protecting the pleasure of others.
— Brugere.

Pleasure is very seldom found where it is sought. Our brightest blaze of gladness are commonly kindled by unexpected sparks.—Samuel Johnson.

No pleasure is comparable to the standing upon the vantage-ground of truth.—Francis Bacon.

False pleasure will be, in chastisement, ill-bse no right to be at peace.

German scientists are testing a new serum claimed to immunize all hoofed animals against foot and mouth disease.

Eighteen German schoolboys were killed when an express train crashed into a bus bringing them home from summer camp.

Almost 1,000 men of the Royal Thai Tank regiment have arrived at Hong Kong as reinforcements to the crown colony garrison.

Canada's domestic and export sugar sales are running two per cent more than last year, and 27 per cent more than average 1936-39 sales.

A new egg-washing machine believed to be the first of its type in Canada, has been purchased by the Hillcrest Chicken Farm near Lindsay, Ont. The machine washes some 1,500 eggs an hour.

The 71-ton Pan American Airways clipper Mayflower, the world's largest commercial land plane, claimed a record by crossing the Atlantic from Gander, Nfld., to London in six hours, 52 minutes.

Albertans led the rest of Canada and Quebec trailed—in hoarding department store purchases during the first half of this year. Bankable Newsman's share for the period was $19 - 623,000 compared to $17,273,000 in the first half of 1948.

Fat stock show directors at Moosomin, Sask., have decided to hold the 1950 event May 23 and 24 instead of in July and all prize stock men boycott the 50 mile limit. Their decision means animals may be entered from any point in the west.

KITCHEN MEDITATIONS

A JOURNEY BACK
By JANE DALE

As I journey back and childhood scenes
And with old friends I roam,
The flowers I see along the way
Brings to me thoughts of home.

Now gravel is to row old sides
And along old paths to go
And to recall with vividness
The names I used to know.

The deep affection of old friends
Does warm me as I roam
And like the flowers reminds me oft
Of the love and cheer of home.

TURKISH GOVERNMENT CHANGES ITS MIND

LONDON — The Turkish Government has changed its mind and granted permission for an American expedition under Dr Aaron Smith to search for remains of Noah's Ark on Mount Ararat. Ankara radio said Permission to carry out the search was refused July 13 to a new Mount Ararat ban in a prohibited military zone along the Turko-Russian border.

Turns Up Memento Of Disastrous Slide

CRANBROOK, B.C. — A carton containing dozens of men's canvas shoes was dug up at the site of the Frank Slide near here by a power shovel recently.

The shoes, many of which were in good condition, were a memento of the disastrous slide which took the lives of 66 people when Turtle Mountain collapsed on the village of Frank Alta.

Almost 1,000,000 tons of rock fell on the sleeping village on April 29, 1903.

Some years ago boxes and a baby's crib was found by men engaged in road blasting operations.

PERSONAL STUFF
—By A. W. B.—

The corn as well as many other varieties of Alberta, was visited Sunday night with a killing frost which varied in intensity from ten to fifteen degrees approximately. While the damage naturally was not great to those grains which were ripe or which had already been cut, damage to the many acres of green crops was most severe. Gardens and flower beds were hit very hard.

The drums are beating again, and no doubt the interested parties are doing considerable lobbying in those corridors recently written of as the same time. Once again the officials of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation ( Canada's Propaganda Centre) are paying the way for another boost in radio license fees. This time they want to double the amount, from the present $2.50 up to $5.00. Every time the C B C is mentioned to me I start talking loud. In the first place I always feel that they have no business dictating to me what I should have to listen to or on the air, and secondly they have no business to levy a fee on me for tuning in.

In my not too considered opinion the C B C could smoke but if one is close to electricity so anything we have in North America it could sooner they are put out of business the better it will be for Canada.

We have Legion branches all over the country erecting memorials to those gallant fellows who gave up their lives to protect this thing, we call freedom (and we use the word much too loosely), and yet we tolerate a dictatorship right here in our own midst. Private radio broadcasting gives what you want, the C B C gives you what a few stuffed shirts think is good for you. This is dangerous business and we lead in thing far more dangerous.

Perhaps you've wondered why a good many Killam men use the word limited of T when writing. Well, the reason is that the writer wants to make you think that there are lots money of him to fich.

We notice that at the recent convention of the legal lights of Canada, R. was decided to go on record as being opposed to the abolition of appeals to the Privy Council in this land. This, coming from some of the supposed brightest minds in Canada, is something that is encouraging as I had always thought that Canada was capable of producing intellectual minds just as much as anything King had has shown the world, and that these minds could settle our home problems just as quickly. Perhaps I'm wrong and our lawyers have seen the light before I have. They say that they are afraid the people would try a coup de'tat without the Privy Council. Here again I am at sea. It never occurred to me that there were primarily concerned with a coup de'tat for the other. The last lawyer I had, said, "I think I can get you off with twenty years that will be fifty dollars.

I think we can decide our own p roblems and settle our own disputes private and national, right here in Canada, and the facts that our legal

HARDISTY POLIO VICTIM TAKEN TO EDMONTON

HARDISTY — Little Tommy Keehan, eight year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Keenan of Hardisty was taken to Edmonton last Friday suffering from Polio. Latest word was that little Tommy as yet was not stricken with any definite paralysis.

The M H O, Dr. Perrozzoli at once placed a ban on public gatherings and closed the Hardisty school pending further data on the case. Late under permission from the Alberta Health authorities, the school was allowed to re-open Monday, and Dr. Perrozzoli will visit the school each day for a ten day period to keep a close tab on the situation.

SCHOOL DIVISION INCREASES BUS FLEET

(By J. W. Chalmers)

SEDGEWICK — At its recent meeting the board of Killam School Division approved the purchase of a new 45-passenger bus, to bring its fleet of large, modern school vans to eight. In addition to these, fourteen privately-owned vehicles, ranging from private cars through panel delivries to regular buses, also provide van service by contract. In all children from forty-six of the se ven rural districts are transported t other districts for their education Within the Division, eight tow schools provide educational facilities for children from thirty-one outside districts. Pupils from nine differen districts attend the rural consolidated school at Meeres, while children from two district are conveyed to rura organized schools. For students from three districts the Provincially established School District provides both transportation and tuition by arrangement with the board of the Killam School Division.

In addition to providing convey ance for many elementary school children, divisional buses also transport all high school students from the villages of Killam, Strome and Lougheed to the Central high do hool at Sedgewick. These vehicles work a double shift, as before and after their high school runs they are used in their respective centres to take in children in Grades 1 to 9. The Central High School opens a little later and closes a little earlier than do the other schools, to make the arrangement practicable. Bussmen of whom one woman operates a school day of standard length.

School buses are also used extensively for ball and hockey games, school dances, dramatic and och school functions.

IN APPRECIATION

AN OPEN LETTER FROM KILLAM DISTRICT BOARD OF TRADE

Dear Sir. — During the months past even now drawing to a close it has been the privilege and pleasure of Killam District Board of Trade to sponsor four ball teams. These teams w... Senior Men's, North Killam Junio Bench Killam Juniors and the Killam Clippers Ladies' Fastball team. Th Board of Trade firmly believes that one of its main works should be th fostering of sport in the community and the training and helping of the young people in the various lines of sport. With this object in view the Board has always endeavored to encourage sports wherever and when ever possible. The four ball teams sponsored this season have been a credit not only to themselves but to the community they represent. The close of ball played and the manner in which they conducted themselve both as and off the playing field has been commendable. It is the desire of the Executive of the Killam District Board of Trade to convey to the members of these teams and to their managers and coaches the sincere thanks of the community for the quality of the sport and the sportsmanship which they have exhibited this season. — Yours truly Edi-P. Fee, Secretary of the Killam District Board of Trade

MEMORIAL HALL FUND NOW IN HIGH GEAR

At an enthusiastic meeting of the Community Council held Sept. 8th at Sedgewick, it was announced that the Hillman Car ticket sales were in good shape, with the car more than paid for, and that all future sales and collections would be payable to the building fund. With six weeks yet to go before the lucky winner will be announced, the various committees are almost drive The business men s section plans to complete its canvass of its main works should be th by the end of this week, following this the ladies will canvass the balance of the town. Our rural canvassers are now being enlisted and several volunteers having already offered their cars and assistance.

Bowling date has been postponed to Oct. 19th owing to the late harvest, and arrangements for a Gala Carnival are being held. The winner will be announced at the dance on October 21st. It was decided that all donors previous to that date will be entitled to tickets to the value of the donation. In reviewing the plans of the building committee, which include rest rooms, offices, meeting rooms kitchen and spacious and well equipped hall and other features, the Council was again impressed with the definite need of the p ublic in community which they have exhibited this season. — Yours truly Edi-P. ### RECENT BRIDE HONORED AT TOM KENNY HOME

LOUGHEED — About fifty friends gathered at the home of Mrs. Kenny recently to honor Mrs Norman (Gladys) Wright, a recent bride. The girls were piled high on a table decorated with bibs and white streamers and gifts. The packages were opened by the bride, assisted by her sister. The guest of honor very graciously thanked all the guests for their kindness.

A delicious lunch was served at the close of the evening by the hostess, assisted by Mrs Abercrombie, Mrs. D Walmsley and Mrs. A. McCoy.

PRESBYTERIAN LADIES MEET

KILLAM — Mrs. E. Fee Jnr. was hostess to the Presbyterian Ladies on Thursday of last week with Mrs Grace Homan assisting with lunch. Owing to the fact that many were busy with the harvest, attendance was smaller than usual with only 14 members being present. There was very little business to be attended to other than routine committee report. Mrs. Homan reported having gone to visit the lady newly arrived from Switzerland who was referred to us by church headquarters in Montreal. Mrs. Homan had not found the lady home but visited with her daughter who is a Scotch war bride. For their roll call the members brought pieces to help stock the church kitchen.

Exchange Of Farm Labour

A RECENT ISSUE OF THE Labour Gazette gives some interesting facts and figures concerning the movement of farm labour in Canada. While the exchange of workers between the East and the West at harvest time has come on for many years, it is unlikely that the public is familiar with the extent of the inter-change of workers between various parts of the country throughout the year. The Gazette reveals that in 1948 some 18,000 Eastern workers moved from place to place across the country, from Halifax to Vancouver and to the United States, to fill seasonal needs for help there. Last year 600 Canadians went to Maine to help with the potato harvest while others went to Montana to work in the sugar beet fields and 1,700 went to help with the production of maple sugar.

* * * * *

Workers Went To The West

The first organized movement of seasonal agricultural workers took place in 1926, when Western wheat farms were beginning to produce on a bumper crop yields. Large numbers of workers were needed each fall and to help to meet this situation the railways operated harvest excursions to transport men from the East who were willing to help with the harvests on the prairies. While this drew large numbers of workers, the need became apparent for a more organized arrangement for both the transportation of the labourers and in 1930 the Dominion government undertook to give direction to the annual movement of labour. For some time the securing of help for the Western harvest was the main part of this undertaking but as farming became more diversified the demand for seasonal workers in the districts in which their services were needed grew to be a more complex problem.

* * * * *

Important To Our Economy

This work was originally carried on by the Employment Service of Canada, but it is now under the Agricultural Division of National Selective Service. In addition, as a result of the Hyde Park Declaration of 1941 Canadian farm workers are permitted to go to the United States for seasonal work and embassies and consuls associated in this expanding service. Of the 18,000 farm labourers who circulated throughout the country in 1948, some 3,000 came to the Western provinces for the wheat harvest while 1,000 harvesters were moved to Ontario, and 1,300 tobacco pickers went to Ontario and Quebec. It is apparent that these seasonal farm workers have become an important part of our national economy and that their services are vital to farmers in all parts of the country. The group of willing and venturesome men who took part in the first harvest excursions have proven to be the vanguard of a permanent body of essential workers whose numbers appear to be increasing steadily.

Estimated Wheat Crop In Canada

OTTAWA — Canada's 1949 wheat crop is expected to be 381,500,000 bushels, 1,000,000 bushels less than last year and about 18,000,000 bushels less than the 10-year average for 1939-48.

The crop estimate was the first issued this year by the Bureau of Statistics which reported that the wheat is being harvested from a near-record seeded area estimated at 27,500,000 acres compared with 28,100,000 acres in 1948 and 25,500,000 acres for the 10-year average.

FAR EAST MARKET

Home meat canned in Swift Current, Sask., was shipped recently from Vancouver to Hong Kong, a market for this product having been developed in the Far East. It is expected that this initial shipment will be followed by others, and that further purchases will be made by buyers in the Belgian Congo.

Father Brings Errant Son To Prairies

VANCOUVER — A father assured Police Court he would give up his home and position of 17 years in Vancouver to take his errant son to a new life on a prairie farm.

The boy, 17 years of age, was given a Boxter sentence by Magistrate Matheson when he pleaded guilty to car theft.

Defence Counsel Thomas Harvey said the boy had come under "bad influences."

Canadian Graves In Hong Kong Well Kept

REGINA — Graves of Canadian war dead in Hong Kong are "beautifully maintained" by the war graves commissioner D. B. Rogers, editor of the Regina Leader-Post, said on his return recently from an air tour to the north and south Pacific.

The site of the cemetery the Sai-Wan Military cemetery is magnificent flown of pine trees have been planted down each side of the hillside cemetery and flowers are blooming everywhere." Mr. Rogers said.

Situated on a hill protected by still higher hills rising on all sides, more than 1,000 white crosses are laid out in even rows down a steep terraced slope which reaches out towards the sea near the entrance of the harbor on Hong Kong island, he added.

"The Canadians are buried halfway down the slope and the thing that strikes you hardest is that there are no names on row after row of these crosses just the eloquent designation 'unknown Canadian soldier' The Japs made sure that no means of identification would be left."

MARSUPIAL MAMMAL

The Tasmanian wombat is a marsupial mammal native only to Australia and Tasmania. It somewhat resembles the rodents, but has a rudimentary tail.

Farming Is Big Business In Canada

(By Canadian Press)

Farming is just about Canada's biggest business. More than $5,000,000,000 is invested in land, livestock and equipment and on average years Canadian farm products is worth more than $1,500,000,000.

In addition it's one of the Dominion's biggest export industries. This year Canada will get $700,000,000 in United States dollars from just one aspect of its farm economy—the sale of wheat to the United Kingdom.

Total farm income of course, isn't all grabs for the farmer. Farmers must spend a lot of that—$1,500,000,000 worth—for things like fertilizer, feed, gasoline and equipment.

In other words the farmer's cash are income for somebody, also.

The manufacturer of farm equipment for example provides jobs for thousands of Canadians, not only dealers and manufacturers, but also for workers in transport, metals and makers of other industries.

The western prairies have been the traditional big market for farm machinery but more and more the interior and the eastern have been replacing the horse as the prime power source on eastern farms.

Always attracting temporary land qualifications and special conditions, says the Federal Government of Agriculture in a survey of mechanization on eastern farms, it costs about $1,872 to outfit a 50-acre eastern farm, $3,845 for a 150-acre farm and $7,190 for a 250-acre farm.

That works out to $26.76 per acre for a farm of 250 acres and $37.44 for a farm of 50 acres.

The department says as, however, that a farmer can get too much equipment.

It points out that a man with 150 acres who bought the department suggests it would be in "a measure of weakness" a combine and a four row corn harvester, would need his transaction costs amount up to $48 an acre.

Young Alberta Violinist Has First Train Ride

This 13 year-old Alberta farm boy Alfred Milner, never was on a train in his life, till he made a 7,200-mile train trip to the Canadian National Exhibition recently. Alfred won a chance to play on Edmonton Station CFRN, Capt. A. S. Atkinson, of the C.N.E., heard the broadcast and was so "astounded" to learn that the player was a young boy. He invited Alfred to compete in the Old Time Fiddlers Contest and CFRN arranged the trip.

The first train ride in his young life was a long one for 12-year-old Alfred Milner. Also the bus travel-ling from his home at Tofield Alberta to Toronto. He was sent by the Edmonton radio station CFRN to participate in the Old Time Fiddler Contest at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Alfred commercial accepts before leaving "It's my first train ride and I think it will be quite a lot of fun. Of his fiddle playing which has carried him to the Alberta farm boy promised, "I might be a bit nervous, but I'll do my best."

Mother's since he was four and a half years old. Alfred lives with his father and six other children on a small Alberta farm. The long-haired, nine-year youngster looks after cattle his own garden and three-year-old horse. Horses and the violin are his main hobbies. It is the latter which will carry him to the Exhibition.

When he was six years old Alfred Milner heard a violinist perform at a concert in Tofield. After that he wanted a violin so badly his father got one though there was no money in the family to buy it. Alfred is completely self-taught. His father says he felt inspired for mother's musical ability, she often sang at concerts.

MOODY — CANTLON

Hardisty United Church was the scene of a recent wedding of interest when Amy Cantlon, daughter of Mr and Mrs. T Cantlon of Hardisty became the bride of Harold Moody, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Moody of Rumph. Rev Buttil performed the ceremony before an altar banked with summer flowers, and the Girl Choir sang 'Oh Perfect Love'.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of tree bon brocade embroidered with white over a full hooped taffeta slip trimmed with white lace. Her bodice was fitted, the neckline of nylon marquisette where a puke ruffle was caught up with three pearl clips. She wore matching elbow length gloves and her chapel veil was held in place by a tiara of lily of the valley. Her bouquet was of deep red roses, and a pearl necklace with earrings which matched was her only jewelry.

Mrs. Wes Clark, bride's sister, was Matron of Honor and Miss Joan Perrett was bridesmaid. Gowned in pale pink and deep rose sprigged nylon net with white and palmauve baby mums and was matching headwands John Moody acted as best man for his brother. Ushers were Cpl Jimmy Brandon and Mr. Brandon spent a few days in Calgary last week where Jimmy went to see pals in the Patrol Force Golf Tournament. HIS FARM WAS TARGET FOR PRACTICE BOMBS — Pinpoint bombs dropped accidentally from an R.C.A.F. training plane fell on the farm of Roy Culverhouse, near Orillia, Ont. One of the eight missiles landed 250 feet from Mary Ann, two shown here with mother and father. No one was hurt. — N.N.S. photo

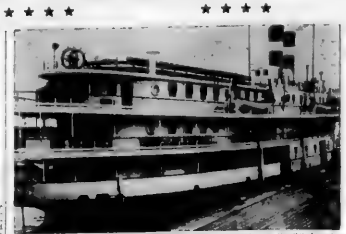
EMIL SCHRAM, president of the New York exchange, hushed President Truman that "business is picking up." He told the downward trend in business prices has been checked but added the president for adjustments to U.S. taxes that would stimulate private investments. — N.N.S. photo.



TWO DIPPLE OFF SHIP, ONE DROWNS—Sinking overturned from the S.S. Kingston, R. P. Daigle Toronto radio operator was drowned and Evan Haines, a newsstand operator, was pulled from the water, a mile off Rochester, N.Y., about 1.30 a.m. The woman was treated for shock. — N.N.S. photo.

AWAITING THEIR TURN — Darklings target the bottom of a bottle awaiting their turn to be handed, and a record made of each one as to age, sex, and species

MAKES FLAMING ARK—Donald Fletcher, 18, of Longstaff, Ont., was instantly killed when a truck struck him as he carried a can of gasoline to a stalled car. His clothing afire, the youth's body was hurled 50 feet through the air in a flashing arc to crash against the stalled auto where his chum sat waiting for him.

HOSPITALIZED AFTER SHOOTING — Hushed to hospital after shooting in her home in Toronto, Ont. which resulted in a charge of attempted murder being laid against her brother-in-law, Mrs. Fita Leahy is shown here with her daughter Linda Marilyn. Brother-in-law Ben is said to have demanded $500 from her, which she didn't have. — N.N.S. photo.

"I saw Don's body in flames flying through the air toward me. It hit the front of my car so hard I was jolted forward and banged my head." Kenneth Grimley, York township, said. Rear collapse from shock, Grimley was given sedatives. — N.N.S. photo.

FARM FRIENDS—These friends are named Fay and Bruce. Bruce is a collie. The happy manner in which Bruce is laughing at his little playmate is ample proof of the warmth of their attachment.

WINS NUMEROUS TROPHIES—Patricia Ewen has returned home to Toronto from the U.S. with a trunk full of trophies. Competing as a Highland dancer at Syracuse and Detroit, this blue-eyed blonde, aged 11, who once won a baby contest at the C.N.E., swept the board. She led her class in everything she entered. In Syracuse Patricia won five separate medals with miniature trophies to match. In Detroit, she copped a handsome bronze statuette. It's no heavy she can hardly hold it up. In two years of competition she has won 75 medals. Now she can't find space to her room for any more trophies. — N.N.S. photo.

SPECIAL FLIGHT FROM NANKING—U.S. ambassador to China J. Leighton Stuart arrives at Washington National Airport from Nanking. He flew from China in a special plane to report in person to President Truman and Secretary of State Dean Acheson on the turbulent situation in the Far East. — N.N.S. photo.

TIGHT SHOT, TAXI BOND OWNER WITH SHOELACES—His hands bound behind his back and lashed to a wire fence along a lonely country road, near Hamilton, Ont., William Jaggard, 36, (right), taxi driver, apprehensively watched two gunmen assemble a .22 automatic pump rifle before stealing his cab. Half an hour later the driver was freed and summoned the police. The provincial police scoured the district on the possession tab but found no trace. Joseph Woolley, 19, (left), driving a tractor in a nearby field saw Jaggard's predicament and went to his aid. — N.N.S. photo.

CANADA'S GIANT JET AIRLINER MAKES EMERGENCY CRASH—Crash landing of Canada's new giant jet airliner at Malton airport in Ontario added a dramatic touch to the second test of the big ship that is the nation's greatest contribution, to date, in the plane industry. Landing was necessary when the undercarriage jammed and the first work of Pilot Jim Orrell brought the chrome-and-silver airliner down safely with little damage. — N.N.S. photo.

LOGGERS FACE UNEMPLOYMENT—Loggers and sawmill workers around Port William, Ont., are threatened with unemployment. Lumber companies say they will lay off up to 1,000 men this fall, because, they say, timber concessions are granted to the pulp and paper companies and not enough timber lands are left for the logging companies. — N.N.S. photo.

"TIMES UP, COME ON BACK"—Mrs. Alice Ramsay, restaurant operator in Colorado, on a "midnight" strike in jail in connection with a slot machine case, is called back to her cell by the sheriff after being allowed to eat in her own cafe. — N.N.S. photo.

Chinese Women Starting New Life in Canada

VANCOUVER — For sat quartly and a little wonderingly on the first leg room of Vancouver International Airport recently were a group of recruited hostesses of dozens of relatives who had come to welcome her.

Mrs. Chan Sow a frail and elderly Chinese grandmother made few replies to the excited babble of tongues that greeted her, but the drydes of the aged face eyes glowed with happiness she had found her family at last.

Through the years she had watched her children spread across the Pacific from their native village in Kwangtung province until, when Communists overran her little town she was almost the last one left.

Her son, Vancouver interpreted Quon H. Wong, brought her out on the first commercial flight from Hong Kong along with 34 other refugees. She traveled in the first airplane she had ever seen.

"There wasn't proper medical care for her in China and the situation is not too good for old people." Quon said. The tiny 80-year-old woman is one of the oldest Chinese immigrants to arrive in Vancouver.

She is ready to start a new life to this country undisturbed by the sound and fury of war that has torn up her land a half a dozen times in her life.

Dressed in plain black silk, she held a stout walking cross as plus laygrapes a strange flash bulbs flared in her face.

A ballet leaving a rolls travels at twice the speed of sound.

Bountiful Harvest In Fraser Valley

NEW WESTMINSTER. It a harvest time in Fraser Valley.

From Hope in New Westminster, from the rolling foothills of the Coast Range to the beaches of the Pacific, fields rich with grains and vegetables are ripening to maturity, the Vancouver Province reports.

It will not be a record harvest, but farmers are satisfied it will be close to it.

But throughout the rich river basin many of the finest crops will be harvested behind newly-strengthened dykes.

Fertilized with layers of silt washed down with the 1948 flood waters, thousands of acres of this rich bottom land will yield an unexpectedly bountiful harvest.

On Mcewen Island alone more than 800 acres of peas have been threshed, averaging more than 1½ tons to the acre. Equally heavy crops of corn and beans are predicted.

Rapid comeback of flood-torn areas is best reflected in a recent report by Fraser Valley Milk Producers' Association that dairy returns for 1949 will top $30,000,000, an all-time high.

Answer To Last Week's Puzzle

Bentley Boys Put Home Town Of Delisle On Map With Baseball

(By Cam McKenzie in Hockey News)

SASKATOON, Sask — Oldtimers connot recall ever having seen better baseball in Saskatchewan than they have watched this summer. A pair of National Hockey League stars, Doug and Max Bentley of Delisle who toil in the winter months with Chicago Black Hawks and Toronto Maple Leafs respectively, have played prominent roles in bringing about this happy situation.

Out at their home town of Delisle, (population about 300), the Bentley brothers organized a club that year that many observers feel could step along in B-class baseball with the greatest of ease. Doug and Max, two fellers who both could never sight themselves as ball players, formed the club just to have some sports actively during the summer months.

They made it strictly a Bentley affair with brother Roy, who also had a fling with Chicago Black Hawks in the NHL, and now plays with Saskatoon Quakers of the WCSHLL, brother Roy a well known amateur hockey coach and former player and nephew Ben Bentley, goalie last year with the Allan Cup finalists, Regina Caps and son of Roy.

Still keeping a hockey tinge to the Delisle baseball club they added Dickie Butler, a Delisle boy who formerly belonged to Chicago Black Hawks and was sold last spring from the Kansas City Pla-Mors to Tulsa Oilers of the U.S.H.L.

Then they ran out of hockey-playing baseballers and concentrated on baseball stars only. They brought in two Negroes from the States second baseman Eddie Brown and pitcher Benny Griggs. Brown, as a matter of fact, joined the Delisle ball club a year ago from a colored touring team and when he returned to the States the Bentleys thus season he brought back with him pitcher Griggs.

In addition they packed up a few well-to-do farmers who like to play baseball during the slack summer season and really went to town.

Outside of regular league play the Delisle boys have played in many two tournaments and have had more than their share of victories. Their biggest win of the season came in one of the smartest tournaments when they pocketed the first money of $2,000 at Lloydminster. Since then Delisle has been prominent in many tourneys and only the other day it was estimated that the club had won something like $8,000 this summer in prize money.

In league or tournament play the Bentleys at Delisle won't do much better than break even on their summer baseball activities. They don't go in for baseball to make money. They want to play the game to keep in good physical condition during the summer months. Doug and Max both think playing baseball is good for the hockey legs. Doug the other day claimed he never felt better in all his life. Will it is perfect condition, he said, and I feel as though I could start right in playing hockey now.

Max has been no loser with his baseball this summer that he hardly had time to see the race horses he owned as gifts from Texas sportsman last winter. He lost one of them Plaks in a claiming race at the Saskatoon Exhibition, but still has the young one Royal Hemp. Via the claiming route Max picked up $700 for Plaks which possibly may have been a good profit for the horse he owned the mare.

Weekly Newspaper Convention Delegates

The Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association, Saskatchewan division, held a successful convention at Saskatoon recently, with a large number of delegates attending, many of them were missing at the time the picture was taken. President T. C. Nettver, of the Wadena News presided with the capable assistance of Vice-President Gerald Humphrey of the Rosthern Times, and Secretary-Manager Walter Ashfield of the Grenfell Sun. At the last session Mr. Humphrey was named president, George Lancaster of the Medicine Hat Journal the new vice-president, with Walter Ashfield continuing as secretary-manager. Members of the executive are John Pinchbury, Rosetown Eagle; Sterling King, Estevan Mercury, and Sid Mervyn, Shaunavon Standard.

HEALTH

Watch That Weight!

A man 20 pounds overweight is twice as likely to die in the next few years as one of normal weight. The British Medical Journal points out that obesity predisposes to arthritis, diabetes, high blood pressure, arterial degeneration, pulmonary emphysema, and cirrhosis of the liver. Its control is thus an important part of these disorders.

Obesity—the state of being overweight—is a consequence of the body's energy intake exceeding its energy output—that is, calorie consumption exceeds calorie expenditure. Reduction of calorie intake will reduce weight. There is no short cut, and other measures, use of drugs may produce dire results.

The richest tungsten field in the North American continent is located in North Carolina.

A FAILURE

By JANE DALE

He was called a failure by those who could see only the outward circumstances of his life. He had been an Idiots touch.

Yet children remembering his quiet kindliness and his true counsel; adults recalling their memories as they would treasure gold and silver coins.

Young people, tossed about by conflicting trends, remembering his simple words of understanding and direct interest; then as apples of gold in baskets of silver.

Older friends and neighbors, remembering the reliance of his judgment, steadiness of his faith in adversity and his temperance in prosperity treasure it as rare jewels in a week-day world.

He was called a failure; no piled up treasures of gold were at his command, no wide flung acres or huge structures boasted his ownership, but he had been rich. He had been able to call his soul his own.

REV. AND MRS. RAWSON HOLD FAREWELL SERVICE

LOUGHEED — Rev. C.E. and Mrs Rawson held their farewell service as Pastors of the Church of the Nazarene at Lougheed on Sept. 4th. They conclude their term of duty here to accept the appointment to the church at Rose Bush. A farewell party was held at the home of Mr and Mrs. Wm. Thorne at Sedgewick on Thursday, when a house full of the folks gathered to wish their retiring pastor God speed. A very handsome gift was presented to us as a token of appreciation for their services and ministry.

The Reverend Stanley Thorne, received word from Dr. Edward Lawhorn his week, that Rev. A. Grainger has been appointed Pastor and will be here for the first service on Sunday, September 18th.

Lougheed Facts

Mrs. Rae, Sr. left last Monday for Edmonton for a short visit.

Dave Thomas Jr. motored to Minnesota for Labor Day week end. Mrs. Thomas and children who had been visiting her parents there, returned to Lougheed with him.

This week we say good-bye and good luck to Rev. and Mrs. C.E Rawson, who leave to take charge of the Nazarene Church at Moose, Sask. Though newcomers to Lougheed just a year ago, they have made many sincere and lasting friends all of whom will regret their departure. Rev. Rawson was located in this district for a short time some twenty odd years ago. We hope they will not take so long to decide on their next visit to us.

Miss Dorothy Lazarod of Edmonton is spending her vacation with her parents the K T. Langrude.

A. P. Podin returned Tuesday of last week after a couple of months spent as assistant in various Pharmacies i the north country, and will resume his studies at Varsity.

We are glad to see Jos Earle back after some time spent in an Edmonton hospital, and we are sorry to hear that Mrs. Zipperer is a patient in Edmonton where she was transferred from Killam. We wish her a complete and speedy recovery

Mrs. Chas McClure and son from Grand Prairie are visiting at the Dave Walmsley home.

The Lougheed Legion held their regular meeting in the hall on Labor fair bunch turned up and the regular business was transacted as well as a report on the financial success of the dance and drive. The hut, not being completed inside, the seating arrangements was a case of improvising. Even the few 'brought i' chairs Some sat on the work bench, stepladders, and the overflow but the fact that this inconvenience like that never stops a good member, in fact it makes him more determined to see the job completed, and fast. Considering the small membership, the hut is a wonderful tribute to the boys who did it before and can do it again' if necessary. The hut is not merely a meeting place for present members but is essential to every member of the Allies who answered the call. Congratulations and good luck boys and may you have the mostness on Labor Day. With a little help you can.

Mrs. Marie Alson of Vancouver, B. C. is paying a short visit to her brother Carl Wingar.

Mr and Mrs Chas. Beckmire are holidaying for a week with relatives in the Rocky Mountain Alberta District.

Rasmus Bergseth of Edmonton is visiting with his children in the district, while looking over his farming interests. City life seems to agree with Rasmus. He looks younger each time he returns.

Mr and Mrs A. J. Murray of Minor Ridge, Man., who have been in charge of the late S. F. Cutten farm, have left for Haynimbster where Mr Murray will be in charge of the Golden Valley school. They will return at a later date to continue with their farming here.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kirkman left last week ofr Montreal. They will also visit son Max in Edson before returning. T. Cunningham is in complete charge of operations during the Kirkman's absence.

Dave Harding of Edmonton, who is employed with an Oil Exploration crew, spent Sunday of last week with his parents the Chas. Hardings.

W. T. Archbold and wife of Devon are spending their vacation visiting friends and relatives here and in Alliance district. Tod says the boom has subsided and settled down to steady p.oduction. He is very enthusiastic about the field and the model towns that have sprung up; and I think anyone who has seen the towns will agree, he has a right to be.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Painter (Phyl Barthel) are visiting at the Barthe Mr Isaac. Mrs Painter resides in Calgary while her husband is in the Camp at Wainwright.

Mrs. C. Lawrence has been appointed to succeed Mrs. E. Hankie as manager of the local Phone Office. Congrats Christie and also congrat. to Alberta Gas Phones on securing such a capable successor.

Dr. and Mrs. A.M. Revel and son Clifford of Edmonton were visitors at the J E Weir farm recently.

Dave Rand and wife of Edson and Bob Rand and family of Evansburg paid a short visit recently to the Harry Pedersen farm.

A bunch of young not met at the Bob Lazarus home for a farewell party for Miss Connie Matheson, at which time Connie was presented with a radar chest and a purse of money as well as the good wishes of all her friends for her success and happiness in Camrose.

Lougheed's opening show, "My Wild Irish Rose' played to a capacity house and sans and all were loud in their praise. This goes to show that people will pay their money when they get it give them what they want. Lets have more of the good ones.

Well, Dave Johnstone did drop in on us, but not from the air this time. He spent a three day vacation in the old town last week, during which time he was guest of honor at a party at the H. Page home before returning to his position at Edmonton.

Tom Kenny is sporting a new lo on the Park run, at least it looks new compared to the one he started out with, which looked like a fugitive from the bankhead. Even the present mcmo-colored one could be improved with a little bright paint.

The three Cowgurs have been busy laying a concrete walk from the land's store to the Hotel, thus compiling both sides of main street which is a great improvement to the town. This is a step in the right direction and it is hoped they will manage a general survey of all be- for needed repairs, as walking on some of them have about the same effect as a sea voyage. After all there are other parts of the town than main street and some of them have taxpayers too.

The Lutheran Ladies Aid held their regular meeting at the Lutheran home on September 2nd.

Frank Sea and wife and her mother left Thursday to attend the wedding of a relative in Edmonton on 12thst Weds left in all to the wedding of their son Chas. on the 10th We hope to have a full account of the wedding for you next issue.

We had a better last week from Beth Caudwell at Westview B.C., writing the Community Press Ltd. She reports they are all and that she is leaving for a years vacation in England at the end of September. We are sorry she altered her original plan to travel via Longon and put on a visit, but she says she can leave Seattle 27th and b New York 28th, three days via train Speed, speed. What's the hurry Beth? Remember the song, 'there's always be an England". Well, Bon Voyage and remember your correspondent will expect an account of your trip and your impressions England to pass on to your f lo Remember if anybody tells you anything about me over there, it's a lie.

That annual traveller, Old Man Winter, dipped off at Lougheed last Saturday to display his fall and winter samples. He says that white will be the prevailing color and will be worn longer. I'll say it will, if this early start means anything.

Mrs. L. W Reed and daughter left last Saturday for a short visit with relatives at Dunsla.

Thursday last, a number of friends gathered at the home of the newlyweds (Dick and Agnes) to an old fashioned charivari party. After the usual fracas and welcoming, all partook of refreshments served by the newlyweds. After the usu l program song and banter, the guests departed for their respective homes and we and all agreed they had a real time.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Whitehead and son of Caldonia spent last week end with her parents, E Baldwin.

Mrs. Jas. Jack was a patient in Killam hospital for a few days last week. Miss Kay Jack of the Treasury Branch at Camrose spent last week end with her parents.

Bellshill

The regular monthly meeting of the Gretna Goodwill Club was held at the home of Mrs. A. Wilson, on Sept. 8th with ten members and four guests present. Owing to the fact that the Gretna school house has been moved to Meran, it was decided after much discussion to hold the annual fall sale of work, raffle and whist drive at the Bellshill school on November 4th, the people of that district having agreed on same and hold the Club welcome. Proceeds of this sale are to be used for a Christmas treat for the community and a donation to be made to the Meran School Christmas Fund. Next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs H. Simpson October 12th, with Mesdames Brandmoyer and Emberton as the co-hostesses.

To the H. Simpsons and Company go the honors for being the first ones to have grain all cut and stooked. Hay all up in big stacks too. The Simpsons also have grain in stook, but the majority of the farmers are waiting for the combine method

The Markvarts, Brothands, Brandmoyers, Armstrongs and O'Reillys are also busy putting up hay and green feed these days.

Noticed Tom Marlow hauling coal recently. Preparing for winter?

Things are really looking up at the Wm. Green's, for he discards the old 'Bluebird' for a V-8 Coupe, and now he has a housekeeper in the person of Mrs. Grogor, who came to this country from England early last spring and has been living in the home along with her daughter and 2 grand children at Richard Markvarts until recently, when she took up her new position Welcome

Another of our local bachelors seems to have grown tired of his overcooking too. We understand Austin Kendrick has gotten himself a cook from the Cold Lake country

The O A. Klingers were visiting in the Killam district last Sunday

The following is a list of former residents who were back renewing acquaintances in the community during the holiday season Mr and Mrs. Hig Hendrickson of Kalispel, Mont Mr and Mrs Nelson Russells and the family of Calgary. Mr and Mrs Harold Craig and boys of Hillsedge Wainwright; Mr Frank Craig of Burnt Ontario; Mr and Mrs Fred Marlen Tacoma Wash; Mr and Mrs J. N Calahaw and family of Calgary. ## The "Pony" that replaces a Team

WITH the introduction of the "Pony" tractor, Massey-Harris extended the advantages of power farming to practically everyone who makes his living from the soil. There are thousands of farmers and market gardeners whose acreage does not justify the investment in large-size tractor equipment. Such men were barred from the use of power machinery until the "Pony" came into the picture. Today, it is helping them to increase their farm output, reduce production costs, and eliminate old-fashioned drudgery.

The "Pony" is an outstanding example of the farm-minded engineering that lies behind every Massey-Harris machine. In designing the "Pony", Massey-Harris engineers were not content merely to build a small-size low-cost tractor. They studied the kinds of work that a small tractor would have to do, in practical farm use, to give satisfaction to the owner ... and they calculated the requirements of power, traction, weight, and endurance that such work would call for. As a result, the Massey-Harris "Pony" out-weighs, out-pulls, and out-works every other tractor in its class. It will do more work than a team, and much more work than a little walk-behind tractor.

Going further, Massey-Harris engineers designed an assortment of quick-mounted tools for the "Pony" ... exactly the right size to yield the maximum amount of finished work per hour of time and per gallon of gasoline. With these tools, the "Pony" not only does more work than a team, but does it better, faster and cheaper.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

A GIRL MUST LIVE!

:: ... The Yarning Pen Adventures of ... All Of Us.

By C. V. TENCH

BERESFORD had barely seated himself in the taxi when he spied the bag behind the seat cushion. Ivory with black trimmings. Expensive looking. Glancing guiltily at the back of the driver's head, he opened the purse. Definitely its air favored exotic perfume. A chiffon handkerchief with the initial T. Compact and lipstick suggesting a woman of fair hair and coloring. A five-dollar bill and some silver. Cards engraved with the name and address of a Mrs. Gleneon Cartwright. A small memorandum pad on which was written a delicate hand Telephone Ted, ditto Beatrice; call at jewelers; cocktails. The Barn. Arthur; dinner at 7 with ?

He decided to return the bag in person. Leaning forward, he gave the driver the address.

The apartment looked expensive. In response to his name, a trim maid answered, took his name. Presently Mrs. Cartwright appeared. She was. Beresford decided breathtakingly lovely. She wore a clinging black dinner gown which emphasized the perfection of her figure.

Beresford straightened his tie. "I found this bag in a taxi and—"

"And it intrigued you?" Mrs. Cartwright laughed merrily. "And you could not resist seeing what its owner looked like?"

Beresford laughed. "I don't know exactly why but—"

"Of course you do," Mrs. Cartwright finished. "It is the yearning for adventure in all of us." Then, as Beresford got to his feet to leave, she made a little gesture. "Would you not be disappointed if this adventure were to end now? You see, you are a man and I know a little about men." She smiled provokingly. "You could leave without a reward?"

Beresford glanced at his watch. "Just five. For reward I should like nothing better than that you dine with me. But I was forgetting Mr Cartwright . . ."

Her eyes saddened. "I am a widow," she said. "But I will dine with you—in my home. I have friends here now. I had invited three so that we could have bridge, but at the last moment one sent regrets. If you would care—"

Delighted, Beresford followed Mrs Cartwright into a cozy reception room where he was introduced to a Mr. and Mrs. Forsyth. Both were in their late thirties, well-groomed and interesting. As they sipped cocktails, Mrs. Cartwright asked the Forsythe: "Wasn't it lucky Jack turning up unexpectedly? Now we can have our bridge after all."

They took their places around a table charming with silver, crystal and flowers. The food was of the best and the talk animated. Mrs Cartwright became increasingly vivacious and looked even lovelier. Beresford had difficulty in keeping his eyes away.

Presently they adjourned to another room, where they drew for partners and began to play. When the game broke up, Beresford had several hundred dollars. But, well-to-do, he considered the evening worth it. He had learned that Mrs. Cartwright's first name was Yvonne and had contracted a promise to dine with him in the following evening.

But Mrs. Cartwright telephoned him in the morning, putting off their engagement indefinitely. Her soft voice was very alluring and vibrant with regret as she explained why.

Disappointing, Beresford decided, but he could wait.

The same afternoon he had occasion to take another taxi. Coincidence is strange and its ramifications unpredictable. Aware of this, Beresford's feelings were mixed as he again espied a bag behind the seat cushion. Ivory with black trimmings. Chiffon handkerchief with the initial T. Compact and a lipstick. A five-dollar bill and some silver. Cards engraved with the name and address of a Mrs. Gleneon Cartwright. And a memo pad on which was written: Telephone Ted, ditto Beatrice; call at jewelers; cocktails. The Barn. Arthur, dinner at 7 with ?

Recalling his bridge losses, Beresford now could understand the why of "Dinner at 7 with ?" His lips twitching, he tucked the bag behind the cushion.

After all, a girl must live!

Reports Tourist Traffic Increase At Churchill

CHURCHILL, Man.—Residents of this northern Manitoba port are describing this summer as the one in which the tourists outnumbering the black flies.

That, to a Churchillian, is an achievement any way you look at it. The black flies have been chased into partial hiding by colder than average temperatures. Tourists, on the other hand, have increased in numbers until they almost double the town's population when their special trains are in.

So far this year two tourist trains have reached this town 600 miles north of Winnipeg, each with approximately 300 passengers aboard. More trains are scheduled, apart from the normal weekly runs. The town's population, excluding personnel at the military base seven miles away, is about 600. Publicity devoted to northern defence and to life in general within the fringe of the Arctic circle is said to have awakened in both Canadians and Americans a desire to see the country for themselves.

Churchill now is one of the most popular northern tourist destinations, partly because of its rail accessibility, but it is freely predicted that within the next few years Canada's entire northern front will become the objective of travellers.

Insofar as this town is concerned, tourists now arriving are seeing it at one of its busiest seasons.

Houses are mushrooming, there is a certain amount of industrial development and the shopping season is in full swing.

RECIPES

FRESH PEACH PIE

Plain pastry
1 tablespoon marmalade
4 cups peaches, sliced
3 tablespoons dry breadcrumbs, or 2½ tablespoons minute tapioca
½ cup white sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon cream

Line a 9-inch pan with plain pastry, bake in a hot oven for 5 minutes. Remove from oven; spread the bottom of the partially-cooked shell with marmalade. Mix together the sliced peaches, bread crumbs, sugar, salt, and lemon juice; fill the shell. Dot with butter; cover with a top crust; fasten the edges. Bake in a hot oven 25 minutes or until the peaches are tender. Brush lightly with one tablespoon of cream just before the pie is taken from the oven.

SAUSAGE — EGG SCRAMBLE

12 small sausages
1 package (1 oz.) plain cream cheese
1 tablespoon butter
1 cup rich milk
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon paprika
½ teaspoon thyme
6 eggs, lightly beaten
6 rounds buttered toast
1 tablespoon parsley, finely chopped

Prick the sausages; cook, covered, in a small amount of boiling water, uncover and brown in the hot pan. Place on a hot platter. In the meantime, melt the cheese in the top of a double boiler, add the butter, milk, seasonings and mace. When the mixture is hot, add the beaten eggs. Stir and cook until the scramble is thick. Pour on the rounds of toast, surround with the sausages and garnish with the parsley. 2844

WEDDINGS

CARRUTHERS — McCLURE
Eastwood United Church was the scene of a pretty wedding on Sept 10th at 7:00 p.m., when Rev. Stanley officiated at a ceremony uniting Helen May McClure and Lloyd Frederick Carruthers in marriage. The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L.S. McClure of Edmonton and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Carruthers of R. R. 4, Edmonton. Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a gown of white brocaded organdy, fashioned with high neckline and bodice in net. Her chapel veil was caught in an embroidered coronet and she carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses and gladiolas. Her only attendant was a double string of pearls with matching earrings, a gift of the groom. Miss Marguerite McClure, as her sister's bridesmaid, was charming in pale blue brocaded organdy and carried a bouquet of mixed fall. She carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations. Mr. Earl Carruthers, brother of the groom, was best man, and ushering guests to her blessed pews were Mr Percy Carruthers and Mr. Roy McClure. Following the wedding, a reception was held at the home of the bride. There, Mrs. McClure received in a two piece frock in slate grey crepe, complimented by pale pink and grey corsage of pink roses. Mother of the groom, Mrs. Carruthers, wore an effectuous dress in brown crepe styled with satin bodice. Her corsage was of yellow roses. Later in the evening a wedding dinner was held in Bon Accord, after which the couple left for a honeymoon trip to Banff. For travelling the bride wore a black rayon slub crepe suit with accessories in black and white. On their return they will reside at Killam.

SMITH — HAUSER
A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Peter's Church south of Stoney on Wednesday, Sept. 14th at 9 a.m., when Joyce Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Hauser of Stoney became the bride of Mr. Arthur Francis Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Smith of Sedgewick. Rev. Fr. Schmetzer performed the ceremony. For her wedding the bride chose a white satin gown with long fully-pleat sleeves, with insert yolk of nylon net trimmed with colonial lace, and finished with self covered buttons. The full skirt fell in soft folds extending to full train trimmed with colonial lace and ended with tiny tuck of the valley. Her fingertip veil of nylon net and trimmed with a deep band of colonial lace was caught to her head with a pearl clasp. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and fern and a white prayer book and pearl rosary gift of the groom. Her only jewelry was a necklet of pearls. Miss Helen Kroetch was the bridesmaid, wearing a pale blue taffeta gown trimmed with pink roses. She wore a white chapel veil and gloves, and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations. Little Donna Moser, niece of the bride, was flower girl, wearing blue nylon net over taffeta and a blue net head of flowers in her hair. Best man was Mr. Ken Hauser, brother of the bride, and ushering guests to their pews were Mr. Harold Hauser and Mr. Martin Moser. Mrs. Joe Hauser

DISTRICT AGRICULTURIST ADDRESSES TEACHERS

(By J. W. Chalmers)
Over thirty teachers recently attended the first meeting of the term to be held by the Killam Inspectorate Education Club. In spite of very unpleasant weather, Club members journeyed to Sedgewick from Holden, Alliance, Daysland, Strome and Lougheed. All 13 members of the Sedgewick staff were present, and the Sunlight and Round Hood Creek schools were also represented.

Principal speaker was Mr. Larry Williams, B. Sc., District Agriculturist at Sedgewick, who addressed the members on provincial schools of agriculture. In addition to dealing with the classroom and laboratory work in agriculture and home economics, Mr. Williams also spoke of the athletic, social and cultural activities of the students. Benefits to students, term of terms, entrance requirements and assignment pay were other topics touched upon, and numerous excellent slides provided illustrative material.

Business of the meeting included election of officers. Dr. Chalmers and K. W. Sparks were again elected as Pres. and Sec. Treas. respectively. Approval was given to program arrangements for future meetings. Each meeting will be held in conjunction with the convention of Camrose. The Club decided to continue for the third year its testing program in the two examination years of grades 10 and 11, and plans were made to test achievement in typing in grades 9 and 10 during Jan. and May. The Blue Cross plan was discussed, and Sec. instructed to get more information for the Camrose convention. A short film on pottery terminated the meeting, which was followed with lunch provided by the teachers of the Sedgewick schools.

KILLAM I. O. D. E.

Mrs. J. Shannon was hostess to the Princess Royal Chapter for the September meeting. The Prayer Day for the blind. A very interesting paper was read by Mrs. P which was prepared by Mrs. Fee. This address will appear in the next issue of this paper. Lunch was served by Mesdames Lowell and Ross assisted. The fall shirt foil in soft folds extending to full train trimmed with colonial lace and ended with a deep band of colonial lace. Her fingertip veil of nylon net and trimmed with a deep band of colonial lace was caught to her head with a pearl clasp. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and fern and a white prayer book and pearl rosary gift of the groom. Her only jewelry was a necklet of pearls. Miss Helen Kroetch was the bridesmaid, wearing a pale blue taffeta gown trimmed with pink roses. She wore a white chapel veil and gloves, and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations. SEDGEWICK BOARD OF TRADE SECURES VETERINARIAN

After several months of negotiating your Board w. Trade in designating has secured the services of a practicing Veterinary Surgeon in the person of Dr. Mac Urban, who comes very well recommended. Interested in Dr. Urban a most hospitable welcome and will allow him to get well himself before.

This is a note to introduce myself as a new member of your community, establishing my practice as a Veterinary Surgeon, and making my permanent home in Sedgewick.

I have been raised, and became a graduate of Veterinary Science in Europe, and have lived in Canada for a good part of 20 years. At the time in Ontario, I contacted the Veterinary Medical Assn. of Alberta, and after my credentials had been checked, I was allowed to practice in any part of Alberta. I am the present president of the Association in Alberta has been very valuable in getting acquainted with methods suitable for Alberta and I hesitate to go on my English. I keep my experience over the years in Canada (Ontario and Alberta) and Europe will help to assure you of the best possible service. — Dr. Mac Urban

FOOL'S CHOICE

:: And Proved He Was No Sleeping Idiot.

By RAE RESNICK

Oh Molly was right. I'll be sure that you shared every day and I could hardly wait for supper to be over so I could get your hair regularly as you would look like what people call an old maid. I'd be so comfortable like having a nice lazy man around the place again who needed taking care of.

"Can't help what people say about me. It's a nice thing though, I'm be-lieved."

Two men lived to rob the safe. And answered casually.

"Mr Simms' you bulged. "You gratefully. Molly picked up her shop-ping bag. I've got to go now, I'll be back I suppose on night."

Jed stood up slowly and walked to the door with her. "It's nice of you to come and keep me company like this Molly.

Molly's round face glowed. "You know I like to do it. I'm glad you don't mind me bothering you."

"Don't you ever believe you bother me Molly. If you didn't come, I'd be the lonesomest man in the world." He took a quivering breath. "The only bad thing about your visits is that they put dreams inside of me when I aren't going to come true. I want to marry you and live on your farm, but you don't want to marry the village idiot. And that's what I'm going to be till the day I die because never a person gets a reputation like that, he never gets rid of it."

Molly's plain gal but in her chest I know you're no idiot. And if I took care of you, you wouldn't look like one either. But that strange thing of yours. People say it's an idiot's limp." She turned quickly and left.

Jed went back to the swivel chair and let memories drearer pervade his mind dreams of comfort a woman's affection.

The gray night Molly came bring-ing pie and tea.

They were startled by two men climbing through the window. The men's faces were almost hidden by hats pulled down and coat collars pulled up. One of the men held a gun the other went to the safe.

"Hey that is the funniest safe I ever saw. There's a huge key that goes in this one."

"You wouldn't have the key?" the gunman demanded.

"No no."

The safe-cracker tried to force the door. In the next moment the room was filled with sound as the alarm went off.

The crooks made a dash for the window and disappeared.

Molly's face was white. "I never knew your job was so dangerous" "It isn't usually."

"Jed, I'm taking you out of this I won't have you in danger."

RECIPES

POTATO AND ONION CASSEROLE

2 or 3 potatoes, grated on coarse grater

2 medium sized onions grated

½ cup bread crumbs, finely grated

Grated cheese for topping

Place vegetables and bread crumbs in alternate layers in well-greased casserole. Season well. Top with more bread crumbs and sprinkle with grated cheese. Bake 35 to 40 minutes in 375 deg. F. oven.

GINGERBREAD BANANA SHORTCAKE

1½ cups flour

1 teaspoon baking powder

1 teaspoon ginger

½ teaspoon cinnamon

½ teaspoon salt

½ teaspoon baking soda

½ cup shortening

½ cup sugar

1 egg

½ cup molasses

½ cup boiling water

Bananas

Whipped cream optionally

Sift and measure flour and sift with baking powder, ginger, cinnamon, salt and soda. Cream shortening and sugar. Add beaten egg and molasses. Add dry ingredients alternately with boiling water. ## Field Day A Success

The president of the Alberta Branch of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association, Victor Watson, of Alder Alta., was host at a Field Day, when over 600 people from many parts of the province, and guests from other provinces met to inspect his experimental grain plots, look over the crop prospects on the seed farm and visit the Willow Springs Ranch, famous for its Herefords. (Above) they look over the registered seed plots on Victor Watson's farm at Crossfield, Alta. (Below) seed growers inhale lunch and to admire Mr. Watson's new Hereford bull, Advance A. B. Domino 39, purchased last spring in Denver, Colorado, U.S.A.

SEED CROP FAILURE

VICTORIA. — Harold C McWilliams, forester in charge of reforestation said here that the Douglas fir seed crop was a complete failure. Early indications pointed to an excellent seed harvest, the first since 1945. But while there are plenty of cones in the trees, the seed is not fertile and will not germinate.

SEEDLING OF TREED

VICTORIA—Reversal of the previous trend—in which more families entered British Columbia each month than left—has mystified family allowance officers here. For the second or third time this year the office has reported a reversal of the previous trend during August. Officials said that 605 families left the province and only 304 arrived.

Crude Oil From Tar Sands Aim Of Research

BITUMOUNT, Alta.—Crude oil from northern Alberta sands may compete in world oil markets, provincial government officials said here.

The officials said provincial government experiments would prove this by next year. The oil sands, described as the world's largest petroleum oil reserve, has been officially estimated at 250 000 000 000 barrels.

Distillate, diesel, light fuel and heavy boiler oil are being produced on a limited plant scale, but experts say the oil must be made through a hot water process.

About 420 tons of sand was being mined daily and the crude oil recovery was about 12 per cent, or 25 barrels.

Superintendent Elmer Adkins of the field said it might be known by 1950 if the cost of Bitumount crude can compete on the market with other crude oils.

He said required pipelines were being considered. Transportation of the heavy crude has always been a problem, but the crude could be refined to a product suitable for pumping, then it could be piped to the producing centre where final refining would be carried out," Adkins said.

Hon. J. L. Robinson, mines minister, said the purpose of government experiments was to prove there was an oil reserve which could be exploited commercially. The problem has stumped researchers for many years, he stated.

The invention of felt is sometimes ascribed to Oriental shepherds.

Record Beet Crop Expected In Manitoba

WINNIPEG A record harvest of Manitoba's sugar beet crop was anticipated this year by officials of the Manitoba Sugar Co., Ltd.

Officials said a crop of 130,000 tons is in prospect, and the said they have sold the last of last season's beet production in the next few years.

Last year, Manitoba farmers harvested more than 90,000 tons of beets with an average yield of eight tons per acre.

Since inauguration eight years ago, the sugar beet industry has brought to farmers a gross income of nearly $1 000 000 annually.

ONE REAL PROBLEM

Prior to September have become the high priced months for eggs. How to produce summer eggs of high quality and in quantity is regarded as the problem of the hour in Canada.

Thro' The Window At Lougheed

Well, Monday morning again, and what a hectic week end. After escaping the frost Saturday night mother kept her eye on the thermometer Sunday night and every time the thermometer dropped a degree she took another blanket off the bed to cover her window boxes. Almost 3 a.m. I got on cold in bed I get wet and finished the night in the window box. Oh well, you can get a husband practically any time but you have to wait a year for flowers.

Jack Western must have been out in Edmonton but there's no surprise. Jack, the same fields and work we'll be here when you get back, so you may as well face it.

The double header ball game billed for the 11th had to be called off on account of cold snap. Fur gloves were in evidence than baseball gloves. Cheer up boys, the hiking and carting season isn't far away.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Bat motored to Edmonton Thursday of last week to attend the wedding of Mrs. Bat's nephew, Gene Macdonald of Wainwright. They were accompanied by Mrs. A. MacDonald of Hardisty. Mrs. Donald Bat and sons remained with them for a short visit here.

As a newer trap the front of Raw land's store said, "Drop in some day a night for a little game, the lid is off." Ah! An accident could cost Lough ton many the use of an eye or two.

I see a snappy trailer parked behind Ken Cuts as though he was starting a trailer camp or possibly a portable hot dog stand. It would be nice though to have a trailer in just to leave your order for dogs and collect at 6 p.m. and have him whoop with the heat of the burners R's and idea anyway.

Ray McCracken was an Edmonton visitor one day last week, in the General Motors study course at the Mc Donald Hotel. Great little place to study that.

Albert Sanderson has rented the T. Drake farm. Mr Drake will miss his home over the years but when cold weather sets in we hope to see him enjoying life in a well earned rest among the bright lights of John on their visits in the spring John, on their visits in the spring.

The rain Friday was just enough to stop farm work just at a time when every hour is needed. Here's hoping it holds off another 2 weeks it's still raining Saturday night!

Mrs Clayton Lawrence left for Edmonton city last Friday on receipt of word that her daughter Marjorie was ill. We hope it is nothing serious and wish her speedy recovery.

Correction. Last week some one through an error had the Methodist visiting the D Walmers when it should have been the McClures. Mrs Healy I'm to blame as I am sometimes thinking of the McClures

Miss Louise Wood of Regina after spending the summer at Hosmer, B C., paid a short visit to her sister Mrs Henry Storbakken before returning to her home.

Farming is getting more at earlier each day. Is there no limit? I see Mr. Drake Proctor Sr.'s had also every convenience possible but now I find they collect the eggs with a jeep. Those sure marshes are I suppose next spring the baby chick's instead of saying cheep cheep will say out of the shell chirping jeep jeep.

Mr and Mrs. J. J Williams former Killamites but now of Victoria B C are here on a visit to their daughter Mrs. H. Dixon and also friends in the Killam district.

Before we go any it is stating that the files on the Comet have built up a resistance to D D T. That's not as surprising as anything they could do withstand the weather out there should be able to resist anything.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Redman from Vermilion B C visited her mother, Mrs Rorgenson and took their son who had spent the summer vacationing here, back home with them.

Miss Connie Matheson, former assistant P.M. here has accepted a position with Brady's store Cam ose.

Since the new pavement has been completed, Harry's main question is whether to lower the building of put in an escalator.

Why all the kick about a $5 radio license? Think of all the guys that are going to pay $10 to $15 now that the radio inspector has been arrested. And they will smile as there's they Blue Bonnet. Mr. Mc. I got $5 worth every time I shot off a program.

Nurse Vivian Harding, late of Saskatoon nursing staff in visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harding, before leaving for Edmonton to take a years course in public health nursing. From the quality of our nursing Lougheed turns out, it won't be almost a pleasure to be sick.

Sometimes after listening to the radio or reading papers of the past, birthday and anniversary dates almost lose faith in humanity. Then something will turn up to restore that faith. A little thing happened today to illustrate. When the G. Probst and Pat Frost families were on the way through in the Grand Canyon Dam in Wash. After leaving the dam on return trip it was found that Mrs. Frost had left her camera. It was impossible to return or phone ahead as forlorn hope a letter was written to the owners of the camera Miss, are the correspondents I just of Mrs Probst sister in Seattle Last Friday it arrived in Lougheed. Some one who knows the rest of the story will have those little items of interest, the office at the dam, they in turn The items that interest you most forwarded it to Seattle, Mrs Probst other people will also interest other sister took it to relatives in Vicoria, people when they are about you. So and they sent it to the owner here-give, and this refers to our departed. You, there are a lot of good people who also write about how they live in the world yet only they don't get advertised like the other kind. Wonder if they get advertised more the when anything of interest happens world would not look so black.

The modern Massey-Harris dealer is one of the key businessmen of every community.

Serving Canadians In Town and Country

It's an old saying that if you build a better mousetrap, the world will beat a pathway to your door. It's not quite that simple. Unless somebody takes it out and shows it to the people who need mouse traps most of them will never hear about it.

It's the same with farm implements. Even though Massey-Harris has been building better and better farm machines for more than 100 years, thousands of Canadian farmers would still be doing their work the hard way if it weren't for the service of Massey-Harris dealers.

Since the earliest days, the dealer (or "agent" as he was once called) has performed a triple service. He has served his farm customers by selling them machines that enable them to increase their yearly earnings. He has served Massey-Harris by enlarging the distribution of Massey-Harris products. And, finally, he has served his community, because increased farm earnings result in better business for all merchants, and in better homes, better schools, better churches and hospitals.

The Massey-Harris dealer of today is as modern in his methods as any merchant in town. You'll find him in an up-to-date building on "Main Street" with a showroom to display his streamlined machines and every facility to serve the needs of mechanized farming. He is one of the key businessmen of the community.

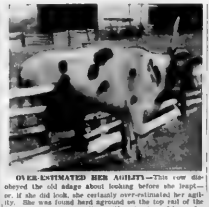
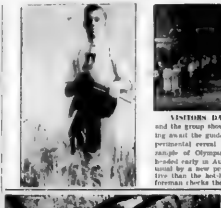
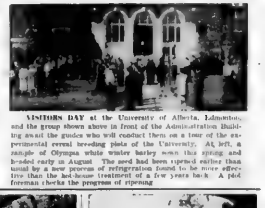
SIPPING BLUEBERRIES on a sizzling hot day, the Barrel Rockets are a few of the hundreds owned by A. K. Thomas Rockwood, Ont.



OVER-ESTIMATED HER ABILITY—This cow disobeyed the old adage about looking before she leaps—or, if she did look, she certainly overestimated her agility. She was found hard aground on the top rail of the fence one morning, waiting with patient confidence for someone to undo the results of her rashness.

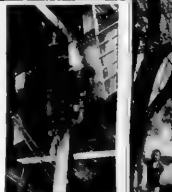


VISITORS DAY at the University of Alberta, Edmonton, and the group shown above in front of the Administration Building await the guides who will conduct them on a tour of the experimental cereal breeding plots of the University. At left, a sample of Olympus white winter barley seen this spring and headed early in August. The seed had been ripened earlier than usual by a new process of refrigeration found to be more effective than the hot-house treatment of a few years back. A plot foreman checks the progress of ripening.



SIGNING UP—Sons of Scotland in Toronto, Ont., line up to enlist in the Scots Guards, Canada's first overseas unit to be recruited in the city. Pipe Major Alex Ross, 65, is signing up Pte. Ian Ross, 18, his grandson. Pte. Ross's father, Pte. Alex Ross, 45, is also enlisting.

TURTLES SPELL DISASTER to geologs so Ontario farmers dispose of them as fast as they can catch them. Here Stanley Hutchings holds the livelies, grandaddy of them all, weighs 40 lbs., caught in a stream on the Robert Hallman farm near New Dundee, Ont.



DRAMATIC MOMENTS IN LIFE-SAVING—Lifeguard workmen on the Boardwalk, Atlantic City, N.J., bridge, Walter Marpiness, is shown hanging suspended by a rope around his waist, after he had been helped from a seafloat. The Boardwalk rescue and resuscitation crews are on hand in a matter of minutes, and workmen, including Marpiness, are co-workers slowly lowered to the ground and a waiting ambulance.

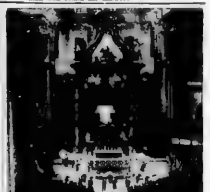
HOULDN'T PAY FINE PASTOR IS JAILED—Rev. L. T. Hinson, 23 youthful Baptist minister of Val d'Or, Que., is in jail because he refused to pay a $15 fine for holding a religious service on a street corner. The young pastor of Evangelical Baptist Church accepted the 15 days imprisonment that Recorder Christopher Taschereau justice optional to the fine, following the pastor's conviction for obstructing traffic. Awaiting trial on the same charge of violating a town by-law are four ministers of Mr. Heron's congregation. They are out on bail on their own cognizance but they all swear they will join their pastor behind bars before paying any fines the recorder might impose on them.—B.N.S. photo.

PLANT THAT MAY CONTAIN CURE FOR ARTHRITIS—This ivy-like plant being grown in the New York botanical gardens may contain the ingredients from which a medicine can be made to relieve suffering from arthritis the world over. It is strophanthus preia, native to Africa, one of the botanical groups from which cortisone can be manufactured, which doctors hope, on the basis of their experiments, can cure, or relieve, rheumatic fever and arthritis. Cortisone formerly was obtained from islands of Battle at prohibitive cost.—B.N.S. photo.



SELDAE RELICS OF ST. PETER FOUND—Vatican archaeologists are reported to have found the bones of St. Peter while engaged in excavation work in grottoes under the Altar of the Confession of St. Peter's Basilica (above) in Vatican City. The discovery, described by officials as the greatest contribution to the history of Christianity's origin in the west, was made some 20 feet below the Basilica's pavement. It was further disclosed that, while the sacred relics were in an urn closely guarded by Pope Pius XII, the Pontiff has been holding back an official announcement until complete proof has been established by archaeological experts.—B.N.S. photo.

IT'S A BIG JOKE NOW!—This trio looks happy now, but a few minutes before this picture was taken they were as glum as can be. While Tommy Dorsey, U.S. band leader, (left), and bandsmen Charlie Shavers and Red Norvo were flying to Niagara Falls, Ont., their plane developed engine trouble and their pilot was forced to land in cornfield near Winnipeg. Although occupants were shaken up a little, no one was seriously injured.

SAIL ATLANTIC IN 18-FOOT SHIP—Crossing the Atlantic in their home-made, 18-foot boat, the Nora Espero, Stanley and Colin Smith of Portsmouth, N.S., arrived in Dartmouth, Eng., to be greeted as heroes by the sea-conscious townspeople. Here the two intrepid sailors are shown at the end of their 3,000-mile voyage, which they hoped would result in commissions to build more "Nora Esperos".—B.N.S. photo 3048

TWO NAVY PILOTS DIED WHEN PLANES COLLIDED—Two Toronto naval pilots, Lieut.-Cmdr. Clifford Walnes, (seen at left), and Lieut. Charles Ellen, lost their lives while on duty flying when Ellen's plane stepped out of a tight formation roll over airport at Malton, Ont., and his four-bladed propeller sliced off his leader's tail, causing two planes to crash in mid-air. The two pilots were practising formation aerobatics for performance at Canadian National Exhibition's air show when accident occurred. Terrific impact of one of two crashing ships left this hole in field. Aerobatics being practised were part of routine close formation flying which the squadron had been doing for three years. Three planes were flying at less than 300 feet and well over 200 m.p.h. with less than 10 feet separating them when two planes collided and crashed into ground just 300 feet apart.—B.N.S. photo.

Underground Fire Tests May Change Coal

(By Canadian Press)

LAKE SUCCESS. — Scientists are experimenting with an underground fire in Alabama that may make it possible to heat your home and drive your car at a fraction of present costs.

The United Nations scientific conference on the conservation and utilization of resources was told about the blaze burning coal into gas without mining it by M. H. Fee of the Alabama Power Company and James L. Elder of the United States Bureau of Mines.

It was set off by a hand grenade last March in a U-shaped tunnel through a coal seam at Oregon, Ala.

It is still burning, under blasts of air from first one end of the tunnel and then the other.

Results, so far, indicate possibility of producing gas for heating and industry at equivalent of coal at $3.30 a ton, the two scientists reported to delegates from 34 countries.

The same method can be used for cheap production of so-called synthetic" gas used in the conversion of coal to gasoline and other petroleum products.

The ordering of marble is caused by the importance in it.

Stand-By Fire Crews

Organized by the Saskatchewan Forest Service under the direction of C. J. Marshall

Volunteer crews of forest fire fighters are now being organized in parts of Saskatchewan by the Forest Service. These crews work on the principal of the oil volunteer fire crews of more years back in that they are formed of men who live in the district, and can be at the scene of a bush fire in the shortest time. The crews are generally composed of five to 20 men and are organized under the supervision of the local forest officer. The members of the crew then elect a foreman to supervise. Equipment is supplied by the forest service, but the crews are free to undertake fire fighting in their districts without orders from the Government. They are paid for actual time spent on fires. The equipment is stored at a central point in each crew district, so that it is within easy reach in emergencies.

This scheme is meeting with considerable public approval, for most people realize the advantages, which are mainly:

1. Speed in reaching the fire. The volunteers, farmers and settlers are near the fire line and can reach the fire fast enough to keep it from spreading.
2. Equipment is near at hand, and the crews are efficient in handling it, giving faster results.
3. It promotes community spirit and initiative in preserving forest resources. It gives people the opportunity to do their part in the war effort and to protect their own interests.

KITCHEN MEDITATIONS

A DOOR

By JANE DALE

Suddenly a door opens and through the shining, pretzels a loved one who's terribly far away from and we are left behind to worry as we've always done.

When war tears no longer fall we know that beyond that shining door are our treasures, far rather than silver or gold, our treasures in heaven.

Humbly and lovingly we labor on, making this world a little better for us having lived in it, until the door opens and we too, step over the threshold

Mr. Denis says the couple mentioned the Canadian visit in a conversation with actor Clifton Webb in Paris. They might also make their first trip to Hollywood, as Mr. Webb is invitation.

Britain To Buy Canadian Apples

(By The Canadian Press)

Canadian apples soon will go on sale at United Kingdom retail stores for the first time in three years.

A government reserve and an Anglo-Canadian contract likely will be signed for supply of 11,200,000 wrath of Nova Scotia and British Columbia apples for the British market.

Thus the Dominion will be retaining a tidy foreign exchange from pre-war apple-purchasing field, last used to buy some 1946 bumper of Britain's dollar shortage.

Payment is expected to be sharply below that of 1946 when the UK bought about $20,000,000 worth of Canadian apples, at an average price of about $3 a barrel.

Stationary Concrete Forge

Dimensions for concrete forge.

THERE are many ways of building a homemade forge. The stands and forge of the old blacksmith shops were worthy of note.

The main parts of the forge are a blast, the tuyere pipe, the fire pot, the hearth, the tuyere iron, and the fuel. The blast is the device for producing the current of air for the forge and may be a hand bellows, a small rotary blower, or a current taken from the town.

The heat from the fire is always driven upward by the blast and is therefore not all used on the material of the forged. There are on the market portable forges that are less satisfactory and have in which the fire was formed by a fan driven by a small motor. This is a good arrangement for the exterior fire-pot and hearth though now. This that metal of course, have a layer of fire-brick around the out after which the pot can be placed. Next is the tuyere iron which holds the tuyere pipe in place.

We are showing a drawing of a tuyere pipe and its two parts of stationary forge made by a common method. When making the tuyere iron tuyere iron can be bought, however, should be set in the ground as at front of blacksmiths so his hearth is being placed, also the pipe from supplies and a much the best

The blower should be connected to the tuyere before the concrete in the hearth is poured and set. When open fire forges are used, a fire-pot is usually placed in the center of the hearth and the tuyere iron placed at the back. This is a matter of a mixture of sand and cement. Before the concrete sets, a regular cast iron fire-pot is placed in the center of the hearth and the tuyere iron placed at the back. This is a matter of a mixture of sand and cement. Before the concrete sets, a regular cast iron fire-pot is placed in the center of the hearth and the tuyere iron placed at the back.

Transplanting Live Fish Proved Successful Says Supervisor

REGINA — Several new ventures in live fish transplanting have proved highly successful this year, A. H. MacDonald, provincial supervisor of fisheries announced in Prince Albert.

Among the branch's fish culture projects, Mr. MacDonald said this year for the first time a "live fish distribution unit" constructed by the fisheries branch was used to transport eastern brook trout and other species to distant parts of the province.

Early in June, Mr. MacDonald said, one live fish transport picked up 17,000 rainbow trout at Pennyfarthing Lake in Riding Mountain National Park and delivered them to waters later that week in the vicinity of the Fort Qu'Appelle hatchery.

From the Fort Qu'Appelle hatchery streams were stocked at Lt. Hart's lake near Gull Lake, Cypress, near Hilbert, Bar, Round Lake, Torch river, and White Gull creek near Aylesbury, Whitesand River, Quagy, and Woody river near Pelly.

A similar delivery was made at Lac la Ronge country in spring at the time mentioned before by Mr. MacDonald, and adding that 20,000 rainbow trout were delivered at Meadow lake, 3,000 Pasquia lake and 3,000 Porcupine lake. Other points to receive live transplants were: Kelsey Lake, 800; Last Mountain, 1,500; Prince Albert district, 1,000,000.

At a spawn camp for Arctic grayling established on the Embarrass river in late May of this year, Mr. MacDonald said that despite unseasonal weather 200,000 eggs were collected and one best attempt at hatching and feeding Arctic grayling was successful. Approximately 25,000 were distributed to Lac la Ronge, 5,000 to Isbwatchan falls, and 250 to Island Falls Lac la Ronge in the southernmost point where Arctic grayling a superb game fish, has been transplanted to date, according to Mr. MacDonald.

A final operation this year was the transplanting of 1,000 perch, by truck, of the new distribution unit from Fort Qu'Appelle to Round lake, near Prince Albert.

New Rotary Pump For Lloydminster Oil

LLOYDMINSTER. — A new type of sugar rotary pump perfected after six years by C. E. Stutcher, Vermilion, is proving a success in the heavy crude oil field here. As a result what once was a pumpability now in a realistic type being perfected and now in production.

Earlier types of the steel-working nature of the pump in the heavy oil industry have been further heightened by the successful pumping over the past few months.

After approximately a year of experimentation Mr. Stutcher drove beside the pump is now a practical reality as reported.

The Hester Machine Company of Edmonton are now manufacturing the pumps and they will be going on to the market as fast as sale can be found for them.

It is believed the new pump will revolutionize oil production in the Lloydminster oil fields and probably throughout the world.

Killam Activities

Many of the Killam people took in the Youth For Christ Rally held in Fee's Hall on Wednesday night.

Norcen George spent the week end in Bawlf.

Betty Sherwood is spending some time at her home after completing her training at the Royal Alexandra hospital in Edmonton.

Phil MacLachlan spent the week-end in Edmonton.

Many Killam people attended the wedding dance of Joyce Hauser and Art Smith which was held in Strome last Wednesday night.

Allan Bennett had an accident on one day last week when he fell from the horse he was riding and suffered a broken arm. Tough luck Allan.

Mrs. Mildred Mathias and Shirley of Strome spent the week end at the C P Sherwood home.

Mr and Mrs Oscar White and Ruth were at Red Deer on Thursday

Winners at the Board of Trade Carnival were: Mrs H. Twitch who won the wrist watch; Alma Bere quick who won the radio and Edward Simon who won the rocker chest.

Hugh Roberts was a business visitor to Wetaskiwin last Friday.

Word has been received that Hay ward Smith is in Canada and will be home in 4 or 5 weeks

Mr B C A Van Hees spent the last week end at Edmonton.

Wills Van Hees was a recent visitor to Edmonton.

Edward Bole is spending his holidays at his home here.

Mr and Mrs Charles Morin and Peggy Lee Chevrier of Red Deer, spent the week end at Killam.

Mr. and Mrs. J C Bole celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary on Sept. 15th. Congratulations

A carload of Rebekahs from Sedgewick attended the lodge meeting at Killam last Monday night.

Sympathies of the district are extended to the Norgbe family in their recent sad bereavement.

Friends of Mrs. Bob Warren of Calgary, formerly of Killam, are indeed sorry to learn of the death of Mrs. Warren's father, Mr. Watt.

Members of the Killam Masonic Lodge were in Sedgewick for a visitor meeting last Monday night.

The members of the Killam American W.A. met in Sedgewick last Tuesday week with members of the Lougheed and Hardisty W. A's.

The Killam school was closed for three days last week due to lack of furnace repairs. At the time of this writing the plumbers are working and the big school building will be ready for school this week. Oil heaters have been set up in the basement in the smaller building to make it usable until permanent repairs can be made.

Birthdays celebrated this last week were Dianne and Gwen Gilson, who entertained many of their Killam friends on Thursday; and Evelyn Stanley. Many happy returns.

Teachers from Killam who attend ed the first meeting of the Edson Casual Club held on Friday evening at Sedgewick, included, Miss Cade, Mrs Cyr; Mrs McDonald; Mrs Stebbings and Mr. John Tuzep.

Mrs. Earl Lawrence returned after spending a few days in Calgary with her husband. They have obtained an apartment there, and Mrs. Lawrence and son will be moving soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Dyer and daughter June arrived in Killam on Sunday last. After spending a few days here they expect to leave for B C where they hope to locate.

Mr and Mrs J J Williams have arrived from B. C. and are visiting at the Sid James home.

Hugh Walker was a recent visitor to the city of Calgary.

Bob Love spent the week end at his home here.

...well practically unanimous

YOU CAN still find people who "don't believe in banks"... who keep their cash in old coffee pots, or hide it in the woodpile, or carry it around.

But most folk nowadays keep their money in bank accounts. They can get it whenever they want it; and they can pay their bills by cheque. Canadians have more than seven million such deposit accounts. In terms of Canada's adult population, that makes it practically unanimous.

The banks, in turn, know they must earn this confidence by giving you the best service they know how.

Today you can take your account to any bank you choose. And what is in your bank book is strictly between you and your bank. It is your own private business.

State monopoly of banks would wipe out competition and would open your bank account to the eye of the state official.

Funds For Education

THE QUESTION OF THE federal government supplying financial support for education is frequently brought to the attention of the public. There is no doubt but that for some years past education in many parts of Canada has suffered because of the lack of adequate funds to pay well qualified teachers and to provide good school buildings with all the necessary equipment. The Canadian Bureau of Statistics estimates that there is now a shortage of 11,000 teachers in Canada, and that within the next five years increased enrolments will create the need for 20,000 additional teachers. At present, it seems unlikely that many young people will be attracted to the profession unless conditions improve, especially in regard to salaries.

* * * * *

Is Concern Of Each Province

While the question of federal aid to education is the controversial matter of dominion-provincial relations, those who favor such help for the schools point out that although it is essentially the concern of each province, education is of importance to the welfare of the entire country, and that the dominion government could give financial assistance without interference with the highly sectional progressions of the various provinces. They also point out that the federal government now contributes to family allowances, and old age pensions, and that federal grants would relieve provincial and municipal education funds for the education of veterans, without causing any serious complications.

Convinced Of Need For Funds

This matter was brought up at the recent convention of the Canadian Teachers' Federation, and they are convinced of the necessity for such a position to realize the needs of education throughout the country, and they are convinced of the necessity for more funds to carry on this important work. At present school taxes are based largely on real property and other sources of revenue available to provincial governments. These sources are inelastic and the amounts realized from them do not vary greatly from year to year. For this reason there appears to be little prospect of substantial increases in the amount of money available to education from these sources unless the present system is improved. Many people are of the opinion that this assistance should come from the dominion government which has greater opportunities for obtaining revenue. The teachers' federation is also convinced that if educational standards are to be maintained and improved, some additional financial support is needed without unnecessary delay.

Manitoba Enjoying Tourist Record

WINNIPEG — Tourists visiting Manitoba during the first seven months of the year totalled more than 153,000, a new all-time record, Hon. J. S. McDiarmid, minister of industry and commerce, said recently.

The total is based on incomplete returns and it is expected the final January to July figures will be even higher.

In 1948 during the same period, tourists totalled 148,000.

Majority of the tourists entering Manitoba this year have come by car. They numbered 174,000. Trains brought 8,136 into the province, and 1,656 came by aircraft while 917 travelled by bus.

The preliminary figures do not take into account tourists entering via ports of entry other than those in Manitoba. These statistics will be available later in the year.

Grow Cotton In Ontario

AYLMER — Bonny Southern Ontario may also become the land of cotton if amateur farmer Cliff Lamb's experiments bear fruit.

The retired Aylmer business man created considerable comment last spring when he announced plans to grow cotton in this Southwestern Ontario district.

The seeds he planted last June between two rows of tobacco plants are now flowering plants between two and three feet high. Lamb estimates they'll mature in six or seven weeks. He plans to experiment further next year.

Lamb hopes his experiments eventually will develop a new industry, making use of hundreds of acres lying idle now because the soil that may grow cotton is too poor for normal crops.

Prairie Veterinary Covers District by Plane

By DAVE INNES
(Central Press Canadian Correspondent)

REGINA, Sask.—The "horse doctor" has gone modern.

He has bought himself a plane, learned to pilot it and taken to the air.

In a long jump from the days when he used to make his rounds by buggy at four or five miles an hour The veterinarian today covers his territory at better than 100 miles an hour

It isn't every vet who does that but Saskatchewan has two of the animal physicians who cover the longer jumps in their own planes. They are two of the few veterinarians in Canada to take to the air.

The two are Dr. Rex McCallum, of Moose Jaw, and Dr. Joseph Van Dane, of Carnduff, Sask.

The Moose Jaw veterinarian, who graduated from Guelph Veterinary college in Ontario—the only one in Hlinois—in 1943, has been flying for better than two years. He bought his latest plane, a Cessna 120 two-seater job, two years ago at a cost of $4,000.

Rex, who is 29 works out of a little office in the city of Moose Jaw, a small industrial and farming centre of 20,000 population

"I use the plane for trips over 60 miles chiefly," he says "During the winter I use it on all calls".

His plane, which is heated and carries a two-way radio, is housed in a hangar at the Moose Jaw airport. He also owns a car and a truck, but for range to operate as a car, the vet claims. He gets 20 to 25 miles to the gallon and can land the machine in almost any pasture, summer fallow or stubble field. During the winter he changes the wheels to skis, which enables him to land almost anywhere and taxi right up to a farm house on the wide open plains.

Dr. McCallum has a fast-growing business with enough work to require the assistance of two veterinary students, during the summer months. Brett Starrk and Norm Nichol McCallum hopes Starrk, who is taking veterinary medicine at the University of Saskatchewan, will join him in a partnership.

The vet says the plane permits him to cover twice the territory in winter he could be able to by car. He has had the machine stuck in snowdrifts but never so badly he had did other work. There he treated what, able to shake or shovel it a cow for mastitis for a client out.

His job is anything but dull and many include anything from handing out pills for a sick dog to a young sister who has dropped into his office to delivering a ton of salt in some pasture miles from Moose Jaw.

Here is one day's schedule, typical enough

Dr. Rex McCallum, veterinary surgeon of Moose Jaw and his radio-equipped plane. —Central Press Canadian

Starting at 8:30 a.m. he made a trip to Mortlach, 27 miles west of Moose Jaw by car, where he treated a cow for milk fever.

Returning to Moose Jaw he treated several dogs, mixed medicines for sick and ailing cows. Then he treated what, able to shake or shovel it a cow for mastitis for a client out.

Next he flew by plane to a farm north of Chaplin, where he delivered a case of a calf. Chaplin is 27 miles west of Moose Jaw

From there he flew on to Swift Current, another 60 miles further west, on business He returned to Moose Jaw at noon

Beaver Beats Big Obstacle

ISLAND FALLS Man.—Most animals would have rather severe trouble surmounting the dam at the Churchill river and would have abandoned any ideas about reaching its other side

Not so a matter-of-fact little beaver recently, who inspected the power equipment on its way up stream on a migratory amble.

The beaver climbed a small platform, near water level, undeterred by the smashing roar of the nearby turbines. It wandered along a cornice in the heart of the dam until it came to the generator room. After various jaunts it found and corridors it returned to this room and eyed a steel ladder, leading to the upper part of the big concrete dam.

It displayed no fear of either workmen or their many surroundings. One of the workmen finally perched the beaver up and carried him to the top of the ladder, releasing him upstream. 30 feet above his starting point.

The earth has 57,510,000 square miles of land surface very enjoyable afternoon; was had at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Clark last Sunday when several neighbors gathered there to celebrate Mr. Thos. Clarke's birthday. He was 82 years young on Sept. 10th. Those present to take part in the bountiful supper were the Eric Clark family, Porter O'Shellers, Jas. Wheatley, Wm. Albrechts and the Mack Cockbains. Many happy returns

Mr. Mark Cockbain of Edmonton is a guest of the W.O. Albrechts just now, on what might be called a business holiday, as he is helping with the harvest operations

With the mercury registering 110 degrees on Monday A M. everything got cooked the cold way, and we do mean everything. Ripe grain and vegetables that were well covered by another earth accepted of course. The ice was a good half inch thick on a full tank of water here. After the extra hot weather 3 days before, no wonder we looked for our winter troubles and ailles.

Coal haulers have been busy since the cold snap.

The Moose pupils started school again on Sept. 12th. Those to the South and East of Moose are riding in a brand new bus which Mr. F. Smith has just brought back from Calgary. Judging by the kids I gather that they really like the new bus, a real snappy looking yellow affair.

We notice Hosmer White is busy trucking those days. Getting the granaries ready for the new harvest and coal bins filled for winter.

W. ING

WEDDING — LELLAN

Fort Saskatchewan First United Church was the scene of a very nice wedding on September 17th, when Kathleen, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. McLellan became the bride of Mr. Charles Henry Weir the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J.E. Weir of Lougheed. Rev. A. W. Hagen performed the double ring ceremony before th altar banked with ferns, candelabras and an array of autumn flowers and foliage.

Entering the church with her father, the young bride chose an ivory satin dress fashioned with a round heart neckline, "all skirt and lily point sleeves. Her train length veil of imported Brussels net was held in place by a bandeau of lilies of the valley and orange blossoms. Her only ornament, a double strand of pearls was a gift of the groom. She carried a shower bouquet of white and red American Beauty roses, the flowers of honor, Mrs. Lou Hewko, was charming in pale blue sheers with blue net hats fashioned and carried a bouquet of gladioli and sweet peas. Mr. Curtis Weir was best man and the ushers were Mr. Joe McLellan and Mr. Maynard McCune Miss Rita Sherman played the wedding music and during the signing of the register Mrs. Lawrence Schuter sang, "I'll Walk Beside You."

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church hall for over a hundred guests and relatives. The bride's table was laid with a white lace cloth centred with a three tiered wedding cake flanked by tall pink and white tapers and mauve pink carnations. Toast to the bride was proposed by Mr J. Deverne.

Leaving for a honeymoon trip to Jasper and Banff, the bride chose a gray gabardine suit with burgundy accessories. Later the couple will make their home in Edmonton where the groom is taking his final year in Engineering at the University.

YOU CAN'T BEAT IT!

A local resident pleaded guilty this week in charge of making false statements to enable him to draw unemployment insurance for a period when actually he was employed. Even though the accused had informed his Lawyer initially obtained the law found him guilty and levied a fine of $15 and costs. The case was heard it Beahive before Magistrate R. M. Paterson, with R. C. Fitzpatrick, District Investigator of Edmonton laying the charges for Unem. Insurance Comm

Ironically enough, the fine was $15 while the sum wrongfully gained by the accused was only $36.75.

The moral of course is that you just can't beat the game so why try.

CO-OP STORE OFFICIALLY OPENED AT SEDGEWICK

Climaxing months of organizational work by the instigators the Sedgewick Co-op Association's speaking Acc General Store was officially opened on Sat. Sept. 24th before a large gathering present. The opening address was made by Mayor Howard Smith, who was followed Mr. W. O. Mitchell, Secretary of the Alberta Co-op Assn. and Mr. A B. Falls (Secretary)

Following the official ceremony all visitors were the guests of the local Assn. at an informal luncheon Catered was by the Fabrobank Y W. U. A.

KILLAM BOARD OF TRADE

The Executive of the Killam District Board of Trade at the regular meeting on Thursday last, laid plans for the annual dinner meeting to be held in the Co-op Hall on Tues. Nov 1st. All citizens of the Town and the Local District are urged to attend this very important meeting. Further details will be announced later.

The Arena committee is making good progress with the building. The roof is now going on and shooting of the walls and painting is under way. Seating can be used to advantage at this time and anyone who can spare time is urged to do so.

The executive also laid plans for a fall canvas of the entire district to funds for the Memorial Centre. Complete details of this drive will be published before the starting date. It is now assured that winter will not have its usual effect on hockey and skating in Killam this year as the entire building will be closed in. The fine building is a great asset to the town and a fine example of community spirit and cooperation. The help of all when the canvas starts will be still another illustration of the manner in which residents of the district support community projects that remains of the project is a great hole in the ground from which the sand has been taken, the observed turns of the barred planet and a ghost town. The camp kitchen and a number of log cabins with windows and doors boarded up, a water were supplied water to the villages and a suspension bridge that spans a ravine is all that remains of th village. The modern houses with hard wood floors and modern conve. have now been removed and shipped down river to Great Bear and to Yellowknife. This project was located on Horse Creek, a river of no mean dimensions that joins the Athabasca at McMurray. The sand a gravel mixture was of a harder nature than that found further down and it was necessary to do blasting to loos on the formation. At the present it ratios at Bitumont sixty miles down river the sand can be loaded in dump trucks with a power shovel

In the laboratory of the University of Alberta, experiments have been conducted for years along the lines now being completed at the pilot plant at Bitumont. It has been known for some time that the oil separation can be carried out success fully. This was proven conclusively by the University laboratory It remained to do this on a commercia scale to determine the cost of the finished product.

The late Hon. Wm. Fallo was very enthusiastic about the possibilities of the sands, and while Alberta held the world's reserve of oil locked up in the sands of the Athabasca Canada was importing ninety per cent of her requirements from the U S. Mr. Fallo felt a proposition before the members of the Legislature and asked for an appropriation in order to find out the possibility of extraction This was granted before the Leduc, Wood River and Redwater fields of oil were tapped The visible supply of oil in the U S. was diminishing and new sources of supply were imperative.

The project was launched at Bitumont. The name is derived from the bituminous content of the sand. Bitumont is at a point sixty miles down river from McMurray where the sand stands the rather crude structure erected years ago and abandone with the machinery still in place, it is 364 miles from Edmonton.

Still further funds were required to complete the new project Pony to the members of the Legislature had ever visited the north land or had any idea of the nature of this adventure, and it was decided to ask them to give members an opportunity to see the project at first hand

Dr. Robinson, Minister of Industries and Labor, made all arrangements for this trip to Bitumont Th Northern Railroad provided the transportation to McMurray without cost to the members. They supplied the sleepers and a diner for four days and transportation. Peggy two members took advantage of this opportunity and all were impressed with the display of black gold which this part of the Province affords in any part of the province where people have ever seen tar sands, and if you want a gravel road they want a graded road When they get a graded road they want a gravelled highway and when they get a gravelled highway they want a paved speedway McMurray has no roads whatever, not even prairie trails. They get in and out by train, plane or river boat. This party made the trip from McMurray to Bitumont by plane, taking about forty minutes. By boat the same trip takes ten hours The country is broken by water courses with muskegs and marshes Rock and small trees cover most of the land and no cleared or farming land was seen

We had the privilege of seeing the plant in operation, and it has the appearance of being modern in every respect. At the scene of operation about two acres of surface has been cleared to a depth of about four feet on the east bank of the river. The surface is 'over and a face of twenty feet is being worked and there is still a depth of sixty feet of oil sand below the working face. The sand is loaded into dump trucks by a power shovel. This shovel loads about two hundred cubic yards in eight hours and provides a bumper month's work to keep the plant in operation for twenty four hours Each truck unloads in weighed and a careful account is kept of the material handled.

Each cubic yard of sand p o nes thirty two gallons of crude oil, making the same grade as that produced at Wainwright At present only one operation for separation is in use but it has been determined that further separation process will add another ten to fifteen percent to the oil recovery. The present out put is two hundred barrels per day and the plant is being operated with the use of the four oil produced right on the premises. One asterisk that the oil is found coated on particles of sand. While this is true in a certain extent, the volume of oil is contained in clay particles which are mixed with the sand. The separation is brought about by the use of hot water and steam which dissolves the clay, washes the sand and frees the oil. One might think that the loss of sand would be found in the oil but under the present process in use this is impossible. In the separator tank an agitation system is in use. Air is pumped into the tank through a porous rock formation similar to pumic stone. This produces bubbles which carry the oil to the surface leaving the sand at the bottom The oil is skimmed off by revolving paddles and enters the pipes leading to the refinery A quantity of water remains to the oil until it is removed by evaporation

Five grades of oil are being produced by the refinery The first is naptha which is the raw material from which gasoline is produced, although the gasoline is not being processed at the present time After the naptha is removed further heat is applied and a fuel oil is drained off Medium products distel off, still more heat produces an oil a little heavier and the remainder is known as bunker oil. This last oil must be heated to be used in a furnace but when properly used gives the greatest heat of any of the oils.

Transportation is the big problem of the north but a pipe line will carry oil where no other means of transportation is available. If and when production in this area reaches the point where outside markets are desirable we may hear of a pipe line from the source of the world's great out oil deposit.

LOUGHEED W. I.

The regular meeting of the W. I was held in the Community Hall on September 20th with an attendance of forty, twenty of whom were grandmothers. It was decided to continue the study of hospitalization. Representatives of various organizations will meet at Mrs. Marlows to discuss plans for the purchase of community dishes. Non grandmothers entertained the grandmothers right royally. Lunch consisted a corsage of pansies and many prizes were given. Creating Johnson was once again the oldest grandmother present The program consisted of an explanation of the Creed by eight members, readings by Joyce Denham and Mrs. Rowland and a duet by Jeanette Whitehead and Frances Olsen. A delicious lunch was served. Next meeting at home of Mrs. A. Stobry

STILL GOING STRONG — This horse, although his contestant on may look something in style, has the laugh on tractors from one point of view, at least. He is 30 years old, is still in good condition and is used by his owner in the event of the driving on the farm. He is owned by Silas Thompson, of Nine Mile River, N.S., and was born and raised on Mr. Thompson's farm

PACKING PRUNES—Mr and Mrs Thaler of Vernon, B.C. are picking and packing prunes on their 18 acre farm. They do their own packing and the prunes are shipped by the packing house. They packed 311 crates, besides a few trees for themselves.

CAR THEFT RING BELIEVED SMASHED—Biggest car theft ring in Ontario is believed by police to have been smashed by arrest of three Toronto men in Hamilton, Ont. Police said Lionel Patterson, 32, (left), was ringleader and alleged Carl Cuphlin, 23, and Edward Slocum, 22, country with detectives, were accomplices. Arraigned also with the men were Doris McLeod, 19; Vernon McLeod, 17, (right); and Mrs. Margaret Jones. Three men have been charged with theft, receiving and fraud. Miss McLeod and Mrs. Jones were charged with absconding bail.—B.N.S. photo

PLAN AROUND WORLD TRIP IN AMPHIBIOUS JEEP—An around the world trip has been planned by Mr. and Mrs. Ben F. Carlos of Hoffdale in the "Half-Safe", an amphibious jeep. The "Goop", as they call machine can travel 40 m.p.h. on highways, and three to six m.p.h. in water. Their first stop will be America.

CAR DRAGGED 620 YARDS BY TRAIN—Seen here is wrecked car of Hilton Wood, 22, of Toronto, who died when it was struck broadside by a freight train near Dunbarton, Ont. Impact was so great that body was hurled more than 50 feet into air and car was dragged 620 yards down train tracks. The accident happened just a few minutes after Wood, an insurance salesman had sold an insurance policy to a Dunbarton resident.

QUILT CONTEST—At the Lake-head Exhibition held recently at Fort William, Ontario, much interest was centred on the quilting contest in which 10 branches of the Thunder Bay District Women's Institutes competed for substantial prizes. Busy at this table are, left to right: Mrs. J. M. Booth, director; Mrs. L. Mathews; Mrs. D. C. Carver Mrs. A. McLarg, Mrs. W. T. Gray, Mrs. B. I had three young harvesters from Ontario drop in the other day. They looked like town agers, but were very enthusiastic about Alberta. Not as I expected, absent the size of our fields and fences, but about the ease with which we plant and get here. I also spoke of shooting ducks on the same field he had just finished working on. Another of shooting at coyotes from the barn door. I advised them to stay for the main shooting season, when the fall work is all done, the ground covered with snow and the boys congregate at one of their down town hangouts to swap yarns.

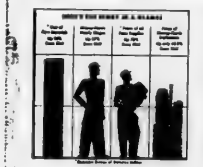
NEVER BEFORE
have farm implement prices been so low in comparison with prices of other supplies the farmer buys



On the average, supplies which farmers must buy to carry on their business, have gone up 70.1% in price since 1941. In the same period, Massey-Harris prices for Canadian made farm implements have gone up only 43.9% ...not much more than half the average rise.

Massey-Harris has held down its prices in the face of a 92.5% increase in cost of raw materials, and an increase of 87% in the average hourly wage rate to its employees.

Demand has been keen in all parts of the world, and Massey-Harris factories have been working at top capacity. High volume has spread the overhead costs over many machines, and enabled the Company to absorb part of the increased cost of material and labor.

SUPPOSE you have what you feel is a good opportunity which calls for bank credit. If one bank cannot see it your way, or if you think you can get a better deal elsewhere, you're free to "shop around".

Banks compete to serve the most diversified needs, no matter how specialized any of them may be... personal, business, or farm loans, money transfers, collections — to name just a few.

More than 95 out of 100 bank loan applications are decided "right in the field" — in the branches — by bank managers who take a personal interest in serving their customers' individual requirements.

Decorattively SPEAKING

(By Francis James)

It's a thing worth while you can be proste sure that sooner or later somebody's going to get scrabble about it And start thinking very deeply about it And set down rules about it

That's why there are cannons in Ispahan decorated on most unoriginal today. That's why department stores pay experts pretty authors to divide upholstery by draperies, add wallpaper, and get the right answer And that's why the little Mrs. buys books on colour before she leaps at her living room walls.

It's all because interior decoration is good interior decoration is worthwhile It's the background against which you have to live and work and entertain It's the expression of your personality It colours your days — affects your moods. It's mighty important — on it's gone scientific

Not too scientific, of course A soft rose decor with touches of burgundy in the curtains won't tie up anybody's living room the way penicillin will tie up anybody's pneumonia You have to plan according to your own problems But there are certain decorating rules which underlie all good decorating Use these as a basis for your own ideas and you can't go far wrong

A letter I received recently from a lady complained of a "pokey" little house "which always looks cluttered, because the rooms are too small." It is hard to picture containing a simple description of each room and there was a long reply too long to print here But the essence of it was that her house didn't look cluttered because it was too small

Actually the reason her house didn't look gracious was not because it was small but because it was badly decorated. Her books followed the right rules for a small house. Her floor blender was in carefully working out a brand new and different scheme for each room. This was to save the house from monotony. But in a small house there's a fate worse than monotony. It's the cluttered, cut-off look which she had achieved, but no mistake

The rule she forgot was that of careful blending All rooms on her ground floor opened into one another. All were small. She had a completely different color scheme for each different floor covering, different wallpaper, different draperies Had she used one floor covering for all rooms (preferably in a pale neutral color) she would have contributed much to the illusion of space she was after. Had she used matching or harmonizing wallpaper through out in the pale, "receding" colors she would have contributed still further to the feeling of space And matching (or harmonizing) draperies on all windows would have linked the rooms together even more closely.

No one need complain of a "pokey" little house. The small house has many advantages. And it can be just as gracious as the large house if sound rules of decoration are followed.

How To Prevent Seasickness

SEABREEZES and ocean travel are traditionally associated with health and pleasure, and thousands of Canadians who elect to go down to the sea in a ship find holiday woven

But, as the expert-to-a salmon, enjoyment and benefit to health at sea will be at variance with ideas of good health and will often spend upon the travellers prudence and wisdom.

Seasickness is not inevitable, because it is preventable Five rules to follow are:

1. Suppress fear of being seasick
2. Relax to the motion of the ship —don't fight it
3. Spend as little time as possible in staterooms and particularly in bedrooms.
4. Keep on deck as much as possible and stay as close to the centre as you can.
5. Don't hesitate to pass up a meal and by all means don't overeat or drink

FATIGUE ON THE ICE

Fatigue on the job is recognized by industrial health experts as a leading cause of accidents and reduced production. Sleep combats fatigue and helps ensure health ... and health is earning power Don't let your dollar value on the labour market drop because of lack of sleep. Take all you need.

Sports Are Fun In Moderation

IT'S wise to take it easy when you exercise on a warm day. If you are greedy on that vacation or week-end and try to cram in every sport you've ever played, you might find it doesn't pay

If you play a set or two of tennis and feel energetic, relax for several hours before attempting any other strenuous sport Most experienced tennis players are willing to call it a day after a few sets. Sometimes exhaustion does not catch up with you until several hours after you have indulged in a sport

You can exercise without knocking yourself out. There are danger signals at every turn that should be observed, because unless you are active all the year round, sudden spurts of exercise might throw you off line beware Try to take it in moderation. Hiking is fine You and beautiful because you can rest intermittently. Golf is a splendid game, particularly if you have a good sense of timing. But it, too, is a game that should be taken in moderation. You are not getting your money's worth out of your club membership or your pass on the public links by exerting yourself to play 36 holes of golf instead of a normal 9 or 18

Bicycling is wonderful fun and delightful exercise. It is something that will please either the timid or adventurous But on the fun with a couple of miles a relaxe There is nothing more delightful than to ride in the morning along a beach or through the mountains or even down a shady country road. It is a pleasant way to get around that will not leave you panting from overwork

Tells Just How Chiggers Work

DURHAM, N.C. — Ants may come to your picnic, but chiggers will go home with you unless you heed the advice of Duke University scientists.

Dr. G W Wharton, Duke zoologist, has completed a study of the little red monster's life and habits For all his size, he's a mighty tough nut to crack. By satisfactory treatment for chigger bites.

But Dr Wharton did nip some false ideas about chiggers, alias red bugs:

They don't get your skins for a good meal Instead they bite you a hole, injecting a squirt of saliva. It's the saliva that makes you itch. It helps digest your skin for the chigger, which has no mouth, eats your epidermis, not your blood.

It may take two or three days for the chigger to get all he wants of your skin. Then he drops off. Scratching after he's gone then while he's still around

Scratching only prolongs the itching, and may cause infection

The best treatment for chiggers is to go where they aren't. They avoid hardwood forests, so a growth of cane is a good campsite

Chiggers' favorite hangouts are low in the ground near rotten logs, tree stumps or blackberry brambles. And fortunately, as the heat of summer day, they can tell when you're coming.

And if you believe the old theory that you can't get chiggers at night, an evening in the woods will yield a crop of red bumps to show you they work right around the clock.

There's one thing in your favor. Chiggers are relatively easy to discriminary objects. Keep walking and you're victims.

Showers For Bridgroom

The shower custom is a pioneer survival, a revelry of days when bona fide goods of all sorts were handed to cause by then they are now, it is a neighborly action to give a girl something useful before she married, as well as a wedding gift on the occasion of the marriage Rarif.

But these gifts to the bride were often augmented by pieces of handcrafted whose farms, pokes of corn and other useful gifts which were offered to the bridegroom by his father, his uncles and other friends. Such gifts are uncommon in our day. Women are rarely kept by the old custom alive; men have imperceptibly altered it to lapse Bridegrooms of Canada, awake! Begin well before your marriage, with a Tea Shower, a Shirt Shower, a Tool Shower, a Bottle Shower, a Cheque Shower, and a Coal Shower. The lovely creature who will face you at the altar, all innocence and apprehension, has a storehouse full of heat. What are you hoping to put marriage?—Peterborough Examiner.

THE SHORT CHANGED BEGGAR

A beggar used to have his station near the office of a wealthy businessman, and it was the businessman's habit to give him a dime every day.

Business took the businessman out of town for a month. On his return, passing the beggar, he tossed him a dime.

"Wait a minute, Mac!" cried the beggar. "You owe me $3."

Bees seldom visit red flowers because those insects are blind to red.

Fall Cultivation Important

Moisture, as on many farmers experimental farm this year, is the most important limiting factor in successful crop production in the Prairie Provinces. Cultivation, if properly carried out this fall, will destroy weeds and thereby conserve moisture for next year's crop.

Annual Weeds. Our most troublesome annual weeds are Wild Mustard, Wild Oats, Pigweed, Ragweed and Russian Thistle Shallow cultivation immediately after harvest will encourage many annual weed seeds to germinate in the fall. The resulting plants will be killed by frost. Fall cultivation is also particularly effective in controlling Russian Thistle

Perennial Weeds Many attempts to eradicate perennial weeds (Canada Thistle, Sow Thistle, etc.) by summerfallowing fail because cultivation is not carried on into the late fall Moisture, saved by rain in harvest, the fallow is neglected The allows perennial weeds, which have been weakened by repeated cultivations during the summer, to produce new top growth and store food in the roots Fall cultivation is most successful for the control of perennial weeds Furthermore it helps to control insect pests such as grasshoppers and sawflies Fall tillage also greatly reduces the vigor of perennial weed growth on cultivated land

Cultivate Early. Fall cultivation should be done as soon as the crop is harvested Do not procrastinate Deeply Shallow tillage will not only destroy weeds but will be wasteful of soil moisture It will also help to remove a trash cover that will serve to hold the winter's snow The main object of fall cultivation is to conserve soil moisture and accumulate for the next year's crop. Kill weeds and save moisture

Farmers And World Production

DISCUSSIONS CONCERNING WORLD FOOD supplies usually centre around the productivity of the soil and the danger of the acreage of arable land diminishing while the demand for food increases. There are, however other factors in addition to the land, involved in the production of food and the world was reminded of this by Mr. Colin Clarke, director of the Bureau of Industry at Brisbane, Australia, who was a speaker at the United Nations conference on utilization and resources, held this summer at Lake Success, New York. Mr. Clarke spoke of the importance of labour to agriculture and expressed the view that in the future it will be increasingly difficult to keep farmers contented on the land.

Expects World Prices To Rise

If we expect to have sufficient numbers of people continue to engage in farming it will be necessary for consumers to pay more for food, as that the product will have satisfactory financial returns for his work Mr Clarke said. He predicted that by 1950 the world price of agricultural products will be about seventy-five per cent greater than they were in the basic period from 1923 to 1934, ans that further rises may be expected between 1960 and 1970. Should these predictions prove to be correct, the countries which will benefit most from the advancing prices will be those producing and exporting the greatest amounts of foodstuffs.

Is Threat To Food Supply

"The flight from the land," which he said was taking place almost everywhere, was cited by Mr Clarke as one of the greatest threats to the world food supply at the present time, and he expressed the opinion that this flight above every sign of continuing and indeed accelerating". The importance of the human factor in agriculture certainly should not be overlooked. While the extensive use of farm machinery has cut down the amount of labour required for a great many farming operations the need for the farmer and his help would never be eliminated. Inequalities between the advantages of life on rural and urban centres draws many enterprising and industrious people from the land while periods of low financial returns to farmers also cause many to look for other ways in which to make a living. It is clear that in considering the future of world food supplies the importance of the farm worker should not be forgotten.

Recent 'Quake Make New Islands Of B.C.

QUEEN CHARLOTTE CITY, B.C. — New islands have risen from the ocean depths and others have disappeared beneath the waters of Hecate Straits as a result of the recent earthquake, fishermen reported.

They said that new navigation hazards were present, as a number of submarine ledges had already come coming close to the surface.

The new crags were first found after the earthquake which shook the northern B.C. coast recently, the men said. They asked that a survey of reefs and shoals be made as an aid to navigation.

Fraser River Salmon Catch

VANCOUVER, B.C. — Canadian and American fishermen took some 2,- 805,041 Sockeye salmon from the Fraser river so far this season, it was reported.

Provincial officials said the 1946 catch was almost 300,000 fish over the corresponding cycle year of 1945.

An international treaty provided that Canada and the United States split 50-50 on the Fraser river salmon catch Trumpeter swans, among the largest of our wild birds are pictured in their native haunts in the Kay Lake in the north central interior of British Columbia. Once believed nearing extinction these big birds are now making a comeback.

TIME MARCHES ON

The Thrilling Call: "Threshers' Are Coming" Is No Longer Heard

YELLOW GRASS, Sask. — There is a big difference in this year's rainbird $400,000,000 Saskatchewan wheat crop and the $10,000,000 crop harvested in 1934. For one thing there has been an increase in the price of wheat from 38 cents a bushel to about $2 and there have been changes in the last 15 years.

Take as an example farmer Hibbert Erb, 39-year-old world war vet, ran.

Recently he finished harvesting a 4,000-bushel wheat crop about 60 miles southeast of Regina.

The job was done in five days with a self-propelled combine, requiring one man. Erb, who hasn't owns an horses, hauled the wheat to the elevator in a new truck while his helper took off the crop.

In the Yellow Grass farmers have built $15,000 homes. A farmer-owned new car is the rule rather than the exception. Second wolf is anticipated.

Fifteen years ago on his father's farm Erb recalls harvesting was a month long operation. Stookers set up sheaves from dawn to dusk for little more than $2 a day. A combine expert this year gets $12 for a 10-hour day.

In 1934 stookers were followed by a 15-man threshing crew who filled the farmhouse and bunkhouses and kept the women-folk cooking all hours.

Gone is the once-thrilling call "the threshers are coming!" But as Erb put it "this is the way to farm. I can't imagine any job like it."

He laughed at the jingle about old fellows of long ago "I'm down on the farm after they've seen Paree." After seeing Paris and Holland, Belgium, England and Scotland as a member of the Canadian Provost corps in three years overseas young Erb headed straight back to farming.

He owns a debt-free half-section 320 acres which he values with machinery at $20,000. The district hasn't had a crop failure in 10 years.

But while Erb was busy taking 25 bushels an acre off his summerfallow, farmers in other sections of the province were not so fortunate.

Of Saskatchewan's 120,000 farmers, 50,000 this year will receive $42-000,000 in aid under the federal government's Prairie Farm Assistance act. One of the heaviest payments under the act was passed 16 years ago. It will go to farmers who have a wheat yield of eight bushels or less to the acre.

Most of the payments will go to the almost-perennial failures, area in southwestern Saskatchewan but partial losses also were suffered in central portions.

Bumper yields in the north and northeast however, are expected to give Saskatchewan an all-over total of about 300,000,000 bushels of wheat. Thus the central prairie province again will produce the lion's share of Canada's wheat.

PEACH-PITTING MACHINE

ADELAIDE, Australia. — A local man has invented a machine to pit peaches which will save Australia canners $160,000 a year. He says the machine, operated by hand power, halves fruit and ejects stones at a rate up to 56 a minute. 2846

Sinking Second Oil Well At Lyleton, Man.

A CAT WITH WHISKERS? Mrs. Lind the victim of her own curiosity or friendliness. This heifer at the Dominion Experimental Farm, Lethbridge, Alta., came in from the pasture wearing perspective quills for a beard. Fibres had to be used to remove them.

WINNIPEG. — Following failure to discover oil or gas in commercial quantities with their first exploratory oil well in the Lyleton district, the Souris Valley Oil company is sinking a second well in the same district the Winnipeg Free Press learned during a visit to potential oil districts of southwestern Manitoba.

The second well is located five miles east of Lyleton and is about 2½ miles east of the Souris company's first well. It is down 3,000 feet and will be pushed through all soft rock strata down to the hard Pre-Cambrian rock which underlies the district. It is not known how deep the well must be sunk to reach the Pre-Cambrian

H L. Carnahan, vice-president of the company, said private promotion plans also call for the drilling of a third well in the district

Another oil company is expected to start drilling operations in Manitoba next year. The Air Force Standard Oil company which for three years has been engaged in geophysical exploration in southwestern Manitoba

It is reported that six geophysical crews are at work across the border in North Dakota.

Mr. Carnahan gave detailed information on the Souris company's first well, which has turned out to be a dry hole.

Showings of oil, gas and salt water were encountered at three stages in the well, Mr. Carnahan said. They were from 2,360 to 2,366 feet; from 2,736 to 2,780 feet and from 4,000 to 4,320 feet. Occurrences of oil and gas are not in commercial quantities, Mr. Carnahan said.

It cost the Souris company $160,000 to sink its first oil well in Manitoba. It is expected that the second well will cost less than the first. Another two weeks of drilling on the second well is anticipated.

Sinking of the first well was stopped at 3,360 feet when salt water was penetrated by the drill.

ELECTRIC CURRENT

The discovery of electric current was made by an Italian physicist, Alessandro Volta.

Two Girls Tour Canada On Horseback

CALGARY. — Two English girls were in Calgary recently on a tour of Canada on horseback.

The girls — Dorothy E. Digby of London and Eileen Sinclair of Harrogate, Yorkshire — were taking in the sights of the foothills city before heading for Vancouver

Inspired by a book by an Englishwoman, describing a trip across the Dominion on horseback, the two girls set out from Toronto on June 20, intending to buy horses at Winnipeg. They ran into a horse shortage and had to purchase their mounts at Regina

When they reached Moose Jaw, Sask., the two hoboing proved unequal to the task and the girls traded them there for two others.

Salt is an important ingredient in the manufacture of rayon.

RICH, SPICY CINNAMON BUNS

Recipe

Measure into large bowl, 1 c. lukewarm water, 2 tsps. granulated sugar; set until sugar is dissolved. Sprinkle with 2 envelopes Fleischmann's Royal Yeast. Let stand 10 min., THEN stir well. Scald 1 c. milk and stir in ½ c. granulated sugar, 1½ tsps. salt, 6 tbs. shortening; cool to lukewarm. Add to yeast mixture and stir in 2 well beaten eggs. Stir in 2 c. sieved flour; beat until smooth. Work in 2 c. more sieved flour. Knead until smooth and elastic; place in greased bowl and brush top with melted butter or shortening. Cover and set to warm place, free from draughts. Let rise until double in bulk. While dough is rising, combine 1½ c. brown sugar (lightly packed down), 2 tsps. ground cinnamon, 1 c. raisins and dried seedless raisins. Punch down dough and divide in half. Roll out each half into oblong sheet, about ¼ inch thick; spread with melted margarine. Sprinkle with cinnamon-sugar mixture. Beginning at long edge, roll up each piece loosely, like a jelly roll. Cut into 1" slices. Place just touching each other, a cut-side up, in greased muffin pan-cake pans (or other shallow pans). Grease tops. Cover and let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake in moderate oven, 350°, 30-35 minutes. Serve hot, or reheated.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

RED PAINT

Marty, The Farm Wife, Won't Be Bossed—Broken.

By KATHLEEN GILCHRIST

THE blasting sun shocked the air into rippling waves of heat that emphasized the starkness of Ed Higgins' bare barns. In contrast to the unpainted barns was the neat little bungalow, with its bright green paint and white trimmings.

From behind her spotlessly curtained kitchen window Marty Higgins gazed outside. Her thin face looked drawn, but her cotton dress was as fresh as her kitchen. She shook her head at the memory of Dee's parting words that morning.

"I've done all I can, Marty," he'd said. "If Ed won't fight for himself—"

I can't understand his giving in so easy." There was more disappointment than sorrow in Marty's voice. "Stubborn old fool, he gave me enough trouble any time I wanted him to do anything, goodness knows and now to let pneumonia down him without a fight!"

The brown calfie braids her raised questioning eyes. He rocked on an expectantly toward the bedroom door behind which Ed lay, his sunken cheeks under unkempt whiskers mute evidence of the ravages of the first serious illness in his active life. How unlike the gayety of their courtship days!

"Twenty years, Rusty, and now when he's needed most he quits!" Marty gazed past the ugly structures of rusted wood to the wheat-covered vastness of the ground. The sun was beginning to turn its resources into the golden ripeness of harvest.

Rusty wagged his tail. It was seven years old to Ed's three a dog's pup, to live with Marty and Ed, and this was the first time in the battle that had started 20 years ago, when first Marty had stated her plans for a home.

"Painted buildings on a prairie farm. What's the use, Marty? It's the way they are?" Ed scoffed. "You don't hear my cattle wanting new barns with paint on 'em, do you, and they seem to manage."

"But I'm not one of your cattle, Ed, and I want a decent home with paint on it, even if they don't," Marty had replied with aggravating assurance. "If you want to live with them, go ahead, but I'm having my home the way I want it."

Ed had evidently preferred Marty's company and she proudly flaunted her neat bungalow with its bright coat of green as evidence of her victory in the first rounds of the battle.

Just naturally contrary, if I didn't want you to paint them, you would. You'd think that we were paupers instead of successful farmers." Marty often repeated in exasperation as one unpainted structure after another was added to her Ed's increasing cattle

"Twenty years!" Marty repeated and shook her head. Listlessly she began to prepare a tray for Ed's supper. He'd passed the crisis days ago, but the strength that should be returning to him was ebbing

The dog watched Marty carry the tray into the bedroom, to return with its contents scarcely touched.

"Rusty, if I only could prove him somehow! I've pleaded with him, called him a quitter, tried to impress him with the need of the crops well harvest this year—the darned old fool's just going to die out of sheer stubbornness."

The sun was sinking in a blaze of golden glory when she returned to the window, tinting even the bare wood of Ed's barns with a pearly beauty.

"Wonder what Ed would say if we painted them pink, Rusty?" The twinkle shining through the weariness in Marty's eyes suddenly sparkled. She crossed to the bedroom door.

"How're you feeling, Ed?" There was a challenging note in her voice that will bring you success

"Red paint!" Marty echoed thankfully. "Ed, you're a genius! I'll be a double-header this time. Hold everything, Ed, I'm coming!"

going to do is paint those barns. I've stood them for 20 years for your sake, but if I've to carry on alone I'm going to do it my way."

"Eh?" Busy sat up

"Yes," Marty continued, "I hear that Barnes' Hardware in town has a special on in paint, so I've made out an order. They've got that nice bright red like the Smiths."

"Over my dead body! Whatever gave you the idea that I'd leave you to run the place to suit yourself? Red paint, on my barns—" Ed lay back, sunken eyes flashing

Marty retreated. There was a sudden brightness in her eyes Rusty stepped to lick the pale face of his invalid master before following. Ed's voice rose in angry protest against the added indignity.

"Red paint—drat you, dog! Marty, bring me an egg-nog or something Red paint! Time I got up to see that them barns are painted a respectable color—hurry up, I'm hungry!"

"Red paint!" Marty echoed thankfully. "Ed, you're a genius! I'll be a double-header this time. Hold everything, Ed, I'm coming!"

This Visitor Was Hardly Welcome

RADIUM HOT SPRINGS— The hospitable people of Radium-Winnifrene think nothing of receiving visitors as late as 10.30 p.m.

That is why Mrs. E. C. Postfield went to welcome a caller at her back door at that time.

But the caller was bigger than she expected, and highly unwelcome. She tried to shut the door on him, but he was too far in.

She screamed, and her husband and son John came running, in time to scare off a big, red-coated black bear.

Irrigation Dream Coming True To Alberta Farmers

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. — Water, the farmer's life blood, is a $25,-000,000 business in southern Alberta. That's the estimated cost of an enormous, sprawling irrigation plan that is expected eventually to bring the prospects of drouth from 500,000 acres of southeastern Alberta's dry land

The dream of Alberta farmers for half a century, the St. Mary-Milk river project will cover a large portion of the arid palliater triangle in the south and east part of the province. Farmers from Lethbridge to Medicine Hat will benefit from water from the project

When the plan got under way in 1946, but it will be many years yet before it is finally completed.

Men and machines undertaking will draw on the Waterton, Belly, St. Mary and Milk rivers and will cover 307,449 acres. About 120,000 acres are under irrigation now, but they are fed by four long-established irrigation systems

Between 400 and 600 men are at work on the miles of canals, dams and water mains that make up the project No definite estimate has been made as to when the plan will be completed.

Constructing is under the supervision of the dominion and Alberta governments who have poured more than $2,500,000 already into the war of the giant undertaking

Key to the entire system is the St Mary river dam, now about half a lift and slated for completion next year Constructed from tons of rock, clay and gravel, it will be the biggest earthern dam in Canada.

Earth fill for the dam now towers 100 feet in the air, and monstrous machines are hauling clay and gravel to the dam at the rate of more than 15,000 cubic yards daily It will cost $5,250-000 and when completed will impound 320 000 acre-feet of water.

The St Mary system will comprise the earth fill-in, a river diversion channel, an irrigation head, a concrete spillway and an elaborate outlet control works The river diversion tunnel was completed little more than a year ago and now is in use.

Also completed last year was the Jensen dam five miles south of Magrath and nine miles of canal reaching westward from that dam. The cost of $1,600,000 was borne by the Alberta government.

Intensive Campaign To Keep Trained Canadians In Canada

The Labor Department has fired what it termed the opening gun on its an intensive campaign to keep trained Canadians in Canada

The department released a letter from Arthur MacNamara, Deputy Minister of Labor, to the heads of all Canadian universities. In the letter Mr. MacNamara discussed plans for the placement of the 1950 university graduating classes.

"The graduating classes of 1946, 1947 and 1948 fell considerably short of the requirements of employers, and it was not surprising therefore, that the exceptionally large class of 1949 was, to a large extent, readily absorbed," said Mr. MacNamara

"The proportion of this class still seeking employment is gratifyingly small.

"When the class of 1950 graduates next spring, it numbers approximately equal to those of 1949, its placement will present more difficult situation. Many employers will have reached a degree of saturation in their recruiting programme, and it is becoming necessary therefore to explore every means of finding new employment opportunities."

There were undoubtedly some thousands of medium-sized and small companies and organizations which have as yet given little thought to dawn are in process of registering their lines and hopes to gain the assist of part-time trappers to the plan suggested that one of the most effective means of reaching them was through their own alumni magazines.

Mr MacNamara suggested that universities include in their alumni publications a statement of the problem and an emphatic reminder of the part that many graduates can play in its solution

He disclosed that approximately 12 000 employers would again be approached by the Minister of Labor, to obtain estimates of their needs for the requirements of employers. universities trained personnel The replies received made possible some assessment of this particular labor market and uncovered many thousands of specific job openings.

"A soldier of the Michigan Volunteers was taken before a magistrate for playing cards during a divine service, and the magistrate asked him what he had to say for himself.

"Much sir," said the soldier, "I have nothing but a deck of cards (and spreading the deck before him he began with the ace). When I see the ace it reminds me that there is but one God. When I see the deuce it reminds me of the Father and Son. When I see the three-spot it reminds me of the Father, Son and Holy Spirit. When I see the four-spot it reminds me of the four evangelists, Matthew, Mark, Luke and John. When I see the five-spot it reminds me of the five wise virgins. When I see the six-spot it reminds me that the Lord created all things in six days. When I see the seven-spot it reminds me of the Sabbath which he has commanded us to keep holy. When I see the eight-spot it reminds me of the eight persons that were saved when the flood came. When I see the nine-spot it reminds me of the lepers who were cleansed by our Lord. When I see the ten-spot it reminds me of the ten commandments which were handed down to Moses on tables of stone. When I see the queen it reminds me of the Queen of Sheba who visited Solomon, for she was as wise a queen as he was a king. She brought with her fifty boys and fifty girls, all dressed in boy's apparell and asked Solomon to tell which were which. King Solomon had water brought for them to wash. The boys washed only their hands, while the girls washed hands and arms. And in this way he could tell which were which. When I see the king it reminds me of the King of Heaven, which is my Father."

"Well sir," said the magistrate, "you have described them all but the knave."

Replied the soldier, "that is the fool of a constable who brought me down here."

"You are right," said the magistrate. "In looking over the cards I see four sorts of suits, which are the four seasons of the year—spring, Summer, fall and winter. There are fifty-two cards in the deck, which is the number of weeks in the year. There are fifty-two cards in the deck, which is the number of weeks in the year. There are three hundred and sixty-five spots on a deck of cards representing the days of the year. So you see a deck of cards answers me as a Bible, prayer book and calendar."

While the above might have been a firm conviction of truth to the humble lad who commented it, I still cannot bring myself to believe that a common deck of cards has its origin based on such pseudo's and historic events as are related in the Holy Bible, and while the sight of a certain card may remind one of such an event to the forefront of this same lumber-jack's mind, I cannot conceive of the average person having

FAREWELL HELD FOR MR. H. R. HAY

A number of friends and business associates gathered in the Anglican Church hall last Friday night for a farewell "ding" farewell in honor of Mr. Harry R. Hay, who left over the week end for Edmonton where he is to make his future home.

Mr. Hay had previously resigned a manager of the local creamery, a position he had held from the time its business was founded, and as Mayor, and Councillor of the Village which position he had held for over 12 years. We join 'a wishing Mr. Hay the best of luck in his new home.

Mr. Walter Nesbitt of Sheol Lake Manitoba is the new manager at th Creamery. Mr. H. W. Smith is the new Mayor of the Village.

C. P. R. AGENT RETIRES AFTER 46 YEARS OF SERVICE

Mr. E. Finkle, agent for the Canadian Pacific Railway at Ponoka during the past 14 years, retired at the end of September. Mr. Finkle opened the agencies at Penhold in 1904, Stavely in 1905 and Sedgewick in 1906. In his total of 46 years in the C. P. R. service Mr. Finkle was stationed at points between Calgary and Edmonton for 21 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Finkle will continue to reside at Ponoka.

[illegible] ing the same reasons. Even though it is becoming more clear with each passing year that the peoples of the world are becoming more Godless and getting further and further away from genuine christianity, we have not yet reached the state of utter disregard for divine services that we will pay cards in [illegible] our magistrates reached the state of Ungodliness where they will passively endorse such an action.

Of course you understand that the above article is more than likely un true. I publish it merely to call to your attention the dangerous situation in which it is possible for us to find ourselves eventually if we continue along the paths of materialism, while losing sight of the spiritual and moral aspects of life, a close relationship with which lies our only possible hope of survival.

LETTER TO EDITOR

The Community Press does not necessarily endorse and cannot be held responsible for the views expressed by contributors.

Mr. Editor:—

Your comment about radio broadcasting is a most keen one but very interesting and controversial. Just how you arrive at the conclusion that the C B C is dictating to you, I prefer so take in to a private station where you will have even less to say about its programs is a complete mystery. At clost with the CBC you can elect a Government, if there is enough support, who will discontinue its operation. You have no such power over the other. It may be that the Independents give you personality but you want. Preference to the program is a matter of taste, and every man is a law unto himself. Incidentally CBC does not levy a fee on you for tuning in. Your recourse on the loose use of the word freedom, is right very well over use of that term dictator. My conception of a dictator is one who has unlimited power, unrestrained by law. The Conservatives put the CBC on the map Has not the Liberals supported it and why the CCF continue to [illegible] it if it comes to power? Just why do you think that position? Could it be, they think it is what the majority of the people want? In your mention of Hitler in the CBC as Canada's Propaganda Agency, you see the right term when you say Canada for it is another kind of propaganda altogether, being sponsored by the private stations that I would hesitate to label as such. I listened on Friday evening after the world news, to a glorification of the private stations by CJCA. They told us of the various free services given by them, news, entertainments and support of all worth while community projects etc. By stations staffed with local residents who are your neighbors, who live down the street, send their children to the same school with yours etc. wonderful. What a wonderful station. Also what beneficent and idealistic hypocrisy. The newspapers do all these things and in addition sell us the paper at a price less than the cost of the white paper it is printed upon. Why do they do it? Altruism? Nots. They do it because it builds circulation and they can sell their advertising space at a higher price. So with the private radio stations. I wonder where the employees of CBX live, pay taxes and send their children to shool. Sounds I presume. There may be exceptions of course, but every organization that I know of that isn't primarily over to feed for financial gain, supports the CBC. Certainly the arguments are clear across Canada do and always have, which in itself is no insignificant number. No one would suggest that public or private broadcasting is so high a level as it should be but from the wide support given CBC it would seem that it serve the purpose are not in sympathy with the Editor's views. After listening to two Irishmen talking over the air from a private station for weeks on end about their kidneys, and an ad nauseum, to a children's commercial (which type is certainly the work of the Devil), and then from a local station, "Salt, tender, delicious" (they should add stupid to that one) and then comparing this to the CBC in whatever its faults, I vote CBC.

In conclusion Mr Editor, you could read with profit, Fredric Wakeman's "The Hucksters" for an exposit on o the ethics and intellectual level o those radio soap peddlers. Trice, a recent issue, has a review of a book soon to be issued by Mona Kent Miss Kent is the writer of the script "Portia Faces Life (the' she doesn't Friday p.m. 8.45 EDT over NB" After a coupe thousand broadcasts she wrote the book as a sort of protest against the drivel she was forced to put in the program. To be exact she says, 'I kept being torn between the nice living I have made out of radio and the sense of shame I have at turning out that kind of stuff' Still others says she is not even how her she will have her job after the book is released. Oh Freedom! Oh Dictatorship! Oh Private Radio!"

DEVALUATION OF CURRENCY

(By H. G. L. Strange)

Great Britain has devalued her pound sterling from 4.03 American dollars to 2.80 American dollars to the pound. Canada in turn has devalued her dollar from 100 American cents to 90.9 American cents to the Canadian dollar. This means that British goods can be sold in the United States at 90.5 percent less than previous prices, and can be sold in Canada now for 22.6 percent less than the other hand it means that every thig Britain buys from the United States will cost her 42.5 percent to British pounds more than before, an 70.8 percent more for Canadian goods than before, which will tend later to increase the cost of living in Britain and on the manufacturing costs of her export goods Britain obviously must sell a much greater volume of goods in both Canada and the U S. to obtain the same quantity of dollars and Canadian dollars as she has been receiving. It is doubtful, in my mind at least, whether all this in the long run will help Britain to solve her real problem of producing more goods for export and at competitive prices. British emigrants to Canada will have not been prepared by Britain to bring over all their savings will lose 22.6 percent on all the money they still have in Britain. The British Government, I feel, ought to make some compensation to these Canadian settlers.

SEDGEWICK W. M. S.

The September meeting of the Sedgewick W. M. S. was held at the home of Mrs. Davis on Sept. 22nd, with a good attendance of members and visitors. An interesting letter from read from Mrs. Rosenberg who is visiting her son in New York. Mrs. Connell conducted the worship service and Mrs. MacLean gave a review of the new study book.

A grand total of ninety hospital quilts and sleeves house coats were reported made during the month Mrs. Davis assisted by Mrs. Helen Eastly served a delicious lunch at the close of the meeting. The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. H. Smith on October 24th Visitors are cordially invited to attend.

CROP REPORT NO. 10

(By the Bank of Montreal)

In the Prairie Provinces, despite some deterioration, the harvest is rapidly finished in Manitoba nearing completion in Saskatchewan and is well advanced in parts of Alberta. Some frost damage has occurred in Alberta. The Dominion Bureau of Statistics' second estimate places the prairie wheat outturn at 412 million bushels as compared with last year's actual production of 362 million The average yield per acre is estimated at Manitoba, 17.1 Saskatchewan 11.8 and Alberta 12.7 bushels compared with 23.6, 13.3 and 16.3 bushels respectively last year. In Ontario apples, pears, peaches and plums are plentiful, as they are in B.C.

LOUGHEED REBEKAHS HEAR TALK ON U. S. LODGE

The Lougheed Rebekah Lodge No. 61 held its regular meeting night on Sept. 27th, with a nice attendance of 16 members and two visitors. Enjoyed Mrs. Hall who was the visit of member Mrs. Ray Van Meer of Red Deer and Mrs. Elsie Fenne Hasse of Pine Point Lodge, No. 61. The latter who was an old timer at Lougheed and moved away 22 years ago She gave a very interesting talk on her vacation, as well as her travels and visits at Lougheed.

On Sept. 29th, 12 members of th Lougheed Lodge went to Hardisty t attend the District Meeting. Mrs. McCracken and Mrs. Flemmng were the drivers, and a lovely meeting it was, with members from Provost Alliance; Killam; Lougheed and also from Hardisty.

ALL LADIES URGED TO SIGN PETITION TO FEDERAL MEMBER

Attention all ladies! Alarmed by the frequency of sex crimes against children, a group of Killam women are circulating petitions to be sent to our Federal member, asking him to urge the Minister of Justice to have certain changes made in the Criminal Code, so that sex perverts may be restrained from mingling with the public, until pronounced definitely cured by competent authority

This is a matter of such vital importance that we urge every woman who reads this to see to it that her name is on one of these petitions If no petition is presented to you, write the Common or see one of the Women's Organizations in the Village of Killam.

This is one way in which the women of Canada may make their influence felt, and help safeguard our Canadian children.

KILLAM W. M. S. RESUMES MEETINGS

The W. M. S. of Killam United Church held its first meeting after the holidays, on Sept 29th at home of Mrs. H.H Wilson Mrs. Sheppard led the worship period, the theme being Advance! The Vice-President Hazel Hunt was in the chair and Mrs Bakers absence Miss Hunt asked the members to make a drive for new members during October. Mrs. Baker was chosen to collect for the Bible Society.

The first chapter of the new study book called 'Growing With the Years' was introduced by Mrs. Wilson. Th 70-8 percent more for Canadian goods than before, which will tend later to increase the cost of living in Britain and on the manufacturing costs of her export goods Britain obviously must sell a much greater volume of goods in both Canada and the U S. to obtain the same quantity of dollars and Canadian dollars as she has been receiving. # The Menace Of Fire

DESTRUCTIVE FIRES ARE AN ever-present menace to life and property. Each year scores of homes, places of business, hotels and other structures are destroyed by fire, and many lives are lost. Figures compiled by the Dominion Fire Commissioner on the loss of life and property caused by fire, show that in 1947 property loss amounted to $57,050 861, or $4.83 per capita. Deaths due to fire in the same year numbered 380. In addition to the damage to life and property by fire each year in Canada, there is a serious waste of one of our most valuable natural resources, the forests. It is estimated by the Canadian Forestry Association that nearly one million acres of our forest lands have been burned over this year, and such loss is an almost annual occurrence

* * * *

A Danger To Our Forests

The great forest fires which break out almost every year not only destroy valuable trees, but in many cases also destroy the topsoil which is equally valuable and is seldom, if ever, replaceable. In preventing and fighting forest fires Canada has a great problem and one which involves one of our richest natural resources. Great areas of Canadian forests are in remote regions and are inaccessible because of lack of roads or in some of the nature of the land. Another factor which adds to the difficulty of controlling forest fires here is the presence of many coniferous trees which burn easily. For these and other reasons Canadian forests are very susceptible to fire and as yet no way has been found here, or in other countries to check extensive forest fires.

Difficult To Fight Fires

Forest conservation staff do excellent work in preventing forest fires and in controlling those which do break out. They also fight fires with the means which are now available, but the problem of getting equipment to

In cases where it is needed is often difficult or impossible. Those directly associated with this problem are of the opinion that great efforts should be made to find ways to combat this annual destruction of our forests. The Canadian Society of Forest Engineers has suggested that the National Research Council should be asked to assist and that the Department of National Defence might also be asked to help, since the setting of forest fires by enemies is a recognized danger in time of war. The losses of life, property and our forest wealth by fire each year are serious, and the public should lend every support to efforts which are made to reduce this waste and destruction

No Alberta Aid For Empire Games

CALGARY, Alta. — The Alberta Government has definitely closed the door on an appeal for financial aid from the British Empire Games Association of Canada. Calgary Mayor James C. Watson disclosed.

Watson said he had been told of this in a letter received from Lt.-Col. George T. Machum, of Montreal President of the Association.

The Association asked Calgary city council to raise $1,500, explaining that "the Provincial Government has turned down our request for help ... they ought to be told by someone that they must subscribe." Alberta cannot expect the rest of the country to carry their load."

New Alberta Industry Seen

MONTREAL — The combination of low-cost power sources with abundant chemical resources means that Alberta eventually will support a large and important chemical industry, J. R. Donald of Montreal told the Montreal regional conference of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

Because of the abundant low-cost natural gas it seems probable that Alberta will, in the future provide some of the chemical needs of Eastern Canada. In addition to ammonia, such chemicals as methanol and urea as well as the chlorinated hydrocarbons should be produced substantially cheaper in Alberta

Fined For Leaving Under Quarantine

MOOSE JAW — In what was believed to be the first case of its kind here Mrs George Leggett Eyebrow, Bash was fined $10 and costs in court for leaving her home which was under a 15-day quarantine for poliomyelitis. Her infant son, Tony is a polio patient and the home was placed under quarantine.

BEE EXPLORER'S PATH

DARLINGFORD, Man. — Explorer La Verendrye's trip through this area in 1738 will be commemorated by a bronze plaque to be erected east of here. The explorer is believed to have travelled from Portage la Prairie then Fort la Bosse south and northward on his way to the Missouri River

The odeum or odeon was, in ancient Greece, a roofed theatre in which trial performances and musical contests were held. 2847

ARE YOU DISCOURAGED

because you suffer distress from 'periodic' FEMALE COMPLAINTS which makes you NERVOUS, HIGH-STRUNG on such days?

Are you troubled by distress of female functional origin, due to monthly disturbances? Then you may find this just the medicine to relieve such symptoms so many women say it does! Thousands have written us it is exceptional!

Pinkham's Compound has proved remarkably helpful to women who suffer from such symptoms. Try it yourself and see what a wonderful help it is!

Pinkham's Compound is a very effective uterine medicine. It has a good soothing effect on one of women's most important organs.

Taken regularly—Pinkham's Compound helps build up resistance against such distress. It's also a great stomachic tonic!

He Started Something

It was Jim Greenhill, editor of The Sun in Swift Current, Saskatchewan, who started the subject of dull wedding write-ups. In his front page column recently he asked for some reader suggestions on how to improve wedding write-ups and in a thousand letter started a discussion in the Toronto Telegram to stay out of the controversy.

"Take my advice," warns Mr. Greenhill, "don't get embroiled in this subject. My social editor, plus the rest of this editorial staff really got into hot water."

It seems one of The Sun's correspondents took the reminder as his word and wrote a different wedding write-up with a twist on the groom. The whole country has taken sides in the issue and if them holding the write-up was okay, but since then we have been getting letters galore on the subject, and would that I had never started it," moans Mr. Greenhill.

Here, in part, is how the "different" wedding write-up appeared in print:

"To the strains of the wedding march, the groom entered the church on the arm of the best man.

"The bridegroom, who blushed prettily, was attractively attired in a three-piece suit remaining of coal, vest and pants. The coat was decorated with a white carnation in the left buttonhole. The pants which were worn with an air of the groom suspected it would be the last time he wore the pants, as the saying goes, looked very neat for the occasion. The vest, which was lemon in front with matching buttons was sleeveless. It was gathered in the back with the belt and was fastened with small pockets.

"There's considerably more in like wise about the groom and about his best man. The bride's appearance is summed up in little more than a dozen words.

"The bride, gowned in a white brocaded nylon floor-length gown fashioned with a long white skirt and net train carried a bouquet of red roses.

"The groom's mother, editor Greenhill tells me sadly, came up to my office boiling and I do mean boiling. He has decided The Sun will go back to the old hackneyed wedding write-ups."

DOES YOUR BACK ACHE?

Sitting in a draft—working in a damp place—wet feet—there are dozens of things which may cause backache! But there's one way thousands of Canadians have found to help relieve this condition—Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. This effective remedy tones up both the kidneys and the liver—and brings welcome relief from pains in the small of the back caused by "cold" in the kidneys. So insist on this reliable remedy—proven by over half-a-century of use. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. At all drug counters. 19

FUNNY And OTHERWISE

"I am going to kiss you before I go," said the young man who had outstayed his welcome

"Do it now while I'm still young," replied the girl, wearily.

The neighborhood barnacle approached Mr. South Sunday noon and inquired:

"Say, South, are you using your lawnmower this afternoon?"

"Yes, I am," South replied warily.

"Fine. Then you won't be wanting your gold clubs—I'll just borrow them."

Johnny, "I fell in a mud puddle."

Mother —"What, with your new pants on?"

Johnny. "Yes I fell so fast I couldn't have a chance to take them off."

Employment manager: "Now, the man we want for this job must be able to make quick decisions. Do you think you're the man for the job?"

Applicant: "Well-er-a . . . that is . . . maybe . . . I'll think it over and let you know."

* * * *

The army psychiatrist looked inquiringly at the prospective recruit.

"Now what about your social life with the girls? Do you go with your evenings?"

"No, I just sit around."

"Hmmm, don't you ever go with girls?"

"Nope."

"Well . . . Do you have any desire to go with girls?"

"Well sort of."

"Why don't you?"

"My wife won't let me."

CANADA RECORDING SAFETY-CONSCIOUS

LAKE LOUISE, Alta. — The people of Canada are becoming increasingly safety-conscious through information distributed in the press, by radio and motion pictures, the Canadian Good Roads association was told recently.

GROWING WEATHER

SYDNEY, Australia. — Humidity was great after heavy rains that burns and clover seeds began to sprout in the wool on the back of sheep in the Murrumbidgee area, New South Wales. Farmers said they had never seen such weird looking sheep.

Expect Oil To Flow To Great Lakes In 1951

CALGARY. — Dr. O B Hopkins, vice-president of Imperial Oil and H. H. Hewetson, chairman of the board, revealed here that the 650-mile pipeline from Edmonton to Regina is definitely being extended to the lakes of the lakes, an additional 700 miles, and will be routed through the sedimentary area.

It was also indicated the company is currently contemplating its extended route to run through to Superior, Wisconsin

The line, originally planned to run from Edmonton to Regina on basis of a 10-inch pipe, was increased to 12 inches and then 16 inches in diameter. Then further enlargements in plans were made as oil resources expanded, which finally ended up with a 20-inch line from Edmonton to Regina, 16-inch line from Regina to Gretna Manitoba, and an 8-inch line from Gretna to the head of the lakes.

Estimated cost of this project was placed by Mr Hewetson at $280 millions.

It is believed that Imperial will be in a position to move crude from Edmonton to Regina in the fall of 1950 while oil flow from Regina to the head of the lakes should start in the spring of 1951.

Thro' The Window At Lougheed

Monday morning again, and what a story, seem to be ending it in the relief after the shock I got Sunday mane way, defeating Hardisty boy morning, when half awake I reached games of ½ double header by substa- for the Saturday paper an I saw the lial score Christenson made a smart bedding, "Happy New Year $736" substitute for Angus who is out of Heavens, thought I, the alarm has catching with a broken hand, which clock gone berserk and the day I had a diagnosis and ingredients in the has already arrived. Jumping out of bed I grabbed the hand mirror abandoning at what I expected it to show me. Alas it was only too true looking but a mass of hair and bristles where my face should have shown. I dropped the mirror on the bed and rank back on it and only then did I realize that instead of the hand mirror I had been looking into the bristle side of the hair brush. In a somewhat calmer mood I read the complete article, only to find it was the Jewish New Year and according to their calendar the year was 5710. Oh my aching head. Why does every thing happen to me!

John Stables and wife of Red Deer were visitors at the Joe Stables the week end of the 30th. Mrs. Ray Van Slooe and children motored to Edmonton and is remaining for a short visit with her parents the A. Stenbergs.

The Lougheed Wildcats, silver start of old clothes, lunch type, Lucy Lee ing the 1949 season in a blaze of de's and draped vegetables. This is a very important step to higher education which culminates in the Lougheed Edmonton basketball league, a harmless bit of fun enjoyed by amateurs, traffic at congested points such as the high level bridge, by putting the trolley poles on at each end and approaching commuters out both through crowded theatres. Harmless? I wonder if they ever give a thought to the effect this would have on a hurry call for the fire dept. or ambulance or in case a fire broke out while the were congregating there in a theatre. The papers pass it off with an encouraging laugh, then worry about a few people blocking the sidewalk on 101 street, till well, wait until after it happens and get a couple more American reports and a royal commission to tell you why. But nothing rule no matter who it is by or when.

Mrs. J. Gillott has returned from a visit to East Coulee, and is staying with her daughter Mrs W H Harris

Yes, it pays to advertise in the Community Press as was apparently one my note in the last issue and checked into the herb patch. Now I'm sure duck for Sunday dinner. Isn't that just duck.

Art Fedlar and his mother motored to Edmonton last Sat. Art is registering for this term in Varsity. Mr Pedlar went up twice to-day the first record of geese being hunted with cameras and reports and no doubt will be taken care of in our next game laws. As the disgruntled reporter left the scene, he was heard to mutter Ahrs ahrs there goes my dinner.

U.S. Expects Bumper Wheat, Corn Crop

WASHINGTON. — The United States Agriculture Department estimated this year's wheat crop at 1,-129,881,000 bushels—the fourth largest ever grown in the country. The corn crop was put at 3,325,741,000, the second largest on record.

The wheat estimate is 2,740,000 bushels less than the 1,131,320,000-bushel farm out a month ago. It compares with 1,288,466,000 produced last year and 991,536,000 for the 10-year 1932-41 average.

Will corn estimate is 12,318,000 bushels less than the 3,338,227,000-bushel forecast a month ago. It compares with last year's record of 3,-650,348,000 bushels and with the 10-year average of 2,767,000 bushels.

The estimate of winter wheat was unchanged from 894,874,000 bushels forecast a month ago. It compares with 990,600,000 last year and 726,-853,000 for the 10-year average

Oil Discovery Seen As Defence Factor

EDMONTON Edmonton area oil discoveries and developments are "top factors in North American defence," the United States joint chiefs of staff declared here while their plane was being refueled for completion of a flight to Alaska on a 16-day inspection tour.

"There just can't be too much oil discovered in North America, no matter what the domestic operators say," said Gen. H. H. Vandenberg, chief of staff, U.S. air force.

"And that time you Canadians have found it right where it can be of the most use."

Importance of the oil strike in the Edmonton area was echoed by Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint staff, and Lawton Collins, chief of staff, U.S army, and Vice-Admiral Arthur D. Struble.

343 Reasons Why This Hen Claims Record

CALT After laying 360 eggs in 365 days to set a world record a White Leghorn hen near here can't content to rest

The hen, Hammerd's Pride, dashed up her record Aug. 27 with the end of her first year as an egg layer Owner Donald M. Shaver, reported, and hoped that she would take a rest. But she's still laying

When her year was up Shaver put her on half feed. That didn't discourage her and a group of other hens. Now Shaver is ready to cut off the birds' water supply in order to stop them laying.

The process is known to poultrymen as "forced moulting." It causes hens to cease laying eggs for five or six weeks and to shed their best crop of feathers. Then they are ready to go into breeding pens in preparation for their year of egg-laying, a period when a high producing hen such as Hammerd's Pride will lay about 250 eggs.

By producing 360 eggs in a year enough to fill a standard egg case

This white leghorn is most popular hen in chicken-crop as it broke world's record in laying 360 eggs in 365 days. Proud owner of this record breaker is Donald McQ. Shaver, of Galt, Ont., who hopes to raise many more of same. H.N.S. photo

Shaver's little white hen broke the record of 357 eggs in a year set by a British Columbia bird, Ne Demier-3-31. She also did better than Dewdney-10-La, a white Leghorn pullet that laid 357 eggs in 365 days at Agassiz, B.C., in 1935.

The 337-mark also was reached in 1941 by a Barred Rock hen near Granville in the Ottawa district. The United States record is 357, set by a hen in Oregon.

The achievement of the Shaver hen in laying an egg almost every day in all the more remarkable by comparison with the average farm hen, which produces about 120 eggs in her pullet year.

Shaver, 29, has been a breeder of high-producing Leghorns ever he was 12 years old with the exception of the five years he served overseas with an armored regiment in the Second World War. At Whitechurch Farm 1', miles from Galt, he has 2,000 hens. He also finds time to run a feed business.

His attractive, dark-haired wife helps tend the chickens when not looking after her daughters, Judy, 8, and Wendy 2

In an interview Shaver said it takes time and patience to develop strains of hens capable of laying 300 eggs or more in continuous performance. He starts with the best stock he can find, then combines the most productive strains, often through in-breeding.

HEALTH
Whooping Cough

Whooping cough remains the most serious infectious disease Canadians have to deal with, it is stated by Dr. C. S. Anglin of Toronto's hospital for sick children in an article—The Wise — Immunize!"—in a recent number of the magazine Health. Health is the official publication of the Health League of Canada

"There are more cases and deaths from whooping cough each year than from diphtheria, scarlet fever and poliomyelitis combined," writes Dr Anglin. "This disease is caused by a germ that grows in the throat and upper air passages producing irritation and then mucus which leads to severe coughing and choking spasms with difficulty in breathing. Because of the smaller air passages in infants, whooping cough is more serious in this age group; the patients may actually choke to death if they recover from the acute illness, there may be weeks and months of prolonged coughing spells which disturb the patient as well as everyone else in the house

"Fortunately there is immunization available against whooping cough. In about 80 per cent of children immunized there appears to be complete protection, and in the remaining group, if the disease develops, it is so mild that it is not as serious a problem."

The author states that prevention of disease has become one of the major aims of the medical profession, and that the adage "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" applies well when one considers the many of the diseases still prevalent throughout the world.

He discusses the continued need for vaccination against smallpox, stating that it is usually recommended that children be vaccinated before one year of age. There is less chance of reaction during this period. He also says it is wise to re-vaccinate every five to seven years

Dr Anglin writes that diphtheria has been almost as serious as smallpox in the past. It is a disease caused by a germ that spreads rapidly from one person to another. Also, some people who are in good health may carry the germ in the nose and throat and spread the disease without knowing what a menace they are to the people with whom they come in contact. Most diphtheria deaths occur among infants and young children.

"We know immunization by toxoiding can protect people from diphtheria," Dr. Anglin says. "Mainly as a result of an intensive toxoiding program many large cities do not have a single case of diphtheria throughout the year."

Poison Sprays Kept 'Hopper Damage Down

WINNIPEG Despite the large infestation of grasshoppers across southern Manitoba during the past summer, poison sprays checked the insects to such an extent, that only a minimum of crop damage resulted, H. E. Wood, director of the Manitoba government's anti-grasshopper organization said.

The committee in charge of the anti-grasshopper campaign met and reviewed its activities and the results achieved.

"The farmers, while concerned over the severe hopper infestation, which may continue next year, have a confidence in the new type of chemical grasshopper killers. The mechanically-applied sprays have proved themselves in the grasshopper control campaign this year," Mr. Wood said.

In the grasshopper areas in Manitoba damage, with a few exceptions, was slight. In a few districts a little marginal trimming was noted but in no case was it serious, according to final reports received by the committee.

Studying the possibility of a severe infestation again next year, the committee was informed that much of the stubble land throughout the grasshopper area and particularly in the Red River valley has been fall-worked.

These cultivated fields are less attractive to hoppers laying eggs and eggs already deposited are usually destroyed.

Surveys of egg deposits are now being made by the dominion entomological laboratory at Brandon. Results of that survey will be available late in October and will show the extent to which the insects will be present in Manitoba fields next year, Mr. Wood said.

HEN KNOTS LAYING AN EGG

Does a hen lay an egg because she wants to? In the opinion of Prof. L. E. Weaver of Cornell University, the answer is "Yes". He cites a hen's behavior as proof. "Obviously a hen enjoys laying," he says. "She chuckles hilariously after the performance is over." He admits, however, "A hen is an egg-making factory. At maturity, given enough light, plenty of readers laying ration and good care, she will have to lay She has no choice. It's a good thing she gets pleasure out of it."

Marybield News Marks 40 Years Of Publication

MARYFIELD Sask — Back in 1940, when the village of Maryfield was in its infancy, the first issue of the Maryfield News was published. Recently volume 40 issue 1, rolled off the press to mark the 40th year of publication of this Saskatchewan weekly.

T. H. Harris, the original owner and publisher, guided the paper from its inception in 1940 until he died in 1942. Then his youngest son Kenneth took over the business.

Kenneth or "Tish" as he is known, entered the printing trade at 14 and worked with his father. His father, himself apprenticed to a printer in England when he was 16, left his native Cornwall in 1905 and came to Canada. He became foreman of a Carberry, Man., printing plant then established the Maryfield News six years later

"Tish" married the former Laura Lee of Fairlight, Sask., and is a family man proud of his three small blonde daughters. He has been active many years in local hockey baseball and curling clubs, serving both as a player and an official

Like many of its counterparts the Harris family's Maryfield News has become an institution. Its columns tell the history of the community—the comings and goings of the visitors and local residents, births, marriages and deaths, their interests and local improvements.

Ogygea was 3rd earliest legendary king of Attica and Boeotia. In his time a great flood took place, called the Ogygian flood.

FRESH AIR ::

By MICHAEL TIFF

Pull Good Ye Seeing The Pish In The Fresh Air Adee Medal Canadian.

IF THERE'S anything I hate," muttered Bud McDaniels, "it's swinging that party."

It's the smart guys that get real boy out o' life," said Tim Laverty "Dumb galoots like us never our heads off for pennies and what we call three squares."

But three down his pick. "We're thinking the same. Let's eat."

Climbing out of the ditch, they opened their haversacks and began to wolf their sandwiches. As Bud released on an apple, a torn portion of a newspaper was blown against him.

What you reading?" asked his friend, parting his lovin and tying on his bark in the sun.

Living in Luxe," said Bud. "Says here 'Not satisfied with a new place. Clarence Dunne bought a motorboat and took long rides up the Hudson. That guy sure is one o' those small cures we were talking about."

What's the headline?" asked Tim.

"That part's torn away. But here's some more. 'Clarence became known as Playboy Number One along the Big Ditch.' There wasn't a night that he didn't visit. When he stepped out with the chorines, he left a trail of admirers behind him.' Can you imagine a guy like that?" Bud looked up from the paper. "He knew how to enjoy life. Catch him going miles per a pick."

Wish I was in his boots. Any more?"

"Yep. It says here, 'Clarence stopped only at the classiest hotels and gave the bell-boys fifty dollars apiece. He invited the prettiest girls to his parties and the champagne flow as a waterfall. With Clarence there wasn't any limit. His philosophy was to have a rip-roaring time while you could. He had the diamonds and rubies for his favorites. And he liked his food.'" Bud looked up. "Get that, Tim? This guy hikes his eats."

Tim sat up. "Go on, read more I bet he ate like a hog, eh?"

Tim sat. Well, it says here, 'Clarence was a modern Jim Brady. If there ever was one. He had the best meals, salads and sauces in the hotels. He ate three times as much as the average man. He considered eating, like other good things in life, something to take advantage of and enjoy. Why else do a man live?'" Bud stopped reading, glanced at his friend and sighed.

"Boy, he must did have the right slant," said Tim. "Why, I'd call him the smartest man that ever breathed."

"Only fools like us work like slaves and for what? Some beef sandwiches and a hard bed to sleep in. And my wife, Ann. What does she get out of it? Why, Clarence Dunne had something to offer a girl." Bud turned the paper around. "Look, there's a picture on the side. Says, 'Clarence Dunne laughed when reporters asked him whether he liked to work. "Work," said Clarence with a knowing wink. "What do you take me for? I tried work once. I didn't take to it or maybe it didn't take to me."'"

"Bud, after hearing about Clarence I'm beginning if I care to go back to that ditch with the other fellows."

"Tim, it's about time we wised up. Get smart. Look, Tim, here's a guy that's got the right idea and used his brains to get himself together a pile. After that he just went out and spent it."

The other men were rubbing their sleepy eyes and putting their hunch kits in order. Soon the afternoon shift would be there, sweating and sweating and straining.

"Anything more about this Clarence guy?" inquired Tim hopefully. "Just a few more words down here at the bottom." Bud concentrated upon the bit of paper before the sight from the foreman would end their rest "It says, 'Clarence remained quite calm and at ease as he was led away by the police'— hey, what's this about the police?" Bud leaned closer to the ground and Tim stooped forward his ears cocked.

"Go on, read, Bud"

"to the cell which will be Clarence Dunne's home for the next 30 years—the total sentence for the series of his robberies."

Bud and Tim exchanged silent glances. Then they picked up their tools and went back to the ditch.

"Pshaw good swinging this pick, said Bud

"And plenty o' nice fresh air," said Tim.

Cold Storage Chain Across Prairies Planned

VANCOUVER.—A Vancouver firm is undertaking "immediately" establishment of a cold storage chain across the Province for distribution of British Columbia fruits and fish

B.C. Ice & Cold Storage Ltd., which operates a large cold storage plant on Vancouver's waterfront, has announced plans for a $4 million investment in cold storage outlets east of the Rockies for produce it now handles locally Officials expect the branch plants will be ready for the 1950 crop.

Richard J. Crowe, managing director said in the company announcement. "The selling season can be spread over a much greater period if we can supply storage facilities at Prairie centres. Growers should be freed from the gamble of the period from fruit deal and assured a sustained selling period for their products at times convenient to the owners."

HEREFORD CATTLE

All Hereford cattle are descended from one cow left by a farmer in Britain as a legacy 250 years ago. Benjamin Tomkins received this animal as the only bequest from his father. He fixed the breed into the type now known as "Whitefaces" in every continent and this one cow thus inherited has produced the herds now to be found throughout the world.

Measure into large bowl, ½ cup lukewarm water, 1 tsp. granulated sugar; stir until sugar is dissolved. Sprinkle with 1 envelope of Fleischmann's Royal Yeast Flakes. Let stand 10 minutes, then STIR well. Scald 1 cup milk and add 1 tbsp. granulated sugar, 2½ tsps. salt; cool to lukewarm. Add to yeast mixture with 2 cups lukewarm water. Beat in 2 cups sifted bread flour; beat well. Beat in 4 tbs. melted shortening. Work in 3 to 3½ more sifted bread flour. Knead until smooth and elastic, place in greased bowl and brush top with melted butter or shortening. Cover and set in warm place, free from draughts, until size is doubled in bulk. Punch down dough in bowl, grease cup and rub the sides and nearly double. Punch down dough and roll out to ½ thickness. Cut into rounds with 3" cutter, brush with melted butter or shortening. Crease rounds deeply with dull side of knife, a little to one side of centre. Fold larger half over smaller half and press along the fold. Place touching each other, on greased pans. Cover and let rise in warm place until doubled in bulk. Bake in hot oven, 400°, about 15 mins.

PEPPO STUFF

— By A. W. B. —

I could compose an ode to autumn at this particular time but I am not going to. When I think of summer with its warm days blessed with the sun's rays when one can enjoy nature in her fullest, and then think of winter with its icicles and freezing cold blasts, I just haven't the courage to go on. So I'll leave it at that.

Well, the Yankees are once again the champions of the world in baseball circles. It was no surprise to most of us as the Yanks have had a habit of winning over the past several years. Just the same my rooting was all for Dem Bums.

The Federal government announced in the speech from the Throne at the present session of parliament that steps were to be taken immediately to establish the complete independence of Canada as a nation. Accordingly, there is now before the Commons a bill to provide for the abolition of appeals to the Privy Council in London, and the Prime Minister has placed on the order paper a resolution providing for limited amendments to the B. N. A. Act by the Canadian parliament. The bill to abolish appeals to the Privy Council is an important one, affecting every one. If Canadian Courts had had the final say in the legal interpretation of our constitution for the past fifty years, some of the nation's problems might have been more easily solved. More important than its interpretation is the constitution itself, it needs to be amended in order that the national government may have the authority to deal with national problems on a national scale. Mr. St. Laurent's proposed motion provides for the amending of the B. N. A. Act by the Canadian parliament in respect only to those matters over which the provinces under the present act have no jurisdiction. Obviously this is a small step. It means very little. What is required is the amendment of the sections of our constitution which place on the provinces responsibilities which should be assumed by the Dominion. The Speech from the Throne forecast conferences with the provinces to consider a method by which such amendments may be effected. It is hoped that will be no delay in getting on with it. — The People's Weekly.

Be my all of us.

CAMROSE PRESBYTERY MEETS AT SEDGEWICK

The Camrose Presbytery of the United Church met in the Sedgewick United Church on Wed., Oct. 5th with the Rev. Brundage of Daysland in the chair. There were some thirty delegates and laymen present. Mr. Joe Connell an Mr. John Riddell's were present as representative laymen for Sedgewick and Lougheed.

Rev. Mr. Cass of Camrose led the devotions. Reports from various committees were read and discussed. The importance of the Missionary and Maintenance Fund of the church was stressed and all the churches in the Presbytery were urged to reach their allotment of the three million dollars to be reached in Canada during 1949. The Rev. Robertson of Innisfail, President of the Alberta Conference, gave an inspiring address on the progress of the church since the union of 1925. Plans were made for the celebration of the 25th anniversary to be held in every congregation of the United Church in June 1950.

The Presbytery was entertained to lunch in the church hall by the local Ladies Aid. Next meeting of the Presbytery will be held in Camrose United Church in February 1950.

FLASH! FLASH!

Not quite a year ago a 1949 FORD was awarded the Fashion Academy Gold Medal as the 'Fashion Car of Year.' AND NOW, not as a surprise to us, an award (rightfully earned) as thousands of satisfied USERS would say, 'MERCURY TRUCKS' have received an Award for stand out performance, dependability and low cost of operation.

MERCURY WINS AT TRUCK RODEO

Driving a Mercury M-135—158 In. W.B. Model in the Stake class at the Alberta Truck Rodeo in Edmonton. W. (Bill) Pankow of Calgary, owner of the Tiger Transfer (a 100 P.C. Mercury Fleet) was an easy winner over all classes. His fast is no Secret—it was teamwork — a champion in a champion truck, which beat all competition. Pankow insisted on driving a Mercury or nothing and since no entries were in for this stake class, a special arrangement was given. He knew what he needed to win. He got it. He won.

The Antarctic

BECAUSE OF CANADA'S geographical position the people of this country have considerable knowledge of the nature of the area around the Arctic circle and are familiar with its economic and strategic significance. At the other extremity of the globe lies the Antarctic which is likewise an interesting and important region and it has recently been predicted that 1950 will in all probability see the greatest activity in Antarctic exploration in the present century. The continental known as Antarctica covers more than one-eighth of the surface area and at the present time at least ten countries are believed to be interested in it for purposes of scientific study, while fishing is also a factor.

* * * * *

U.S. Plans To Send Explorer

Foremost among the countries interested in the early investigation of the southern continent is the United States. It is understood that an expedition that by Admiral Richard E. Byrd will be financed under the direction of Rear Admiral Phillip Francis Byrd who for many years has been a leading figure in Antarctic exploration and a skilful navigator. The forthcoming expedition would be the first of its kind and are causing producers and scientists alike. The Byrd expedition will make routine visits and to carry out scientific research at the small meteorological bases in the Falkland Island dependencies. It has also another task—one planning to send an expedition there in the coming year.

* * * * *

Many Nations Are Interested

A joint Norwegian-British-Swedish scientific expedition is also expected to visit the Antarctic in November of this year and to remain until January 1952. Their activities will be centred in Queen Maude Land, in an area claimed by Norway in 1939 and their research will be geology and meteorology. Other nations sending parties to Antarctica next year include Argentine and Chile, Japan the Netherlands, Russia, the Union of South Africa and Soviet Russia. A number of these countries have sent whaling expeditions in the past year, and plan to continue these operations. The results of the forthcoming explorations should enable studies will doubtless add much to our knowledge of that region and remote region, while the whaling activities will benefit those countries which participate. The United States has, in the past, suggested that the area should be internationalized but so far the proposal has met not with widespread favour. However the activists and interest which is anticipated in the coming year may give rise to some international plan regarding the future of the Antarctic.

Grain Supplies Brighter Than First Estimate

OTTAWA—Canadian supplies of coarse grains in 1949-50 may be somewhat brighter than indicated in the early estimates of production, the Bureau of Statistics reports

In its quarterly review of the coarse grain situation, the bureau said on August 16 preliminary estimate was based on conditions July 31, when harvesting of Spring grains had not progressed to any major producing area.

"The outlook may be considerably changed when the second estimate of Canada's 1949 grain productions is issued September 15

Lack of adequate rainfall over fairly large sections of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Ontario during the critical period of maturation and growing periods reduced yields considerably in the more seriously affected areas.

However, yields of Spring grains in many sections of Ontario were considerably above earlier expectations and results of the actual harvesting operations in Western Canada could change the over-all supply picture considerably, the report said.

The 1949-49 crop provided for a carry-over July 31 of 59,000,000 bushels of oats and 29,000,000 of barley, bringing expected supplies for the new crop year to 274,000,000 for oats and 156,000,000 for barley.

Prospective fodder supplies for the 1949-50 are said to be better than those of 1948-49, the report said. One compensating factor will be the generally excellent fodder corn crop which will help improve the situation on many dairy farms.

Dutch Farmers To Settle In Alberta Next Year

EDMONTON — Dr. . S Tuinman, of Ottawa, agricultural and immigration attache at the Netherlands embassy, announced that the movement of Dutch families to Alberta next year would total 3,000. He estimated that 10,000 Hollanders would settle in Canada compared with 7,000 during this year Since the Second Great War more than 20,000 have come to Canada

The newcomers, Dr. Tuinman said, would be independent farmers but owing to restrictions on the movement of capital, they would be prevented from bringing funds with which to buy land and consequently would be employed in various labouring lines, hoping to accumulate funds that would help them to acquire permanent holdings.

The attache during his western visit discussed trade situations and the possibilities for greater markets for Dutch exports, remarking that if Canada would purchase more Dutch manufactured goods, then the Netherlands would be in a position to buy Canadian wheat and other products.

Duck Production Being Increased

WINNIPEG — Man's work, coupled with nature s bounty, has been gradually increasing duck production from the low of the early 1930's, George R. Fussel of Winnipeg, general manager of Ducks Unlimited (Canada) told the opening session of the 20th annual convention of the International Association of Game, Fish and Conservation Commissioners here last week. He claimed a substantial increase on duck production has taken place this year despite drought conditions over a large part of the prairies.

KITCHEN MEDITATIONS
POTATO PICKING
By JANE DALE

There's a hint of frost on the evening air
And the leaves are falling one by one
The corn is cut and stands in stooks, the pumpkins are ripening in the sun
There's a pause in the routine of harvesting
By a cold north wind and a sudden rain
We'll pack potatoes till the weather clears,
Says father, "before we thresh again."

So off to the potato patch we go
In our overalls and our brothers clothes
The potatoes turn out thick and fast
And we fill the green bags to the brim.

One hands grow numb and our backs near break
The wet soil sticks to our weary feet
Then mother calls, "Come in to lunch."
We eat biscuits, cake and cocoa relished

Then supper awaits in the kitchen's warmth,
Then off to the field we race once more
With a will we work 'til the sun sinks low
And the lamplight streams from the window and door

The earth smells sweet in the gathering dusk
As the last bag is hauled out
And the feeling of a task well done fills all our hearts to route
In the lamplit room we gather around
The table spread with steaming food
We say a grace for the day's rich yield
Then we seek our beds to find them good.

White Man Disrupts Eskimos' Way Of Life

THE PAS, Man. — Archdeacon D. B. Marsh of Toronto, who has ministered to Eskimos for the last 30 years, said the temporary wartime establishment of numerous white men in the Arctic is disrupting the Eskimos' way of life and time-bing them new, competitive outlooks.

Archdeacon Marsh has just completed a 4,000-mile inspection of Anglican Arctic missions and catechists.

What is urgently needed, he said, is a "continuing, rational policy" toward the Eskimos by which they could overcome a hiatus between the departure of the white man—upon whose food and clothing they have learned to depend and a return to their native life and spirit.

Many natives have been dieting solely on white man's food at isolated Arctic stations and failing to use the meat and fish which is needed to withstand climate rigors—a process seems to flour and baking powder.

He recommended that kindergarten and primary teachers be taught simple hygiene, food and fur resourcefulness and communal work necessities, which is more important than the "three R's". They could then be flown into Arctic outposts for two months each summer to instruct the natives while they are gathered at the posts.

Many of the finer instincts of the Eskimos—his family and community spirit, his patience and skills—are in danger as he seeks to emulate a new and artificial life which he could not sustain without the expensive flow of supplies from farms and industries in the south, Archdeacon Marsh said

Farmers Advised To Save Straw

Straw may be a valuable commodity before the winter is over, declares A. M. Wilson, field crops commissioner, Alberta Department of Agriculture. Although feed prospects have improved in many parts of Alberta some recent rains, all available feed will be required. Even inferior feed is better than none

With the present-day widespread use of combines, the straw pile which have proved valuable in past emergencies are becoming less and less plentiful. Straw from the combine can and should be saved. Effective methods of saving straw are by the use of the pick-up baler or by means of a barge or straw blower attached to the combine. An advantage of the barge method is that the chaff is retained with the straw

Chaff and short straw are frequently lost when the pick-up baler is used. A combination of barge and baler provides an ideal method of saving roughage for winter use. Plans for construction of a suitable straw bunker can be had free of charge by writing the field crops branch, Alberta Department of Agriculture, Edmonton

SNOWFALL LIGHT IN CANADA'S NORTHWEST

Contrary to general belief snowfall is not heavy in the Northwest Territories Because of low winter temperatures, however snow remains on the ground for a long time. Annual precipitation of 10 to 12 inches in the Mackenzie Valley includes up to 50 inches of snow which is about half of the normal snowfall of the Great Lakes, St Lawrence Basin and northern New England regions

Free Arthritis Treatment For Young Albertans

EDMONTON — Dr W W Cross, Alberta minister of health and welfare has announced that a free rheumatoid arthritis clinic for persons under 21 years of age may be opened shortly at the Old Soldiers' Hospital in Calgary

The clinic would come under the program adopted by the legislature this spring. One is already operating in Edmonton.

Under Alberta regulations, any person under 21 who has resided in the province for not less than 12 of the previous 24 months may be referred to the clinics by a personal physician. A diagnosis will be given, and if rheumatoid arthritis is found, the patient may receive free treatment at a clinic or hospital. The treatment cannot exceed 90 days, unless further recommended by the director.

Standard ward accommodation, routine laboratory services, drugs, and dressings such as X-ray examinations, special laboratory examinations and special drugs are included in the hospitalization. Free medical treatment includes medical care by the regular general practitioner or hospital orthopedic and payment methods, procedures and appliances and operations with specialists when recommended necessary by the director.

It's When We Get Precipitation, Not How Much

SASKATOON—Precipitation averages were deceiving, G D Matthews, superintendent of Rosthern experimental station said recently in connection with the 37 years continuous weather observation carried out at the station.

The average 13.7 inches annual precipitation would seem to indicate sufficient moisture for continuous good crops, but there were several years when the rainfall was insufficient, Mr Matthews pointed out. In the red year it was more than needed.

Ten inches of the average annual precipitation was in the form of rainfall, Mr Matthews said but in 1916 the rainfall was 20.7 inches, while in 1918 it was only 6.50 inches

Mr Matthews said that fortunately for crop production nearly half the annual rainfall on the average was received during June and July. Yet in six years of the 37 under survey it was under one inch and in seven of the years it was more than three inches. Similarly, the July rainfall was less than one inch in seven of the years and more than three inches in eight of the years.

Mr Matthews stated that while fall precipitation provided reserve moisture which was important it was not necessarily an assurance of good crops the following season. Yields of grain were largely determined by the amount of rainfall distributed during June and July

Israel Market For Wheat And Lumber

VANCOUVER — Israel is in the market for Canadian wheat and lumber, 35-year-old Ovrahem Harman, wealthy industrial consul-general in Canada, said.

Canada will likely get a major slice of Israel's order for 100 million tons of wheat a year for the four-year period covered by the initial agreement he said Israel's allocation will be derived from Canadian, Australian, and United States exports

Israel also hopes to double the country's present population of 1,100,000 by 1952 with a long-range four-year immigration plan.

We will need building materials in the form of lumber and pre-fab giants as well as foodstuffs to feed them," Mr Harman added.

OSLO, Norwegian farmer Kristian Kihle has a horse with unusual talent. The horse has learned to work a pump by taking the handle in its mouth. Each day after work the horse pumps enough water for house and a herd of cows that share his quarters.

New Form Chlorine Developed By Researchers In Saskatoon

SASKATOON—Nuclear research physicists at the University of Saskatoon are studying a new version of chlorine, discovered a few months ago. With the betatron machine, a small group of physicists are trying to discover the qualities of this newcomer to the chemical family. Chlorine 39 is heavier than previously-known isotopes—variations from the basic element—and is possibly the most important result so far in Saskatoon's nuclear physics research with the betatron.

Chlorine 39 was formed by the betatron's bombarding of argon gas, found in minute quantities in the atmosphere, by 23,000,000-volt X-rays from the machine

Under the direction of Dr R. N. Hasaan, Dr Leon Katz and Dr H. E. Johns, nuclear physics research in the laboratory here has been concentrated on two paths of advancement.

"We are trying to form new isotopes from various substances and to study the properties of these isotopes, and we are attempting to measure the energy of the X-rays needed to produce the nuclear change," Dr Katz said. "In that way we hope to learn more about the structure of the nucleus of the atom."

When a powerful X-ray strikes an atom in a tank of argon gas under high pressure, Dr. Katz explained, a proton (unit of positive electricity) or an electron (unit of negative electricity) may be knocked out of the atom.

This change alters the atom and causes a change in the atom's structure. It is the transforming of argon gas to Chlorine 39

"We do not know yet what practical application this isotope may have," said Dr Hasaan. "The purpose of this study is to gain information and to increase our knowledge of the structure of the atom's nucleus.

Thro' The Window At Lougheed

Angus McDonnell left Tuesday of last week for Edmonton on business.

Mrs Carl Wingar was a Camrose visitor last week, paying a final visit with her brother ere he returns to his home in the U.S.A.

Dr. Elmer Johnson of Stettler is home on a visit to his parents Mr. and Mrs. A V. Johnson, and is enjoying a bit of duck shooting and home cooking on the side

Nurse Mary Merrick of the General Hospital in Edmonton spent the past week end as guest of the I. Reeds

If anyone was late for church a week ago Sunday it was their own fault not the Sexton's as he rang the warning bell at 11 a.m. for the 7 30 p.m. service, not knowing the time had been changed. As he said, "Nobody told the Sexton, so the Sexton tolled the bell"

The Elmer Stubbs family has departed for their new home at Camrose, and Mr. and Mrs. Chirl Lawrence are getting settled in their new home in the telephone office of which Mrs. Lawrence is the chief operator. We wish them all the best of luck in their new ventures.

Congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs G.W. Probst who got spliced their 17th wedding anniversary on labor Day. Mr. and Mrs Probst were married in West Plains, Mo. later moving to Idaho before coming to Lougheed to make their home. How well they succeeded in doing just that is evident to anyone visiting their modern power farm and house with all city home conveniences. May they have many more years together to enjoy the well-earned fruits of their labors. A number of friends and relatives dropped in to pay their respects and to extend the very best wishes.

Dave Johnson and friend of Edmonton motored to Lougheed last week for an evening's shooting. Result, one duck They reminded one of the fellow whose Doctor advised him to take long walks after his meals. That's sure a long way to come for one meal Better luck next time

The links must have worked overtime in this district last week Dave Jones got his arm caught in a combine belt and received a broken arm. Pete Arneson tripped on steps and broke his foot. Ernie Pedersen had a quite fly back and smash his glasses and got a nasty mark in his face. Rusty (name withheld) fell over a rock pile and suffered severe bruises. Glenn drove a load of oil on a road that wasn't there and had to have help to get out. The above all have our sympathy and our hope that their acquaintances with old man jinx has permanently terminated.

Jack Westra is sporting a new five passenger Chev coupe, and the snappy a piece of machinery as I've seen. Makes me wish I was a young chicken.

Had numerous inquiries about the blank page in last week's Community Press, so took the matter up with the Editor. He states that in the local items of interest that should have been given in the local correspondents but were not Think it over and don't let it happen again.

Mrs. A. Foister, who has been visiting with her parents Mr and Mrs Barthel, for the past few weeks, has returned home to Calgary.

John Barthel is still confined to his home though able to be up for short spells. We hope soon to see him around again.

Ray Butler was a Viking visitor Thursday of last week, getting some repairs for his grinding machine.

Norm Culshaw and wife, Lougheed old timers, but of late years residents at Calmary, have been renewing old acquaintances in the district. Norm dropped in and I brought him up to date on all local scandals while he did the same regarding our departure now residing in Calgary We like Calgary, especially with the old gang who talk about away back when.

Mrs. Axel Johnson and son, Dorrie Elmer motored to Nestlow last Friday. Dr. Johnson is located there but will return to complete his vacation with his parents here

Mrs James Jack is a patient in the Killam hospital Her many friends wish her a speedy recovery.

Owing to illness Mrs. Lee Prather missed a couple of days at school but is back on the job again now.

Wm. Aiken Jr. having been on the sick list the past three weeks was at a short while in hospital but is now convalescing again now

Saw Vast Sr throwing his chest out as he proudly displayed his bag of nine benchers, and right on the one onlooker remarked, 'Vast a shot. Vast a shot'.

Mr and Mrs. Tom Wayman of Calgary are here on a visit to her mom Mrs. A. B. Grandma) Marlow, who is seriously ill in Hardisty hospital Grandma, who has passed her 82nd year, has never been a patient in hospital before and we all hope to see her back among us shortly enjoying her usual cheery good health.

Pass your ticket on the baseball pool was right near the one that was Sucker, so was mine.

In spring a young man's fancy turns to love but in the fall this old man's fancy turns to thoughts of murder, mayhem etc., especially when someone stalked in winter wearing fall hat. Some hats doors aren't shivers and says 'My It's cold isn't it?' and I stand there in my shirt sleeves. As Dagwood says 'Give me strength'. Please close the doors

Congrats to Mr and Mrs Bob Chadwick on the arrival of a boy last October 1st in Hardisty

When the football season comes t the moth ball season starts out For the look of the ground tonight a cold stark to all our sandlotters and the extensions on our B V D's. The little snow is merely a warning

Mrs Waldo Be, who has been visiting friends and relatives in the S for the past few months has returned to spend the winter in Lougheed home.

Mrs Ivor Stobbe was guest at Killam hospital Wednesday of last week having a minor operation

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Walmsley spent the evening with the Ivor Walmsleys last Wed Silver beaten Hardisty Lake they have visited relatives in Sask and claim Alberta is far ahead of Sask. from the st standpoint They will visit the Diggs at Killam before returning to their winter home in Edmonton

Another old timer in the person of Joe Reeves dropped in the other day. Joe has been on a months visit to h old home in Nova Scotia and stopped off at Lougheed to look after his farm interests before returning to his home in Rankin B C I had a real pleasant him on the way he was building old father time to a draw He says thoughts of a visit back to Lougheed keeps him young

Mr and Mrs Cecil Collier and the family are spending Thanksgiving a the P.D. Collier home

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bulloch are spending the long week end at Lougheed, he to renew old acquaintances and she, a recent arrival from England to make new ones We hope and our belated congratulations to the newlyweds

John Harding and wife and baby Dave of Edmonton are spending Thanksgiving with the parents a and Mrs. C. E. Harding.

Saw my old friend Muirhead in town Saturday giving the once over to a snappy little car parked in front of the office, so I joined him for lookee. While commenting on the car, an Austin from England we were joined by a third party' apparently an expert as he seemed to know all about cars Finally asked me if I knew the difference between an Austin and an auctioneer Not being one of the Quiz Kids, I had to give it up says he. Austin has the wind in the tires.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

Something New

By RUSSELL WILSEY

GERMAINE RANDOLPH lay staring at the ceiling, his mind hovering on sleep. That Agnes Davidson George thought, she's the talking-cat woman. Now that Jane's got me to buy that television set, I suppose the Davidsons will be dropping in every night! Why the devil did I let Jane talk me into the thing?

George's eyes fluttered shut and his mind began to teeter over the brink.

"George!" It was Jane, in a sharp whisper.

"Huh?" George responded sleepily.

Get up! There's somebody downstairs." Then George heard it too, in the living-room.

George slipped out of bed to the floor. Carefully he lifted out his shotgun, reserved for rare days of duck hunting, and chambered a shell. He held the gun in the folds of a coat hanging in the closet as he snapped it shut with a muffled click.

Moving cautiously, he stepped out into the hall and went to the stairs. There he halted and listened. Then he again heard the footsteps.

Holding his gun ready, George descended. At the bottom step he ran his hand along the wall until he found the light switch. Nothing happened. The room remained in darkness.

Immediately there flashed across George's mind the recent headlines in the papers: "PHANTOM BURGLAR STRIKES AGAIN!" The burglar who unscrewed all the light bulbs so he could escape in the dark.

The man now in the dining-room must have heard the switch. George could sense him moving to circle the living-room. The sweat trickled into George's eyes, and he could feel his pajamas sticking to his back. He bent at the knees and began to creep along the wall.

He came up against a table with a slight bump. His hand ran across a smooth, cool sheet of glass. It was the screen on the television set!

There was something, he thought, that he should remember. Something Jane had told him about. And then he had it. Moving his hand by touch, he found a dial on the set and twirled it as far as it would go to the right. Then he located another dial, a bigger one, and turned it slowly until it clicked sharply.

From the corner of his eye George caught the sudden movement in the shadows of the arch connecting the living and dining rooms. The burglar was in the room with him now.

The machine hummed softly first. Then a waved line ran across the screen. It blossomed into a soft but strong light that filled the room. George caught a brief picture of the burglar's surprised face as he squeezed the trigger.

With the wounded robber in hospital and police hands, George told the story over and over.

"Mr. Randolph," the sergeant asked, holding his notebook, "would you mind going over it again? I don't think I got it exactly straight."

"Not at all," George answered with a smile. "When I found I couldn't turn the lights on, I remembered our new television set. You see this knob here? It regulates the amount of light you get on the screen. When you turn it up as strong as it'll go, you get enough light to fill up the room. That's just what I did. I turned this knob all the way over, and then I reached over here to this big one and turned it too. That turns on the sound. Bango! I let the poor guy have it before he knew what hit him."

Basking in the admiration of his cluttered neighbors, George beamed again. "Yes, sir," he said, "this science is a wonderful thing. It's lucky I decided to go out and get one of these gadgets."

If his wife's fond smile meant anything else, it was strictly private between them.

NEW OIL COMPANIES

Fifty new oil companies moved into Edmonton during the first six months of 1949, according to Graham W. Curtis of the Edmonton industrial commission.

BRIEFLY SPEAKING

ELROSE, Sask — For the second time this year the Homemakers' Club here has donated 50 books from its library for Indians in the province.

AN ALL-TIME HIGH

WINNIPEG — Manitoba had 66 deaths from accidents in August, an all-time high, W. Trevor Thomson, director of safety for the provincial government, announced in a monthly report.

WORKED FAST

BELLIE, Alta. — Changing axle tires is hardly the way to escape garage fees. But John Chernychan, 22, had that when his garage caught fire. With his car jacked up and only three wheels on, Chernychan found the fourth wheel, put it on and drove away.

LARGE BARLEY YIELD

MINNEDOSA, Man. — Albert Sanderson, pioneer Minnedosa district farmer, got 100 bushels of barley from one and one-half acres of land or a rate of 100½ bushels to the acre. This may be a Canadian record.

GIRLS WIN TRIP

ROULEAU — Two Rouleau girls, Maurice McKean and Caroline Rogers, won a trip to the Toronto Royal Winter Fair, as the Homecraft club competitions held in Saskatoon. They made up a team which represented the "world-dressed girl" project. Work consisted of a demonstration of jogging, choosing appropriate costumes and evaluating fabrics.

TIRES WAS EASY

VERMILION, Alta.—An R.C.M.P. officer didn't have to look hard to find the culprit who took a dozen fountain pens from Ross Hooke's drug store. On a narrow step of the local post office a man stumbled and fell in front of the officer, who was passing by. From his pockets fell several fountain pens. John J. Handley, the stumbler, was fined $30 for the theft.

PROVINCE'S NAME

The Province of Saskatchewan was named after the Saskatchewan River, whose name is an Indian term meaning rapid river.

RECIPES

LEMON SQUARES

Mix together:
30 Graham Wafers, rolled fine
½ cup melted butter
½ cup white sugar
Divide this mixture in half and pat half into a tin and bake for 5 minutes. Meanwhile, make the following filling:
Juice and rind of ½ lemon
½ cup white sugar
½ cup flour
2 egg yolks
3 tablespoons hot water
Cook the above over water until thick. Spread this over the baked portion of the wafer mixture. Beat the egg whites and put on top of lemon filling. Add the other half of the wafer mixture and bake from 3 to 5 minutes.

CARROT PINWHEEL MEAT LOAF

1 pound ground beef
1½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 onion, minced
1 egg
1 tablespoon milk
½ cup soft bread crumbs
1½ cups shredded raw carrots
2 tablespoons minced parsley
Thoroughly mix all ingredients except carrots and parsley. Roll on sheet of wax paper with a wet rolling pin to make a rectangle 9 inches wide and about ½ inch thick.
Spread with mixture of carrots and parsley, roll up like jelly roll. Place in shallow baking pan and bake in moderate oven (350 deg F.) for 1 hour.

Large Crop Of Sugar Beets In Manitoba

WINNIPEG — Manitoba's 1949 sugar beet crop will probably exceed 130,000 tons and top all previous records, it was learned.

With more than 15 000 acres under cultivation, largely in the area south of Winnipeg, the crop is expected to top the peak 1942 tonnage of 130,853 from 14,130 acres. It will also be well ahead of last year's 80 500 tons from 9 000 acres.

Provincial government officials hope the figure will continue to rise in future years. Since it's inception in 1940, the industry has meant an average income of $1,000,000 annually to sugar beet farmers.

Previously held down by wartime and post-war labor shortages, the industry is expected to double its production within the next few years. Market for the sugar is largely in northwestern Ontario, Manitoba and eastern Saskatchewan.

Officials of the Manitoba Sugar Beet company are now negotiating with parts of the northern United States which may be interested in the product.

Greater availability of labor, good cash income and beneficial effects on the soil are given as reasons for farmers wishing to expand their production in the future.

INDIAN BARTER

As late as 1900, the medium of exchange among the Indians of the Northwest Pacific coast was a woolen blanket.

ONE ON THE EDITOR

The reorganization of The Lemberg Star, E. E. H. Workman of Lemberg, Sask., recently had one passed on him that he believes he will never be able to live down among subscribers. Always pleased to show school students the rudiments of printing, welcomed them to his plant, but while having a visit from two or three students recently, one of them ran across a newly switched type letters of the paper's mast head. Mr. Workman being a very busy man failed to notice the switch of letters till he had run the full issue of his paper through the press. To discover his horror that instead of publishing 'The Lemberg Star' he had published 'The Lemberg Rats'. Needless to say the student has lost his welcome ligious fanatics, they fervently carved their settlement out of what was once a wilderness.

The original handful built their homes in the heavily-wooded valleys that wind in and out of the Athabasca area. Now their settlement numbers 600, and the waving heads of wheat give ample evidence of the prosperity of the community

CANADIAN GRAVES IN HOLLAND GIVEN LOVING CARE

VANCOUVER — Graves of Canadian servicemen in Holland are better cared for than those in Canada, reports a mother whose son was killed in the Second World War.

Mrs. Margaret Bristow of Vancouver, president of the Silver Cross Mothers, who has just returned from a two-month tour of European cemeteries, says: "It was white crosses and flowers all the way in Holland. The cemeteries could not be tended more lovingly."

Mrs. Bristow, first Canadian mother to visit Dutch cemeteries as guest of the Netherlands war graves committee, says Dutch children have adopted every one of the 4,000 known Canadian graves in the country.

Horse Wins Fight With Hungry Bear

TISDALE, Sask. Carlton district farmer Jack Mann told how one of his farm horses won a fight with a half-starved bear.

Mann said that the horse, wheeling and standing, pranced on its hind legs while the bear struck with its forelegs like a boxer in a ring.

Mann finally scared the bear away and shot it. 2846

1,200 Saskatchewan Rural Residents Receive Electrification

An estimated 1,200 Saskatchewan residents will receive electrification this year under the province's rural electrification program, J. W. Tomlinson, manager of the Saskatchewan power corporation, said recently. However by April, 1949, the corporation has received over 6,000 applications.

Recipe

Measure into bowl, ½ cup lukewarm water, 1 teaspoon granulated sugar; stir until sugar is dissolved. Sprinkle with 1 envelope Fleischmann's Royal Pat Rising Dry Yeast. Let stand 10 minutes, THEN stir well. Add ¾ cup milk and stir in ¼ cup granulated sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons shortening and 1 cup sifted flour. Beat until smooth. Add 1 cup sifted bread flour. Add pour mixture and 1 beaten egg; beat well. Work in 2½ cups more sifted bread flour. Kneed lightly; place in greased bowl and brush top with melted butter or shortening. Cover and set in warm place, free from draughts. Let rise until doubled in bulk. Punch down dough and divide into 2 parts. Roll each form into smooth balls. Roll each piece into an oblong sheet to rate greased pans about 7" x 11". Grease tops well and let rise until doubled in bulk. Pest, core and cut 6 apples into thin wedges. Sprinkle risen dough with ¼ cup granulated sugar and lightly press apple wedges into cake tops, slurry edges down and close together. Mix 1 cup granulated sugar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon and ½ teaspoon nutmeg. Cover and let rise about ½ hour. Bake in moderate oven, 350F. about 1 hour. Serve hot, with butter.

Sedgewick Actions

We are pleased to see that Mrs. A Clifton is home from the city again.

Mr. Jake Bay of Winnipeg and all points west was a week end visitor here, renewing old acquaintances. Mr. Bay informed your reporter that his son Sid is now a graduate Pharmacist and has his own store in the city of Winnipeg.

Mr. Baker returned home Sunday from the Killam hospital. Welcome.

The Bethania Ladies Aid celebrated their 40th anniversary at the church on October last. During the program Rev. Egedahl, the first Minister of the Church, recalled the days when the Church and the Ladies Aid was first organized. A short program and dinner rounded out the festivities.

Mary Muirhead, the joe Dubberts Mary Blackaren, Neil Jamieson and Ron and Lee MacLean were among those we noticed home for the Thanksgiving week end.

Mrs. Kenny McGregor left recently for Edmonton where she will visit with her daughter Annie.

Mrs. Maude McGregor has returned from a visit at Red Deer.

Mrs. Jerry Hilliard and infant son of Camrose has been visiting at her parental home, the H. Richard obs.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Zaunbek and son son of Bonnyville dropped in for the week end enroute home from a visit in California. Jerry is the manager of the NADP Creamery at Bonnyville. He reported that he had visited Mr. and Mrs. Milo Peterson at Richmond, Cal. and found them well and happy.

Mrs. Bob Vickerman and son son of Medicine Hat was a visitor here on Saturday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Simons are visiting relatives at Stettler.

The Ray Davis family spent the week end at Coon in southern Alberta with their daughter and son-in-law. While there Ray and Grace got in a little pheasant hunting.

Mr. and Mrs. Sytsma Gamme of Edmonton spent the week end here and at Killam. They were accompanied by Mrs. Jay Sawyers who had been in the General hospital, and when we are pleased to report is feeling much improved.

Mr. Roy Carter of Coeur d' Alene, Idaho visited here last week with the Editor and other friends. Roy formerly lived at Bawlf and earlier homesteaded north of Killam. It was our first sight of him for 25 years.

Mrs. Steve Cullum was calling on friends in town last week, before leaving for Grande Prairie to visit.

The annual Presbytery meeting of the United Church was held in the local church hall on Wed. of last week. The Ladies Aid served dinner at noon and lunch later on.

Mr and Mrs John Hopkin returned last Saturday from Ontario with a brand new Plymouth sedan.

Mrs. Babe Dillow and Colleen and Duncan McKenzie were business visitors in Edmonton last week.

We are pleased to see Mr Charlie Jamieson around again after his recent illness. Charlie is feeling not too bad but says he won't take on any body under 70 for a four race.

Listened in a broadcast over the radio the other night, which took the form of a quiz between groups of business men from Calgary and Edmonton. The questions were quite obviously intended for 12 year old children and must have been just as silly for the participants as it was for the listeners. Probably a CBC sponsored program.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Scharman from Fabyan were visiting Mrs. Schurman's Br. over Thanksgiving.

A shower will be held at home of Mrs Harold Christenson on Tuesday evening October 18th in honor of Miss Mildred Knutson, bride-elect of the near future. Everyone welcome.

Mrs. Mary Bergum visited over the week end with her son Roy and the family at Hughenden.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Harder and the children of Camrose spent Sunday with Mrs. Bergum prior to leaving for the Coast to reside.

Earl Bergum was home from the city over the week end.

Mrs. H. W. Smith is visiting in Calgary with relatives.

Our game hunters have returned from Sullivan Lake and all reported bagging some birds, although none of them are doing any bragging.

PRESBYTERIAN LADIES MEET

Mrs. A. E. Farr was hostess to the Presbyterian Ladies Aid. which met on Thursday of last week. Many items of business required the attention of the meeting. Members approved a motion to make a donation in the Board of Managers to meet current expenses. It was also decided to resume the former practice of getting volunteers to give tea commit ts, weekly cleaning, then disposing with Janitor service. Mrs. Fairweather, Mrs. Ansell and Mrs. G. Homan were appointed to make the annual canvass of members of the church for funds for the Bible Society. The meeting decided to give its support to the movement initiated by the women of Vegreville, to try to induce the Federal Government to increase the penalties for sex crimes. Petitions were circulated among the members to be signed, and Mrs. Fairweather was appointed to meet with delegates from other organizations to compose a form letter to be circulated among friends in other provinces Plans were completed for the annual bazaar and tea to be held on Nov. 5th. The president welcomed to the meeting, the new Minister, Mr. Gilmer, who spoke briefly. Mrs. C. White and Ruth were also welcomed. Lunch was served by the Mrs. D. Bonar assisted by the hostess.

A. T. A. LOCAL 32 MEETS

(By J. W. Chalmers)

During the recent teachers' convention held at Camrose, members of the Killam Local met to choose officers and deal with other business. Chosen as president for the coming year was K.W. Hanks from Sedgewick, with D. T. Walmsley of Lougheed as Vice. Secretary-Treasurer will be Miss Davies of Sedgewick. Councillors are JC Bindrup of Forestburg and S H Mallett of Alliance. Salary negotiations committee will consist of F J Hussey, M Evans of Joussard and D T Walmsley with the president as ex officio. It was decided to nominate I C Bindrup as geographical representative to the provincial executive of the Alberta Association, and a campaign committee was chosen.

HAND OF THANKS

The official campaign for the Polio Ambulance Fund conducted by the Sedgewick School Cadets officially closed on October 1st, with the sum of $23.50 being collected. The Cadet Corps wishes to thank all those who contributed.

DEATHS

HENRY BAKER

After an Illness of long duration during which time he bore his suffering with a patience and fortitude which stands as an object lesson, Henry Baker answered his last call on October 13th in the hospital at Killam. Mr. Baker was born 69 th state of Minnesota in the year 1885 and came to Sedgewick in 1906 and settled on a homestead south of the Village. ### KILLAM C. W. L. NOTES

The October meeting of the C. W. L. was held at the home of Mrs. R. Greene with seventeen members and two visitors present. The member elected surgical dressings for the local hospital during the meeting

Correspondence consisted of two thank you notes from recent bridge gifts received. A letter supporting the campaign for Amendment to the Criminal Code was read and letters were circulated to be signed by members and sent to Ottawa. Mrs. E. Chevrett was appointed to represent the CWL in the community effort. Final arrangements were made for the annual chicken supper and bingo which is being held in the Parish Hall on October 27th.

A committee was appointed to purchase a new Communion Chalice and plastic covers for hall tables

During study club several chapters of a book were read Mrs Ted Cooper was on the attendance prize

The November hostess will be Mr Gordon Fee. Lunch was served.

KILLAM ANGLICAN W. A.

The monthly meeting of St Giles W. A. was held at the home of Mrs Wm. Yelnell with 13 members present. The President Mrs. George Stewart presided. The meeting opened with a hymn, memorial prayer and the responsive Litany read by Mrs. Brash. Roll Call was answered by a scripture text

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. The correspondence was read. The letter re the desirability of an amendment to change in the present Criminal Code to safeguard children was with the full approval and attendance of all members. The Treasurer's report was read and was very satisfactory There were two birthdays during the month. The church and visiting committees were appointed for November. Russell Smith and Mrs Mogg Brodie to collect for the British and Foreign Bible Society. We were very pleased to have with us the Rev and Mrs. Brooks, Mrs William White and Mrs John Child Meeting closed with prayer A very delicious lunch was served.

CANVAS TO BE MADE TO AID MEMORIAL RINK FUND

The citizens of the entire Killam district will be canvassed by a group of volunteers during the period from November 1st to 15th for memorial funds for the Killam Memorial Rink Fund. Arrangements for this canvass were completed at a meeting of the Executive of the Board of Trade on Thursday of last week. The Arena is now completely closed in and will be ready for winter use in a very short time. However additional funds are needed to pay for the materials purchased and work that is already completed. The spread of this Community Memorial, your Board of Trade, firmly believes that the arena will not only be a fitting memorial to those who served in the wars, but will also be a decided asset to the community. The support already given by various groups as individuals is assurance that the entire community is behind the move The continued co-operation and financial support of all is hoped for when the canvassers call in November. The men who will undertake this canvass for the good of the community are listed below:

Area North of Highway 13 and East of Highway 36 — R. C. Kinser Ross York and Geo. Stewart

Area North of Highway 13 and W. of Highway 36 — Geo. Vanderveen Jas. Rancier and E. Bosse.

Area South of Highway 13 and E of Highway 36 — Jas. Grant Jr. and Roy Sorenson.

Area South of Highway 13 and W of Highway 36 — G. MacLeod, Ed. Kuebel, E. Chevrett and M Gibb

Village Business Phone: S. James

MEMORIAL HALL FUND SHOWS STEADY CLIMB

This past week saw the big thermometer on Sedgewick's main street reach the $1000 mark, with the community canvass just nicely under way. The list of pledges obtained thus is increasingly impressive. Nearly 100 percent support in all sections covered so far; in several, subscriptions are also good. The car, due to late harvest, will not be drawn for until Nov. 15th to allow for completion of rural canvas. All subscriptions made in each book by Nov. 15th will receive car ticket free (ticket off each dollar. Buy book. Buy lots of them

FLASH! FLASH!

Not quite a year ago a 1949 FORD was awarded the Fashion Academy Gold Medal as the 'Fashion Car of Year.' AND NOW, not as a surprise to us, an award (rightfully earned) as thousands of satisfied USERS would say, 'MERCURY TRUCKS' have received an Award for stand out performance, dependability and low cost of operation.

MERCURY WINS AT TRUCK RODEO

Driving a Mercury M-153—158 in. W.B. Model in the Stake class at the Alberta Truck Rodeo in Edmonton, W. (Bill) Pankow of Calgary, owner of the Tiger Transfer (a 100 P.C. Mercury Fleet) was an easy winner over all classes. His feat is no Secret—it was teamwork — a champion in a champion truck, which beat all competitors. Pankow insisted on driving a Mercury or nothing and since no entries were in for this stake class, a special arrangement was given. He knew what he needed to win. He got it. He won.

WINS APPEAL — Condemned to the gallows in a previous trial at Sudbury, Ont., Albert Quesnel, 30, was acquitted of murder by five judges of the court of appeal. The court ruled that his trial had been unfair. Quesnel, whose home is at Espanola, Ont., was convicted of strangling a 72-year-old woman of the same village.—B.N.S. photo.

RIVER TRIED TO AVOID ACCIDENT, BUT SCHOOLBOY KILLED — Although he was traffic-cautious, Gerald Wayne Baker, of Cortwright, Ont., was killed by a transport while journeying to school. The young boy had been given a ride to school by Gerald Douglas, dairy driver, who let him out at edge of road across from school, cautioning him about crossing. Lad waited for one truck to pass but walked out in front of following transport. Driver attempted to avoid hitting lad by turning his vehicle upside down in ditch, as shown, but it was of no avail. ## Hardisty Happenings

Mrs. Merle Anderson returned on Monday from spending a few days in Calgary with her daughter and the family, Mrs. D. Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Smith of Smith's Shoe Store in Wainwright and Miss James of the same town were Monday night guests of the Keogans.

BUSINESS CHANGE

The Hardisty Style Shop, operated by Mr. and Mrs. Al Keegan, has been purchased by Mr. Geo. Sauks, who has informed your reporter that he will take over the business and intends to operate it from a new building which he will erect on the East side of lots situated just south of the Meat Market.

The building has been purchased by Mr. Reg Johnson who will move his Hardisty Leather Goods business as soon as the new premises are made available.

Mrs. Merle Wells and Mr and Mrs. Earl Bowden of Edmonton spent last Friday visiting their mother here i Hardisty, Mrs. K. Drager

Mr and Mrs. Red Mattson spent a few days in the city last week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sauks spent the week end in Edmonton visiting with friends and relatives.

Mr. Al Keegan won a business visit to Leduc on Friday.

The school children had another few days of holiday last week while the teaching staff attended the convention at Camrose. Hard to get back at it on Monday I'll bet.

Jerry Timmins has added a new building to his premises to house his dry cleaning equipment.

Alex Morrison, Harold Stott, Dave Cameron and Ed Moe of Edmonton were amongst those wearing the hunters and peak caps last week when they visited Hardisty on a hunting expedition. The result? Well we never did rightly hear.

Mrs. Thompson returned Friday night from visiting with her daughter and family, Mrs. Post Gallant at Kamloops B. C.

Mrs Leadbeam spent a few days in Vancouver last week visiting relatives and friends.

A number of girl friends gathered at the home of Verlene Quinlan on October 11th to surprise her, on her 16th birthday. A gay evening was spent eating with a tasty lunch. Belated greetings Verlene.

Conservation Of Resources

IN RECENT YEARS INCREASING attention has been paid to the need for conserving the natural resources upon which we depend not only for prosperity but for survival in the years to come. In Canada we have seen and heard a great deal concerning the conservation of soil and the importance of this work to the present and future world food supplies. However it is apparent that resources other than the soil are now showing the results of having been exploited in the past with little concern for the time when they would be less plentiful. New industrialists, scientists and statesmen are facing the problems created by diminishing supplies of timber, coal and other vital materials found in nature.

Must Conserve Natural Wealth

Reduced supplies of natural resources have a widespread effect upon industrial production Most building materials and in turn many industries dependent on these materials, will suffer if supplies of coal, iron and timber become exhausted. It is now realized that thought is to be given to means of conserving the natural wealth, such as: hunting laws, methods of production which will be less wasteful and more efficient from the point of view of giving the utmost use of these materials. Recently representatives from fifty countries now faced with problems of this kind met at Lake Success New York, to discuss ways of dealing with what were termed critical shortages.

Believe Talks To Be Of Value

At this United Nations Conference on the Conservation and Utilization of Natural Resources, Canada was represented by twenty-nine delegates led by Dr. Hugh Keenleyside Deputy Minister of Mines and Resources. It was considered to be an encouraging sign that the problems has been recognized to be sufficiently serious to merit international discussion and it is to be hoped that the interchange of information and ideas at the conference may have been of material benefit to the countries represented there. At the close of the meeting some of the Representatives of smaller administrations were in the opinion that the discussion had been of value. Others were of an entirely caustic and believed that it would take some time to discover what progress had been made if any. However, all agreed that the contacts between the delegates and the opportunity to discuss mutual problems had been of value to all of them. It is encouraging to see such matters approached from an international viewpoint and whether or not great progress was made at this first meeting, it has shown that many countries can be brought together to discuss peacetime problems of common benefit to all of them. It is to be hoped that such meetings may eventually lead to many practical improvements in our present economic and social conditions.

A Hard Winter?

Moose Jaw housewives reported early in August that the bees seem to be preparing for their winter hibernation and are filling the hives and nests of the hives with honey, instead of allowing the queen bees to work on the larvae.

Jim Good, owner of Bland's Apiaries has found the unusual condition in his 120 hives located in the Moose Jaw and Moritach districts.

He said the bees are packing honey in their brood nests, the bottom halves of the hives, as if for winter storage instead of putting the honey in the honey supers atop the brood nests.

Mr Bland said beekeepers do not know why the bees are acting in this manner but he said it might be that the bees believe there are signs of an early winter, or a short crop this year

POLIO BEATEN

VANCOUVER.—More than 65 per rent, of polio patients at General Hospital this year have been cured and the 1949 polio wave is declining, Metropolitan Health Committee was told by Dr Stewart Murray, chief medical health officer.

NEW DRIVE-IN THEATRES

REGINA.—A new drive-in theatre, to be built at a cost of $150,000 will open in Regina next spring, F. A. Starr, Winnipeg, district manager of Famous Players Theatres corporation said. Similar theatres are to be constructed in Moose Jaw, Saskatoon and Brandon, he added.

BEAVER POPULATION

WINNIPEG.—The inside story of how Manitoba's beaver population has been increased to more than two times what it was in 1942 is contained in the latest issue of the provincial government publication the Keystone Province, just released by the bureau of travel and publicity.

CLIMATE HELPS FUR

VANCOUVER. British Columbia's damp climate is a big factor in improving the quality of the province's ranch-grown mink pelts, says Vic Nesbitt, president of the B.C. Association of Fur Breeders. The association recently put $240,000 worth of mink furs on sale at the Pacific National Exhibition here.

FARMER SMOTHERED

SPIRIT RIVER, Alta. — Ronald Goulet, 28-year-old farmer missing 13 hours, was found smothered under a load of his own wheat when his wagon was emptied at the elevator here. Apparently a portion of the empty wagon box under an old coat, he was not noticed by the combine operator who dumped a hopper load of grain on him in the darkness.

Extensive Oil Survey Starts In Saskatchewan

REGINA. — Royalite Oil company, Calgary, one of Canada's top independent companies, has started a seismic survey of a 250,000-acre crown permit covering on a point 84 miles west of Saskatoon and 42 miles southeast of Unity.

The company took the permit over from John L. Gribble and Associates of Toronto on a deal that will give Royalite 75 per cent of the land eventually taken under lease and Graham 25 per cent checkerboard through the leased area in quarter sections.

The seismographic survey is being made by the Farney Exploration company.

Royalite also has a Mayo-Bryan gravity-meter survey on a 250,000 acre permit of 250 000 acres covering an area 42 miles wide and 30 miles deep, running on a point 21 miles east of Estevan.

This property was gained from Calvin Snyder of Estonia, original holder of the permit, on a deal involving cash and a 2½ per cent overriding royalty on any gas or oil found.

In the recent land play in Saskatchewan Royalite lefined upwards at 100,000 acres of freehold land in a strip running northeast from Estevan to Stoughold. The land was taken up on the basis of 1½ sections to the township and runs through room permit holdings of Dobie, Tidewater and Husky-Phillips oil companies.

Any future activity depends on the outcome of the current surveys but Royalite officials have stated they are interested only in the speedy development of their Saskatchewan holdings.

"BINGO"

A Man Makes Or Mars Their Home And Future

By Louis Arthur Cunningham

ROCKY FELL, alias Phelan, alias Fein, turned the green coupe in at the sign that read Meals—Over night Chicken Home Cooking". This out-of-the-way tourist camp, deep in Canada's New Brunswick looked like a natural for Rocky, wanted in a dozen states, with $5,000 for the one who turned him in. Fat chance! They were probably still looking for a blue sedan with Illinois plates.

The number, for instance, read from Arizona. The old bird who owned it sound never squawk. A guy was a sucker on a lonely road to offer a stranger a lift.

"You're a pal, Mister," said Rocky. He slid a gun in the old boy's ribs "Drive down the side road and behave yourself and everything will be hotsy. The name has face gray green above down a narrow track and at the end was an abandoned quarry with lots of water. Then drive the rouge back alone. He had the boss's passport! He was Philip Sumter "I was going to Tor onto the old bird had said. "No. I don't know anyone around here Mister, if you'll just take the car."

It was easy for Rocky to forget him and a dozen like him. He was looking forward to some home-cooking and a soft bed. He turned the corner of the drive and saw a white house with many gables—Rokie's Nest. Store looked comfy. Chines here and there among the willows. A break dammed up to make a pond.

"Oh-oh." A scarlet tunic was talking to an old lady in blue gingham on the steps. Rocky felt the gun under his armpit. Nothing to worry about. He'd met several of them Penniless, pleasant chaps, all of them. The old dame said something to this one and pointed and laughed and the Mountie laughed too.

When Rocky stopped the car, the old lady came briskly down. The Mountie went into the house. "Good day, sir. Welcome I'm the proprietress one of them. Miss Abby Hobbs My sister Rachel and I run Robin's Nest. You'd like dinner, a shun—"

"Sure" grinned Rocky. "Sure, Miss Abby .I want the works. Chicken and hot biscuits and coffee."

"Very good, sir. Do you want to register now or when you come back? Here's the key of Number 4, the cabin by the pond. Supper will be ready when you are, Mr.—"

"We're so glad to have you, Mr Sumter. You have no idea." Miss Abby actually dimpled.

"Bwah," said Rocky. Just the same, after he had washed up and taken a few shots from a bottle of Scotch he'd found in the old guy's locker he did not go directly to the front but strolled around by the rear. He walked nonchalantly, stopping to pick a nasturtium for his buttonhole

"I saw him first" Dear, sweet old Miss Abby's voice. "I spoke to him first. It's the money car—it's the one that pays."

"Abby Hobbs! I noticed first. I swear I did. You never even got to the register. I'm the one who's more supposed to do—"

"You're trying to cheat me, I know you, Rachel."
